New Plan to Replace English Qualifying Test

The undergraduate English qualifying exam and its substitute course, English 391, are nearing their end. However, they will be replaced by a new set of requirements, according to Thomas M. Davis, assistant professor in English and director of General Studies in English. The qualifying exam consisted of a set of fixed and an objective test. The objective portion was eliminated at the end of spring quarter.

During this fall quarter the theme portion of the exam will be offered in the Writing Clinic, Old Main 304. Students can sign up to write the two-hour theme during this term only.

Beginning winter quarter, students who began their work at SIU on any level will be subject to the new four-point proficiency requirement.

1. All students will have to maintain a "C" average in the composition sequence, GSD 101a, GSD 101b and GSC 103.

2. Students who begin their work in the Western Humanities sequence will be given credit for 103.

3. Proficiency requirements for students enrolled under the old program will be waived if the student has a "C" average in the above courses (formally numbered 101, 102 and 103).

4. Beginning winter quarter, students who do not have a "C" average in a nine-quarter-honors composition sequence will be required to make a "C" in GSC 103.

5. Students who do not fall into these classifications should contact the director of General Studies in English, 812 S. University Ave.

Under the old proficiency program, only students in the Schools of Business and Technology and the Colleges of Education and Liberal Arts and Sciences were required to take the exam, now restructured, established by the General Studies Committee.

Owners of automobiles and motorcycles who have not been granted parking permits must remove the vehicles from campus by 8 a.m., Oct. 10.

Joseph F. Zalewski, assistant director of student affairs for off-campus housing and undergraduate motor vehicles, said the rule includes students who may be appealing a denial of motor vehicle privilege.

As of Thursday, the Parking Section had issued 5,205 motor vehicle stickers.

Admitting students were for faculty, staff members and graduate teaching assistants who are issued blue permits. The total included 2,373 faculty and staff permits and 603 graduate parking permits.

Only 365 motorcycle permits have been granted, compared to over 1,700 registrations last year.

Red stickers given to students commuting from home totaled 1,064, and 48 silver stickers for Carbondale residence hall permit holders were received 384 silver stickers.

Graduate students who do not reside on campus and who are issued blue permits, and partially disabled students received 13 red stickers.

Students who need cars for a daily job were given six stickers, and weekend workers received 21 permits.

Two permits were issued for persons attending adult education classes.

The overpass will cross U.S. 51 and the Illinois Central Railroad line at Harwood Avenue, Longeron said. 15,000 student trips are made daily at the crossing and the traffic is expected to rise to 30,000 trips within a few years.

The bridge will be situated on the south side of Harwood, with access points near 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th streets.

Pre-cast concrete sections will be used in the overpass. It will be 22 1/2 feet high over the railroad and 14 1/2 feet high over the highway. The slope will be no more than six degrees, Longeron said, permitting wheelchair use.

With no weather delays, the bridge should be finished in three months, according to Longeron.

Business Students Elect Nine

Nine more representatives, yet to be elected, will represent each of the school’s student organizations. They will be elected by their respective organizations.

The members of the council elected at large will serve on the council for the entire academic year.

The council is an outgrowth of the previous Student Professional Council that served as a coordinating group for all the student organizations within the school. In its new role, the council hopes to achieve greater involvement of the student in campus activities.

Some of the council’s functions are planning such activities as meetings of Midwest Deans of Schools of Business and the upcoming visit of Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President’s Council of Economic Advisers.

These two events will take place on campus in October.

John Carchagi, a marketing major, is the acting president of the council. David N. Bateman, assistant to the dean of the School of Business, is the faculty advisor to students on the council.

He will play Sergei Rachmaninoff’s “Variations on a Theme of Corelli, Op. 43,” Claude Debussy’s “Three Etudes” and Bella Bartok’s “Dance for Flaminio.”

Following the intermission, Doppmann will present Sonata in C Major by Franz Schubert.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Pianist Andre Watts Opens Concert Series on Monday

Andre Watts, who has performed with the New York Philharmonic Young People’s Concert, will open the Community Concert season with a piano recital at 8 p.m. Monday in Shryock Auditorium.

Watts, the son of an American soldier and his Hungarian war bride, was born in Nurnberg, Germany, and lived in Europe until he was 6 years old. At the age of 8 he played a Haydn concerto for a Philadelphia Orchestra Youth Concert. He has made several appearances with major orchestras before his appearance with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

His performance of Liszt’s E-flat Concerto won him, at the age of 16, “the season’s wildest ovation” when Leonard Bernstein introduced him in 1963.

In addition to his concertos in the last three years, Watts has continued his studies and is presently a student of Leon Fleisher at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore.

The concert is open to those who have tickets. The next concert will be Nov. 21, featuring Donald Gramm, a bass-baritone player.

Interpreters’ Plan

Open House Oct. 9

The Interpreters Theater will hold its annual open house at 7 p.m. Oct. 9 in the lounge of the Communications Building.

Connie Brennan will give a reading, “First Confessions,” and Steve Horowitz will present a reading from “Green Pastures.”

The group’s plans for this year include a production of “In White America.”

Persons interested either in performing in the shows, or seeing them are invited to attend the open house.

Examining the Controversy

Over Religion in Public Schools

The Bible, Religion and the Public Schools, by Donald L. Boles, Ames: Iowa State University Press, 1965. 408 pp. $5.95.

REVIEWED BY

Randall H. Nelson

This book is an inquiry in depth into one of the more basic constitutional and political issues that affect the states and the nation. Professor Boles has reached his readers of an oft-forgotten fact, namely that the great American Revolution in religious toleration is a product of religious heterogeneity rather than majority. The study clearly demonstrates that in the preceding, earlier, and other religious practices in the public schools have resulted into controversy among the major religious sects. Professor Boles also emphasizes a fact that is often overlooked by those who are interested in the Supreme Court's action in the Religion in this country is handled at the state level. These less publicized cases form an important part of universal and, Bible reading, where unchallenged, will undoubtedly continue well into the future.

Professor Boles systematically examines such related areas as the released time program that was contested by the United States Supreme Court in McCollum v. Board of Education (1948). In an earlier case of religious garb by public school teachers, a question on which the state courts have divided but on which the Supreme Court has not expressed an opinion, and the use of public money for parochial schools, a practice that has been universally condemned by the state courts in which the issue has been raised.

The second half of the book is politically oriented. It is devoted to an examination of the major religious groups and of educators toward the issue of rule in public education. This is obviously a difficult task. Religion is decentralized, and each has a plethora of speakers. Professor Boles has, however, done a credible job of identifying and of the related constitutional issues is an excellent piece of scholarship. It is not an altogether research, but the thorough treatment of a difficult subject. The second volume of a series of books on the topic, both the 1969 revision and the 1973 revision are more detailed and more practical, respectively.

With Sparkling Black-Humor

E. L. Epstein

James Purdy, who has written both generally innocuous satires in the form of "Malcolm" and "The Nephew," offended every genre soul in the publishing world and delighted all lovers of a good scrape when this book was published. Cabinet Right Begins is a natty little book that is the school which has come to be known as "Sparkling Black-Humor," or the Pleasures of Cruelty, Black-Humorists like stepping on toes. Most humorists like stepping on toes to some extent, but Black-Humorists, likeerry Friedman, and to some degree, Muriel Spark, step on nothing else. All the while they must keep a great big, obviously false, smile on their faces while they are torturing their victims, while they are executing a batter on other people's feet.

This is what Purdy does in "Cabinet Right." His hero, a something after a single name combines the Cabots of Boston and the Wright bros of Dayton, is a fine, upstanding, young, clean-cut, Ivy League, upper-middle-class idealist, cockrocker at heart, and a veteran of Vietnam. His condition came on him as a result of his reaction to the process of a college education, young, clean-cut, etc., fellow. His condition, Purdy then, is not social practices initiating young Americans into the "Organic" of the world, nor is it conscious raping more than anything else.

Cabinet merely begins to revert to its true self. His victim eventually, of course, discovers that they, too, consider rape a way of life. Some of them call the police after all is said and done, but, as Purdy makes clear, it is impossible to arrest rape and to fight crime as to share their memories with a professional audience.

This is a number of well-known trade editors, working for the Goethe of American publishing, Al Guggenheim (en tiably, his own name combines the famous publisher celebrating his 50th anniversary in the publishing game), tries to get an untrained author to write the life story of Cabot. He thinks the public is ready for it.

The publisher, on the advice of several of his literary consultants, eventually rejects the book and fires the editor. What the American public needs, declares the "Civilianized," purdier, "bloat," and scope and messages, shock and sexual past presented as moral morality plays, novelized editorials about life from "life."

What caused all the fuss in the publishing world was the renowned portraits of the Literary consultants of Al Guggenheim. The original of himself preserved a dignified silence. He was, however, under transparent pseudonymy; both were powerful figures in the world of books. One was called Doyle Pepper, and the other was Tal cum Downley.

Talcum was the critic who wrote, "Cabinet Right." The nation's cartoonists keep their pens on the pulse of the news, and developments on racial questions have sent them to their drawing boards.

The spectrum of the issue is wide and includes civil rights, white backlash, open housing, black power, violence in the streets, and the effects of all these on the Nov. 8 elections.

Editor Armstrong and two other staffers, Hesse said, made the decision to print the Spectator.

Hesse said Thomas Hansen, dean of student affairs, had told the staffers to "put back the Alestle flag or be dismissed from their positions."

"It all centered on the fact that the name Alestle, which was handed in as a joke by an art student in 1960, has been an albatross around our necks for six years," said Burns. "Alestle" is a combination of letters from the words Alton, East St. Louis and Edwardsville, locations of SIU campuses served by the paper.

"East St. Louis is the smallest campus," Burns said, "and it gets four letters in the name. Alton is next and it has two. "Edwardsville is the biggest campus and all it gets is a silent 'E. We didn't think it was fair," he said.

Guantanamo Bay Hit

Hurricane Thrashes Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez attacked Cuba with screaming winds and towering flood tides Friday, nearing the end of a tragic journey through the Caribbean that left unknown numbers dead and massive damage.

As the giant storm thrashed across Cuba's Oriente Province, hammering the U.S. Navy base at Guantánamo Bay with sustained winds of 138 miles an hour, 88 bodies had been counted on the islands through which she had passed earlier.

On the Barahona Peninsula of the Dominican Republic, at least 53 were reported dead and all crops wiped out in the furious onslaught of wind and wave.

On the French islands of Guadeloupe, 33 were known to have died. Hundreds of injured were receiving makeshift treatment in hospitals damaged by the blow, and which had no electric power.

In the poverty-stricken Negro nation of Haiti, power lines and radio towers brought a communications blackout and the worst human tragedy of all. Only winds-funneling through the "Valley of Death," a deep gorge between Haiti's towering mountain ranges, and flash floods pouring down the slopes, appeared certain to have taken a great toll of lives.

"I don't know how Haiti could have escaped a disaster," said Commandant Pedro, chief of the Miami Hurricane Center.

As the terrible story of Inez' raging sweep through the Caribbean slowly unfolded, Florida no longer looked so fearfully to the east.

A high pressure ridge to the north, which had held the storm on a westerly course, was weakening and Inez was swinging into a long curve to northward that was expected to keep her clear of the U.S. mainland.

Forecasters delayed issuing an "All-clear" for Florida but said the danger that the state would be hit "appears remote at this time."

At midafternoon, Inez was centered near the city of Holguin in Cuba and 440 miles southwest of the Florida Keys.

As hurricane-Hunter aircraft waited for Inez to emerge into the Atlantic off Cuba's north coast, residents of the central Bahama Islands, a British chain paralleling the Florida coast, were advised to begin battening down for a blow.

The storm threatened the Bahamas from San Salvador to Andros with hurricane winds, heavy rain and rising seas. The government warned that the entire island nation was in "great danger,"

Pundits Puzzled Over Lack Of Policing by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's unexpected absence from the campaign trail for nearly a month is prompting questions about his strategy for defending the heavy Democratic majorities to Congress.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked Friday if Johnson planned any additional campaigning before the Nov. 8 election.

He replied: "I don't know at this time, and I don't think the President knows at this time. There is no event on his scheduled of no great moment, except the Nov. 8 election."

Moyers said the President has received many invitations, but what he does about them, Moyers added, will depend on developments, including the amount of time allotted for Johnson's planned Pacific trip November 1-10.

The President has not made a campaign appearance since Labor Day, Sept. 5, before that, he had been speaking

As to the possibilities to point out, Johnson entertained four foreign leaders this month. All that took time, not only for the actual meetings at the White House, but for publicity.

All Moyers would do was repeat that the President has many invitations, no plans, perhaps he would guesswork — Johnson believes he can do his most effective campaigning by staying close to home in the final, crucial weeks of the congressional sessions and by traveling to the Far Pacific.

Johnson flies to the Philippines about Oct. 20, he will be meeting there with leaders of the 29 Communist-ruled countries.

Pleas for peace now have escaped a "safe haven" in the Philippines, and the President's decision to head for the Pacific facilities for the Democratic wings of the party.

Prospects for reaping political benefits on the home front by remote control from the Far East are promising.

The conference had, President Johnson warned, "in the Philippines, it is important to do what we are doing here.

The primary purpose of the meeting is to concentrate on a determination as to what steps should be taken to bring about peace in the Western Pacific.

A barrage of pre-election news about Johnson meeting with Asian halfway around the world in quest of peace can hardly be expected to inflame his cause, politically, at home.

Chou Reaffirms Peking's Help To Viet Reds, Lauds Purge

TOKYO (AP)—"Aimed with Mao Tse-tung's thought," the Chinese people are determined to firmly support the Vietnamese people in "fighting to drive out U.S. aggressors," from Viet Nam, Premier Chou En-lai said Friday.

Addressing a reception in Peking on the eve of the 17th anniversary of the founding of Communist China on Oct. 1, Chou declared the United Nations "has no right whatsoever to meddle with the Viet Nam question."

He again accused the United States of working "in collusion with modern revisionists," meaning the Soviet Union, and of "using the United Nations to harass new peace talks.

Chou's address was reported by the official New China News Agency as a broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

Chou praised Mao Tse-tung, his thought and the purge known as the "great proletarian cultural revolution" sweeping mainland China.

"We are deeply convinced," Chou said, "that so long as we hold aloft the great Red banner of Mao Tse-tung's thought and pass it on from generation to generation, we shall certainly succeed in building up our great motherland and in making it an immeasurable proletarian state that will never change its color."

Riots had flared for two nights after a Marine policeman killed a youth in Friday's clash, government and business leaders spurred drives to produce jobs.

Mayor John F. Shelley, a former labor leader, blamed high unemployment in the Hunters Point and Fillmore areas as the chief cause for the outbreak there of fire bombings, rock throwing, and looting.

Cyril Magin, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce president, called a closed conference of the 101 presidents of the city's largest employers.

Chou's address was reported by the official New China News Agency as a broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

Chou praised Mao Tse-tung, his thought and the purge known as the "great proletarian cultural revolution" sweeping mainland China.

"We are deeply convinced," Chou said, "that so long as we hold aloft the great Red banner of Mao Tse-tung's thought and pass it on from generation to generation, we shall certainly succeed in building up our great motherland and in making it an immeasurable proletarian state that will never change its color."

Troops Leaving San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The National Guard withdrew half its riot control forces from San Francisco Friday with order hopefully restored in two violence-shaken Negro districts.

Riots had flared for two nights after a Marine policeman killed a youth in Friday's clash, government and business leaders spurred drives to produce jobs.

Mayor John F. Shelley, a former labor leader, blamed high unemployment in the Hunters Point and Fillmore areas as the chief cause for the outbreak there of fire bombings, rock throwing, and looting.

Cyril Magin, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce president, called a closed conference of the 101 presidents of the city's largest employers.

"I'm not very good at giving advice," Ball remarked as he briefed his successor, Nicho­ las Karsenbach.

Yanks Ousted
From Moscow

Moscow (AP) — Two more Americans, one a diplomat, were accused Friday by the Soviet Union of working for the Central Intelligence Ag-cy and engaging in "hostile activities." The charges were deliberately prompted by U.S. officials.

The Soviet labor paper Trud said Nicholas H. Rieg, 20, of Concord, Calif., graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, one of the accused,
had been expelled this month.
Rieg told the U.S. Embassy in Bucharest, Romania, that he was "entraped," given rough treatment, then expelled.

In Washington, the State Department denied Rieg worked for the CIA.

The second American, Donald N. Leash, 34, of Sun City, Ariz., a U.S. Embassy secretary, was expelled Sept. 14, but specific charges were made against him until now.
The U.S. Embassy here denied the charges against Leash, who was accused of being a contract man for Rieg and subverting African students in Moscow. The embassy termed the charges against Leash
"completely unfounded."

But Vatican sources had spread the word that the goal was in fact far broader — to explore in the very theater of the Viet Nam war new ways for the Pope to help end the fighting.

The papal letter was released here Friday. It stressed anew the determination of the Roman Catholic spiritual ruler to do everything in his power to stop the conflict.
He said concern for the suffering of the Vietnamese impel him "to use every opportunity at the top of the mning, now small, to achieve a just and pacific solution to the crisis."

The Pope said he would never cease in his appeals to Vietnamese people and leaders alike — to strive for an understanding that could stop the fighting.

Of his personal efforts to help solve the crises, the pontiff said: "we think that is the duty of apostolic ministry to continue its task under moment in which the wish and greeting of Christ — 'be with you' — becomes a reality for the beloved Vietnamese people.

"For the coming of this peace — and without doing any thing to the least temporal interest — we are ready for a cooperation without limits, while recalling at the same time the principles on which the Pope based his

Envoy Says
Door Is Open
On Viet Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amb-asador Arthur J. Goldberg, discussing prospects for a Viet Nam settlement, said Friday, "The door is open and we see no evidence it has been closed."

The American envoy to the United Nations made this statement to newsmen after conferring for more than an hour with President Johnson, While emphasizing that he did not want to inspire undue optimism about peace pros-spects, Goldberg indicated he was not discouraged by the fact that public Communist reaction to his proposals last week for promoting a Viet Nam settlement has been phrased in terms of rejection,

"It would have been unrealistic to expect immediately a considered reply." he said to the Communist camp.

Early reaction quite naturally, be argued, tends to be phrased in propagandistic terms.

More U. S. Forces Are in War
Than South Viet Nam Troops

(AP) — A landing of 2,500 GI's dropped South Viet Nam's regular armed forces to second place numerically behind committed American units immediately.

The United States, which once limited its military activity here to advice and support for the South Vietnamese war effort, now has 317,000 uniformed men directly involved.

The buildup continues as Hanoi spurns all efforts to promote negotiations.

Though Premier Nguyen
Cao Ky's government lists 705,000 Vietnamese under arms, they are mostly militiamen, national police and Irregulars. The American roll topped by 500 the 317,000 Vietnamese regulars in the fight against the Communists.

Dominated actions of the day were U.S. air raids against Communist targets in and near the old demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. B 52's and lighter bombers struck in support of the 5,000-old U.S. Marines in Operation Prairie, a two-month-old drive in which 933 Hanoi regulars have been reported killed.

Informed sources said

North Vietnamese are still pouring south directly across the one-time buffer territory, delineated in the Geneva accord of 1954, and the biggest conflict of the war may shape up when a shift in monsoon winds starts monsoon rain in that area next month.

With three or four fresh enemy battalions recently identified in the field, some sources said the Marines and South Vietnamese battalions regularly based near the zone will have to be reinforced.

Percy Says Campaign Will Resume Soon

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles
H. Percy announced Friday that he will resume his campaign for U.S. senator but he did not set a precise date.

The announcement was contained in a statement prepared for a United Republican Fund-raising dinner Fridaye when guests of honor were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his three brothers, Edgar, Earl and Milton.

Percy, who was defeated two years ago in his attempt to unseat Gov. Otto Kerner, a Democrat, halted his camp-paigning after his daughter, Valerie, 21, was killed by a pro waveform the Percy home Sept. 18.

Percy's statement said, in part:

"Soon, I will be back among you, working with you for the ideas we all have shared for so long.

... Thanks to all of you for your loyalty and kindness in good times and bad. Your support has always meant much, but never more than in recent days. We are deeply grateful to you all."

Hakes Will Leave Southern For Position at California U.

Harold L. Hakes, assistant dean of students, will leave SIU Wednesday for a new post at the University of California at Davis.

Hakes began his duties here three years ago as assistant area head for Thompson Point. Hakes said he regrets leaving Southern but added that the position he was assuming had a greater degree of responsibility. He said also he liked the idea of living near San Francisco.

At Davis he will be the assistant dean of students for housing. This will cover all housing, on and off campus, plus the food service facilities.

The school has an enrollment of about 10,000 students and has plans for expansion.

Edelman to Assist in Study Of State-Employe Relations

The state's policy toward its employees will be studied by an 18-member commission of which Milton T. Edelman, associate dean of the Graduate School, is a member.

Edelman attended the first meeting in Chicago on Thursday. Although the meeting was concerned mainly with organizing future activities, Edelman said, the commission set next month as the deadline for submission of a full report to the governor.

The purpose of the commission, Edelman said, is "to advise the governor on what should be recommended to the legislature regarding the state's policy on collective negotiations for employees of the state and all subdivisions of the state, such as school districts, cities and counties." Edelman, who has arbitrated labor disputes for 10 years, predicted several problems in arriving at suitable recommendations. The procedures to follow in case of an impasse, and differentiating between employer and employees are two problems of major importance to the commission.

According to Edelman 10 percent of non-agricultural workers in Illinois are public employees, which, he said, is a comparatively high figure.

Advisory commissions similar to Kerner's are a relatively new development and have been used in a number of states, including New York, Michigan and Wisconsin. Members of the commission were chosen from industry, the state legislature, labor and the public, Edelman said.

Unitarians Plan Five Services On Civil Rights

"The Civil Rights Revolution" will be the theme of a series of five talks at the regular Sunday morning services of the Unitarian Fellowship, University and Elm, during October.

An authority on Negro history and the antislavery movement, Betty Fladeland, associate professor of history, will start the series at the service on Sunday, October 16. Her topic will be "The Historical Background of the Civil Rights Movement."

She received her Ph.D., from the University of Michigan with a dissertation on the antislavery movement. Her biography, "James G. Birney, Slaveholder to Abolitionist," published in 1955, was selected by the late President Kennedy's Committee for the White House Library in 1963. She is in her fifth year at SIU.

David Christensen, fellowship president and associate professor of geography at SIU, invited the public to attend.

Other speakers in the series will include Robert B. Barrett, assistant professor of English; Norton N. Kerner, associate professor of mathematics; Renford G. Gaines, candidate for a doctorate in the ministry at Meadville Theological Seminary, Chicago, and a fifth speaker to be announced.

Fall Draft Deferment Tests Will Be Given at Southern

SIU will be a testing center for the fall series of Selective Service college qualification tests Nov. 18 and 19.

Students may obtain information and application forms from their local draft boards. Forms will also be distributed on campus through a procedure to be announced later.

Registrants who have not previously taken the test are eligible. Selective Service said the test is intended to predict a student’s ability to do college work.

Local boards may consider the test result along with other data in the registrant’s file in determining eligibility for occasional deferment as a student.

McLeod to Speak At Dinner Meeting

Archibald McLeod, chairman of the Department of Theater, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of The Egyptian Dinner Club at 7:30 Thursday Oct. 13 in the University Center Ballroom.

His subject will be "Is Live Theater Dead?"

McLeod, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, came to SIU in 1947 as a teacher of speech and dramatics and director of the undergraduate theater program. When the Theater Department was created in 1958, he was named chairman. McLeod received his doctorate of philosophy degree from Cornell University in 1943.

Block and Bridle To Meet Thursday

The SIU Block and Bridle Club will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Seminar Room in the Agriculture Building.

Club members will plan the year’s activities. The club is an organization for animal industries majors.

Purchase Negotiations to Start For Expanded Campus Site

Land purchase negotiations for a 13-acre urban renewal project on the northeast edge of the campus are expected to begin within the next week.

William Burns, commissioner of the Carbondale Community Conservation Board, said appraisal teams have finished the job of establishing sale values on land within the residential area. Negotiations with owners will begin as soon as the federal Urban Renewal Administration sends back price agreements for the purchases.

Total cost of the project will be $1.5 million. Under an agreement with the city, SIU will buy the land for $860,000 after Carbondale has acquired it. The difference between the acquisition cost of improved property and resale to SIU as raw land will be covered by an urban renewal grant to the city.

The area will be known as the Lincoln Neighborhood Urban Renewal Project. Long-range SIU plans call for development of the site as a technical and professional research area.

Apple Tree Research Is Fruitful Here

Researchers at the Illinois Horticulture Experimental Station at SIU have bred an apple tree which resists fire-blight disease, according to James B. Mowry, professor of horticulture and superintendent of the station.

"Fireblight is a serious apple disease resulting in extreme damage or death of the tree," he said. The disease is prevalent in Southern Illinois.

While conducting research on controlling apple tree size, workers discovered that East Malling seeds, from England, bred with the popular Jonathan seed, produced a tree with "some degree of protection from the disease," Mowry said.

The station, devoted to the genetics and breeding of fruit, is a joint project of the University of Illinois and SIU.

Doctors Dig Football Wars

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Charles David Walker, a Ph.D. aspi­ rant in history, and Frank Ryan who holds a Ph.D. in mathematics, had more than one head to head discussion last Sunday at Cleveland.

Walker, 25, a defensive tackle for the St. Louis foot­ ball Cardinals, made 10 indi­ vidual tackles in the 34-28 St. Louis victory over the Cleveland Browns. Ryan is the Browns' head quarterback and was one of the prime targets for the 6-foot-3, 250-pound tackle from Duke.

"I was getting into the Brown backfield and I think doing my job," said Walker, who has taken over the position vacated by the retired Luke Owens.

Besides the individual tackles, the bespectacled Wal­ ker jammed the center of the line, eliminating interference and took part in several combined stops of brown ball carriers.

"I came in good on Ryan once," said Walker, a frequent guest teacher at the St. Louis College of Pharmacy. "I hit him and brought him up and down hard. When you get a great quarterback like Ryan with a good tackle you feel lucky."

Walker considers the game his best in three years with the Cardinals. He sat on the bench the first year and then came into the game against Pittsburgh last year when Owens was hurt.

He did a good enough job then for the victorious Big Red to award him the ball game. "I like to hit," he said.

"Any man in this league has to want to hit or he can't do the job. That could be the whole secret and you have to be ready to get hit."

Walker sported a red and blue bruise under his left eye which he picked up from a flying elbow in the Cleveland game but he will be in the lineup when the unbeaten Car­ dinals play the Eagles at Phila­ delphia Sunday.

FUMBLE CURE—Lynda Libby, 17, a high school student in the Minneapolis suburb of Robbinsdale, eyes the football being carried by one of the Robbinsdale players. Football Coach Irv Neefahl uses this method to keep players from fumbling. When a player makes too many fumbles, he has to carry this football with an improvised handle for a week. This includes carrying to and from school, to classes and lunch, and even in the shower. (AP Photo)

SIU Harriers Compete Today Against Big Eight Champions

Southern's cross-country team will face some of the outstanding distance runners in the country this week at Manhattan, Kan.

The Salukis’ opponent in a three-mile dual meet will be Kansas State. The Wildcats are defending Big Eight champs.

Kansas State came back from a fourth-place confer­ ence finish in 1964 to de­ throne Kansas last year. The Wildcats' top runner, Conrad Nightengale, finished first in the Big Eight Championships last year, beating favorite John Lawson of Kansas.

Nightengale is one of four runners who return from Kan­ sas State’s five-man team of last year. This will be the first meet of the year for Kansas.

It will be the Salukis’ first test at the three-mile dis­ tance this year. They ran a five-mile course in last year. They ran a five-mile course in last week’s tie with DePaul.

The Salukis’ first meet was at the six-mile Miami of Ohio course. The distance would be a disadvantage to Oscar Moore, who enjoys the five­ mile distance better, accord­ ing to coach Lew Hartzog.

The Salukis will return to Kansas Oct. 8 for the Kansas Invitational at Lawrence. They will face the Uni­ versity of Kansas Oct. 15 at Carbondale.

SIU, Drake to Match Passing Games

Today’s football battle in De Soto between Drake and SIU shapes up as an aerial show since both teams feature strong passing attacks. Drake is expected to throw the ball a great deal with the return of star quarterback. If so, he has completed 220 passes for 3,113 yards in his three-year career. He last week completed 23 passes for 328 yards this season. He needs to throw onl 5 passes today to break the record for passes attempted by a Bulldog quarterback.

Royer’s favorite target is tight end and co-captain Manley Sarnowsky, a senior from Alberta, Canada, SIU’s leading passer going into this week’s game against Drake.

In the hitting department, SIU plans to hold inter­-squad games this week as an aerial passing game, which will include many of the players who have been out for practice. The new line-up features five starting positions for the Bearcats, including new starters at first base, second base, and catcher.

While Royer and Sarnowsky are key cogs in SIU’s offense, Drake’s passing game is led by Lutsky and Wallace, who have combined for 1,600 yards this season, the most by two quarterbacks in the nation.

Fall Baseball Program Starts

With Many Veterans Missing

Head baseball coach Joe Lutz’ fall baseball program is already well underway, but some familiar faces are missing from the SIU diamond scene.

Two starting hurlers on the 1965 spring squad haven’t turned out for practice. The absentees are BILL Lutsky and Wayne Sرامек.

Lutsky and Sرامек are joined by another host of other pitchers, most of whom haven’t shown up for practice. The absences include Mike Weber, George Poe, John J. Lyle, Bob Gunderson and Ed Driscoll.

In the hitting department, notable absentees are Russ Keene and Rich Collins, both outfiel ders potent with the bat.

Others missing include catchers George Pelter and Dave Almaham, and infielders Andy Ondeko and Larry Shaka. A number of new­comers figure to take up the slack left by the missing veterans.

Lutz plans to hold intersquad games through November, weather permitting, be­fore moving inside for a winter program which will include weightlifting and other activities.

The Blue team is now leading in the intersquad competition, sporting a 3-0 record. The Red team follows at 1-1-1, with the White and Green squads at a 0-1 and 0-2 respectively.

Sophomore righthander Bob Ashley is the leading hurler in the early stages, posting a 2-0 mark for the Blue team. Lefty Jack Pick is 1-1 with the same club, Howard Nickerson is 1-0 for the Red team’s lone victory. The pitching thus far includes Poin, Kentel­deloff, Delius and Parmenter.

The pitching and hitting suc­cess of the Blue team are two prime reasons why they haven’t been beaten thus far, will no doubt grab another victory today. He has completed 220 passes for 3,113 yards in his three-year career. He last week completed 23 passes for 328 yards this season. CHICAGO (AP) — Top-ranked Illinois State launches its Big Ten football title defense at Illinois and another conference opener takes Wisconsin to Iowa for a toss-up today.

The six other Big Ten teams will be busy trying to jack up sagging conference prestige against outsiders.

After two rounds, the Big Ten barely is above the .500 mark in non-conference competition with a nine-won, eight-lost record.

The odds favor Big Ten standard-bearers in four out-of-town engagements, while Northwestern and Indiana are regarded distinct underdogs against Notre Dame and Texas respectively.

Michigan is picked by 14 points over invading North Carolina, Host Minnesota is tabbed by 12 over Kansas, Ohio State also is rated two touchdowns better than visiting Washington.

Despite Purdue's 26-14 loss at Notre Dame, the Boiler-makers rate a seven-point choice over Southern Methodist in its first road start after snapping Illinois and Navy.

Despite 13-point favoritism, Michigan State's Spartans warily visit Illinois where MSU's Duffy Daugherty has never won in four tries.

Duffy's memory especially is pained by his 1956 club's Champaign invasion which resulted in a 20-13 upset of a Spartan powerhouse which had won four straight and was ranked No. 1 in the nation.

The situation Saturday is somewhat similar.

Michigan State has roared past North Carolina State and Penn State for a firm grip on the top position in The Associated Press national poll.

Illinois has bowed to Southern Methodist and Missouri and will use 158-pound Bill Husdon as halfback replacement for injured-Cyril Flander.

Any chance for the Illini to spring an upset rests on the ability of a good ground defense to harness such Spartans as halfback Clive Jones, fullback Bob Apisa and quarterback Jimmy Baye, who have amassed 428 rushing yards and six touchdowns in two games.

The Wisconsin at Iowa Big Ten opener for both is pegged a pick-'em contest. Wisconsin defeated Iowa State and succumbed to strong Southern California, Iowa downed Arizona and lost to Oregon State.

Schoendiens Signs
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendiens has signed a contract to manage the St. Louis Cardinals for the 1967 season.

It will be Schoendiens' third year as manager of the Redbirds.

It's the conference debut for ex-Indiana mentor Ray Nagele, who succeeded Jerry Burns at Iowa's helm and will be trying to snap a Hawkeye string of 12 straight Big Ten losses.

Each team has a pair of fine runners, halfback Tony Williams and fullback Silas McKinie of Iowa, and halfback Vic Janale and fullback Wayne Todd of Wisconsin. The 235-pound Todd is a sophomore as Iowa's roll-out quarter-back, Ed Podolak.

Massive Breakdown

Stadium Lights Out

Remainder of Season

Last Saturday's power failure during the Saluki football game with Louisville has resulted in a much bigger headache than was first anticipated. After extensive examination of the damaged electrical equipment it looks as though there will be no more night football at McAndrew Stadium this fall.

There was a massive breakdown in the underground wiring system. A complete breakdown occurred in the principal underground cables in the west stand of the stadium and there is partial deterioration on the east side, according to Paul W. Isbell, executive director of Services Division.

Isbell said that major repairs are needed before the electrical system to operate. A complete new underground electrical installation will have to be installed according to Isbell.

This would involve no less than thirty days of labor. Additional time would be required for processing and shipment of equipment required for repairs.

Isbell added that if the wrong things had happened last Saturday night the light poles could possibly have been damaged. This could have been fatal to anyone touching them.

The Salukis are scheduled to play a night game in the Stadium next Saturday against Youngstown. This is the annual Shrine Game. They also have two remaining home games against St. Louis University, Ball State, and Ball State. Both of these games are scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. so there is no scheduling problem caused for either game.

At the time that the light problem was made fully known there was no one available in the athletic office for comment on the phenomenal charge that will be necessary for the Shrine Game.

Palmer Tries for Piccadilly Title

LONDON (AP) — Arnold Palmer, bidding to regain the Piccadilly world match play golf title, has to start this year's tournament with a match against Robert De Vicenzo of Argentina.

That was how the draw worked out for the eight-man, 36-hole tournament set for Wentworth Oct. 6.

Palmer won the title when the event was first staged two years ago. Gary Player of South Africa won last year, defeating the late Tony Lema in the final.

Stark starts his defense against Neil Coles of England, Player, who won the British circuit this year.

Two other Americans are in the lineups, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper.
