FACULTY MEMBERS VOICE OPINIONS ON LEGALITY OF STUDENT COUNCIL ACTION

Wright, Chairman of Faculty Advisory Committee,Believes Group Plays on Technicality

The members of the Faculty Advisory Committee of the Student Council were unanimous in their opinion. Faculty support the student group. Holding chapters will not affect the students. Judge K. P. Schmitt, chairman of the committee, stated: "I think the Student Council which functions as a 'faculty' is a necessity. It is necessary for the students to have a voice in matters affecting their lives. Faculty support the student council as long as they continue to function properly. Their actions are within the law."

The students should be allowed to continue functioning as a volunteer group. The students should not be held responsible for the acts of the group. Faculty members should be able to support or criticise the actions of the group. The students should have the right to function as a group.

A "faculty" council is a necessity for the students to function properly. The students have the right to support the group as long as they continue to function properly. Faculty members should not be held responsible for the acts of the group. The students should be allowed to continue functioning as a group.

Wish Willie Had Stayed at Home.

We don't know what Willie Willie means when he says he's going to London to get "civilians' eyes" on the war. We do know he's the one who's coming from the President, Roosevelt to Washington.

We can't help wanting to see that operation, but we do hope it will be put up to a much more serious test than the one on which we hear of the"civilians."

TED RAGSDALE SPEAKS TO KAPPA PHI KAPPA ABOUT GRADUATE SCHOOL AWARENESS

By DELVIN APPELBAUM

Kappa Phi Kappa, the international society devoted to the advancement and encouragement of graduate studies, held a recent meeting at the University of Pittsburgh. The theme of the meeting was "Graduate School Awareness," and the presentation was delivered by Ted Ragdale, a graduate student at the University of Pittsburgh.

The meeting was structured to provide information on various aspects of graduate school, including admissions requirements, financial aid opportunities, and the benefits of pursuing postgraduate education. Ragdale emphasized the importance of early planning and research in choosing the right graduate program for one's career goals.

Ragdale's presentation covered topics such as selecting the appropriate graduate degree, understanding the application process, and the benefits of attending graduate school. He also discussed the financial aspects of graduate education, including scholarships, grants, and loans.

The audience was encouraged to ask questions and share their experiences and insights. The meeting concluded with a Q&A session, where participants had the opportunity to engage with Ragdale and each other.

Overall, the meeting was well-received, and attendees left with a better understanding of the opportunities and challenges associated with graduate school. The information provided will be valuable for students considering pursuing advanced degrees.
I couldn't find much to do... and that's more like it. They all had plenty of fun, but I couldn't find much to do. I just couldn't find anything to do. I couldn't find anything to do.
