Staff Going Ahead

No deadline reached
On publication of KA

No final decision has been reached on KA, the independent student publication financed by the Student Government.

KA had been suspended the last week of the Spring Quarter because of a procedural disagreement with the President's Office.

The weekly had planned to publish during the summer but was halted from doing so until an agreement was reached between the KA Advisory Board and President Delway W. Morris.

Paul Morrill, special assistant to the President, said that Morrill has not yet seen the proposal submitted by the KA Advisory Board, but will do so in the near future. According to last year's editor of KA, Tom Dawes, the initial disagreement arose over the question of anonymity. Later the question was brought to the attention of the President, and a working policy was outlined by the Advisory Board.

Class Schedules

Students wishing to receive benefits for the fall quarter from the Veteran's Administration must take a copy of their official class schedule to the Registrar's Office for certification, according to H. W. Wohlwind, assistant registrar.

Any student failing to do so by the 15th day of the quarter will lose partial benefits. The deadline is Oct. 3.

Lake remains open

Lake — oh — the — Campus Beach will be open indefinitely as long as the weather permits beach activities, the Student Activities Office announced Tuesday.

Students may swim in the lake only when there is a lifeguard on duty.

Construction of the long-delayed footbridge over the IC railroad tracks at Carbondale and Harwood Avenues should begin within a few weeks, the University architect's office has announced.

Initiated as the construction was the latest in a series of such announcements dating back to December when Simmon's Construction Co. of Decatur was awarded the contract for the $170,000 structure. The firm is also the prime contractor for the University Park residence halls complex.

According to Associate University Architect John Loner-Flueger, a pair of additional 17-story halls now under construction in University Park, will be added later. Also proposed for the future is a link between the bridge and a new administration building to go in at the north edge of McAndrew Stadium.

Most of the materials for the structure will be precast. According to the Architects Office, the only difficult part of the job will be the construction of the vertical piers, which must be hand-cast on the job.

The bridge will be 25 1/2 feet at its highest point. It will be 830 long and 18 feet wide.

There will be no steps in the structure and the slope will be no more than six inches for each foot permitting wheelchair use.

Fee increased for parking

In lot at University Center

The fee for parking in the University Center lot has been increased this school year, according to Clarence G. Dougherty, Center Director. Prices are now 10 cents for the first hour and 25 cents for each additional hour.

Last year the first hour's parking was free and each additional half hour cost 10 cents.

Dougherty said the change was in conjunction with the over-all revision of University parking plans during the time when the first hour's parking was free, persons were going out of the lot after the end of the first hour. He added some staff persons used the lot for eight-hour periods whereas the lot is intended for short-term parking.

Dougherty said the lot was to be used primarily for visitors and persons on business in the University Center. He added the new price would aid visitor and transient parking.

Free University parking lots in the C.S.I.U. and elsewhere are expected to ease staff demand on the University Center lot. No new lots and additions to existing lots have added approximately 1,200 parking spaces, a spokesman in the campus architect's office estimates.

Lenzi Outlines Plans

SIU Students' Rights Council
Brewing Over Recent Rulings

By Rob Wilson

Lenzi maintains that student counselors who are thoroughly versed in the new rules and experienced in dealing with administrators should be able to obtain significant results for individual students with grievances.

Daily Egyptian

Lenzi also stressed that the scope of the defense council is not limited to housing and motor vehicle problems. It will provide information and actively assist students in any area of difficulty, especially with administrative and disciplinary questions.

With counselors on duty daily, the council will be located in an activity room near the Student Government office in the University Center. Lenzi said its services are available to all students.

Opening House Program

A one act play, "Postscript," and the Colin Heath folk singers will provide the entertainment at an open house Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Communications Building. The open house is being held by the Southern Players, campus dramatic organization.

‘Postscript’, Singers
Set for Open House

Southern Players, campus dramatics organization, will hold open house Thursday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m. in the Communications building. Entertainment will consist of the Colin Heath folk singers and a one act play, "Postscript," winner of the 1967 Yale Drama Festival.

Besides free entertainment and refreshments, there will be tours of the theatre. A representative will be on hand to explain how to join Southern Players.

Lenzi feels the complexity of university regulations and procedures often intimates students who should be enjoying greater freedom.

"It is the responsibility of any government to protect the rights of its constituents...I feel that this council is a meaningful first step toward providing SIU students with greater control over their own lives," Lenzi said.

Lenzi also asserted that the scope of the defense council is not limited to housing and motor vehicle problems. It will provide information and actively assist students in any area of difficulty, especially with administrative and disciplinary questions.

With counselors on duty daily, the council will be located in an activity room near the Student Government office in the University Center. Lenzi said its services are available to all students.

The counselors will be either graduate or undergraduate students chosen by Lenzi.

Multiversity Depends on Technology for Existence

by Robert M. Hutchins

The trouble with the modern multiversity is that it looks on everybody as a technician. This is why it wastes no time or attention on undergraduates whose technical skills are undeveloped; their technical destination is unknown.

The multiversity lavishes its efforts on the technical training of graduate and professional students. Such training consists of progressively narrowing the student's mind. No object is to teach him the tricks of the trade. These are so numerous and, sometimes, so complicated that the student must dedicate his full time to learning them.

The result is that the young American emerging from an American graduate or professional school is likely to be more ignorant than when he went in. He may not even be a good technician, because in many occupations the rate of technical change is so fast that no school can keep up with it.

The reason for this melancholy situation is to be found in the attitude of employers. They always seem to be saying to the universities, "What have you done for me lately?" Why the universities should train hands for private businesses has never been clear to me. Why don't they do it themselves? They know better than the universities what their requirements are. In any event, there is no obvious reason why the taxpayers or the philanthropists of the nation should bear the costs of breaking in the neophytes in any occupation.

Many employers do not seem to know what a really well-trained hand is. They confuse one who can be rapidly fitted into a given concern with one who is well trained, but a university supported by public funds can justify its existence only if its products can make some contribution to the public welfare.

Consider law. The student can never learn in the practice the intellectual history, content and discipline of the law. If it is important for him to learn these things, he must learn them in the university.

On the other hand, he can learn the techniques of legal practice better in the practice, since the actual conditions of practice exist only in the practice.

Suppose we could bring ourselves to look on our universities as a source of light. I think it will not be denied that we need enlightened citizens even more than trained technicians.

Then the multiversity would disappear; an institution bent on enlightenment could not yield to those pressures for training and "service" which have made the multiversity what it is.

The new university would be dedicated to understanding the world, to making it intelligible. Such an institution is vital to the progress, and perhaps even the survival, of a democratic nation.

The dust hasn't begun to settle. Going up adjacent to 17-story Neely Hall, in a residence hall project that houses 1,800 students, are two more high rise units just like it. A Physical Sciences Building is nearing completion and the University has searched another $4 million family apartment project.

Other pending projects are huge Life Sciences Building addition, a General Office Building, an addition to the Physical Sciences Building, completion of the University Center, a major addition to the Communications Building, finishing the interior of Morris Library, and $4.5 million building for the humanities, and a $1 million renovation program at 50-year-old Shryock Auditorium.

White SU's rocketing enrollment shows signs of slowing down (the jump last fall was only 5 per cent above the previous year), the space race is still on.

The University now has 89 permanent buildings on the Carbondale Campus but it still has to use more than 250 temporary buildings for offices, research laboratories and even classrooms.

Ironically, on the threshold of another construction boom, SIU is acquiring still more temporary space. With bulldozers set to level spaces for new buildings, the University recently leased several off-campus dormitories and an empty factory building to take care of the soon-to-be-displaced.

SU's abrupt transition from a somewhat provincial, "suit-case college" to a University with links around the world (it has missions or consulting teams in six foreign nations) is no more apparent than in the student body.

It used to be that practically all of SU's students came from the 31 counties of "Little Egypt," which is what they call southern Illinois, Nowadays, Chicago and its Cook County environs send more students than any other state. Most of the other states are represented on the enrollment tables and so are 76 foreign nations (with 600 students).

The faculty and administration (it's about 3,500, counting graduate teaching and research assistants) likewise has become cosmopolitan to a marked degree. Scholars from throughout the world work and teach alongside such all-American luminaries as master designer B. Buckingham Fuller (the geodesic dome) and geneticist Carl Lindegren.

The continuous expansion of the campus itself has led some students to suggest a monorail transit system so they can get to classes on time. The central campus covers some 850 acres. Also considered part of the Carbondale complex is 2,100 acres of agricultural land; the Vocational-Technical Institute (11,800 students) 10 miles east; a 6,000-acre Outdoor Laboratory at Little Grassy Lake; and a 400-acre biological research station in the Pine Hills of Union County.
At VTI Campus

Work to Start on Recreation Area

An outdoor recreation area will be constructed this fall near a newly-opened residence hall at SIU's Vocational-Technical Institute Campus. The project will mark another in a series of permanent improvements which have been scheduled for the 138-acre VTI campus near Carterville. The government ordnance plant facility had been leased by SIU from 1952 to 1965, when land and buildings were acquired by the University. Included in the recreation area will be blacktopped and lighted tennis courts, volleyball, badminton and basketball courts, a softball diamond, archery range and horseshoe pits, a car-wash slab and barbecue pits.

Construction bids will be opened October 3 at 2 p.m. in the offices of SIU Campus Architect Willard Hart. Alternate proposals for construction of a frame equipment shed will be included in the bidding.

An appropriation for a general classroom-office building, first permanent instructional facility at the VTI campus, is included in the University's current budget.

HURRY UP AND WAIT—Registration woes for these students included waiting in line at the Bursar's office to pay fees. Next line will be at the library. Sectioning, Cafeteria, Student Center, Ho Ham.

Students to Present

Special Education Program in Chicago

SIU special education faculty members and students will have a prominent part in the convention program of the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children next month in Chicago.

The Department of Special Education will present the full morning session, Oct. 13, when the topic will be "School Services for Emotionally Disturbed Children: Selected Alternates," James Crowner, department chairman, will speak on "The Special Class," Thomas Shea on "The Clinical School," and Jerry Gross on "The Supportive Teacher."

Two SIU students in special education, Gayle L. Shapiro of Harvey and Jo Seifried of Collinsville, will be hostesses.

All student division programs at the convention will be sponsored by the SIU student chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children. Carol Vernetti, SIU student from Collinsville, is president of the Illinois Student CEC.

Chairman Crowner also will appear on the Oct. 2 program of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare's 67th conference in Kansas City. He will be on a panel that discusses "Community Mental Health: Bold New Approach."

Off-Campus Housing Has Fewer Vacancies This Year

According to Dennis E. Balgeman, coordinator of off-campus housing, fewer vacancies exist at this time than in September, 1966.

Listings are now being calculated by capacities rather than vacancies, so the total vacancies was unavailable for the present time. One year ago, 1,600 vacancies were reported in off-campus dormitories.

Some of these vacancies were attributed to the end of the post WWII baby boom.

SIU Adult Education to Offer Photography to Inmates, Staff

Inmates and staff members at the Illinois State Penitentiary at Vienna are enrolling in a photography course to be conducted by Southern Illinois University’s Division of Technical and Adult Education.

The class is unusual because prisoners usually are not permitted to use cameras as and because inmates and staff will be participating together, says SIU Adult Education Director Glenn E. Willa.

Warden Stanley A. MaCieski of the Vienna institution, the state’s minimum security prison opened only two years ago, requested the class for 29 prisoners and three staff members. The prison has a current population of 182.

Virtualy all Vienna inmates are enrolled in education programs on their own time during the evening hours, according to Macieski. SIU is participating with credit courses through the University Extension Services and non-credit vocational classes offered by the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

High school review courses are conducted by the Johnson County school system.

James Johnston reported that four out of six dormitories are in operation. Around 330 openings have been filled out of the available 600. Last September 334 were filled out of the 940-bed capacity.

Campus housing is filled to capacity, said Samuel Rinella, coordinator of Housing Business Services. He added that the 158-capacity VTI Residence Hall is filled while the two smaller Southern Acre Residence Halls with a combined capacity of 270 have 90 vacancies.

Off-campus coordinator Balgeman said through more effective advertising students are becoming aware of the acceptable off-campus living centers. He added that since housing now is part of registration more students are being guided into acceptable on and off-campus living centers.

Bids Taken Today for New SIU TV Station

Bids are being taken today at Olney High School for construction of a new educational television station near Olney. Completion of the building has been set for early 1968, according to William E. Dixon, chief engineer of SIU broadcasting.

Last year SIU purchased 40 acres of land in Preston Township, Richland County, near Olney for erection of a 1,000-foot tower, a building to house the transmitting equipment and a small studio. The station’s call letters have been designated as WUSI-TV. It will operate on UHF channel 40.

The station’s power to transmit will be about the same as WUSI-TV Channel B. The University station which has its tower near Tamaroa and which covers a radius of approximately 55 to 60 miles. Programming hours will be about the same as WUSI-TV. Practically all the programming, at least in the early stages, will be duplications of programs from the Carbondale campus VHF station, WSIU-TV, will relay educational TV to school classrooms and homes on the fringe and outside the existing coverage area.

The U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare last year released a grant of $400,381 to help finance construction of the station. A matching amount has been appropriated to SIU from state funds.

Dixon said that workers have already started to secure anchors for the tower. Construction of the tower will be completed in mid-November, he said.

Robert D. Faener, chairman of the Department of English, has listed faculty changes and additions in his department for fall.

Thomas Kinsella, now artist-in-residence at SIU, will be a professor. Kinsella’s specialty is teaching the writing and theory of poetry.

Howard Soo has received his Ph.D. from Harvard and was a professor at the University of New Hampshire, is a new faculty addition. His specialty is Milton and the Renaissance.

James E. Redden, from the American University in Beirut, Lebanon, will be an associate professor in the English as a Foreign Language program. Redden received his Ph.D. from Indiana University. His specialty is linguistics.

Aristotle (Aris) Karranidas will be an assistant professor in the FFL program. He also received his Ph.D. from Indiana University.

Job Retraining Program Begun

The first part-time job retraining program conducted in downtown Carbondale under the federal Manpower Development and Training Act has started at SIU. Conducted by the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education, the course has 19 men enrolled in training as machine operators. Classes meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings for 26 weeks will provide instruction in milling machines, multiple and radial drills and other equipment.

“Job retraining is designed to permit persons who are already employed to upgrade their skills to qualify for better jobs,” said Assistant Dean William E. Nagel. Trainees are from Franklin, Williamstown, Jackson and Randolph counties.

The class is held in facilities at the Manpower Training Center in the Ordill Area of the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge. Cost of the project is $2,928, Nagel said.

Illinois Central’s new math “multiples” freight cars

BRAINFARE has the formula

Working toward the day shippers can have all the cars they want when they want them is something that’s gaining the undivided attention of BRAINFARE. And we’ve found the formula! Add, then multiply! First, we’re adding 952 million in new cars. Then BRAINFARE will multiply the work they do by targeting cars where they’re needed most, reducing wasted car time and tightening delivery schedules. BRAINFARE’s mainstay is our new computer-communications network headed by VP Richard de Camara. Shippers will find our new math adds up to more profitable distribution than ever before.

AAUP Distributes Statements About Staughton Lynd Issue

A statement is currently being circulated among the SIU faculty asking support of the appointment of Staughton Lynd to Chicago State College in Chicago.

Lynd is a Yale history professor whose appointment was rejected by the Illinois Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities.

The Board of Governors rejected Lynd because of a trip he took to North Vietnam and his stand on civil disobedience.

Mrs. Jo Ann Boydston, president of the SIU chapter of the American Association of University Professors, said that statements are being distributed and asked interested faculty members to sign.

The statements were printed and sent to Mrs. Boydston by the Committee for Academic Freedom in Illinois. This committee was formed following Lynd’s rejection by the board.

Lynd had been assured a position as associate professor of history at Chicago State College by the chairman of the department and the president of the college. He is presently bringing suit against the Board of Governors on the grounds that this assurance constituted a valid contract.

The Board’s statement said it “does not question Dr. Lynd’s ability as a scholar and as a teacher of history” but “his public activities... go beyond mere dissent.”

Richard J. Nelson, chairman of the board and the only one who voted in favor of Lynd’s appointment, pointed out that Lynd was a Quaker and a pacifist. Nelson said that he thought the appointment of Lynd “would bring a challenging personality to the campus and stimulate healthy discussion.”

Holding the opposite view, William Allen, a member of the Board voting for rejection, said “We in no way quarreled with Dr. Lynd’s right to dissent. But we went beyond dissent—engaging in and supporting unlawful activity. And right is right, and law is law. It is as simple as that.”

Mrs. Boydston said she hopes to have all the statements by the Oct. 2 meeting of the local AAUP.

Convocation Ranges From Singers to Saucers

A series of_convocation programs ranging from music to a flying monkey will be featured in the SIU convocation series.

The programs will begin Thursday with an address by President Delye W. Morris at 10 a.m. in the Arena.

Paul Hibbs, coordinator of special events, said the convocations this year will include appearances by columnist Drew Pearson, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana and comedian Henry Morgan.

As in the past, SIU students must attend six programs per quarter for three quarters in order to complete the requirements for graduation. Most of the programs will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Thursdays in Shryock Auditorium.

Following President Morris, the next program will feature singer Henry L. Scott on Sept. 21.

This is the tenth time that Scott has presented a program at Southern.

The nationally syndicated columnist Drew Pearson will begin the October programs on Oct. 5. On Oct. 12, Pearl Bailey, singer and humorist, will present a lecture. Former Feegles "A Cavalier of Musical Comedy" will be the Oct. 19 show. Jean Shepard, winner of Playboy's Sexty-Humor award, will present the last program of the month on Oct. 26.

Southern to Offer 40 Adult Courses

Southern Illinois University's Division of Technical and Adult Education will offer 40 adult evening courses on the Carbondale and Vocational-Technical Institute Campuses during the fall term.

Registration for 29 courses scheduled on the Carbondale Campus will be at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 25, in Room 41 of University School. Persons wishing to enroll in one or more of the 11 courses offered on the VTI Campus may register at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 26, in Building F-1, formerly called the Classroom Building.

Classes will begin on their respective evenings the week of October 2, according to Adult Education Director Glenn E. Willis. He emphasized that it is important to register in advance or at the scheduled time because no class will begin with fewer than 12 students.

Advance registration is underway during regular office hours at the Adult Education office, 908 S. Wall St., Carbondale.
Presented Practice

Starts at 7 p.m. tomorrow and will continue through the weekend. Activities will include musical performances and group acts. The event is open to all members of the university community.

New Motor Vehicle Regulations

SIU's revised motor vehicle regulations went into effect last week after two major changes were introduced. The revisions concern student eligibility to operate motor vehicles on campus and the remoteness of their housing. Under the new regulations, students will be granted vehicle privileges now a surplus of accepted housing is available. Residence Hall permits are required, and students must live beyond the mile radius from the campus.

Rules include a "two-mile limit" for motor vehicle use, which was considered too distant to walk. Eligibility for motor vehicles will be granted for better understanding of the United Nations. Each program will start with a short lecture, followed by a small group discussion period, says Enright.

Lecturers will include George Axtelle, A. W. Bork, Louis Hahn, Wayne Leys, and Frank Klineberg of the SIU faculty, and Dorothy Cox of Carbondale and Mrs. Wayne Leys of Makanda. Persons wishing to participate in the short course should register in advance at the SIU adult education office or telephone 453-2202.

Wesley Foundation Forum Planned

The Sunday Evening Forum at the Wesley Foundation will be "Evangelism for a Revolutionary Age." It will be held after a light dinner at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Foundation. The program will be presented by students on the topic of the campus ministry in higher education. The Wesley Foundation's Salisbury Coffee House hours are 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., daily. This weekend an experimental film, "It's About This Car," will be featured. The Well is open to all members of the University community.

Freshman Talent Show Practice Starts Tonight

Rehearsals for the Freshman Talent Show will be held at 7 p.m. tonight and Thursday in Shryock Auditorium. The show featuring individual and group acts will be presented 7:30 p.m. Friday, at the Wesley Foundation.

Hartzog Predicts Best Year Yet for '67-'68 Saluki Track Squad

SIU'S Saluki mascots may find they're no longer the sweetest things around this winter when Lew Hartzog's track squad hits the boards for the 1967-'68 indoor season.

Hartzog doesn't need a crystal ball to predict the best year yet for Saluki track. The cream of the veteran crop returns, in addition to two choice recruits and some promising underclassmen.

Hartzog said he has hopes of placing as many as 11 men in the finals of the NCAA Track and Field Championships next June and he feels a fourth place team finish wouldn't be an unreasonable goal.

Heading the list of returning veterans is Oscar Moore. The 29-year-old ex-Olympian holds school records in the three and six-mile events and finished second and fourth in these events at the 1967 NCAA meet.

Possibly the athlete with the most potential at SIU is junior Chuck Benson. The 6-4 basketball star grabbed fourth place in the NCAA 440-yard dash. Benson's 46.2 time shouldn't stand long as a record at SIU this year.

"Chuck could do 45 flat out of the blocks in my opinion," Hartzog said, "He has tremendous pain tolerance and perfect build for this race."

Triple jumper John Vernon was another Saluki scorer in the collegiate championships, finishing third.

Springer Ross MacKenzie was a qualifier in the 440 along with Benson. He was a member of the Canadian Pan American Games team this summer.

Also back are half-miler Jeff Duxbury, who was a NCAA semi-finalist; high jumper Mitch Livingston, who holds the school standard at 6-9 1/4; dashers Al-Deppe and Thel Jeffries, and hurdler Jim Thomas.

Sophomore Mark Cox could be one of the top collegiate hammer throwers in the nation at season's end. Cox, who had never touched a hammer prior to last year, threw the 16-pound ball 185 feet during the summer. This would have been good enough to score in last year's championships.

Two prized newcomers are Jim Stewart and Herman Gary, whom Hartzog re-recruited in late August. Both are SIU record holders, who have been in the service and will start school again winter quarter.

Gary, a Vietnam veteran, is a high hurdler whose best time in the 120-yard hurdles is 14.4. He holds SIU's 60-yard high and low hurdles records at 7.4 and 6.9.

Stewart is a sprinter whose best times are 6.3, 9.4, 20.6 and 40.6 for the 60, 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes.

In addition to these individuals Hartzog feels the 440 and mile-relay teams have a good chance of qualifying for this year's championships.

"Harrington injuries this should be a very successful track season," Hartzog said, "I can hardly wait for it to begin."

The highest SIU finish in the NCAA championships was the 1962 squad's fourth place.

Hartzog feels he has the material to repeat that with a few points more than the 1962 team's 26.

Track and Field News, the trackman's bi-weekly Who's Who, picked the Salukis to finish seventh in the nation prior to last season.

"They hit it right on the nose," Hartzog said. "It will be interesting to see where they pick us this season."

Athletic Meetings Slated on Thursday

A meeting of all prospective swim candidates is scheduled at the University High School swimming pool Thursday at 3:30 p.m., according to coach Ray Essick.

All persons interested in playing intercollegiate tennis should meet with Coach Dick LaFever at his office in the Arena Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Saluki Mentor Disappointed

With Passing Game, Fumbles

A bad case of first game jitters, a slick playing field and "just plain bad ball-handling" resulted in a high number of fumbles for both teams in this football opener with Northeast Missouri Saturday.

The stat sheets of the SIU 18-14 win, however, indicated that the Salukis fumbled on six occasions, losing possession three times, and had one pass intercepted.

"That type of ball handling would have gotten us beat if we had been playing later in the season," coach Dick Towers said. "They were fortunate Northeast Missouri was having the same problem holding the ball." The visiting Bulldogs fumbled five times, losing possession twice, and had three passes intercepted. Towers also expressed disappointment in his team's passing game.

"Most of the passes were thrown well. We'll have to break our backs trying to get on the receiving end of the line," Quarterbacks Tim Kelley and Barry Stine completed 7 of 15 attempts.

Towers indicated that if the Salukis are not able to hang onto the ball better, the score could have been more improved.

A case in point was when Kelley fumbled on the opponents' three-yard line on a third and goal situation. The Salukis recovered but on the next play were thrown for a five yard loss. SIU may have muffed another chance when Barry Stine lost position on a punt and the ball was recovered by the Lions for Green Bay to a 17-16 tie.

Karras personally threw Stark four times and the Lion's defensive unit dropped the Packer ace seven times for losses of 59 yards. In addition, they intercepted Stark four times and with three interceptions all last year, the performance was a shocker.

Because Karras led the Lions' pass rush and kept constant pressure on Stark, the Associated Press had him as the 6-foot-2, 245-pound veteran Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Even Vince Lombardi, the Packer coach, called Karras' play sensational.

Jerry Kramer, the Packer guard who played opposite Karras, carbly acknowledges his 6-3, 265 pounds, "I had a lovely game." All of which should make their Oct. 8 rematch as Detroit a day to remember.

Levi's Named Back-of-the-Week

By the Associated Press

Jerry Levi's, who showed how he earned his nickname of Big Play by scoring the winning touchdown in Southern Methodist's 20-17 victory last Saturday, was named Wednesday as The Associated Press' college football Back of the Week.

There were just four seconds left in the game against Texas A&M at College Station when the junior flanker back made a twisting, leaping catch of Ines Perez's six-yard pass for the Mustangs' opening victory.

Favored Texas A&M had taken a 17-13 lead when Edd Harpelt hit Bob Long on a 29-yard touchdown pass with just 45 seconds remaining. Then Big Play Jerry went to work. He returned the ensuing kickoff 24 yards and caught a 29-yard pass to put SMU on the Aggie 29, Perez then moved SMU to the six, and, as a national television audience watched, threw the clincher to Levi's.

Levi's, the first Negro to receive an athletic scholarship in the Southwest Conference, didn't wait until the waning seconds to make his presence felt. He returned an earlier kickoff 46 yards and got SMU moving toward a first-period field goal. He also caught a 12-yard run for five and caught another pass for 20 to set up a second-quarter TD.

For the day, he caught seven passes for 80 yards and returned three kickoffs for 87 more.
