A new one-act play contest with cash awards and production of the winning play has been announced by the South-Players, under the organization of the Theater Department. The contest is open to any student on the Carbondale or Edwardsville campus.

A first prize of $25 will be awarded and the second place script will receive $15. A third place play will receive a modified production in the Southern Players’ Original Firs-Nights program.

Additional information about the contest is available at the Playhouse.

Sigma Kappa Sorority Tops Greek Grades

Delta Chi Edges Out Stig For Men’s Hours

Sigma Kappa led sororities in grade point totals and Delta Chi topped the list of fraternities in grades, according to figures just released by the Housing Office.

John P. Nelson, supervisor of fraternities and sororities, said the grade averages for these organizations were figured before the other housing groups to avoid duplication. Full quarter averages for all organized off-campus and on-campus housing units will probably be announced within a week.

The grades for almost 150 housing groups are currently being averaged at Data Processing Service, he said.

Sigma Kappa had a 3.537 average for full-quarter grades. Delta Chi Gamma Delta, which had a 3.527, Delta Zeta was third with a 3.470. In fourth place was Sigma Sigma, 3.339, and Alpha Kappa Alpha, 3.292.

Likewise, Delta Chi fraternity narrowly bested Sigma Pi for top honors. Delta Chi had a 3.247 average and Sigma Pi ranked up a 3.228 average.

Averages for the other fraternities, listed in the order of ranking, were: Theta Xi, 3.181; Tau Kappa Epsilon, 3.156; Phi Kappa Tau, 3.041; Kappa Alpha Psi, 3.031; Sigma Kappa, 3.019; Alpha Phi, 2.933; and Sigma Tau Gamma, 2.858.

Geography Meet To Feature Haag

Herman M. Haag, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Missouri, will be the speaker tonight at a public meeting sponsored by the Geography Department.

Haag will discuss “Sources of Seasonal Unemployments of Fruits and Vegetables in Chicago and St. Louis Tropical Markets.” The session will begin at 8 p.m. in the SJU Union, Agriculture Building Seminar Room.

It is one of a winter series of public informational seminars arranged by David Christiansen of the Geography Department.

A native of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Haag is associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Missouri for nine years and is a former research director of the Missouri Agricultural Association, the state’s leading farm cooperative.

Haag is a 1930 graduate of the University of Missouri and received his doctorate from Cornell University.

Gray Clarifies Council’s Fee Increase Stand

The recent discussions of the Activity Fee by the Student Council have caused many students to wonder about a question whether an attempt is being made to increase the fee from $9.50 a quarter.

However, Commuter Senator Bob Gray said, “Recent Student Council debates have nothing to do with raising the Student Activity Fees.”

“A number of students have asked me if I were attempting to raise the fees,” Gray explained. "As far as I know, none of them knew for certain that the fees will be raised.”

Gray is one of the major figures who opposed the form of the fee study as drafted by University Housing Senator Charles B. H. Whitelock. Council action on the bill and subsequent changes in its form took place last Thursday, two months after the bill had been approved by the Council.

Earlier, Graham said that it was quite possible activity fees would be raised because a number of the programs which receive funds from student fees were showing signs of expansion.

Gray also said that if any fee hike took place, it would probably be supported by the student legislative council.

300 Authors: Letters, Manuscripts And Book Collection Bought For Library’s Rare Book Room

Henry Miller, Erskine Caldwell, and Gertrude Stein are among the 300 authors represented by letters, manuscripts, and books recently added to the Rare Book collection of Morris Library.

The University purchased the collection from New York collector Philip Kaplan.

It includes some 1,100 letters from such writers as Ezra Pound, Henry Miller, Erskine Caldwell, Gertrude Stein, Richard Aldington, Kay Boyle, Hart Crane, and William Carlos.

In addition, there are approximately 75 manuscripts from one-page poems through full-length novels. These manuscripts represent John Dos Passos, Miss Boyle, H. Carne, Harry and Careese Crosby, Nathaniel West, R.C. Dunning, Montgomery Evans, Jake Falsstaff, Ford Maddox Ford, David Gascony, and Edmond Wilson.

Rare Book Librarian Ralph Busbee said the new collection is a very valuable asset to the library’s extensive holdings on 20th Century literature.

Just last year, the Library purchased another outstanding collection made up of books, manuscripts and letters of the group of young American authors with emphasis on the years 1915-1930.

The Rare Book Room, through the assistance of George Grizzard, librarian of the University Press, also has received manuscripts, typescripts, correspondence, and off-printings relating to most of the Press books.

Comprehensive Test For G. E. Bowl Screening

Plans for screening and eliminations to select an SJU team for the G.E. College Bowl Quiz have been worked out, according to the College Bowl Committee.

Jack W. Graham, coordinator of counseling and testing, said written eliminations will be administered to all applicants taking the Southern Illinois University—Carbondale campus on March 29 and 30. The test will last about two hours.

Graham said the testing sessions are being scheduled on two days so there will be a minimum of conflict with classes. It is hopeful that the applicants can choose the day they will be tested, he said.

Nearly 150 students on this campus have registered to enter the eliminations for the contest. No information was available on the number who have applied at the Edwardsville Campus, where separate registration is being conducted.

The testing will cover literature, social studies, fine arts, natural sciences mathematics and current events.

Graham said 32 students will be selected after the written test to participate in the second stage of screening—a careful oral testing. After the oral testing, 16 students from the Carbondale Campus and eight students from Edwardsville Campus will be chosen.

These 24 students will participate in local televised competition in an attempt to simulate the actual G.E. College Bowl conditions, Graham said. It is planned that WSIU-TV will carry this stage of competition.

Graham said that faculty and students are invited to submit questions that can be used in the oral testing stage and the competition competition.

Questions should be submitted on 4 by 6 cards within the correct answer at the bottom of the card.

Questions should be sent to the G.E. College Bowl Committee in the University Center. Each card can be placed on a separate card, but any student or faculty member may submit as many questions as he wishes.

The questions will also be used in coaching the final team of four students.
Lovejoy Talk To Be Given By Amberg

Internal Revenue Service Will ‘Streamline’ Operation In 1963

WASHINGTON

The Internal Revenue Service will streamline itself starting late this year in an effort to save $5 million a year, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon announced on Tuesday.

Some district offices will be merged and two regional offices will be eliminated. This will eliminate about 200 jobs and cut down on office and equipment expenses. An IRS spokesman said the consolidation will leave intact all services to the taxpayers.

The first step will be to trim operations in 12 of the present 62 district offices. Regional offices will be cut from nine to seven.

The Chicago region will take over Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota and Missouri. IRS said it hopes to adjust the job cutbacks by not hiring replacements for those who leave the service. Orders were issued last week against hiring new personnel or giving promotions in the job categories involved until the end of the fiscal year.

The plan was recommended by the Internal Revenue commission, Mortimer M. Caplin, LIMA, Ohio

The most likely season for tornadoes is in March to July, said Frank Bridges, associate professor of health education and civil defense. "But they are just as likely to happen any month of the year, at any time of the day."

Perhaps the worst tornado ever in the history of the world was recorded just 6 miles from here, in Murphysboro.

On March 14, 1925, it tore a 219-mile path of destruction through Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana. It killed 689, and injured 2,000. It did property damage of $16,000,000 and the town of Murphysboro was 60 per cent destroyed.

Southern Illinois, has since become very conscious of tornadoes. Bridges said.

This area is now protected by an intricate system of high-speed communications, and volunteers who have been trained to observe and report the procedure of a severe storm, he explained.

The state is blocked off into five mutual aid areas. Southern Illinois is in the Southwestern area, headquarters being in Swansea.

When bad weather is spotted in the midwest region of the United States, information on the weather is released from Lambert Field, St. Louis, to the Swansea headquarters, Bridges said.

From there it is sent to Murphysboro, and from Murphysboro it is distributed to surrounding areas.

The entire procedure takes only a few minutes.

In addition to the Lambert weather bureau, information is obtained from the weather station in Cairo, as well as from the highway patrol. The set-up is the same in the other four mutual aid areas.

Since the tornado season is here, Bridges said, SIU students and residents of Carbondale should be once again briefed as to the standard procedure for warnings.

There are two signals, the alert signal, and the take cover signal.

The alert signal is a steady wildcat blast of three to five minutes duration. This means that information has been received from the U.S. Weather Bureau that there is a severe weather forecast for our area. This does not mean definitely that a tornado has been sighted.

"When people hear this signal, they should immediately tune to a radio, or the TV station for further information," said Bridges.

The most important signal is the take cover signal. This is a series of short blasts of three to five minutes duration. They are separated by 20 second intervals. Persons in the area should take cover in the designated places.

In every classroom on the campus, there is a sign telling students where to take cover, in the event of an emergency, he said.

COLD, OF COURSE NOT — A handful of over-enthusiastic students decided to rush spring a little last Sunday when the temperature soared into the 60's by taking a dip in Crab Orchard Lake. They admitted the water temperature did not quite match the air temperature but that it was a bracing experience. Assignment:

build a brake that will make its own adjustments

It's now a fact: every Ford-built car in '63 has self-adjusting brakes

"Give us a break," Ford Motor Company engineers were told, "that will automatically compensate for lining wear whenever an adjustment is needed—and make it work for the entire life of the lining."

Tough assignment—but not insurmountable. Today, not only does every Ford-built car boast self-adjusting brakes, but the design is so refined that adjustments can be made more precisely than by hand.

This Ford-pioneered concept is not complex. Key is it is a simple mechanism which automatically maintains proper clearance between brake drum and lining.

Self adjustment takes place when the brakes are applied while backing up. This adjustment normally occurs but once in several hundred miles of driving. The brake pedal stays up, providing full pedal reserve for braking.

Another assignment completed—and another example of how Ford Motor Company provides engineering leadership for the American Road.
Fee Study Compromise

The activity fee study dispute was brought to at least a consensus conclusion by Student Council Thursday night.

The central issue was: Should consideration of advisor's program recommendations be based on the expected cost of the program? Sponsor of the resolution, Mr. Nelson, stated in the March 6, 1964 issue of The Egyptian, "The activity fee study will provide figures to the council, which was passed by a nine to six vote. It will not necessarily have adverse effects on the essential purpose of the activity fee study.

There is a qualification, however. Council members can see through the thousands of dollars involved in some programs, and may act in selecting a President as does any other citizen. In a general election that is correct. In the last election the candidates each vote were for John F. Kennedy or for Richard Nixon; for all practical purposes you vote as good as any vote in the nation. The major decision is narrowly drawn from the choice of the largest field of possible candidates down to the two party nominees. Here Illinois citizens have less than a full voice.

Under the proposed law, each candidate for delegate to a national party convention would have the right. He would have the right to conduct himself in his candidacy in such a way as to assure the delegates points to be voted on behalf of his nomination. In the words of the law, 'It would certainly do harm to give the people the opinion that either party would support a conservative candidate, and those voting for a Rockefeler candidate would be voting for a non-liberal outlook.'

A woman told a married counselor that her husband complained that he lives in a college life is probably well founded. "He comes in the house without the newspapers, the radio, the talk of the town, the students flowers, barks at nothing and makes himself comfortable on the best furniture."
At Indiana State:

Wrestlers Get A Match At Last - They Hope

It's been a long cold winter, and nobody can attest to that better than Southern's wrestling coach, Jim Wilkinson.

The pre-season headlines abed Wilkinson's grapplers is having a much stronger squad then last year's, but the hearty coach hasn't had much opportunity to show his team off this winter.

The schedule has been juggled around all year and the Salukis have been put into everything from bad weather to a rare skin disease, although neither of these two hazards effected Wilkinson's outfit immediately.

Wilkinson's misfortunes all started with a little Ohio school, Findlay College. The Salukis were scheduled to meet the Ohioans at Carbonale on Dec. 8. At the last minute, the Ohio team notified Wilkinson that they couldn't make it to Carbonale because they were topped down by early snow.

The coach took it in stride and figured this was just one of the hazards of the trade, but more bad luck was to follow. Findlay cancelled again last Saturday, because of early snow.

To add to Southern's misery, the wrestlers entered a quadangular meet at Normal, Ill., on Dec. 14, and finished fourth in the four-team field which consisted of wrestling powers, Oklahoma Sooners, Kansas State and Wyoming.

The Salukis finally came alive two weeks later on Jan. 6 when they traveled to Oxford, Ohio, to do battle with Miami University. The Salukis returned home the next night, winners after a long spell. (The last triumph for Southern was back on Dec. 8 when SIU turned in fine performances in the Illinois invitational.)

But alas, Wilkinson's troubles started again, just as things started to look right. Powerful Oklahoma State was slated to come to Carbonale two nights later on Jan. 28, in what was billed as a great match. But the meet was postponed in order to give the Salukis a rest between meets. So the meet was rescheduled for Feb. 16, although a lot of Oklahoma's boys were becoming weary and would have given a meet for three weeks. Feb. 16 rolled around and every-where was closed patiently, but wouldn't you know it? Some Salukis were taken in the Cowboy squad down with some sort of skin disease, resulting in no meet.

The coach reacted quickly and simply called Iowa State, who were trying to meet Oklahoma State the following night, and asked if the Salukis could come instead.

Packing their bags in a hurry, the Salukis went up to Iowa State, which was also one of the heat wrestling teams in the country. It was like going from the frying pan into the fire. SIU put up a gallant fight, however, but were edged by the Iowaans.

Indiana State was originally scheduled for Feb. 14 but then rescheduled for March 9 and now, finally set for tomorrow night at Terre Haute, Ind.

Salukis Face Cape Cagers In NCAA Regional Friday

Defense nowadays is considered old-fashioned by many basketball coaches but not SIU's defense-minded coach, Jack Hartman.

Hartman credits the Salukis' success this season to a defense which keeps the pressure on the opponents at all times.

Hartman is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, where he learned basketball under one of the U.S. top basketball coaches, Hank Iba. Iba is known among the basketball coaches as an authority on the art of man-to-man defense.

"In many games this season which we won defense was the only significant part of all," Hartman said, "and we will need a good, tough defense in the tournament."

SIU will meet Southeast Missouri in the first game of the tournament Friday night and will play again Saturday night win or lose.

Hartman feels his SIU squad is better than Southeast Missouri even though the scores do not indicate this.

Cosmetologists Study At SIU
Two Weeks During Summer

The ninth annual two-weeks School of Advanced Cosmetology, called the "first of its kind in the world," will be held on campus July 21 through August 3, according to Harry B. Baugher, SIU assistant dean of technical and adult education.

The school is conducted by the Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association in cooperation with the SIU Division of Technical and Adult Education. It has been approved by the National Hairdressers Association.

The instructional program is directed to practicing licensed beauticians of Illinois and nearby states under the chairmanship of Charles Budas, Maywood, Illinois.

The course of study provides a scientific approach to hair styling, hair coloring, hair shaping, make-up and the physics of hair. Participants also get instruction in such general subjects as business record keeping, psychology of human relations, logic, communication and merchandising.

HAIL TO THE DEAN!
Today let us examine that much maligned, widely misunderstood, greatly overworked, wholly dedicated campus figure-the dean.

The dean (from the Latin Doctor to expel) is not, as many think, primarily a disciplinary officer. He is a counselor and guide, a haven and refuge for the troubled student. The dean (from the Greek Diarchos) is characterized chiefly by sympathy, wisdom, patience, forbearance, and a fondness for honest pleasures like community singing, sports, spelunking, and Marlboro Cigarettes. The dean (from the German Domprosecut — to keep a party) is fond of Marlboros for the same reason that all men of good will are fond of Marlboros — because Marlboro is an honest cigarette. Those good Marlboro tobaccos are honestly good, honestly used to the peak of perfection, honestly blended for the best of all possible flavors. Marlboro honestly comes in two different containers — a soft pack which is honestly soft and a Pipe-Top box which honestly flies. You too will fly when next you try an honest Marlboro, which, one honestly hopes, will be soon.

There is Not a Dry Eye in Utah
But I digress. We were learning how a dean helps poor, troubled, underprivileged. To illustrate, let us take a highly exceptive case from the files of Dean "W" of the University of Y (86, why he is so mysterious? The dean's name is Sigmas and the University is Utah.)

Wise, kindly Dean Sigmas was visited one day by a freshman named Walter Agnicoecourt who came to ask permission to marry one Emma Blehmecourt. To the dean the marriage seemed ill-advised, for Walter was only 18 years old and Emma was 91. Walter agreed with the dean, but he said he felt obliged to go through with it because Emma had inv-\nded her life savings in a transparent confidence to protect her from the mist at Niagara Falls, where they planned to spend their honeymoon. If Walter called off the wedding, what would the poor woman possibly have for a rainbow in Utah?

The wise, kindly dean pondered briefly and came up with a brilliant answer. Walter paint the in the back of Emma's steam iron. With steam billowing back at the old lady, she somehow found a rainbow very useful — possibly even essential.

Whispering with gratitude, Walter kissed the dean's Phil du Kupa key and hastened away to follow his advice — and his heart.

But I am pleased to report the end is happily.

Today Emma is a happy woman — singing lustily, wearning hairbrushes, eating chocolate, and ironing clothes twice as happy, to be candid, as when she had married Walter. And of Walter? He is happy too. Freed from his un\ntended bourgeois Emma, he married a girl much nearer his own age — Agnes Young, 72. Walter is now the proud father — stepfather, to be perfectly accurate — of three fine, healthy boys from Agnes's first marriage — Everett, 38; Edwin, 43; and Irving. All and when Walter puts the keys on a stand and takes them for a stroll in the park on Sunday afternoon, you may be sure there is not a dry eye in Utah.

And Dean Sigmas? He too is happy — happy to spend long, tiring hours in his little office, giving counsel without stint and without complaint, doing his bit to set the young, uncertain feet of his charges on the path to a brighter tomorrow.

We don't say Marlboro is the dean of filter cigarettes, but we're sure it's at the head of the class. Get some soon — wherever they are sold in all 48 states of the Union.
