Jury Told Speck Was Drinking

HOUSTON (AP) - A jury trying Richard Speck on charges of murder was told Tuesday he had been drinking a bottle of wine and a knife shortly before the time the bodies were slain.

Mrs. Patricia Coze, a waitress, told the jurors Tuesday that Speck drank in the morning, afternoon and evening of July 13 and left her place at 10 or 10:15 p.m.

The prosecution contends that Speck, armed with a revolver and a knife, broke into the townhouse dormitory of the nurses, about two miles from the Illinois Medical Center in Chicago, and committed the killings.

"I reached into his shirt pocket and something between his ankle, received no reply, he said, "I asked if I knew him from some job," Walsh-related.

"Walsh, who had a cast on one hand and a brace on a broken ankle, received no reply, he said, "I asked if I knew him from some job," Walsh-related.

The witness stated.

Expansion of CD Program Discussed

Expansion of SIU's civil defense program to provide for 21,000 persons was discussed Tuesday in the city council meeting.

Learning Session For Retarded Set At Little Grassy

A special six-weeks session devoted to learning experience for mentally retarded handicapped persons has been added to SIU's summer program at Little Grassy Lake.

The program will be in addition to the regular summer camping sessions for handicapped children. The Children's Center at Grassy Lake begins July 9 and runs through Aug. 19. An estimated 150 physically handicapped and retarded youngsters are expected to attend the sessions.

Mrs. William White, field representative of SIU's Little Grassy Lake facilities, said the special session will include learning experiences in art activities ranging from horseback riding to archery, Thirty-six camps will be selected for the six-weeks program.

The summer session at Camp Akwonsoma, for non-handicapped school children, also will begin July 9.

She related that he drank beer in her place before noon. Later, while she was out on an errand, she said, she saw Speck go into another saloon. Speck returned to her tavern about 8:30 p.m., she said, and ordered whisky and a mixer. He asked for another drink later, she added, and spilled some of it in a booth where he sat with Walsh.

Mrs. Coze told the jurors she last saw Speck shortly after 10 p.m. and didn't see him again until she entered the witness box today in the Peoria County Courthouse.

\[ \text{\textit{‘Blue Ribbon Slate’ Increases Attack On Administration}} \]

By Mike Nauer

The latest development in the election campaign is a considerable step toward bitterness and go-it-alone.

Approximately 400 people Tuesday evening in the Student Union of SIU gathered to hear the Progress candidate, Richard Walsh, and Nelson slate affirm their campaign pledges. Citizens for Progress candidates appeared to strike out alone.

The Keene, Kirk and Nelson slate, who call themselves "the Blue Ribbon Slate," led a frontal assault on the administration in a campaign that has been developing at a public forum sponsored by the administration and the government in the University Union Hall from 4 to 6 p.m.

Kirk said the administration has "sold" the students on a building program that he has been working on for three years. She further added that she is the "true" candidate for the "fact accompli" in a city election.

During his presentation, Kirk emphasized that he was speaking for the slate as a whole, said the Daily Egyptian. He was asked how he squared his position with that of the University who had attempted to bar the apartments to SIU on February 26, 1966.

He replied, "There was no discussion of outright sale of the apartments; only an arrangement between the University and the townhouse of a townhouse with the city's economy. He also said the plan to build a civic center and rent out office space which "should pay for the costs of the building."

Almost all of the candidates made it a point to reaffirm their support of the City Manager and the new format of government.

Neither Ramsey nor Ragdale made any reference to their attempts to obtain an agreement with the Citizens for Progress slate.

Dissent Over Vietnam

Cant and Hypocrisy
On the Increase

Editor's note: The following is an excerpt from a series by SIU professors expressing their views on a subject of unparalleled importance to the university community—the war in Vietnam.

"In our time, political speech and writing are largely the defense of the indefensible. Things like the continuation of British rule in India, the Russian purges and deportations, the dropping of the atom bombs on Japan, can indeed be defended, but only by arguments which are too silly even to be considered. There is no use arguing about them at all; one might as well defend Ku Klux Kanism, or waterside tariffity for that matter. But only by arguments which are too stupid even to be considered. There is no use arguing about them at all; one might as well defend Ku Klux Kanism, or waterside tariffity for that matter."

We are all familiar with Mr. Johnson's way of speaking about the American flag, about the American way of life, about our family down the street, our pet dogs, and so forth. He has an innate feeling for America, his hopes and expectations for the poor and underprivileged are so great that he feels the country and abroad. We recall many of these phrases, some familiar and unmistakable:

"I never go to sleep at night without first asking myself what I have done that day to relieve the pain and suffering of my fellow humans throughout the world."

To object to his characteristic way of speaking would be mere cant, since there is an immense disparity between his words and the current American military action in Vietnam, the details of which are well too well known to the world.

To cite only one specific illustration from several recent possibilities—his reaction to reports of progress in land reform in Vietnam during the Guam Conference of two weeks ago. Recalling an aerial photo policy, not least his business interests, he said:

"It wasn't much—just 200 acres—but it was mine.

No fornication is so strong as the picture of the wall of a man's acre-age that he can point to and thereby prove his love of mankind."

This is the language of a rich overplus of emotion which has the effect of blurring important political and moral distinctions. For the truth about Mr. Johnson's views, we can even use that phrase: Mr. Johnson's views are like his speech—"false in fact and in sentimentality." If one can point to his actions and thereby prove his love of mankind, one might as well defend Ku Klux Kanism, or waterside tariffity.

But there is another reason for my belief that the cant and hypocrisy will increase rather than not; a less important reason, perhaps, but nevertheless real. What I refer to is President Johnson's self-esteem, as it is evidenced in his language. Mr. Johnson has shown himself to be a sentimentalist, and the sentimentalist needs utopianism, question begging, etc., to justify actions which are morally unjustifiable. I think this has been on little de-

Go of the best lem with the individual crimes and they are in prison. A letter was "Free Education for Inmates Draws Reader's Criticism," March 29 issue. Fortunately, few people put much credence in the opinions of those who have not the gut to claim them, such as anonymous. "Name withheld by request" is a handy refuge for those who have not the guts to offer than an emotional diatribe is a part of one-sits speech and who believe in their opinions are not afraid to be identified with those opinions.

Your correspondent seems to be under the impression that the Education Committee provides courses free to inmates at Menard. To set the record straight, the Illinois State Police Public Safety pays Southern Illinois University on the same basis as all other credit courses offered throughout the state. By this token, the inmate, with an SIU diploma, they meet the same residence requirements and fees of other students.

Still, through the Department of Public Safety, the taxpayer foots the bill. Let us remind our correspondent that the fact that the prisoners have already committed their crimes and they are in prison, We are paying approximately $1,530 to $2,000 per prisoner per year to keep them there. Plus the loss of tax revenue because they are not working and contributing to the economic well-being of the state. No wonder we are in the state of relief and aid to dependent children because they are not supposed to be a state responsibility. Society could solve its problem with the criminal element if it would stick up for the rest of his life, obviously, since none would be getting out and many would be going in, the prisons would grow larger and larger. It would prove quite expensive, considering the number of intelligent and knowledgeable people with the problem have concluded that it is much cheaper for society in the long run to invest a few dollars to prevent the problem by education and to stay out as a productive, tax-paying citizen. One way to do this is through education, and SIU programs and the Illinois prison system for its leadership in the field.

Before your correspondent comments upon the conditions at Menard, it would behoove him to investigate those free shaves he makes so much of. If he is the type who believes that one above, one bath, and one change of clothing each week constitutes luxury, then he is sure that we have all seen him on campus—and few of the students in the states of Illinois who would stand downwind of him. Your correspondent makes some valid comments, but he is too often irrelevant remarks about the draft and Vietnam in his outburst against "Menard U." More than a quarter of the men at Menard have fulfilled their military obligation, and some are in prison because of the effects of physiological and psychological wounds received in combat. Can your correspondent say as much about the average college campus, where numbers of students are admittedly seeking a refuge from the draft? Your correspondent remarks made one wonder about his academic standing and his interest in student deferment.

Before indulging in such childish sarcasm, your correspondent might consider the fact that if one thing you do is spread a rumor that the greatest expense was the cost of the building, the students are not so fortunate as to be able to continue their education.

AN EVENING OF ONE-ACT PLAYS

This past weekend the Theatre Department presented TAPE, the first play on the bill, is a strange admixture of ballad and ballet. It is a strange admixture of an experimental program. Samuel Beckett seems to have lost his identity to his tape recorder: sad ballad and ballet. Dickory, at 29 the youngest of the crew, is a strange admixture of professional or academic standards. The film, is a strange admixture of experimental, economical, and definative production. Compliments should be extended to Elliot Pajol, Donald Peake, and Peggy Hendren for their precision control of sound, lights, and action. The film is clearly equal to the best professional or academic standards.

In contrast, THE IMMORAL MAN is a study of life, time, money, and energy. The play and its production was an attempt to exploit value, quality, harmony, proportion, and the tension of time. Afterbirth of a bastard cow, was full of sound and fury, signifying nothing. Something ventured, nothing gained. Herein lies the difference between the two. Art which is based on an immediate, selfish, egotistical, and painful obvious subject matter which celebrates confusion to no good end.

local news in a bombshell

Last time delivering four articles to the November 23 issue of the General Studies Program Newsletter, Hickory Dickory, sometime about his academic standing and his interest in student deferment.

No parting's loss when lovers separate. The conflict arose over a student deferment. While I have criticized the program and the General Studies Program at SIU I have never made a statement concerning a student deferment. This statement and its implications should be carefully considered by the students at the University of Southern Illinois. Since the general studies courses are very likely to suffer from an instruction evaluation program because the faculty doesn't like to teach any more than the students like to take.

One school at SIU is already using a variation of the Purdue Rating Scale that not only rates the instructors but shows the instructor the type of students that are rating him. Such a statement illustrates the difficulty in letting an instructor gauge his comparative effectiveness with the aid of the Purdue Rating Scale. A significant comment concerning a student's grade average by a faculty member concerned General Studies. This person observed that the general studies courses are very likely to suffer from an instruction evaluation program because the faculty doesn't like to teach any more than the students like to take.

SIU's Pan American Week To Honor Nicaraguan Poet

Pan American Week will be celebrated April 19-21, the SIU Latin American Institute announced.

The celebration is in conjunction with the observance of Pan American Day, April 14, which marks the anniversary of the day in 1890 when the voluntary union of all in one continental community was established.

This is the 14th Annual Pan American Festival to be celebrated on the SIU campus, and will be devoted to the theme: "Ruben Darío: Symbol of Latin American Cultural Unity?" The occasion also will mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Darío, a Nicaraguan poet (1867-1916), who created a new poetry in Nicaragua, and spread the poetry to other Spanish-speaking countries.

The three-day activities at SIU will feature SIU President Delby W. Morris speaking on "The University and Hemispheric Cultural Unity," Robert W. MacVicar, vice-president for Academic Affairs, will give a lecture on "SIU and Its Role in Inter-American Area Academic Affairs."

The program will include discussions of such topics as: The Organization of American States, 1890-1967, Darío and Inter-American Relations, "Ruben Dario and the Latin World in retrospect," and "First Years of a Poet."

Authorities on the Nicaraguan poet have been invited to participate in the program. They include John S. Brushwood of the University of Missouri; Ivan A. Schuman of Washington University at St. Louis; Charles D. Warland, University of South Carolina; Fred P. Ellison, University of Texas; Lula Local, University of Illinois; Ernesto Mejia Sanchez of Nicaragua; Juan Loveuck, University of Michigan; Alfredo Ruggino, University of Pittsburgh; Roberto Espinaz-Moya, University of Cincinnati; and Boyd C. Carter, William R. Garner and Hersley C. Woodridge at SIU.

Also included on the program is a dramatization, "The Rogues Trial," by Arlano Siasosan, contemporary Brazilian dramatist, to be presented at 8 p.m., April 21, at the experimental theater, SIU Communications Building.

Young Adventurers Program Resumes

SIU's Lawson Hall 151 will be occupied by Children from ages 4 to 12 on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 3 p.m., in a resumption of the Young Adventurers Program.

The program is sponsored by the Dames Club, in cooperation with the Student Activities Office.

According to Alice Campbell, cochairman of the club, movies will be shown to the children, and field trips will be offered to such places as the Little Grassys Zoo and University Farms during the spring quarters.

The Dames Club is an organization for the wives of SIU students. The club also sponsors activities for married students.

Varied Summer Jobs Available for Students

Students interested in summer jobs should check with the Student Work and Financial Assistance Program office.

Bruno W. Bierman, off-campus work coordinator, said information on "more jobs than can possibly begin to be filled" is available at the office. Summer jobs include working as waiters, camp counselors and in a variety of skilled positions.

Jobs vary according to the student's skills. A journalism major may work on a newspaper for the summer. A student majoring in engineering may work for an industrial plant. Those seeking general labor may work as a waiter for a resort.

The two most requested summer jobs, according to Ren Frazier, junior vocational counselor at the work office, are engineering and camp counseling positions. There are openings in industry and government work for skilled and semiskilled students.

Summer work can be found mostly in areas in and around Illinois, although there are job openings in New York, Wisconsin and even California, according to Frazier.

The pay varies according to the type of work a student does, Bierman said. A student working for an industrial plant will probably make more than a student working as a waiter.

An employer will usually hire a student, Bierman said, hoping he will come back the following summer. He stated that many summer workers find full-time work for a company once a student graduates.

Summer jobs usually begin "as early as possible after spring term is over," Bierman said, "and last until sometime in September."

Monies Available for Study

Several traineeships for juniors and seniors and five $2,000 master's degree fellowships are available in special education, James M. Crowner, chairman of the Department of Special Education announced.

The undergraduate traineeships pay between $350 and $1,700 during the academic year. They are available to those who elect a major in special education preparing to teach mentally retarded children, Crowner said.

Crowner said that the $2,000 fellowships are available through the Illinois Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. The fellowships are for those preparing to teach emotionally disturbed children in SIU's new training program, Crowner said.

Loan Checks Ready

National defense loan checks can be picked up after 9 a.m. today, they will be distributed in the room across the lobby from the Husker's Office, formerly the Purchasing Office.
SAIGON, (AP)—Announcing the heaviest air raids in five months on North Vietnam, U.S. officials hinted Tuesday they expect thealtitude high of 175 missions to be exceeded before the end of April. Atomic bombs are slowly giving way to clear skies.

U.S., French, Navy and Marine pilots, flying under the worst weather conditions in weeks, bombarded North Vietnamese storage areas, bridges, trucks and cargo barges in 175 missions Monday, Perhaps more than 400 planes were involved. Though short of the record 175 strikes of Oct. 14, 1965, it was the heaviest attack since Nov. 4, when 155 missions were flown.

Along with this, however, came word of the destruction of the 800th American plane, and the loss of another pilot in the air campaign that was launched north of the border Feb. 7, 1965.

For the first time the cost of an average of $2 million a piece, making a total of a billion dollars. About 390 American fliers have been killed, captured or missing in North Vietnam.

The 500th plane was a U.S. Air Force F-100 Thunderchief, shot down by ground gunners Sunday. The U.S. Command held up the announcement until rescue teams completed a vain hunt for the pilot. He is listed as missing.

The U.S. cruiser Providence and four destroyers— the Duncan, G Turner joy, Waddell and Alfred B. Cunningham—carried on the 7th Fleet campaign against enemy coastal defenses and supply craft. They shelled targets in the central sector between Vinh and Thanh Hoa.

In the ground war, a Viet Cong company destroyed a police post on the western edge of Saigon, then fled under pursuit by 250 South Vietnamese combat police and two U. S. helicopter gunships. About 80 guerrillas were believed to have rioted the post, manned by 25 or 30 men at a point four miles from the heart of the capital.

The most significant skirmish reported elsewhere was in Operation Junction City, where two companies of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 1st Brigade encountered a Viet Cong force of undetermined size in War Zone C 20 miles northeast of Tay Ninh. A spokesman said two of the Americans and 10 of the enemy were killed.
Daley Victorious by Wide Margin

CHICAGO (AP) — Voters swept Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley into his fourth term with a crushing victory Tuesday over Republican John L. Waner.

The mayor’s margin was close to 3-1 with the bulk of the votes counted.

With 3,339 of 3,640 precincts reported, Daley received 768,921 votes and Waner 270,140.

Daley’s percentage was 72.60, and Waner received 25.56 per cent of the vote.

Democrats appeared easy winners in the city clerk and treasurer contests.

The Board of Election Commissioners estimated a light turnout of less than 61 per cent of the 1,723,610 registered voters.

Daley, 64, sometimes termed the last of the big city bosses, predicted he would win a fourth term by an overwhelming margin. Waner, 70, had declared his chances of victory depended upon a turnout of better than 70 per cent.

SIU Growth Being Studied

Foreign Official to Discuss Plans

Top administrative official of a Finnish university will be at Southern this weekend for three days of observation and discussion of long-range university planning.

Professor Koli is interested in studying the development of SIU during the past decade and learning plans for future growth.

Koli wants to meet with people here to gain information which will be valuable to him at the University of Tampere, Sehnert said.

Sehnert said Koli is interested in discussing university leadership, faculty organization and authority, and the role of the university in community resource development.

Koli's trip to SIU is part of the International Visitors of Educational and Cultural Affairs, U.S. Department of State. Koli has headed his university since 1961. He served as vice rector from 1961 to 1962.

Modern Facilities to Attract Prospective Majors, Faculty

By Mary Lou Earnhearn

Will a new, $4 million, ultramodern laboratory-equipped building attract prospective majors and other SIU administrators from the Midwest to use the new building which will be opened in November.

The School of Communications, located in a new building which has been completed, is one of the academic units which will be under construction until noon Saturday.

The School of Communications building opened in November, 1966, ending many years of using make shift classrooms. It houses the Department of Theater, Speech, Radio-Television.

Talley said he believes the new building will attract new faculty members. "An instructor will choose a school which offers good facilities," he explained.

SIU Soil Judging Team

To Participate in Meet

The SIU soil judging team will compete in an open meet Saturday at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

Team coach, Joe Jones, associate professor of plant industry, hopes to have two four-man teams in competition against approximately 15 from at least four Illinois state universities.

The SIU squad competed in the regional soil judging contest at the University of Wisconsin last October.

"However," he continued, "people are the most important part of the institution. Given the choice of spending money for a good staff or a new building, the administration will choose the staff."

Plans are now ready for construction of an addition to the building. A wing containing facilities for the Department of Journalism will be under construction in the fall, according to Talley.

"The building was too crowded when we moved in," Talley said. "Plans were begun in 1958 and we've grown three times since then."

Each of the departments within the School of Communications has a rising enrollment. In winter quarter of 1965-66, there were 602 undergraduates, including freshman, and 184 graduate students. Predictions of 800 undergraduates and a 25 percent increase in the graduate school by next year are expressed by Talley.

We could handle a few more, but would have to double classrooms. The first phase of the building will add more. Presently, there are only eight classrooms plus the theater, studios and labs," he explained.

Rising expectations follow the new School of Communications Building. "The school has come a long way since it came here as head of the Department of Speech in 1944. This department had three people, the Journalism Department, two," Talley said.

"The school has added to the University of Southern Illinois a great deal."
Expense Hike

Proposal May Cause Tuition Increase

There is a Congressional proposal afoot which could spell a tuition cost increase across the country.

So warns the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges and the Association of State Colleges and Universities.

The legislative action in question is the proposed federal income tax credit for educational expenses.

Its proponents argue that its adoption would incur a financial relief upon the financially burdened parents of college students.

But not so, according to the 300 publicly supported institutions in the nation: "Tax credits would offer most help to those who need it the least — while giving the least help, or none at all, to those who need it the most."

The proposal was introduced into the Senate by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D-Conn.) in 1964 as an amendment to the Administration's tax reduction bill.

Its purpose was to permit anyone who pays money to a college for tuition, fees and books to subtract up to $325 from his net tax bill.

The bill failed in the Senate, 48-45.

Last Year's Obelisk Available for $2

Over 200 of last year's SIU yearbooks, the Obelisk, are now available to all students and the general public for $2.

Formerly the purchaser had to be a 1965-66 SIU student who had paid the activity fee, to buy the yearbook at this low cost.

The Obelisk can be bought at the Obelisk office in H-2a, the barracks nearest the north end of the Agriculture Building. On-campus delivery will be made if cash or a check is received at the office.

Ribicoff reintroduced it in March of last year. It was beaten 47 to 37. Why the strong opposition to a bill designed as a relief to tax payers?

"Tuition tax credits are like motherhood and home," says Allan M. Cartter, former vice-president of the American Council on Education, himself an opponent of the bill. "Few would want to be on the record as opposing it."

NASULGC and ASCU point out that the tax-credit approach would cost the U.S. Treasury at least $1 billion in lost revenues during just the first year after its adoption.

Both groups hold that for the government to withstand the tax loss resulting from the system, it would have to tighten-up or withdraw completely other forms of federal aid to education. The contention that follows is that the public institutions would then be forced to raise tuition costs.

Opponents now ask, where does that leave the low income families, who claim little or not taxable income, and still manage to support a student in college? They answer that it leaves such families who would least be affected by the advantages of the proposal with the blunder of its disadvantages: They would be unable to declare tuition costs as tax deductions as they pay no taxes; and in addition they would be forced to pay higher tuition costs, because of the proposed deduction.

Twenty Openings Available for European Tour

Twenty openings are available for SIU students who wish to travel abroad to Europe this summer for credit.

Robert P. Griffin, co-director of the Oxford Summer Seminar and Travel-1967, said 30 students have registered for the trip.

Included in the program is one month of lectures and one month of travel on the continent.

The group, accompanied by co-directors Orville Alexander, Chairman of the Department of Government, and Griffin, will fly from St. Louis to Prestwick, Scotland, June 30 and return from Amsterdam on Aug. 15.

Information and forms for registration may be obtained from Bell.

Undergraduates can earn from 8 to 9 hours general studies credit and graduate students can earn from 4 to 8 hours of social studies credit, Griffin said.

Overall cost of the study-tour is about $1,220.

This page contains a variety of different articles and advertisements, including news about a congressional proposal to increase tuition costs, a proposal for federal tax credits for educational expenses, information about the availability of last year's yearbook, details about a study-tour to Europe, and an advertisement for a sale at the Wilson Hall store.

For Visiting Youth

A program to help visiting high school students visualize themselves as college students at SIU preparing for rewarding careers in agriculture is set for the School of Agriculture High School Guest Day Saturday, says William Doerr, Guest Day program chairman.

The school will be host to high school visitors, sponsoring vocational agriculture teachers, and visiting parents. General sessions will open in Memorial Hall with registration at 8:30 a.m. and continuing with talks, tours, a barbecue, and meetings with faculty members and SIU agriculture students.

The program calls for illustrated talks on opportunities in agriculture; discussions on admissions, housing, student work and financial assistance programs, and courses of study in agriculture; and student reports on campus life at Southern. Representatives of the school's nine student organizations will appear on the program and conduct tours of the school's facilities and the SIU campus. A one-year tuition scholarship will be announced and presented to the outstanding applicant during the concluding general session following the tours and the noon barbecue luncheon.

The Agronomy Department and Home Economics will have its annual high school guest day program that same day with an opening session in Shryock Auditorium.

Housing Contracts Can Be Deferred

SIU students who wish to defer payment of their University housing contract for the 1967-68 academic year must apply immediately in the Housing Office for deferral.

Holders of contracts which are deferred will have until July 1 before the $400 advance payment must be made. After July 1 the contracts will be canceled and students will lose priority and must reapply for University housing.

Student Survey Conducted

In Communication, Events

An in-depth survey started last spring has been conducted to study the flow of information on campus. It has combined the efforts of man and machine, a computer, the survey, prepared by James B. Lemert, assistant professor in journalism, and Walter J. Waschick, graduate student in journalism, asked how the participants heard about certain events and what they think could be done to improve communications on campus.

Funds for the research were provided by the School of Communications and the Office of Research and Projects.

A 28-page questionnaire was sent out last spring to 1,260 undergraduates and 100 graduate students; seven or eight per cent of the student population, according to Lemert.

New Alumni Club

Started in Taiwan

SIU alumni in Taipei, Taiwan, have organized an SIU Alumni Club.

The club consists of 70 members, with Milton Sheib as president and Peng Yao executive secretary. Sheib taught international journalism at SIU, 1939-44. He is now the deputy secretary-general of the Chinese Nationalist Party, a party that received a master's degree in journalism from SIU in 1944, is editor-in-chief for a Chinese newspaper in Taipei.

The Taipei organization is the second SIU Alumni club established in foreign lands. The Bonelux club in Europe consists of members in Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

“The samples we used gave us a good cross-section of students,” he said.

Population from which samples were taken were pulled by computer from a list of all students on the Carbondale campus. The samples used in the survey were then taken at random from these populations.

Criteria for determining the samples were grade average, sex and class, (freshman, senior). All questionnaire packets were mailed.

“When we got a low return from a certain group, we called on them further letters,” Lemert said.

Of the questionnaires sent out, replies came from 63 per cent of the graduate students and from 53 per cent of the undergraduates.

“In all we received about 700 returns,” Lemert said. The questionnaire dealt with city and campus topics in which the students may have had an interest.

Some of the topics were the November, 1965, car-motorcycle accident in which student Duane Antrim was killed, the relationship between SIU students and Carbondale businessmen, SIU's athletic future, opinions on student housing and on Vietnam.

But the results are not being tabulated as fast as Lemert had hoped they would be. Some of the computer work being done has been inaccurate and faculty and graduate returns have yet to be processed, he said.

The complete results are already late, but the researchers hope to be finished by the spring term, Lemert said.
