Faculty Member Takes Stand Against Campus Liquor Rules

Students would be encouraged to adopt more mature responsibility for their conduct if rules against drinking on college campuses, in the opinion of Robert Russell, a distinguished professor of health education, were more strict. Russell took the stand against the present rules for forbidding drinking on campuses in an article that appeared in a magazine that made its debut last week.

The magazine, Per Se, is an international quarterly published by the Stanford University Press, Stanford, Calif. Russell wrote that drinking by college students is part of the "students' desire to 'take on behavior which is characteristically adult.'"

Present rules against drinking on campus, he said, encourage overdrinking and driving after drinking and in general serve as a dare to young people to do what they consider overprotective regulations their elders.

"In brief, there should be no rules against drinking on college and university campuses," Russell wrote. "Rules against misconduct of various kinds, property damage, bodily harm to others, disorderly conduct should be sufficient."}

Record Stands 18-6 for Season

In a rough-and-tumble game of everything from head-bending to rim-bending, Wichita held off a late-game rallying Shockers 87-80 victory over the Salukis in Wichita Tuesday night.

The game at times looked like a football game as the players, keeping the score lines were narrowed during the closing minutes. Wichita held a lead of as many as eight points throughout most of the second half before the Salukis threatened to knock off the major college powerhouse by closing the gap to 60-50, in the game.

The doggedly-determined Salukis had narrowed the margin to 84-80 with as little as 15 seconds to go before the Shockers dropped in three of four free throws to win, George McNeill and Dave Lee, who wound up with 20 and 18 points respectively, paced the drive for the Salukis. McNeill was 18 points in the first half, McNeill was limited to only two points through the first 14 minutes of the second half, but he came through with six and six in the same total time in the late rally.

Faced with more than 10,000 on hand roared appreciation as several controversial calls were made by the officials against the Salukis. All 16 officials were called against Southern in the second half compared to only five against the Shockers. Several players were hanged around in the heat of the late-game struggle.

Cigarette Warnings Unheeded By SIU’s ‘Thinking’ Smokers

By Willie Wilkerson

"Caution; Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health."

SIU’s smokers apparently have not been affected by this warning, because cigarette consumption has proceeded at its regular pace, according to Neil Dillard, supervisor of services for Auxiliary Enterprises.

In spite of medical warnings and the direct threat by cancer, the cigarette smokers at SIU continue to patronize the vending machines on campus at the same rate as before the campaign scare.

The warnings on cigarette packages this year have apparently been heeded because students are still enjoying the "rich taste of fine tobacco."

According to Dillard, there was a small decline in sales at the onset of the cancer scare, but since then sales have returned to normal.

Communion to Be Held

Lutheran communion services will be held at 7:15 a.m. each Wednesday at the Wesley Foundation.

In conjunction with the University Health Service, a warning was placed on the outside of the cigarette machines. There have been no noticeable positive effects of this action.

Surprisingly enough, girls smoke more than boys on the Carbondale campus. This observation was reported by Robert Runkel, branch manager of Automatic Retailers of America (ARA), and is based on volume at the various residence halls.

Runkel further said that most girls prefer filter cigarettes. In fact, there is only one unfiltered brand stocked in women’s residence halls. He said that the girls’ consumption escalates while they nervously await or anticipate the outcome of a date.

The leading consumption centers on campus are (1) University Center, (2) Lentz Hall, and (3) Trueblood Hall in University Park, according to Dillard.

Cigarette companies did not anticipate such a reaction. Dillard said there was a change in promotional techniques by the companies to compensate for the expected decline in sales. Most noticeable was the withdrawal of company sales representatives who formerly roamed the campus giving out free cigarette samples.

The only result of this strategy was a reduction in the consumption of cartons of cigarettes. Obviously students thought that they could quit smoking by not buying any more cartons. This was to no avail because they still bought the same amount of cigarettes, but package by package.

University measures were then taken to curb smoking or to make the students more aware of the inherent dangers. In conjunction with the University Health Service, a warning was placed on the outside of the cigarette machines. There have been no noticeable positive effects of this action.

Considerable sunshine and mild today with the high in the 60s. The record high for this date is 75 set in 1940 with a record low of 37 set in 1954, according to the SIU Climatology Laboratory.

MARISSA, IL (KA)-Sun Prairie Burst, SU Vice-President in charge of insignia says he saw nothing wrong with the proposed seal. He feels it reflects the University, especially considering its personnel. The significance of the tangle line that Sun Prairie Burst said there is no reason why it should not be accepted. If an adequately dean ear can be maintained to conserve intelligence, traditionalist and reasonable elements of the campus representation.

DAILY EGYPTIAN

MARISSA, IL (KA)-Dr. Orville Honda, SU Vice-President in charge of the Commerce Loco Parentis policy, has announced that, in view of the recent ban of passengers riding sidecar on motor cycles, the name "Saluki Poster,"-was changed to "Bear Patrol."-L.R.

MARISSA, IL (KA)-Informed sources have indicated that the Daily Egyptian will quit the Louis Globe-Democrat. (R.R.)

Cultural cannot be forced -a look at convocation by john straw

In the early 1950's, a Freshman Convocation was instituted by President in charge of the Student Union. The purpose was to introduce culturally deprived Southern Illinoisans like myself to the finer things in life; by listening to comic pianists, the Head and Tail of campus, grunted generals and right-wing journalists. I, for one, equaly ignored regional brethren, were going to overcome the lingoation of our inconsiderable background.

Our unemplowed coal miner father, many of whom, according to a Time article which the university has never passed to my knowledge repudiated-play in the university symphony we were compelled to hear, could now die comfortably knowing that not only did their sons and daughters have B.A.'s, but culture as well.

But... there seems to be an opposition here, is the university admitting the inadequacy of its own intellectual climate? Is it not admitting that one can spend one's life in ignorance, and still be a Southern Illinoisan---unless, of course, one is convocated?

Now I have been convocated on occasion. In fact, my reactions have ranged from astonishment to rage. When the programs are bad, we all know they're bad, so we usually don't need them. If the program happens to be good, the audience, which rigidly objects to the whole sense, is usually intolerable. The tone and word of their unappreciative, but rather that the whole program involves a rewarding intellectual experience. The result is either that interested personnel have a frustrating experience because of a disposition audience, or that the audience has a frustrating experience because of a poor program.

Even the War on Poverty realities that the poor must be in control of decisions affecting their lives, this need has been neglected. Because it's psychology.

We culturally poor people here at SIU should have the same rights as the affluent people, and I cast my ballot where votes are power. Consider the following: a political exercise which directly insults the pride and intelligence of the people of Southern Illinois. Let students control the convocation money, invite speakers of their own choice, and let them adopt their own visions--we're tired of the burden of traveesty.

"Honour thy parentis."

Pastoral Apology
I will be the first to admit that the nation's hog industry has received the brunt of mine during the last number of years. As a result, it is unfortunately the case that I was insensitive to the people in the hog industry and to those in the SIU School of Agriculture. When, in last week's edition of KA, I suggested that the cover Seminar brochure be juxtaposed with that of the Ninth Annual Theatre Day. The grapevine has it that a number of members of the School of Agriculture were upset by the comparison with the National Seminar, and that there is sufficient cause for an apology.

A major consideration here is that I was conceived and raised in a pasture, a pastoral swilling on the Kaskaskia, so a rustic background like mine though it never included milking a cow, nothing whatsoever in particular. In fact most people would not think that is something to be accomplished or to be accomplished. In addition the sunburst is pop art styled. In its definition it is not likely to be very timeless.

In a symbol, it is highly desirable that the central figure be two people. One of the traits of a good symbol is that it is easily remembered by a viewer who is not closely associated with it, or constanly exposed to it. Something as abstract and complex as the sunburst is not something which everyonness cannot be solved by stock value.

"A bit of mirth"

In our days of responsible government, the student still needs to go along in ignorance concerning the ways and whys of campus life. As a house student twenty-five cents in an unsanitary, unsightly, unsecure. Perhaps this same student wonders why after numerous complaints and shameful acts that are now prevalent. They feel that they live in a time of big decisions; that they know that they are not making any.

In a university community, this ignorance is bliss.

Training for next year's editors will be able to give anyone wishing to apply. Persons having experience in newspaper work, in particular, KA, will be given in the application for the Open Session:

The SIU housing policy is the local child of the "local parent" policy. Hopefully, now one will be the Heartland's rhetoric seriously when it proclaims:

(The Housing Office philosophy (in) the fusion of living and learning.)

By enforcing SIU's oppressive local parent policy, the Housing Office hopes to keep you for the long side down the riverside of life. But, the world is not one big Woody Hall. When life tears us from the tendrils of SIU, we find we are living in a world unlike—thank God—Thompson Point.

In the world SIU allegedly prepared us for, no one tells us where to live, nor do women have hours. In fact, men and women live in the same building and on the same floor in their apartments.

Our local parents

SIU assumes a paternal role toward the local child. We are too immature to enjoy the same rights we would have as non-students. Of the law says we're old enough to marry, the most we can do is to sign patriotic music; toward the nightmares.

The world is not one big Woody Hall, a monastic order with the sound of patriotic music; but assume they are old enough to marry, the most we can do is to sign.

Immature Controls

Woody immates become creative, responsible adults when they learn to sign in and out and abide by the hours. What wonderful insights are gleaned from late minutes and "camping," bed checks and "inspections" of the woman that she is a mature citizen who warrents the right of privacy. Farcical dorm governance, petty and judicial boards are instruments of the administration.

Some deserve SOCIALISTIC. Unfortunately—all under- graduates may live in supervised housing (unles given an increase by the Housing Office.)

Why does SIU sentence the student to the bland conformity and priggish supervision of dormitory life?

One reason is economic. SIU compells students to live in SIU dorms. Who are the principle bondholders of on and off campus dorms? This question merits rigorous investigation.

Secondly, SIU is a local parent. The administrators piously claim they are interested in student welfare, but their real concern may well be Public Relations. SIU's Manifest Destiny depends upon convincing the downtown and legislators that students (hormone-driven sex and drinking machines) are well disciplined. But assume administrators are interested in student welfare. Administrators envisage SIU as a pristine in its box. Claiming they are "behavioral engineers" they impose a restriction on housing (e.g., members of the opposite sex may only live together for hours of p.m. and p.m. in living areas.)

Privacy exist

A student must have a private life of his own apart from SIU. The administration was considering the horrendous social and psychological consequences of curtailting the right of privacy. The trouble with the administration in that it knows too real things that aren't so.

The group for the advancement of psychology published a study on the emotional problems of student and the College Student: the process of personal growth requires respect of privacy. The principle of in loco parentis however, appears to be in direct conflict with the principle of privacy. The student's privacy requires respect, sexual activities, and the principle of privacy, and the principle of privacy.

The principle of in loco parentis was considered—should not be the direct concern of the administration. The process of personal growth requires respect of privacy. The principle of in loco parentis however, appears to be in direct conflict with the principle of privacy. The student's privacy requires respect, sexual activities, and the principle of privacy, and the principle of privacy.

SIU builds maturity by treating students like children. In SIU dorms. Who are the principle bondholders of on and off campus dorms? This question merits rigorous investigation.

Slater's not complying with county skin-test regulations

Here is a story which is bound to give any patron of the Roman Room nightmares.

There is a regulation, issued by the health office for Jackson County as part of the communicable disease prevention program, that all food service workers are supposed to have periodic skin tests for tuberculosis. If the test is positive, an X-ray is required. It is not usual that the worker is not infected with, or a carrier of tuberculosis. Failure of residents, etc. to comply with this regulation can result in that restaurant's losing its permit to serve food.

You guessed it. Neither the work office nor Slater's food service workers to take the TB skin test. This is frightening; there is no assurance that some worker is not a TB carrier, and SIU is thus in the position of failing to comply with the county's communicable disease prevention program—a serious breach of faith.

However, this is only a part of the total picture. The county health inspector says that if one walks into any given restaurant in Jackson County, there is about a 2-3% chance that the restaurant's employees have up-to-date skin tests and X-rays. The county has begun a program which they hope will encompass quarterly checks on compliance, but are now understood. Until that time, or until the health inspector reaches SIU, watch out—the bread you eat may carry TB!

Dear Editor,

Earlier this month, a top administration official started talking about the possibility of curtailing the current textbook rental service. He said that the University was considering selling textbooks because the present system was no longer feasible in view of the expanded enrollment. He said he would like to get student opinions and reactions to such a move.

Sounds good, eh students? The administration is talking to us, trying to get our opinions before making any decisions. They are trying to be fair to us and are not keeping anything from us. This is to be construed as progress. This is a step up from such actions as "Smith Hall" and "final exam experiments," isn't it?

OK students, grab this one. Runzer has it that there is a plan to open a new million-dollar bookstore in one of Carbondale's new shopping centers, owned by a private business.

Do you think maybe this guy knows something the students don't? Oh well, I guess they really do have our best interests at heart. By the way, what was the old adage about the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer?

In view of the debate on foreign policy, particularly with respect to Viet Nam and the impending acceleration of the draft I would like to appeal to every reasonable human being to carefully consider the evidence for every alternative, to reflect on the consideration rationally. Let us accept nothing merely because it confirms our views, nor reject anything merely because it conflicts with our preconceptions. If the "gold" coin be dropped in so many foreign affairs and dissolved in so many foreign affairs, we are the better for the discovery; if the coin be true, it can emerge only the brighter.

Reflection Dual Concern

Board of Trustees Chairman Interested in Both Area, SIU

By John Epperheimer

The chairman of the SIU Board of Trustees is chief director of the largest industry in Southern Illinois. Kenneth L. Davis of Harrisburg, recently re-elected chairman, is concerned with the area’s welfare, as well as the development of SIU.

Sitting in his sporting goods store in Harrisburg, community of 9,000 situated 38 miles east of Carbondale, Davis reflected that dual concern when asked about Southern’s growth.

Asked about some students’ feelings that SIU is too stressed to benefit the community, Davis replied: “One of the goals of SIU is to stress benefits to the community.”

Asked about programs such as the University Recital Institute, which drew criticism from the Rational Action Movement, Davis said such projects will continue to grow “if they show results.”

“There can be no division made of programs in the University,” he said, referring to demands for curtailment of area projects.

Speaking on student rights and responsibilities, Davis pointed out that the administration has been “pretty much in sympathy with the students.”

He said that “their goals can be accomplished as well without demonstrations or movement on SIU.” However, he noted that last spring’s RAM seemed to be more responsible and orderly than other such movements around the country which he has read about.

“SIU will give students as much academic freedom as possible and as much self-control.

Workers Needed For Arena Jobs

Temporary jobs between the hours of 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. at the SIU Arena are now open to college men, according to Larry A. Schlenzak, assistant manager of the Arena.

The help is needed because of the basketball tournaments scheduled in the Arena, Friday and Saturday, NCAA college regional; March 10 and 11, high school sectional; March 15, high school super sectional.

The workers will be paid $1.15 an hour. Interested men should contact Schlenzak at his office, Room 117 in the Arena.

Have astronauts made pilots old hat?

Sure, the boys who go off the "pods" get the big, bold headlines. But if you want to fly, the big opportunities are still with the aircraft that take off and land on several thousand feet of runway.

Who needs pilots? TAC does. And MAC. And SAC.

There’s a real future in Air Force flying. In years to come aircraft may fly higher, faster and further than we dream of yet. But they’ll be flying, with men who had Air Force flight training at the controls.

Of course the Air Force also has plenty of jobs for those who won’t be flying. As one of the world’s largest and most advanced research and development organizations, we have a continuing need for scientists and engineers.

Young college graduates in these fields will find that they have the opportunity to do work that is both interesting and important. The fact is, nowhere else will you have greater latitude or responsibility right from the start than on the Aerospace Team — the U.S. Air Force! Interested? The place to find out more is at the office of the Professor of Aerospace Studies, if there is one on your campus.

Three Teams With Grudges
To Spark Regional Tourney

By Joe Cook

Three basketball teams, each supporting a particular grudge, and an unknown outsider will help enliven the competition in the Great Lakes Regional, which will be held Friday and Saturday nights in the Arena.

Indiana State, Southern and Evansville College form the triumvirate.

The Sycamores from Indiana State would like to get another crack at the Evansville Aces, who have defeated them twice this season, including last week's 98-89 victory at the Evansville Coliseum. The Sycamores, who defeated them 85-83 in the only game between the two schools, have revenge in mind for the Aces.

Meanwhile Evansville wants one more crack at SIU, a team that has beaten the Aces twice, 79-65 in Evansville and 80-75 in overtime in the Arena.

Lamar Tech, the outsider, has not played any of the teams before, and is therefore currently at peace with all.

While Tech will enter the tournament with the worst record, 15-8, it nevertheless could be a surprise.

Three years ago at the Great Lakes Regional at Cape Girardeau, Mo., Tech played Southern in the finals. The Salukis were hard pressed and finally prevailed in overtime, 93-84. Evansville will play Lamar Tech in the first game and Southern will meet Indiana State in the nightcap.

Team Needs Pride, Rainsberger Says

By Bob Reincke

Ellis Rainsberger, new head coach of Southern's football team, said he realizes he has problems to solve here and one of his major tasks will be to build pride in the players and fans.

"Pride is very important to the success of any football team," Rainsberger said. "We'll be hoping also to build the pride of fans in their football team."

The husky coach, who looks fit enough at 53 to strap on the pads for a game, said he is not certain of the offensive formation he'll use.

"We'd like to use the split-end and end-over style like Arkansas and Nebraska, and use these men as pass receivers if we have a quarterback who can throw," he said.

SIU fans may be seeing less passing than in the past three seasons. Rainsberger, whose pasado were the major factor in Southern's offensive attack, Rainsberger says he hopes to develop the running game first and supplement it with passing.

One of the problems Rainsberger faces is recruiting. The new coach has been hired late for recruiting and as a result, is in need of catching up for the race against high school players.

"We're starting late in recruiting and it's going to be tough this year. Many other schools are already started. We need immediate help at some positions so we'll be trying to get some of the junior college boys that we think would be available," he said.

Because of the late start in recruiting, Rainsberger said spring practice probably wouldn't start until early in May.

"By starting spring practice late we will have more time to recruit and also it will give us a chance to get better idea of how these men shape up when they come back in September," Rainsberger said.

The new head coach also plans some visits to go along with his serious attitude toward football. A sportswriter asked him what he would do if his team had just scored a touchdown first and supplemented it with passing.

"Well, we'd be hoping also to build the pride of fans in their football team.

Shockers Defeat Salukis 87-80

The Shockers had some refereeing help and a spectator had to be called to straighten the rim as close as possible to its original form.

But all in all, it was an outstanding effort for the Salukis in a fieldhouse where Wichita teams have been beaten only four times in 50 games. The Shockers finished with a perfect home court record for the current season of 13-0 and have won its 18 straight on that court.

The Salukis had a 40-37 advantage at the intermission on a novel four-point play in the final seconds. Trailing 1-3, McNeill, who had already taken a couple of hard spills from locals, dropped in a pair of free throws to put the Salukis on top 3-3. Then when Wichita tried to inbound the ball, Ralph Johnson tipped the ball through the net after the Shockers had tried to pitch it over the head of the 6-10 junior.

The Salukis held the lead intermittently through the first half as the lead changed 13 times and the score was tied twice. The second half was different, however, as Wichita put together strings of seven and eight straight points to forge into the lead to stay early in the half.

McNeill's 26 points led the Shockers, followed by Lee and Hody O'Neal with 18 apiece. For the Shockers, George Kelso, Randy Johnson and David Wirth tied with McNeill for the top spot with 26 points each.

The loss leaves the Salukis with a final regular season record of 18-6 heading into the regionals against Indiana State Friday night. Wichita, meanwhile, closed out the season with a record of 13-9.
