Off-Campus Coeducational Dorm Still a Dream, Mrs. Kuo Says

Housing Supervisor Sees Idea as Impractical for SIU

Off-campus coeducational dormitories may never be more than a dream for SIU students, a housing official has said.

The view was based on the idea that an investor does not have enough space to allow for two dormitories separated by a common dining and recreational area.

This was the view taken by Anita B. Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing, in a speech on "Coeducational Dormitories" at the Sunday Seminar in the University Center.

The dormitories fall into two categories. "One is made up into two wings with a central second made up the recreational and dining area for common usage. The other type is divided vertically."

This type of arrangement is the one described as impractical.

Mrs. Kuo then gave her listeners her view of an ideal residence hall. "I see a residence hall with highly trained staff that is able to establish the type of intergroup action, and that is more than social action."

Mrs. Kuo gave the view that an investor does not have enough space to allow for two dormitories separated by a common dining and recreational area.

She pointed out, however, that the program of activity was only one very limited aspect of the environment.

"All of the organization in the residence halls is designed as an educational process. There has to be a cohesive residual unit that lends itself to planning and developing an environment."

The 35-member orchestra is composed entirely of SIU students and will be the same group that played for the Opera Workshop production of "Faust."

Selections will be taken from "West Side Story," and selections will be from "West Side Story."

McVey has had a wide background in the military service, serving as squadron commander and group operations officer in an anti-submarine warfare and heavy bombardment unit during World War II, and holding numerous high administrative jobs after the war.

He will speak on "The relation of AFROTC graduates and the future of the Air Force."

The weekend activities of the convocation will get under way Friday night with an informal dance in the University Center Ballrooms for visiting members.

The program has been divided into four headings, "Russian Folk Songs," "Girl Crazy Overture," and selections from Strauss's "Also Sprach Zarathustra."
Kingsbury to Direct University Choir to Present Concert Next Wednesday

The SIU Choir directed by Robert W. Kingsbury, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Shryock Auditorium.

Who's Who in the Egyptian

It seems that the number of misconceptions about the Daily Egyptian's editorial pages have permeated among Southern's students and faculty. We would like to correct them here.

First, no one at the Egyptian is responsible for the management and content of these pages through an advisory committee of students and faculty. Second, all letters to the editor published on the editorial page are specifically labeled as belonging in that category. Some students have mistaken (in the newsroom)—has anything to do with the management of Ka. The Egyptian is required to print Ka twice a week. The Student Council is responsible for the management and content of these pages through an Advisory Committee of students and faculty.

Saluki Sports Fan Calls Foul on Athletics at SIU Editorial

By Alan Goldfarb, Stuart Kessel, Hal Faller

Southern Illinois University has performed so well in the last few days that it seems there is a case to be made for a Saluki Sports Fan Calls Foul on Athletics at SIU Editorial.

In the last two weeks, the Saluki football team has dominated the opposing teams, and the basketball team has performed exceptionally well. The fans have been excited and enthusiastic about the team's performances, and many believe that the university should recognize the efforts of the athletes and coaches.

The university administration has been criticized for not providing the necessary support and resources to the athletes and coaches. The fans call for the university to invest more in the sports programs and provide the athletes with the best facilities and equipment.

The fans believe that the university should be more proactive in promoting the Saluki teams and giving them the recognition they deserve. The university should be more engaged in the community and use the athletes to promote the university and its values.

The fans call on the university administration to take a more active role in supporting the Saluki teams and making sure they have the resources they need to succeed. The fans believe that the university should be proud of the Saluki teams and their achievements.

Pepsters Yell for the Team, But Do We?

Concerning an article written in the Daily Egyptian on Monday, I want to congratulate the authors on their performances and especially for standing up for their reputations. I have read many articles in the Daily Egyptian concerning the value of the Saluki cheerleaders. I feel that they have done an excellent job of cooperation and comradeship between townspeople and students.

In conclusion, a group of students and letter to the editor were not interested in the subject of the student body's few-faith finders. One must consider that the cheerleaders are in the field with the school's human; thus, they can not place 3,000 albums on the market. I was depressed at Saturday's game with Evansville. We couldn't put together our lonely points. It was as if we were playing our own team. We were the better cheer leaders of the two small colleges, and in no way, let's get out and help them yell for our team.

Vote on Track Tax Near the 'Stretch'

By Sen. Paul Simon

Illinois has the distinction of being one of the states with the lowest taxes on the nation on money wagered at the race tracks, according to a recent report by the U.S. Senate. Illinois' Tax on Race Track Profits was $3.3 billion in 1965, compared to $1.6 billion in California, $1.4 billion in New York, and $1.2 billion in Florida.

The two bills would provide a total of $22.3 million in additional revenue for the state. One would raise $10 million and the other $12 million. The bills would be paid for by a tax on race track profits, with the proceeds going to the state's general fund.

A Forum for All Shades of Opinion

Dr. Nelson's article in Friday's Egyptian (II) stated an argument which, while not new, is certainly one that should be heard. The article states that the idea of the Constitution to invite people such as Dr. Aphonk to the right can gal meetings, but the notion that a university is in something more than it is a place where students acquire the rudiments of English, an is, sympathize the ABCs of American history, or the elements of accounting must be questioned.

We have the best cheerleaders of all the small colleges, and in no way, let's get out and help them yell for our team. See you at the tournaments!

SIU Consultants Aid Area Development
Southern Helps Communities With Development, Problems

From the trees of Lebanon to the banks of the Ohio, SIU consultants are active these days advising and assisting communities with their development and economic problems.

SIU's Community Development Service has consultants making periodic visits to programs at Grand Tower, Smith­town, Goreville, Lebanon, Salem, the Saline–Gallahin area, and to a special five-county pilot project in Edwards, Richland, Wabash, Lawrence and Wayne.

In addition to the "Egypt" programs, the Service had a continuing program with Community Progress, Inc., in East St. Louis since 1958, and has projects going in Madison county.

Next is its 12th year, Community Development has assisted more than 50 communities with such programs and has cooperated in projects of a special nature in two score more areas.

A beautification plan has been launched in Lebanon, where consultant Boyd Butler is assisting. There a tree-planting project has been inaugurated. First planting, this spring, will be 30 pine oaks and gumps of the 8-foot-high classification, to be set around public and semipublic buildings, including schools. An estimated 50 more will be planted during the spring season.

The enthusiastic people of Lebanon will hold an antique sale in August to ob­tain funds for more trees and a "Christmas in July" celebration, at which handmade ice cream and cake will be sold to get money for downtown Christmas decorations.

Grand Tower has just reported to the community, because of resources known as a mezzo-soprano and consultant Nell Tangeman. former as­signee to the SIU, was found dead Feb. 15 at the American Uni­versity in Washington, D.C., while working on an expanded tele­conferencing project by the National Institute of Education.

She was internationally known for her contralto voice at the American Uni­versity, and was a specialist in the study of the structure of geo­logical materials. It will appear at 8 p.m. in Room III of the Agriculture Building, sponsored by the Department of Geology and the School of Technology.

Her first lecture on "Five-coordinated Transition Metal Complexes" will be at 10 a.m. in Room III of the Parkinson Building. The session will be sponsored by the Department of Chemistry.

The second lecture will be a "General Introduction to the Structure of Geological Materials." It will be given at 8 p.m. in Room III of the Agriculture Building, sponsored by the Department of Geology and the School of Technology.

Fred D. Bloss, SIU professor of geology, says the lec­tures will be open to the public.

Media Approach to Teaching
To Be Demonstrated Today

Members of the faculty of the School of Communications have been invited to open a series of demonstrations on the use of the multi-media or cross-media approach to teaching.

The demonstrations will be particularly helpful since the Communication building will be equipped with some of the latest teaching methods to be shown.

Chemist to Give Lectures Today on Metals, Crystals

James A. Ebers, Brookhaven National Laboratory chemist, will present two lectures here today, sponsored by the Departments of Geology and Chemistry and the School of Technology.

Ebers is lecturing under a program jointly arranged by the American Geological Institute and the U.S. National Committee on Crystallography.

His first lecture on "Five-coordinated Transition Metal Complexes" will be at 10 a.m. in Room III of the Parkinson Building. The session will be sponsored by the Department of Chemistry.

The second lecture will be the "General Introduction to Crystallography," the study of the structure of geological materials. It will be given at 8 p.m. in Room III of the Agriculture Building, sponsored by the Department of Geology and the School of Technology.

Students of Carbondale.

The demonstrations are scheduled for:

10 a.m. today in Muckel­loch Auditorium, presented by Daniel N. Miller, associate professor of geography.

2 p.m. today in Muckel­loch Auditorium, presented by Howard H. Magnus, profes­sor of art.

Both demonstrations, Mag­nus' at 10 a.m. and Miller's at 2 p.m., will be repeated Tuesday in Muckel­loch Auditorium.

SIU HAS COMMUNITY CONSULTANTS ALL OVER THE PLACE...
Aid to Appalachia Bill Passed As Year's First Big Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to President Johnson on Wednesday his $1.1-billion program of aid for highways and other projects designed to improve job opportunities and income in the economically depressed Appalachia area.

This first major legislation to be passed by this session of Congress was approved by a 257-165 roll call of the House, which last year let a similar bill die.

Repeated Republican attempts to slice off parts of the program or add more areas were beaten off in two days of debate and the bill was approved in exactly the form the Senate passed it Feb. 1. Sixteen amendments offered were rejected overwhelmingly, most by voice vote.

Estes Found Innocent

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Federal jury Wednesday found Billie Sol Estes innocent on a threecourt indictment charging false swearing involving financial statements furnished the government.

Funds necessary to put the program into effect must be provided by separate legislation. The goal is to provide jobs and better income for more than 15 million persons living in the 165,000-square-mile region whose per capita income is now about $1,400 — which is $200 below the national average.

A sharp decline in coal mining is blamed largely for the economic troubles of the Appalachia region, but experts say lack of highways is another factor. So the heart of the bill is $840 million earmarked to build highways over the next five years to open up the region to industry and recreation.

The federal government will provide up to 70 per cent of the cost of the 3,350 miles of roads. Normally federal highway aid is limited to 50 per cent.

The Bureau of Public Roads has officially worked out a five-year program of aid for 350 counties in 11 states extending from northern Pennsylvania to northern Alabama. They include all of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Funds are necessary to provide separate legislation. The program was the product of study begun by President John F. Kennedy shortly after he took office in 1961. He had been impressed by the economic plight of West Virginia during his presidential campaign.

The bill, which now requires only Johnson's signature to become law, authorizes a five-year program of aid for 350 counties in 11 states extending from northern Pennsylvania to northern Alabama. They include all of West Virginia and parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Provision is made for possible addition of 13 New York counties later.

French Elm Fears Of Wider Asian War

PARIS (AP) - President Charles de Gaulle's government expressed fear Wednesday that U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam might foreshadow a large part of Asia unless the great powers settle differences at a conference table. And the cabinet expressed concern over air raids on Communist North Vietnam.

The concern and fresh appeal for a new meeting of the 1954 Geneva conference on IndoChina were contained in a regular weekly cabinet session presided over by De Gaulle.

Before a meeting in London, British government authorities gave strong support for the latest phase of U.S. bombings.

Dutch Elm Vaccine Usage Set

NEW YORK (AP) - Elm trees will be 'vaccinated' in hopes of halting the ravages of Dutch elm disease.

The vaccination consists of injecting the insecticide, which kills elm bark beetles. These insects carry a fungus that causes the Dutch elm disease. The disease creeps through the tree, reaching its main chewing and feeding center. Then the fungus damages the tree, eventually killing it.

Officials explained that the insects would have to be vaccinated, because the bark beetles could spread the disease to other trees.

He is saying the cabinet expressed concern over increased silk raids in Viet Nam, Payrefitte did not specifically mention U.S. participation.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The United States is watching with special interest this week as an Asian leader on whom it pinned many expensive hopes in bombed by Communist China's leaders on their home ground.

He is President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan, who received what Peking radio calls "a tremendously warm welcome."

It is news to many Americans that Pakistan has already had a meeting with India. Ayub, like many Asian leaders, feels his country could not be saved by all of America's ships and planes in a showdown with China.

Deadline Asked In Car Licensing Bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - A bill to move the deadline for applying for reassessment of auto license plates from Oct. 1 to Sept. 30 was passed Wednesday by the Illinois House, 162 to 5.

The House also passed unanimously a reapportionment of $3.5 million for the central building addition now under construction by the state.

Snow Cover Extends South

By The Associated Press

Blizzards continued to harass and choke the stormstricken Upper Mississippi Valley on Wednesday, and snow was sighted as far south as the Gulf Coast of Louisiana.

Blizzard warnings were up for Wednesday to Thursday in North Dakota, southern South Dakota and extreme north-central Nebraska. However, surprising warnings were in effect for northeastern Arizona as northern winds ups up to 45 miles an hour caused much blowing and drifting in the area and visibility frequently was less than half a mile.

The strong winds piled snow into huge drifts in the Dakotas and Minnesota. Up to seven inches of new snow in central Texas closed schools in the Georgetown area, six miles north of Austin.

FIVE inches of snow fell on President Johnson's Texas ranch near Johnson City. Children in Midland, Tex., were out in the first snowfall for some time. In more than a year, Fort Worth, Tex., had no snow.

The administration bill, affecting about 4,000 employees of 65 or older, goes to the House for consideration Wednesday.

SIU Gives 4,019 Exams To Fill Civil Service Jobs

SIU hired 274 persons last year in Civil Service positions ranging from butcher to policeman, library clerk to secretary, but administered 4,019 examinations to get them.

Instituted in 1952, the University Civil Service System allows SIU to "pick the cream of the crop" from among job-seekers in filling positions on its permanent staff, Gene C. Turner, personnel director, said.

At the end of January the University had 902 full-time and 40 part-time Civil Service employees. They form the backbone of SIU's non-teaching operational staff, assisted by some 3,000 part-time student workers.

"I'll put our employees up against any group anywhere, in government or private industry, for performance and efficiency," said Turner.

Competitive examinations for each position, coupled with a six-month probationary period, allows supervisors to hire the people best fitted for jobs without regard to politics, race, or religion, Turner said. The Civil Service system covers all employees of the University except administrative officers, teaching and research faculties, and student workers.

A register is maintained of applicants for each position on the basis of test scores. When vacancies occur, the supervisor is notified and may interview the best applicants.

The labeled few have their eyes on the multitudes, on you, in fact. The counters count your heads as you pass by, count your caycots disinterested left lying on the tables, on the vermilion chairs, Want to slip in unobtrusively and read the Times of London? They will get your number, Buddy.

More than a million and a quarter of you and your fellows came in out of the rain in search of knowledge, quiet, gaudy Americans '65 lounge chairs, interesting faces, science-electric shocks and the equally interesting reasons last year. The library keeps a careful tally of the number of its patrons and the uses which are made of its services.

Almost 40,000 books were checked out of the library in January. Last year 342,000 books were checked out. But the budget of the library is not based on these statistics. These numbers do not accurately tell the whole story of the use of the facilities. Those counters at the doors frantically equating you with the marks on sheets of paper serve a purpose. They are the real authors of the true picture of the library's use by SIU students.

Their statistics show that 1,300,000 persons came into the building last year. All those books didn't put back on the shelves because signs instructed you not to, were counted. The figures revealed that 719,000 books were used in this manner. A total of 1,001,274 books were used either in the building or checked out last year. An operation of this magnitude requires a lot of money and people, and, more recently, automation.

The library's normal operating budget for this year is $1,043,200, and to this amount has been added another $577,000 to build up the library's research collection. Part of that money goes into the salaries of 43 faculty staff members, 33 clerks and the temporary clerks and 207 student workers.

One act of the upcoming Theta Xi Variety Show has been taken on an out-of-town tryout.

After two months of planning and rehearsals, the Delta Zetas and the Delta Chi packed up their show and headed for Anna this week where they presented their act to the patients and staff of Anna State Hospital.

The title of the act is "All-American," a take-off on the musical written by Robert Louis Taylor, as alumnus of SIU. It brought this response from a hospital spokesman: "I feel the act is vibrant and moving," said Don Hoffman, supervisor of student workers at Anna State Hospital.

"Voluntary assistance from a group such as this makes our work even more rewarding. This show will give the patients something to talk about," Hoffman said, "Talking and expressing opinions is one of the best therapies we have for curing mental illness."

Also appearing in the hour-long program presented were Miss Judy Crackel, vocalist, and the Delta Chi Dixieland Band.

Saluki Wrestlers Hope to Break Iowa State’s Winning Streak

By Joe Cook

The SIU wrestlers will try to end the season on a winning note tonight when they face Iowa State University at 7:30 in the Arena.

Beating Iowa State would probably be the biggest wrestling upset of the year as the Cyclones boast an impressive 36-straight meet winning streak and one of the top wrestling programs in the country in Gordon Hassman.

Hassman, who was the NCAA winner in the 177 pound class last year, is one of five unbeaten men in the Cyclones lineup this season.

The Saluki matmen are in the best physical condition of the year, and all of the regulars are expected to see action.

At 123 pounds Coach Jim Wilkinson will use captain Don Devine. Devine has been one of Wilkinson's most consistent wrestlers this year.

In the team's four dual meets Devine has been beaten only once and that defeat came at the hands of Oklahoma State's Crady Sells.

Southern's chances of upsetting the Cyclones has been enhanced by the return of Dan DiVesto to the lineup.

The 177 pounder missed two dual meets with an injury to his knee, but returned to action last week and looked impressive in his victory against Indiana State's Rudy Lotzich.

Antone Kusmanoff will be at 157 pounds and will face the all-American Hassman. Kusmanoff pinned his last opponent at the Indiana State meet, but Hassman has pinned five of his ten opponents so far this year.

George McCrerey at 167 pounds is in good wrestling form now and can win three of his last four meets. Tough competition brings the best out of McCrerey. He was the only winner at the Oklahoma State meet last month.

The rest of Wilkinson's lineup is expected to find Dave Pforr at 187 pounds, Bob Herkert at 177 and all-Haerem or Chuck Koreskel at heavyweight.

Pforr won his last match against Indiana State by forfeit, but Herkert was forced to forfeit his because of a severe cold. Haerem lost his match 6-1.

Beatrice Hassman, who has a 10-0 record, the other undefeated Iowa men are Ernie Blikom at 123, Bob Buzzard at 147, Tim Peckan at 177 and Ted Tuitstra at heavy-weight.

The meet with the Cyclones closes the regular season for Southern. The Salukis will be competing at the NCAA Wrestling Finals later this month at Laramie, Wyo.

Area Wildlife Fine

In Cold, Snowfall

The cold weather and the recent heavy snowfall have little effect on the wildlife survival in the Southern Illinois area, Arch Mehrhoff, project manager of Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge, says.

Last week's drifts of snow only gave difficulty to the quail and rabbits but on the whole the wildlife have no trouble in securing their food.

He said the geese often fly as much as 30 to 40 miles to feed and return at night to the refuge.

Blue Flannel Look

Blazers Replace Sweaters, Jackets for Athletes on Trips

Letter sweaters and school jackets, once the proud symbol of athletic prowess and brown, have been replaced with conservative blazers for traveling Saluki sports teams.

For the first time in SIU's history, athletic teams are required to "dress up" for road trips.

The University provides each athlete a navy blue flannel blazer with silver buttons and SIU modestly lettered across the breast pocket on the left side.

The rest of the wearing apparel is furnished by the athlete himself.

He is required to wear a white shirt and dark tie, dark dress pants, and dark shoes. The Athletic Department has 124 blazers in stock in various sizes and the current blazers will be replaced by new ones every three years.

Bill Brown, assistant athletic director, says the blazers give the athletes a more united appearance when they are dressed up away from home.

Members of the gymnastics team said they prefer wearing them because the jackets set them off from other students when they travel to other universities.

They, like the other athletes, take pride in their school.

The jackets are also worn by ushers at the home basketball games.

In addition, Student Activities has a supply of jackets which are used by the debate team and other activities.

HOW CHARLIE MADE A PIECE OF DOUGH

You can, too! Here's how he did it.

Charlie called a friend down at the paper.

Told him he was expanding. Needed a new man. The paper helped him write a real hum-dinger of an ad. Charlie got a fire-ball. Then he had a great buy on some new material.

The paper helped him write a real puller. The material sold fast at a cozy profit. Charlie's happy and so are we!

* Charlie's our big booster now, tells everybody to buy the paper. He MOST for their advertising dollars. You, too, it's true, by appealing to the RIGHT GROUP of buyers. Our money has never lost. Whether it's display or classified you name it, it works!

SIU and High Point switched positions in the last vote. Fairmont held the No. 3 position after winning four times for a 2-2 mark. North Dakota advanced three places to sixth on a 22-4 record.

Gannon fell back one notch to seventh after splitting two games for a 20-3 record, while Grambling held eighth place. The Tigers, 20-5 through last Saturday, downed Villas and Southern University of Louisiana.

Augsburg lost to St. Mary's, Minn., 87-76, and dropped from seventh to ninth, and Philadelphia Textile, which boosted its record to 21-3 by defeating Lyonsville 110-80, held 10th place.

The remainder of the first 10 teams in 1964 were Arizona State in second place, Pan American in fourth, followed by Hofstra, Youngstown, Win­tenberg, State College of Iowa, Washington of St. Louis and Kentucky Wesleyan.
