MAROONS SWAMP UNION COLLEGE TOSSES 4-19

The Whizzos announced another victory last Wednesday night when they swamped the Union College quintet of Jackson, Tenn., on a slow and one-sided battle. The work of a good press agent had the Maroons fearful of a real game and they were loaded to give their best, which they did, with the result that the game resulted itself into an exhibition, with the Maroon old lad loops garnering all the limelight. Union College presented a record that credited them with victories over some strong southern teams and extraordinarily strong appeal; but it is not total. A goal and one free throw. Lawder and Smith, substitutes, had scored and scored until the normal had registered for a total of eight baskets. The Whizzos annexed another victory, Carbondale, March 20, 1923.

Forty-second Annual Meeting, Carbondale, March 29-30

Prof. W. G. Cisne, chairman of the executive committee, announces the completion of the program of the Southern Illinois Teachers' Association for its forty-second annual meeting, at Carbondale, March 29 and 30.

The committee deserves congratulations and the highest commendation for its work. No stronger program has ever been provided for the S. I. T. A. It is especially strong in popular appeal; but it is not as rich in professional interest. Two literary celebrities have been secured for the evening sessions: Hugh Walpole, lecturer, critic and famous novelist; and Hamlin Garland, noted American man of letters. All other features of the program are in keeping with the high excellence of those leading numbers.

The cost of the entire program will aggregate $1750. It is the purpose of the committee to give the teachers of Southern Illinois and the local public a full return for the increased fees.

A vigorous campaign has been started to increase the membership.

S. I. N. U. Home-Coming

Plans are already laid for next year's Home-Coming. A greater one than ever before. The committees have already met and planned the dates which are for a three-day celebration.

SPEEDY TYPIST GIVES EXHIBITION

Last Monday, during the noon hour the students were given the opportunity to observe one of the speed "queens" of the typewriting world in operation: In spite of having narrowly escaped a serious accident a few minutes before, Miss Elinor Kelso, representative of the Remington Typewriter Company, succeeded in showing that through the difficulties she had retained her nerve and ability.

After a preliminary talk made up of a discussion pointing out the speed features of her machine, she proceeded to give effective demonstration of speed and accuracy. On a specially arranged speed sentence, a speed of about 250 words per minute was easily maintained. A little calculation will show that this speed meant the accurate typing of the keyboard at the rate of about 14 strokes per second. Then changing to regular material, several "takes" of one minute each showed speeds of from 140 to 160 words per minute.

The stunts features of the speed artist received her attention. She carried on a complete conversation with Mr. Bryant, both answering directly.

SOCRATIC BANQUET A DECIDED SUCCESS

The world will little note nor long remember what we say and do, but the hundred odd Socrates who gathered at Anthony Hall can never forget what they did last Thursday night.

When to the tunes of Socratic orchestra, they filed into Anthony Hall's dining room, many exclamations were heard and remarks were made enjoyed by all. They were made enjoyed by all. They were made on the lavishly decoration all of which were carried out in pink and blue, the Socratic colors.

Just here, we feel that it should be said that these decorations represented much labor and good artistic conceptions upon the part of the many Anthony Hall Socratic girls.

While enjoying the elaborate four-course banquet, which had been prepared for them, the orchestra rendered excellent selections, which, judging from the applause, were highly enjoyed by all.

Toastmaster Husshaker brought to light many old Socratic celebrities, who had been withholding their light under a barrel bushel, and incidentally produced some future Websters and Bryans. If they continue to spread equal oratory which they did last Thursday evening.

Claude Parsons opened the verbal barrage with a fitting poem of welcome to all past, present, and future Socrates. It is only fair that Edward Gehrke, his most recent contemporary, should be presented for the first time by amateurs at the spring commencement.

Chas. Gooforth gave an interesting talk upon the present status of athletes as a whole. In conclusion, he gave a toast to all Socratic stars of the past who are still revered in our memories.

Belle Foster's reading was entirely on to our expectation and added to her reputation as a reader.

President-elect Kennedy, who will be leader of the society the coming six weeks, told of the things he wishes, with the help of the society, to do.

EXCHANGES

The following is cut from the Her- rin Astonisher:
The Egyptian, Carbondale U. —
We read of the onedness of the score in recent games. What’s the matter, Carbondale? Playing to a streak of bad luck or got a chip on your shoulder?

Have you got the wrong school in mind or what? This could not apply to the University team because all the long end of the one-sided scores have been ours except one and it would not make a plural.

You can’t be referring to the High School because they only have two one-sided scores and one of them was not made until after your issue was printed. So that’s not a plural either.

Please explain!

ART EXHIBIT HERE

The exhibition of pictures in the Art room last week was greatly appreciated by the students. The Art Club brought the traveling exhibition of pictures arranged by the University of Illinois. The colored prints were of the oil paintings belonging to the permanent collection of the Chicago Art Institute. This is one of the many things the Art Club has been planning to do this term.

PETER PAN WATSON GROWS
WINGS INSTEAD OF FINS

All girls at Anthony Hall wish to offer their sincere sympathy to Lulu Watson. Peter Pan Watson died Jan. 20. His death was so sudden that no physician could be called but it is thought death came as a result of a nervous collapse. Peter spent his early life with the Fox Drug Company. He is survived by the many members of the Gold Fish family.

AN ANSWER TO Q. E. D.

The following was found in the contribution box last week following the paper’s appearance.

One good way to kill the paper you have overlooked or at least neglected to print in this week’s issue.

Just throw jokes and small articles into the waste basket without recognition.

Q. E. D.

This answer is not only for Q. E. D. but is also an explanation to all students. If you have handed in an article and it has not been printed, it falls under one of the following classes.

CLASS ONE. If it could not be read. Every week there is a least one article contributed which by the combined efforts of the staff it cannot be interpreted.

CLASS TWO. The article has been finished too late. Every week articles come in Friday evening marked please run this week. The paper has already gone to press at that time. All material except BasketBall I and special features must be in by Thursday noon.

CLASS THREE. There are some happenings that are handed in two or three times. Of course we can’t print but one of them.

CLASS FOUR. There is always some material which can be used just as well one week as the next. This is classed as time copy and run when needed. You would not expect us to run the time copy and leave the news until it is stale.

CLASS FIVE. That material which is not suitable to print in a paper of any sort, let alone a school paper.

THE UNSPEAKABLE TURK

Europeans complain that Americans, especially those of the central states, limit their interests to purely local matters, and are consequently unenlightened over some World problems which really affect us. This is rapidly becoming less true each at recently spent seven days each at Lausanne, Paris, and London, and only at Lausanne did I find any greater interest in that thorny European problem, the Turkish question, than I find in "the States." Indeed two months ago while in Constantinople I concluded that certain Americans had too much interest in that question, for the Paris Tribune quoted Secretary of State Hughes as warning the American people that the Turks already had put powerful pressure upon our government to join Britain and declare war on Turkey. Such folly is only possible because "western sentiment about the Greeks and Turks is the most part ill-informed, violently expressed, and dangerous in influence." I would emphasize the lack of accurate information since I have faith in the willingness of university people to learn the truth, even when it is unpleasant. I have promised the feature editor to set down on the Radiator some impressions and opinions concerning the present situation in the Near East.

There is real danger that another world war may be precipitated by a renewal of the Greek-Turkish conflict in the region of the "Sinai," and if such a war is to be averted permanently we must do our part to befriend the Turks toward the Turkish. This ought not to be difficult, for Americans have a square deal, and the Turk has not been given one. I have not found an American who had lived among the Near Eastern peoples who will deny that the Turks are a warlike race, as moral, and as good a neighbor as the Greek. The Turk has not shown any less fitness for governing mixed populations than has the Greek. Both have learned by bitter experiences that subject minorities of enemy race invariably bring about rebellions or civil wars.

This fact is the justification for the exchange of minorities agreed to at Lausanne, and the continued rebellion of the Armenians is the explanation, though of course not a justification of the Turkish atrocities. It is not generally known that the so-called Christian Armenians and Greeks are guilty of atrocities as much as atrocities committed upon Turks.

At Smyrna, I learned from Americans having the most intimate positions there, that the great Smyrna disaster which we charge against the Turks, was provoked by deliberate muddling and destruction of Turkish lives and property by the Greek army as it retreated to Smyrna; a previous disaster almost as great as the fire and murder in Smyrna itself. The Western, European and American press did not explain this provocation when reporting the "Smyrna disaster." For years Greek propagandists, through the press, have taught us that an unspeakable Turk is one word.

The Turks know how vehement is the contempt in which Western people hold them. They look upon children as regards the art of propagandizing; and there is truth in their contention that Western people have rendered their verdict before they were allowed to testify. They have been misled by the support of their own minds are filled with resentment at the Western World for its arbitrary and prejudiced judgment of them; but mainly they are incensed at the Allied Powers for hypocritically forgetting the recent war after the war between Greece and Turkey in Anatolia and Thrace. While most of their wrath is directed toward the European Allied Powers, yet they must consider that America has supported the demands of the Allies at Lausanne. This is a real disappointment to the Turks, for they consider themselves as imitating America as they labor to found a new republic; and they believe we should give them at least our moral support. However, America to the Turks is still among the most favored nations. If the good church and philanthropic people who love the people who happened to inherit a religion and a civilization somewhat different from ours would cease to exert pressure upon their government to declare war against Turkey, our State could rectify this charge of sentiment so as to mollify this young but proud Turkish republic. This would make possible to gain her cooperation with Western civilization, and avert another world war.

The Faculty Advisers had charge of the meeting.

Devotional exercises were in charge of Pauline Jansen.

Solo-Miss Entsinger

Miss Woody gave a talk on courage. The little pegs traits of life taken more courage to overcome than the greater trials of life.

Miss King gave an interesting talk on stories about India, and showed us a letter which she had received from a little girl in India.

Miss Sue told of Errors of Thoughtless Girls and how we may be more conscious and thoughtful to our fellow students.

Miss Bowyer's talk was "Is our School Curriculum Setting us for Complete Living?"

The president, Besie McLaurin took charge and held an election of new candidates for the ensuing year.

The newly elected officers are:

President-Alice Barrow.
Vice President-Susan Patterson.
U. R.-Mary Walter.
Secretary-Agnes Lenz.
Treasurer-Edna Young.

Next came a surprise, we were to step into the Library before we went home.

We were requested to be seated at the tables then began to come tea and cake which had been prepared by the Faculty Advisers. While we were waiting for everyone to be served we sang a lot of our Y. W. C. A. songs such as "Y. W. C. A.

Sociality and Pep. We then went home feeling we had spent a most profitable and enjoyable hour.

JUNIORS ENTERTAINED

Thursday evening the Faculty entertained the Junior class at Anthony Hall with a snappy friendship party. The class was out for a big time and they had it.

After the entertainers had deserted us with an enjoyable program, we were served with refreshments by a group of Senior girls. By this time everyone had cast aside his dignity and joined in the singing led by Miss Bowyer and Mr. McAndrew. We would have enjoyed staying all night but when the boys sang "Good-night Ladies" we felt that it was time to depart.

Hazel McCracken, a Senior College student, has lost school in order to accept a position in the Township High School at Alton, Illinois. It will be remembered that Gladys Free last fall to accept a position at Alton. Miss McCracken's offer speaks well for Miss Free and our school.

NOTES FROM G. B. DIARY

Last night my fortune was told with cards. A dark blue eyed young man played a very important part in my life.

I wonder who he is? I'm going to try the Chinese face way. Every way, I hate Cohen to call more and more, and see if I will do any good. I simply can't help liking him.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Miss Florence Pierce, the Y. W. C. A. secretary of our group of schools, will visit us March 1, 2, 3, 4. The cabinet training of the new officers will be held during this time and there will be at least one meeting for all of the girls in school. We cannot at this time announce definitely what program will be followed during the four days of her visit but it will be announced later. Watch next week's paper and the bulletin board.

HERE IS THE REASON

The University of Southern California has it all doped out. The women's grades are higher than the men's they claim, not because of superior brilliancy, but because the women select lighter courses. Statistics recently compiled show that on the U. S. C. campus women average two hours less work than the men, take lighter subjects and have fewer outside activities.

BIG SOCIAL EVENT

On next Thursday night at the gymnasium in the new church, the Methodist young people are to have the big event of the year. It is to be a kid party on Washington's birthday. Now if you want to have the best time of your life don't fail to be there in your "kid suits." Come and bring a friend.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY

In speaking of a person's faults, Pray, don't forget your own; Remember those in homes of glass Should seldom throw a stone. If we have nothing else to do Than talk of those who sin, 'Tis better to commence at home And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man Until he's fairly tried. Should we not like his company— We know the world is wide Some may have faults—and who has not? The old as well as young; Perhaps we may for aught we know, Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you a better plan, And find it works pretty well. To try all my own faults to cure Ere other's faults I tell, And (so I sometimes hope to be) No worse than some I know My own short comings bid me let The faults of others go.

Then let us all, when we begin To slander friend or foe, Think of the harm one word may do To those we little know. Remember curses sometimes like Our chickens, "roost at home." Don't speak of others' faults until We have none of our own.

A Lost Art With Him

Warren G. Syre of Wabash; an attorney and formerly a state representative, sent a letter several weeks ago to the county clerk of Iroquois county, asking for information concerning a divorce suit. The letter was written on plain paper in longhand and sent in a plain envelope. Finally the following letter was received from the clerk:

"Dear Sir: I have submitted your letter to every officer of this courthouse and we cannot read a word of it. We cannot even read your signature, so I am cutting it and the address off your letter and pasting it on the envelope carrying this letter, hoping that the postal employees are sufficiently familiar with your way of writing to assure the delivery of the letter."

Refined Football

"I beg your pardon, sir; I fear My elbow caught you on the nose." "Don't mention it, I beg of you; I hope I have not smashed your toes."

"Dear me! I must apologize. Pray, let me help you to your feet." "Thank you, sir. Let me commend Your tackling; 'twas very neat."

"I've bruised your jaw—believe me, sir, I do regret such sad mischance."

"A trifling prithee, take my arm; I'll lead you to the ambulance."

"Your ear, I think sir—I am grieved; I have been rather rough I fear."

"Will courtesies like these be heard When Cape and Normal meet next year?"

A Bedroom Farce

I got in bed The other night And pulled the covers up And found out that My feet were out.

So I got up and Tucked the covers In at the foot of The bed and got back In again and found that The covers only Came to my waist, And so I pulled them up And found that My feet were out again, And so I got up And—oh, well, go back to the beginning again.

She hunched him close to her breast,
She told him of all the others
She loved him the very best.

The clock struck nine. I looked at her,
Her lips were rosy red.
"At quarter after nine, I mean
To steal a kiss," I said.
She cast a roguish glance at me,
And then she whispered low,
With quite her sweetest little smile,
"The clock's like you—its slow."

E
"Her has gone, her has gone.
Her has left me all alone.
Can her never come to me,
Must me always go to her?
It can never was."

And wounds my spirit, man a knock;
It cuts me deep, so I must stop.

I'm not in love with Annabelle,
Her actions make us wary.
A lover's maud've never met,
And yet it seems a pity,

The boat whistle started to blow.
The river turned and started back.
John Anderson, my Joe!

E
The engine jumped from off the track
And round and round it went.
The fireman yelled through the blazing smoke,
"Oh, Captain, our fearful trip is done!"

E
The maiden then went to a swell cafe;
Her lips began to quiver,
"Take back your heart," she loudly cried,
"You know I ordered liver."

Little Oswald watched the approaching train
As it drew nigh and higher.
When it saw him there, it jumped in the air—
You see, it was a flyer.

TO BE HELD AT
MURPHY MARCH 1, 2, 3

Optimistic U. High Five Will Compete for District Honors

The annual basketball tournament for the local district will be held at Murphysboro March 1, 2, 3. Seventeen schools are entered and according to word of the state secretary of the Illinois Athletic Board the Murphysboro meet will be one of the largest of the thirty-three to be held in the state. The assignment to local meet includes some of the most formidable teams in Southern Illinois, and it is probable that the state champion will again be an Egyptian team. West Frankfort and Mt. Vernon were also assigned tournaments. The sectional meet will be held at Centralia.

The University High's speedy quintet will represent the Normal at the Murphy meet. The University quintet will naturally be regarded as one of the strong teams in the contest, due to their near victory over Marion, the recent district champions. All of the games lost by the U. HI have been by the closest of margins and then they have a few creditable victories that will make their tourney hopes boom brighter. Coach Snyder's men are optimistic and are going into the Murphy contest determined to end the season with a bang by coping the coveted championship of the district.

The other schools that will compete at Murphy are as follows: Cairo, Herrin, Anna, Marion, Carterville, Carbondale Community High, Pinckneyville, Murphysboro, Vergennes, Grand Tower.

American Legion Commander Speaks to S. I. N. U. Students

The S. I. N. U. students and faculty were honored Thursday, February 15, by a very able address from the American Legion's National Commander, Alvin Owsley. Mr. Owsley was here as a guest of the local A. L. Post, while making his first tour of Southern Illinois.

He is a deep and logical thinker, and this with his splendid poise and pleasing personality made his address very fine, both instructive and entertaining.

He spoke of the American Legion and a few of the many really great principles for which it stands, chief among which are the education of the American children and the instillation of the spirit of true loyalty and patriotism into the minds of these children. He lamented the fact that some late history writers were omitting to place in their histories some important documents as the National Constitution, American Declaration of Independence, etc.

We believe that he is exactly correct in his opinion of these would-be historians, and feel that such men as he and the 4,000,000 ex-service men who are his followers are interested in these things, the welfare of our schools and our country are assured.

It is not just the selling of merchandise to the people who have been doing business with us for some time, but rather to establish for this store a reputation for values. rect questions and initiating her own part of the talk, at the same time writing at a high rate of speed. The next stunt showed her ability to perform mathematical sums of a simple nature without cutting down the speed accuracy of her machine operation.

Miss Keller is a resident of New York City and has been doing contest and demonstration work for 5 or 6 years. In the last International Contest held October 11, 1922, she placed fourth in a field of fifteen Army operators with a speed of 128 words per minute. Between contests she travels for the Remington Company, making the Business Shows and giving other public demonstrations of the Remington machine.

Who knows that one of equal ability in the speed line will be found in our contest to be held here during the S. I. T. A. We believe southern Illinois can equal New York any day. Why not? Anyway, we are sure the results will be interesting.

2500 MEMBERS OF S. I. T. A

of the southern division of the State Association to 2500. This can and will be done. It is all the more desirable since this is the legislative year and it behooves the teachers of the state to muster their full united strength behind a definite educational program of legislation.

One hundred per cent enrollments are being taken from cities and counties in the district. Advance enrollments will be sent to the treasurer, Mr. J. F. Karkor, Ridgway, Illinois, between March 10 and 25.

NOTICE TO LOAFERS
We now rise to wrath and print the following: The EGYPTIAN OFFICE can no longer be used to study in or as a landing place, or as a den of thieves and cut-throats.

Henceforth no one will be allowed except members of the Board and Staff. If you have a forty-second cousin who belongs to the organization that is no reason for you thinking you are a privileged person and that you have permission to use it as a "REST ROOM."

This action must be taken because our exchanges, our advertising material, our stationery, and our copies have all been taken from the office. However the climax came this week when the material for the paper disappeared. If we had not preserved the original copy there could have been no issue this week.

If you do not want to be under suspicion of thievery or if you do not want to be emphatically invited to get out, don't go where you do not belong.
The Office is of course always open for telephone service.

and continued the story of the first half.

Carter's dizzy long shot marked the conclusion of the massacre.

Some one suggested that we stick those Junior III terriers on the Union five some night for an interesting curtain raiser. Might be a whole of a game at that.

The Normal five will wind up their season of "22-'23 when they play a return engagement with the Charleston Tossers on the home court, Feb. 23. The first meeting of the teams at Charleston resulted in a 30-21 victory for the Whizzers.

Socratic Banquet a Decided Success

Mockleroy, Mr. and Mrs. Hills, Miss Entsminger, Miss Mitchell, Miss Rose, and Mr. Bryant. Each gave short but interesting talks, bringing out the idea that the society needs less speech making and more love making, to be like Socratic Society twenty years ago.

Socratic quartet, the only organization quartet in school, gave two very delightful numbers. The last musical number was "Socratic Loyalty" by groups, which concluded the program.

The society wishes to thank Miss Rose and her staff for the most enjoyable banquet of the year.

"PAT"

"Hooray, Pat."

"It's Pat—he recognized the name!"

"Sure he did and he fits the description you know the advertisement said he was white with a black spot on the left side, and one on the forehead—oh, let's get the paper and read it again."

Thus spoke Pauline and Gertrude last Sunday afternoon and Pauline proceeded to carry Pat around the campus while trying to prove to herself that really was Pat.

Gertrude tried to telephone Pat's owner but found that he had no telephone, so they decided to bring Pat directly to his home and receive the reward. But—where is Hayes Street? None seemed to know.

Twenty-five dollars was too big a possibility to give up, however, so Pat had a rope tied about his neck and they started. Pat had been carried so long that he didn't care to walk so Pauline picked him up again.

We know not how far they came.

We know only that Pat's home was found—not in Hayes Street, nor was the twenty-five dollar reward received. We're sorry girls, for we had visions of a grand and glorious spread. Keep on trying though: for we understand the real Pat has not been found yet.

Virginia Minor has left to attend school at the University of Illinois.
