The Egyptian - The ROTC Curriculum Changed

Required Number of Classes Cut In Half

A change in the AFROTC curriculum, dictated by the new minimum required number of Air Force Science courses for ROTC majors, will result in cutting a considerable number of classes from the curriculum.

The AFROTC curriculum currently requires all majors to take ten science courses, but the new requirements bring the number down to five courses for all majors.

To accommodate this change, the ROTC will be offering the new courses on a compressed schedule, with some courses being offered in the evening.

Seniors KENNEDY’S WIFE

She was an entirely different kind of First Lady. John F. Kennedy would be just like his wife to be, the world would be different in what it means to be an American woman, Bonita Bowers Kennedy wrote in "Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy - Portrait of a First Lady," a book that will be published in October.

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy would not be "a true Kennedy," she wrote, "she would be more than what Napoleon did. She would be the most dazzling woman of our time. She would be a true Kennedy, a true American woman, a woman who would be the partner of a great man and the mother of a great nation."
