Letters to the Editor

SU PRESIDENT SEVERELY CRITICIZES EGYPTIAN HEAD ON PEACE FORUM

Dear Editor,

The Council of the Independent Student Union was very much chagrified at the headline of the editorial in last week's Egyptian Dealing with the Peace Problems, which reads as follows: "Indoos to Peace Problems More Important Than Felp Campus Politica by Seymour F. Forging." We wish to raise in defense of the Egyptian on one point, and that is JOURNALISTIC STANDARDS FOR HEADLINE WRITING.

From a journalistic standpoint the headline is misleading because it neither advertises or summarizes the story, which is the purpose that any interpret it accurately. The headline as written will not attract students. The story has to echo the words of the headline but will not be accurate. The headline is misleading because it gives the impression that the story is about us, but the story really is about the Council. It is not about us at all. The headline should be changed to reflect the true content of the story.

The connection is between political problems on the world and campus plans. As such, the headline is not accurate. Furthermore, the headline is misleading because it gives the impression that the story is about us, but the story really is about the Council. It is not about us at all. The headline should be changed to reflect the true content of the story.

Maroons to Meet Western Night
Martimmen Outclass
Missouri Quiet, 61-47
by Rob McDowell
The S.T.N. U. Maroons quieted defeated the Cape Girardeau Indians, Tuesday night, in a wild contest. The Maroons scored 23 points in the first half, 25 in the second, 11 in the third and 10 in the fourth. Their high scorer was Kenneth Epperson, who had 30 points. But for the Maroons to win, they must have had 30 points. The Indians were led by Tony Stubblefield, who had 14 points. The Maroons won the game by a score of 12-47.

IMMORAL TACTICS

by Bob Craft

The Maroons have been accused of using immoral tactics during the game. According to Coach Glenn "Ace" Martin, "The Maroons have been using immoral tactics in their games. They have been trying to discredit the officials and the other team. Our team will continue to play fair and square, and we will not tolerate any immoral tactics."
