Residents to Vote On Activity Fee

By Kevin Cole

Tuesday's referendum will give residence halls residents the opportunity to keep some of the area activity fee.

The ballots provide space for choosing a mandatory, voluntary, or no fee.

The ballots also include a question asking whether the mandatory activity fee was ruled in conflict with University constitution.

The areas were loaned normal operating funds which were to ride them over until the issue was settled.

A string of student-administration meetings and previous referendum preceded Tuesday's vote.

The previous referendum was ruled invalid because it lacked Senate recognition and acceptance.

The Senate accepted the format of Tuesday's referendum as the Wednesday night meeting.

Sample ballots will be distributed to students early next week in an intensive drive to educate the voters, according to John R. Anderson, Thompson Point President.

Each resident will receive one copy in his mailbox.

The sample ballot will be a replica of the one used in the referendum, except for color, he said.

Letters signed by the presidents of the four living areas were also sent to residents Thursday further explaining the situation.

If students approve a mandatory fee, the topic will go before the Campus Senate for approval, and eventually through administrative channels, according to Anderson.

If a voluntary fee is approved, the issue will be taken up within the living areas.

In past years funds from the activity fee have been used to provide educational and recreational activities for residence of University living areas.

Voluntary Activity Fee Asked

Residents of the four University living areas have sent the Administration a letter calling for approval of a voluntary area activity fee.

The letter argued against Administration control of residence halls funds, particularly the annual $13.50 area fee.

Area collection of the fee was termed invalid last summer and the areas have been going without any activity fee as such since that time.

Copies of the letter have been distributed to residents of the areas involved, Anderson said.

The referendum will be held Tuesday.

The letter urges students to approve voluntary fee "to stand on our own feet, free of administration control and restrictions."

It states that "by asking the Administration to accept this mandatory fee for us, we invite monetary control over the entire system."

The letter is part of an attempt to educate voters, according to Anderson.

Sample ballots will be distributed to residents early next week. The color of these ballots will be different from that of the ballots to be used in Tuesday's referendum, but the controls will be the same.

Ballots will list pros and cons of the issue, as well as provide space for voters to indicate their choice of mandatory, voluntary, or no fee.

The fee in question amounts to $4.50 per term for residence halls residents living areas, except small group housing.

"'Carmen' has been our most outstanding achievement to date," said Marjorie Lawrence, director. She related that the recent production at Shryock Auditorium of the Bizet opera, Ninety 300 students participated in the production in various capacities including orchestra, vocalists, crew, costumes and scene staff.

"The cooperation among the various groups was outstanding, and the reports received bore this out," said Miss Lawrence. "The singers, instrumentalists, costume sets are to be highly commended." Talent was abundant as shown by the separate casts, one for the Saturday matinee and one for the Sunday matinee.

The Friday dress rehearsal was open to area high school students. This is the fourth year that the policy has been in operation.

"This was a most rewarding experience," said Miss Lawrence. "This was an89ment room only and the students were very attentive, the same as expected much of this to the choice of opera, 'Carmen' is exciting entertainment for all ages of audience, she said.

The students began earnest work on 'Carmen' at the beginning of winter quarter. The plans for spring include the annual program on May 7 of student production of opera excerpts. The full length opera choice has not been chosen yet for next year.

Commission

Asks Justice

For Children

In that part of its report dealing with the juvenile justice system, the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice proposes a full-scale program of reforms ranging all the way from enactment to law to the conclusion of the youthful offender's treatment. It is by no means a miniscule, enlightened and sensitive undertaking of the subject we have seen, and should be of indispensable value to those who are making effective the knowledge of the great many more than a little elusive at best. An outstanding virtue of the report is its preceding acknowledgement that in the present state of knowledge there are many imperfections.

There are, to begin with, too many laws concerning juveniles, the commission says particularly those making it a legal offense for a child to do things it would not be a legal offense for an adult to do. "Statistics often define Iowa's juvenile and adolescence broadly as to make virtually all youngsters delinquents." A keystone of the commission's recommendations, partly in its effort to avoid the stigma of court action, is in creation of neighborhood youth services bureaus. Their purpose would be to bring together all available services to achieve "the coordinated application of the behavioral and social sciences to the misbehaving child." It is true that many existing agencies are deficient in both money and specialists and the proposed centers would demand much more of both. This is, to my mind, not so much a deterrent as it is a grave warning of how much farther we must push ahead.

Mr. R. Fisher, in her statement that I would like to try calling to discredit my views by quoting out of context, I said in my letter that I have no right to request the student SAU from the students I am not in a position to demand the student SAI I do not have the right to demand from them academically. And since I have had no social group that I have been a member of, I don't feel as you could be interested in the same way, I don't feel the same way. I have not been interested in the same way, I don't feel the same way. I have not been interested in the same way. I don't feel the same way.

Wheelchair User Discovers Library, Curbs, Doors, Hills Present Problems

By Wanda Barras

Suppose, just for an hour, you can't walk. Suppose that a wheelchair is your only means of travel. What would it be like for you? What new skills would you have to learn? What would it be like for you to move from one place to another, to go where you want to go?

I'm sharing the question posed to this reporter and another, Diana Fox. We were given the assignment of investigating the problems of 300 SIU students whose life in a wheelchair is permanent, not temporary.

This was not involved not only talking to a number of these students, but trying out the wheelchair as a method of getting around. For the 48 hours, we borrowed a wheelchair from the Rehabilitation Center and we each used it for an hour.

Operating the chair for only this short time called for a complete readjustment in the physical and mental working habits needed for traveling. My feet and legs, being accustomed to doing fairly well, had to be retrained. You have to learn the work for walking, I discovered. It takes the practice of walking.

Unable to visualize the possible difficulties for me, I got into the chair. As I approached the path in front of the Rehabilitation Center, I realized that I was not going to make it go. But that's about the only thing I could do.

It's a simple operation for us to get the chair back on the right wheel. All you can do is dodge-'em and hope they notice an obstacle on the tracks.

Chairing a pudding and dodging students is hard work. I found out you have to work hard to clear the path for the cool, clear taste of water, so we headed for the walking fountain.

I wasn't expecting to see a high monument. I'm accustomed to having the water fountain at the top of the slope. This one too was too high to reach.

So I cheated. Going through the cafeteria line in a wheelchair was an experience. You can't reach the food on the racks unless you are six inches behind the counter can't reach you for the same reason.

Wanda collected the coffee and carried the tray. I followed with the buffet and the plate. I began to wonder just how I would have carried the tray without a chair who wasn't been along. I'm not sure I would have been able to reach anything.

I thought it would have pushed myself through the line if I were holding the tray.

I've got only two hands.

Another problem faced us when we reached the tables. A wheelchair can really get tangled up in the narrow, leg-infested paths of the cafeteria jungle.

We found a table on the perimeter of the jungle. The University Bookstore fooled us. We thought we could sit on the roof without a chair. But once through the doors, we had it made. The student workers willingly offered us help in getting in and out of the building and clearing the path on paneled boxes.

The majority of SIU students are really understanding and helpful.

These same thoughts were expressed by the wheelchair student we interviewed.

The students we interviewed faced the same problems we had, but face them everyday. They accept these problems as part of life.

But these students have more problems than we faced in our two-hour escapade. We didn't have to attend classes in a building without elevators.

These students try to arrange their classes in buildings easy to use. They are not always successful. But if you're not fortunate enough to get a class in a building without elevators, you just have to work around the difficulty. You have to watch the door opening student or wait for someone to help.

Diana Fox, a senior majoring in accounting, said he had very few difficulties in getting around campus.

There is also the problem of getting books from the reserve room. In order to get to the reserve room, she said, you must go down to the basement floor by elevator and then find the door. This is near the empty space of the door into the room.

Miss Stokes first came to SIU, she had to miss one term of school because she couldn't find an attendant. She said it is not easy to find young men who are interested. She said that she could apply to the work office as other potential employers, but only the University employees are really helpful.

The water fountains give them the same problems they give us. They are just too high.

One of the girls interviewed said, "I can get a drink of water just about anywhere, I sit on the arm of the chair and reach it."

But a lot of the students can't sit on the arms to reach it, so they carry cups.

What's life like for the wheelchair student at SIU? It's a workable environment though, a challenge.

About Today's Page

What's life in a wheelchair like? It's difficult for most SIU students to comprehend the problems of those who are bound to this way of life. But to attempt to get some insights into these problems, Daily Egyptian assigned two reporters to try the wheelchair way of life.

They also talked with a number of students to whom a wheelchair represents their principal means of locomotion on campus.
N. Carolina School Schedules Concert

In Exchange Plan

As a portion of the Winston-Salem exchange project which exists between SU and the North Carolina school, the Winston-Salem State Choir will present a concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Shryock Auditorium.

Some of the selections will be by composers Bach, Dello Joio, Thompson, Handel and Giannini. Lighter music will include spirituals and Hungarian folksongs.

The SU Choir will present the J.S. Bach Motet, "Jesu, meine Freude," on the same program.

James Dillard will direct the Winston-Salem Choir, Admission is free. Following the performance there will be a reception for the Winston-Salem Choir.

Woodruff residents will be invited to the choir at a rec'd dance from 4 to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Symphonic Band To Give Concert

The University Symphonic Band will present a concert at 8 p.m. March 8 in Shryock Auditorium.

Michael D. Hanes, Director, said the program will include selections by Clifton Williams, Gottlieb Muffat, Bela Bartok and Johannes Brahms.

After the intermission works by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Norman Dello Joio, Terig Tucci and Arthur Frackenpohl will be presented.

Nursing Department May Become School

By Inez Rencher

Consideration is being given to making SIU's presently autonomous Department of Nursing an independent School of Nursing, according to Ber­nice Zich, assistant professor of nursing at Edwardsville.

The school, if established, would be located at the Edwardsville campus as the department is now, she said. The Department of Nursing was moved from Carbondale to the Edwardsville campus after a 1963 decision of the Board of Trustees. It was moved because of the lack of clinical facilities within the Carbondale area for the education of nursing students, she said.

SIU offers a four-year col­lege level nursing education pro­gram, with the initial courses available at both the Carbon­dale and Edwardsville campuses, terminating with a bachelor of science degree with a major in nursing from the Edwardsville campus.

Miss Zich cited the Sur­geon General's Report of 1964 which called for the need to graduation a minimum of 53,000 nurses annually in this nation. She said the fields which require nurses include hos­pitals, nursing homes, public health, industry, school nursing, Peace Corps, military services and teaching in schools of nursing.

The function of prenursing counselor has been served by Miss Zich, who is commuting weekly from Edwardsville. Mary Gons, adviser in General Studies at the Carbondale campus, has been appointed as regular guidance counselor for the prenursing students at this campus, Miss Zich said.

The appointment, she said, was prompted by the need for a counselor available daily at the Carbondale campus, where the enrollment of pre­nursing students is growing.

Judge Attacks News Coverage Suit Withdraw

PEORIA (AP)—Judge Herbert C. Paschen, presiding at the murder trial of Richard Speck, ordered Thursday a move to withdraw an Illinois Supreme Court suit challenging his restrictions on news coverage of the trial.

"The idea that a newspaper can invoke the extraordinary remedy of mandamus to attack a trial judge’s rulings in the course of the trial and, in effect, try his own lawsuit on the front pages of its own newspaper, and then dismiss these irresponsible charges before hearing on the merits, is repugnant to the American concept of fair trial and fair play," Judge Paschen said in his opinion.

The Illinois Supreme Court ordered Paschen Wednesday to relax some of his guidelines for covering the proceedings. Earlier Paschen had modified his original set of rules.

The court ruled on two of the three points raised in the suit brought by the Chicago Tribune but left pending a decision on the prohibition against making sketches in the courtroom.

In Springfield Thursday, counsel for the Tribune filed a request with the Illinois Supreme Court that its suit be withdrawn. Judge Paschen’s counsel, however, filed with the court an objection to the Tribune motion.

Counsel in the murder trial, meanwhile, sought to impanel a second group of four jurors.

New Orleans Arrest Based on 1963 Meeting

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison’s office said Thursday it has evidence to show Lee Harvey Oswald, Clay L. Shaw and David W. Ferrie met in September, 1963, to discuss killing President John F. Kennedy.

Shaw, a prosperous retired executive, was arrested Wednesday night by Garrison. Ferrie, found dead Feb. 22, was described by Garrison as a key figure in his probe of Kennedy’s death.

A search warrant used to gain entrance to Shaw’s French Quarter apartment Wednesday night stated this reason for the search: "Affiant has evidence that meetings were held in the apartment of David W. Ferrie at 3300 Louisiana Avenue Parkway and the people present were David W. Ferrie, Clay Shaw, alias Clay Bertrand, and Lee Harvey Oswald and an informant and other persons.

These meetings were held in September, 1963 and the above named individuals namely David W. Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald and Clay Shaw alias Clay Bertrand were discussing how they would kill John F. Kennedy, President of the United States.

In Washington, U.S. Atty. Gen. — designate Ramsey Clark, said a FBI investigation in late 1963 had cleared Shaw of any part in the assassination. "On the evidence that the FBI has, there was no connection found," Clark said.

Shaw, who was released on $10,000 bond Wednesday night, issued a statement Thursday in which he expressed shock at his arrest and denied taking part in a plot to kill Kennedy.

A preliminary hearing for Shaw has been set for March 14, it was requested by Garrison—an unusual step for the prosecution. Guy Johnson, attorney for Shaw, said "we do not understand the motivation of Mr. Garrison."

Atty. Gen. Clark was asked in Washington if Shaw had been checked out by the FBI and found clear in the assassination. "That’s right," Clark replied.

The search warrant showed that the objects taken from Shaw’s luxurious home included five whip, pieces of chain, two pieces of leather, one black hood and cape, a shotgun and case and an Army cartridge belt.

The name Clay Bertrand was first mentioned in 1963 by Dean Andrews Jr., a local attorney who only Thursday was subpoenaed by Garrison for questioning.

Andreas told investigators that shortly after Oswald was arrested in Dallas, Tex., a man named Clay Bertrand telephoned him and asked him to represent Oswald. The Warren Commission said it found no man named Bertrand involved.

New Attorney General

— The Senate Thursday confirmed the nomination of Ramsey Clark as U.S. attorney general. The action clears the way for him to take officially the office in which he has been acting for five months.

Worst Week for North

Saigon (AP) - Communist forces have suffered through their worst week of the Viet nam war as 3,332 men killed and 1,008 deserting to the Saigon government in the seven-day period up to Saturday midnight, the U.S. command said Sunday.

Both were records in a conflict in which the kill ratio has favored the allies throughout and Viet Cong defectors have risen markedly since the first of the year. Spokesmen announced 167 Americans were among 470 men said they killed 13 of the regulars, in which the kill ratio of the North Vietnamese makes them with 2,332 men.

Week was marked by a seven-day period on which the kill ratio of the North Vietnamese makes them quite heavy. After statistics dominated official briefings in Saigon, U.S. officials staged four raids from their Guan base. The eight-engine jets hit at suspected enemy positions ranging from War Zone D north of Saigon to Quang Nam Province on the central coast.

U.S. Marines battled on against Communist battalion in which American spokesmen said they inflicted heavy casualties on two Leatherneck companies and moderate casualties on four others in a fight that started Tuesday 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet nam.

Armed helicopter crews were on the lookout for the enemy, whom they identified as North Vietnamese regulars, in air strikes in support of the Marines.

The outbreak of heavy action below the demilitarized zone, which has included two mortar attacks on the 175mm American cannon, shelling North Vietnamese targets along the central coast.

Red Army Founder Charges Mao Purge Wrecked Nation

Budapest, Hungary (AP) — Aging Marshal Chu Teh, who founded Red China’s army, told party Chairman Mao Tse-tung to his face that his purge wrecked the nation, and a Hungarian reporter back from Peking.

The meeting between the two old comrades in arms was described as stormy, now Chu is under house arrest by Maoists in Peking.

The reporter, Tiber Var­konyi, said reports circulated in Peking that a similar meeting took place between Mao and President Liu Shao-chi, but he gave no details.

Before the cultural revo­lution, or purge, broke over Red China last summer, Liu was No. 2 man to Mao in the party hierarchy and Chu was No. 4, behind premier Chou En-lai. Both Liu and Chu are assailed in speeches and wall posters as Mao’s foes who follow a capitalist, pro-soviet line.

Varkonyi said he also visited Hanoi and found a cooler feeling among North Viet­namese toward Red China for assailing the Soviet Union, adding: “Opinion in Hanoi agreed that Peking has overturned the boundaries by its provocative behavior.”

Ride in Patrol Car Gives View of Job
By David Margules

You can never find a cab when you want one! Especially when it's been stolen.

Looking for stolen taxi cabs, calling janitors to turn down the heat in the Communications building, looking for missing coins and checking University property are all jobs for S.U.'s Security Police. To find out how the S.U. police do their job I spent an evening riding with the command car for a Saturday night shift.

I joined Sgt. Marvin Braswell in car 9-5 at 7 p.m. He had been on duty since 3. After checking with the dispatcher we went on patrol.

Driving an unmarked patrol car has advantages and disadvantages. I was able to find out one of the disadvantages when we chased another car.

At one point in the evening we spotted a convertible "peeling away" from a stoplight. Sgt. Braswell went after the car to see what else the driver might do. The driver drove at a steady pace down a green light. We had to run a red light to follow, Sgt. Braswell made sure the intersection was clear before running the light.

The next time we looked in back of us we saw a Carbondale police car chasing us for running the red light. Sgt. Braswell informed the Carbondale police by radio about what we were doing.

Meanwhile, the driver of the convertable was back with the S.U. police following him and a Carbondale police car running along side of him. He slowed down and avoided getting a ticket.

Later in the evening over coffee we got into a discussion of the word "cop". According to the dictionary at the station the noun "cop" means policeman.

While we were discussing the origin of the word "cop", the call about the missing cab came over the radio. We went back on patrol to see if we could find it. We figured that a Yellow Cab would be easy to spot. It wasn't. We never did find the car and four days later the police were still looking for it.

The evening included some other action. Just as we turned toward the Physical Plant the dispatcher called for a car to go there. Another officer had arrested two youthful speeders. We checked to make sure that he had the situation under control and then Sgt. Braswell sent another car to assist the officer.

In all, we did quite a bit of riding that night. Car 9-5 had over 1,000 miles on its odometer, and it had only been in service a week. Sgt. Braswell and I figured that the five patrol cars drive a total of 260,000 miles a year.

As we rode I began to get a clearer picture of the work of the University police.

They are also responsible for University property both on and off campus. Unlike the Carbondale police, whose jurisdiction is limited to Carbondale, the University police have jurisdiction anywhere in the state, as long as University property or personnel are involved.

University police patrol both on campus and around Carbondale. They cooperate with the Carbondale police, and in fact answer the same calls if they involve University students.

According to Sgt. Braswell, S.U. police respond to calls involving students to protect both the school and the students. Students without bail can be released to the Security Office. Thus they can go back to school, rather than await trial in jail.

While I was with the police I decided to find out if the rumor I had heard about them was true. It wasn't. S.U. car police guns had real bullets in them. I was assured that the guns of the other officers on the force were similarly equipped.

As our shift ended we rode back to the station. There, after exchanging notes with the other officers on duty, Sgt. Braswell went home to his wife and four children and I went back to my dorm.

For Heart Drive

The Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity, and their little sisters, collected $554 for their annual Heart Drive "Bucket Brigade." Bob Neander, the chairman for the drive, said, "Although we fell a little short from the $600 mark that we had hoped for, the drive was a great success. Actually we worked fewer hours than last year, due to a new ruling by the City Council of Carbondale, yet still almost reached the $600 mark," said Neander.

The money will go to the local Heart Association fund in Carbondale.

Football Tots Total About $175 Per Player

By David Palermo

By the time an SIU football player slips on his helmet and trots out on the field, he is wearing about $175 worth of equipment. This is the equipment obtained through the files of the Arena equipment office.

How does SIU compare to other universities in the quality of their football uniforms?

Rehab Regains First Place In Bowling

Rehab, with a sweep over Dutch Masters, regained first place after losing to Dutch Masters in the Big Eight Bowling League last week. Rehab is up to point in Counseling and Testing dropping back to the second spot.

In other pin action, Financers and SIU both still have four points from University Center and Chemistry took three from Dana Processing.

B. Jones of Chemistry took high individual scoring honors with 655 and M. Osborn of VT1 scored the high game with 230.

High team scores went to first place Rehab with 2883 and high game honors went to VT1, 796.

According to Athletics Director Donald N. Boydston, SIU is under average on articles such as jerseys and shoes and is usually maintained at an adequate standard on key items which serve to protect the player, such as shoulder pads, helmets and shoes, which would make up the bulk of the equipment cost. A key item in the protection of the football player, shoulder pads sometimes cost up to $50 in the case of extremely large linemen.

Shoes and helmets are other key items. In the football players attire, Shoes range from $10 to $13 a pair while helmets go up about $16 apiece.

Each player is given two uniforms for both home and away games, Practice articles such as jerseys and pants are also supplied by the athletic department. Jerseys for practice, however, don't cost more than $3.

The total cost of outfitting a football player at SIU is about $200 which includes both home and away uniforms, practice jerseys and pants and a few outfits.

Most of the items are purchased by mail with some articles such as shoes coming from local sporting goods stores.

Minnesota's Kondla Grabs Big Ten Lead From Williams

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota's rugged Tom Kondla, hitting his stride after winning the Big Ten individual scoring title in 1967, has averaged 10.5 strokes lower than his 1967 average in his last eight games, may become the first Golden Gopher to win back-to-back Big Ten individual scoring titles.

Kondla, a junior, wrestled the conference lead this week from Iowa's Sam Williams, 1967 conference champion. Kondla's 12-game conference average is 27.9, with Northwestern and Michigan averages at 28.4 and 28.6, respectively.

Last Minnesota player to win the Big Title was Harold Gillen, who shared the 1917 leadership with Ralph Woods of Illinois as each posted a 10.5 average for 12 conference games.

Only Geppi to win a clear-cut title was Frank Lawler, who paced Minnesota's 1911 championship team with an 11.9 average for 12 games, besting such notables as Big Ten Hall of Famers Bob Long and Bob Knight.

If Kondla continues his streak, he will have a shot at the national individual title this June.

Kondla, 3rd in 1967, has averaged 87.6 points for the meet, placing him in third place.

Michigan State is tops defensively with an average of 72.8, followed by Ohio State with 78.8 and Purdue with 79.9.

Indiana's Hoosiers, leading in the title chase with an 8-3 mark, surprisingly lag fourth in scoring with 83.6 and 9.0 on defense, with an average of 80.7.

Final Dual Meet to Feature Saluki, Sycamore Gymnasts

By Bill Kindt

The Saluki men's gymnastics team will face its final tuneup meet before the NCAA championships at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Arena. The Indiana State Sycamores stand in the way of the sixth consecutive undefeated season for the locals.

This is the fifth year that gymnastics has been a competitive sport at the Terre Haute school. For the last three years the Sycamores have been under Roger Counsil, a familiar name in the southern Illinois area. He is a graduate of SIU and in 1957 he was named SIU's most valuable athlete. He was a 1958 finalist in NCAA gymnastics championships, a former Illinois collegiate pole vault champion, and a former national collegiate springboard diving champ.

Coach Counsil expects this year's Sycamore team to be stronger than last year's crew which was 12-4 overall. The mainstay is the all-around performer and in this respect the Sycamores have a dandy - Jim Caruso, a junior from Park Forest.

Caruso lettered last year as a sophomore and is expected to give SIU's Rick Tucker a battle for all-around honors tonight. The Sycamores also have another accomplished gymnast in Capt. Tom Hadley. A senior who has lettered twice, he is expected to provide strength in the rings, side horse, parallel bars and long horse vaults. Five seniors will be making their last home meet appearance tonight for Coach Bill Meade. They are Larry Lindauer, Tucker, Tom Seaward, Hutch Dvorak and Steve Whitlock. Lindauer will work in the long horse vault, Dvorak the trampoline, Seaward the rings and Whitlock the floor exercise.

SIU's First NIT Foe Named

By Tom Wood

SIU will meet St. Peter's of Jersey City, N.J., at 9 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) Thursday in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament. The only other game announced was the clash between Villanova and Marshall, which will precede the Salukis' game Thursday.

There are now 11 teams in the NIT fold. Three more will be added before tournament time. The tourney is awaiting final results of the Atlantic Coast Conference and Big Eight races. These two conferences have agreed to allow their runner-up to consider an NIT bid for the first time this year.

Kansas is presently leading the Big Eight, with Nebraska in second place. The teams meet next week in a showdown for the crown. Should Nebraska remain one game behind Kansas and win next week's game a playoff would result.

The Atlantic Coast determines its conference champion by a post-season conference tournament. North Carolina and Duke are currently the top two teams in the ACC, but league standings mean nothing more than who a team plays first in the post-season tourney in the Atlantic Coast.

Should the Salukis defeat St. Peter's Thursday night they will play again Monday night. Since pairings have been announced for only two games, there is nothing positive on who the possible Monday night foe would be. However, it seems likely that the Big Eight and Atlantic Coast representatives will receive byes for the initial round. They would then probably play Monday night.

That would conceivably pit the Villanova-Marshall and the SIU-St. Peter's winners against these two conference runners-up.

The team will probably depart sometime Wednesday, although travel plans have not been concluded. Tentative arrangements have been made for the team to stay in Lowe's Midtown Motor Inn, which is situated across the street from Madison Square Garden, the site of the tourney.

The Athletic Department has received 50 student and 30 adult tickets, which will go on sale at the Arena ticket office at 1 p.m., Monday. Student tickets will cost $1.50 and adult tickets $4. These tickets are for Thursday's game only.

Tickets may also be purchased at Madison Square Garden ticket office. Purchasers may request a seat in the SIU block. SIU seats will be in the promenade section of the Garden, on the main floor near one of the baskets.
