"LESS WE FORGET"

Thursday's newspapers carried reports of statement issued by the Prime Ministers of the British Commonwealth, the statement issued in the form of a broadside for freedom of nations and was signed by representatives from Canada, New Zealand, Union of South Africa, and France and Australia. However, this document was remarkable in that it contained a highly radical plan for "mutual respect" and "honest consent" to avoid the policy of "aggression" against India, which is today regarded as one of the main sources of the problem. The primary reference was an Indian representation present and were in full agreement with the Indian

Surely such a significant statement by Britain cannot fail to attract the attention of other Indians and other leaders of India who have been offered various suggestions to settle the differences between them and the British. A "Freedom of Nations," so to say, how glorified and how much greater it is to be complete if one nation continues to be under the present domination of another. Whether or not India is in danger of partition and the isolation and endangerment of her interests in the present war.

For example, the Indian army has grown from 1,000,000 to 1,750,000, whereas the 500,000 Indians who are serving abroad. The Indian Navy has been instrumental in keeping the seas open, and there are not a few vessels carrying the red, white, and blue. There are also 10 squadrons of the Indian Air Force serving with distinction along with the British Air Force in Britain.

It has also been pointed out that India is paying 30-35 per cent of her own war expenditure in addition to paying for the war upkeep of the British, and that the Indian army is actively engaged in the fighting in the Middle East. The British, on the other hand, are for the most part only represented by a small number of officers, who are mostly in the Indian army. The Indian army is highly trained, and there is no better army in the world.

The judge states that "the people of the British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations are willing to make sacrifices in the interests of the freedom of all nations," and "the Indian army is acting in the interests of the freedom of all nations." He adds that the Indian army is "willing to work for the freedom of all nations," and that the Indian army is acting in the interests of the freedom of all nations.

From Major General Aurand to the women of S.I.N.U.

I know how close the war has come to you.

The young college women of America undertook the origin of this war and the victory of the nation. More than that, you understand what sacrifice is demanded in the face of it all. We must all do our part, whether we work at home, in the factories, or at the front. Our ability to preserve our way of life depends on our willingness to sustain it.

When I tell you that your courage and sacrifice will be recognized in the future, I know you will take the opportunity.

Yes, there is no question that I will need your further support. The Army needs your contribution to its full fighting strength.

Harry S. Aurand
Major General, U. S. Army
Gil Service Command, Commanding.
