Easy Pickings End With Victory
Over Ewing--Score 67 to 0

The Maroons completed the last of their practice games Friday by defeating Ewing College 67-0. There was at no time any competition that would worry the Maroonmen, Ewing playing her first year in football for a long time and the light, inexperienced ladies were no match for the now pretty well seasoned teachers.

Ewing won the toss and elected to kick. Ross received the ball on his own fifteen yard line and ran back to the thirty yard mark. From there the locals fumbled and the run ends for the first quarter. On the first play Ross made three yards off tackle. On the next play Heen was penalized five yards for off side. Moore hit tackle for eight. Powell circled right end for seven. Lents smacked guard for eight and a first down. Ross again went through tackle for five and then shifted Dick Powell picked up twenty-five yards around end. Ross added thirteen around left end. Ross and Lents made two each through center and then Powell went over for six points.

The game ended when Ewing kicked to Pearce, who caught the ball on his own twenty yard line and ran the fifty back thirty-two yards. A pass by Mountain to McLaughlin took the ball to the fifteen yard line, where the game ended.

FREE AMUSEMENT

Did you ever stop to consider that "just people" are interesting. Notice the folks in your classes, those on the campus, those in Chapel, those on the street. Often you can get more entertainment out of watching them than you could get out of vaudeville.

Same excuses as some offer for an unprepared lesson! It is actually funny. Some use the same line, but the more brilliant change their mode of attack at least once a week. But always the excuses are just plain "dumb." If you weren't in class you would laugh outright, but since you are you must stifle your amusement.

Funnier still is the way some folks take an instructor's lectures. Such gambling, such mean looks, such discourteous contradictions, and once in a while respectful attention. One fellow in a certain class makes it a point of giving some unpleasant react to him. He's maybe in the wrong and the entire class knows it. Then there is the person who entertains the class with his humor and incurs the displeasure of the teacher. We must admit that humor is all right in its place, but a continuous attempt does get monotonous. And yet this fellow tries to amuse in his remarks and you always rather pity him as you smile at his antics.

Then if you are observing you can tell when your class mate knows the lesson. If he has the lesson unprepared he will often sit back trying to squeeze into the smallest space possible. When the teacher asks him a question, you almost scream at the expression on his face. You'd think that he was going to be murdered outright. If he is more of a hold, hasty type, he will murmur in a monosyllable that he dummy. Or there are the usual far lines: "I studied the wrong lesson." "I wasn't here yesterday." "I just couldn't understand that." Notice them for a while. You will get real pleasure out of their ways. It will help you to understand them. Often their true selves are displayed in the classroom.

S. I. N. U. HOME COMING, NOVEMBER 7 AND 8

AN EVENING WITH THE ART CLUB

Monday evening, through the efforts of the Art Club, Mrs. J. C. Hundley kindly consented to open her house to the club and friends.

The Hundley home is one of the most beautiful homes in this city and contains marvelous collections of both ancient and modern masters of art. Hundley's collection of pictures is wonderful in every aspect. It consists about 200 pictures all equally great. Especially to be noted are an original Corot, Empire and four magnificent Emersons, a man who follows somewhat the style of Corot, and whose pictures only the most fortunate may possess.

Mrs. Hundley very kindly gave a sketch of the history of each of her pictures, besides she told some very interesting experiences she had, while laying some of the pictures.

After the pleasant, tour and lecture Mrs. Hundley served refreshments to all present.

In writing this I hardly know how to express my appreciation and appreciation of the club, for Mrs. Hundley's kindness and hospitality.

Mrs. Hundley may feel by the large, member who were present proved that this students realized the magnitude of her opening her home, and showed their appreciation by their presence.

The Club also visited the home of Mrs. Lewis, who possesses a magnificent collection of modern art, as well as some interesting pieces of furniture from foreign countries.

Last Monday was just another of the interesting things the Art Club does. You are invited to join. The next meeting is on Oct. 29, 1924, in Socratic Hall.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Just what do you mean by school spirit? School spirit is not pep, but we do need an extra supply of pep to have school spirit. Every school has certain traditions which have gradually fastened themselves by a thread of school spirit to the life of that community. Our thread should be unbreakable; is it? It is every student's duty to cherish and love the school traditions and see that everyone else does too.

What is the feeling you have toward your home, your parents, your country? Do you get the same feeling when you think of your school? What makes men answer the call to arms? Because their country needs them. (When your school needs you, do you help, or do you shirk your duty?)

When there is a football game, do you leave everything and go to support your team? If we want ours to be the best we must do all in our power to make it so. When you go, let the others know you are there and wide awake. Surely, you don't want the opposing team to think that we are so dainty and dignified that we can't raise our voice above a whisper. When that team of ours comes out on the field you should be there to help win the game even if you are sitting on the side lines. At the past two home games, a great number of the students left the campus before the game started and weren't there to support our team. We ask you—is that school spirit? At those two games there were more townsmen than students. That isn't much of a record to boast of; now is it?

We have a mass meeting in chapel on the day of every home game. Get behind that Pep Club and yell leader and give them your best. Not only do we need the support of the student body, but also we must have the slightest of the faculty and community.

This is the fourth week of school and we haven't yet sung our school song in chapel. At the last game when the school song was played, fully three-fourths of the student body were unaware that it was being played or that there was even a school song. They did not stand or remove their hats as they should.

Now students, we are going to learn that S. I. N. U. alma mater is sung. This we will do after that you hear it being played, treat it as you would the national anthem. Stand, remove your hat, and sing it like everything! Get into line with the rest or you'll be the laughing stock at Home-coming.

The team and the school spirit will be what you make it. It's up to you.

GOOD LUCK

Good luck is a curious thing. It has always been my observation that the more energy I put into my work the more of it I have. The boy or girl who has armed himself or herself with the mantle of hard, energetic work, will in all probabilities be ready when the door of opportunity is opened.

Make up your mind to decide your own problems of life; in other words be your own pilot; then you can take your ship where you will.

Don't rely upon the other fellow. Neither depend upon the unusual for your success. Learn to row your own boat. The self-made man is the man worth while.

The well-trained student is far more capable of doing more than the untrained one. The challenge is, "Train Yourself to be Useful."

FORMER H. T. H. S. FOOTBALL STAR KILLED DURING GAME

A very sad event occurred at the Miner's Field at Harrisburg Sunday, September 28, which resulted in the death of Max Lancaster, a former Panther and all around good student. It was during a football game between the Harrisburg Independents, with whom Lancaster played half back, and the Gaskins City Independents. Max was injured (it is not known just how) during the second quarter and was immediately taken from the game. It was not then thought that the injuries were serious; he him, self said he was only "winded." He was walking about on the sidelines supported by some friends when sud-

ILLINAE NOTES
Last Monday the girls who seemed to be coming toward you, but who were in reality going away from you, were only the new members of the Illinæ, with their middies on backward.
On last Friday eleven girls received letters telling them how to dress. They wore the same costumes to the meeting that evening.
After assembling in the hall, the candidates were taken out on the campus where they were instructed to erect a monument of leaves on both sides of the steps leading to the auditorium. These monuments were erected to the glory of the Illinæ.
After doing individual stunts, they were given an intelligence test and were found to have very good reasoning power. They then took the pledge of the Illinæ and refreshments were served.
Those initiated were: Ada Dale, Josephine Drezek, Pearl White, Francis Weidenschmidt, Mary Krumskick, Delta Brink, Esther Roberts, Roberta McCraken, Lucinda Huck, Anna Marvin and Genevieve Owen.

ANTHONY HALL GOSSIP
Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fovee motored from Belleville Sunday to spend the day with their daughter, Lilian.
Norle Hall spent the weekend in Pinckneyville with Hazel Pratt.
Edna Young spent the weekend in Alto Pass visiting with Mildred Anderson.
Ethel Keith, Helene Street and Emma Snook were visitors at the Hall during the weekend.
Among the girls spending Saturday and Sunday at home were: Thelma Hartwell, Florence Cohen, Mildred Smith, Kathryn Rendleman, Mary Loomis, Viola Gaskins, Genevieve Reid, Ethel Grossmann, Pauline Grossman, Louise Durham, Daisy Reba Luckett, Ruth Parker, Frances Sinka, Edith Henderson, Esther Roberts, Genevieve Owen and Ada Dale.
The Hall girls were very studious during the week. (Judging from the number of alarm clocks heard from 2:30 to 7:00 a.m.)

I ask men and women, consider the fundamentals of education, but think of the valuable associations with other students which we would miss. The best way to get full value from school life is to be one of the “bunch.” Try out for athletics or join some of the school’s organizations. It doesn’t take a leader to make his mark and win friendships and pleasure, but just a true backer of the school.

This brings the thought of college friendships to mind. Ask men and women who have gone through college, what they consider their fondest memories of school life. The great majority of them will tell you that the fondest memories come from their college friendship. Surely, there is no better way for students to form friendships than to work together on the athletic teams or in the clubs and societies. The new students may get into organizations with other students who are interested in the same work in which they are taking part. This common view of things gives them a chance to work together and talk about things which gives pleasure to them. In this manner lasting friendships are formed.

Not only do we receive many pleasures in the school’s activities, but also a wonderful training. The student who does his part in pushing school affairs is likely to be the one who will be the best citizen in later years. Associating with students while in school will create an interest in fellow men in years to come. The student of affairs in school is only making a step toward being a real citizen of the community, state and nation after his graduation.

S. I. N. U. EXHIBIT
AT THE STATE FAIR
In casting about for material to make the State Fair Exhibits truly representative of the best that the State of Illinois can produce, the Board of Managers decided to extend the branch of Educational Exhibits to include the five State Normal schools. Accordingly, space was provided in the Centennial Building and five booths were erected, one at the south end and being assigned to the Normal at Carbondale.

President Shryock appointed Mr. Wunen chairman of the Exhibit Committee and he in turn asked Miss Williams and Mr. Peterson to serve with him.

The aim being to show the people at the State Fair what we look like and what we are doing, the Committee set out to have pictures made and to collect Student's work, such as could well be shipped and also be suitable to our allotted space.

In due time the Exhibit was shipped to Springfield where it was put up, and ready for visitors by the time the Fair opened.

Let it be said, by the way, that the Fair at Springfield has grown so, year after year, that at present it has attained tremendous proportions. Upon entering the extensive grounds one is overwhelmed by the immensity of it all and by the gigantic scale on which everything is done. As a hint to a notion of the acreage covered, let it be said that the race track, which is just a side issue and off the main space where the Fair is in operation, is, however, no less than a mile long.

It is imperative, therefore, in order that an exhibit may get the desired notice, that it possess exceptionally attractive qualities and merits of such a high type that it will arrest the attention of the discriminating public.

It was gratifying, therefore, to notice the great number that stopped at the S. I. N. U. Exhibit to examine and study the views and the work of the students which were so arranged that the lessons that they were intended to convey stood out in angular boldness by the absence of the irrelevant and by the emphasis on the essential. This effect was enhanced, too, by the brilliancy of the illumination that filled our whole booth with light and made our exhibit so bright and clear throughout that the people admired it.

The one thing that amazed us who live in the southern part of the state was that people farther north have such a limited conception of distances of places and of the resources here in the southland. Many had the idea that Centralia was next door to Cairo and just across the street from St. Louis.

Our Exhibit was an eye-opener to many. It put our school and Carbondale on the map for hundreds. It was admired and commented on in high terms by thousands. The effort may prove of interest: required to make the display a success was indeed worthwhile.

To those who did not visit the State Fair, a description of our Exhibit was truly worthwhile. Of course, it was a beautiful collection.

bearing evidence of much thought, skill and work in preparing such a course. The numerous drawings and exercises in color blending together with the plates of abstract and applied design made up a series of studies in Art that is highly instructive. That part of the exhibit was furnished by Miss Williams.

Flanking the wallspace at the right of the booth were two large charts showing in bold graphic outlines the marvelous growth of S. I. N. U.

One chart told at a glance how the enrollment has increased with unparalleled pace. The other gave evidence of the high type and solid quality of its growth by indicating how the mounting ratio of increase in the number of graduates has exceeded even that of the enrollment.

The way these Charts demonstrated these facts was by the terse, telling method of the sign language—the white vans on a blue background. This great development on the part of our school elected many expressions of surprise and interest. Their curiosity being aroused they would turn to the illuminated transparencies at the end of the booth and there observe the many scenic charts of our campus, the striking architectural features of our buildings, the laboratory facilities of the different departments and the several other happy characteristics on our campus some from Anthony Hall and others from our Auditorium. Yes, the scheme of lighting shine through these beautiful views taken in and about our great State Normal at Carbondale was a happy one that to translucent brightness told a tale to thousands who, before that, had not even heard of S. I. N. U.

That was not all, for on the center vertical part on of the right wall was a display of photographs. Twelve of these were views from our dormitories, cotton, corn, alfalfa, soy-beans and other farming activities. Moreover, there was a panoramic view of the campus and vicinity. This picture is vivid a wonder in the realm of photograph making. In distinctness of detail, in comprehensiveness of scope, and in beauty of subject one would need to search far for an equal. It has been said by many who by training can pass valid judgment on landscape views that this pleasure of the campus, showing the relative position of the buildings, the composition of trees, shrubbery lawn and people is unique in the impression that it leaves on those who look at it. It gives you that "I wish I could be there" feeling. Of the other pictures on the right wall one in particular should be mentioned—the one of 1,564 students. An instant of life in a farm of buildings, canvas, shrubbery lawn and people is unique in the impression that it leaves on those who look at it. It gives you the "I wish I could be there" feeling. Of the other pictures on the right wall one in particular should be mentioned—the one of 1,564 students. An instant of life in a farm of buildings, canvas, shrubbery lawn and people is unique in the impression that it leaves on those who look at it. It gives you the "I wish I could be there" feeling.

Finally, in the center of the booth was a case in which was a display of Art, Metal work, electrical appliances and machine projects. This work was also illuminated. These objects appealed chiefly to the men, many of whom could hardly believe that it was all students' work done in the Manual Arts Department. It's a strange coincidence and indeed, apparently due to fortunate circumstances that this school should have such a long start in the line of Metal Work and thus be able to make such a rich showing. For right along that line is where the emphasis is now being placed in the Manual Training branch of education.

The Fair is over and the hundreds of thousand people who visited it have gone to the different parts of our State with this additional information that there is a great State Normal at Carbondale.

The recognition service was very pretty last Tuesday evening. Mr. Boomer gave a very interesting talk. The national objective was used and the girls are going to keep this as their motto for the coming year. Next Tuesday evening the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are going to have a joint social in the gym. The exact time has not been set.

The immortal Shakespeare said: "Tis a poor player that struts and frets his hour upon the stage and then is heard no more."

The members of Strat and Fret will be heard of more if the enthusiasm that was displayed last Wednesday night continues throughout the year. The "Harm-stormers" were the liveliest crowd on the campus that night. They launched forth one hundred strong—Warfields, Garricks, Zeigfields, Dues, Hampdens, et al. They indulged in impersonations, music, and drank punch: electioneering, campaigning and elected officers. Mr. Lorimer Brandon will lead the club as president, assisted by James Gullett as vice-president; and Miss Marvin will be the exchequer and care for the "gate receipts." Committees are already at work on the big Homecoming entertainment, and will report at the committee meetings next Wednesday night.

The play has been selected and part of the cast chosen. The rest of the program for the "Big night before—Cape's—Waterloo" will be in the nature of a vaudeville, the biggest and best ever staged.

Strut and Fret is fortunate this year to have several of its old members back in the footlights. Their enthusiasm is contagious and is a stimulus to the new members.

"ALL BUT SEVEN"

Of the four hundred three registered as freshmen in Junior College and graduates of accredited four year high schools, the board has limited the number of those allowed to take five courses. Only those who made 90 in every course the preceding term or are mature students are allowed this special privilege.

High school graduates coming to college for the first time must have been honor students in their high schools. This year the number of those carrying more than the regular four subjects has been restricted to twenty-four out of the four hundred and three enrolled.

McLeansboro and Zeigler Fall Before the Harrisburg Bulldogs

The first two games of the Harrisburg football proved to be nothing more than practice games for the Bulldogs. On Saturday, September 27, the White and Purple defeated the McLeansboro team at McLeansboro by a score of 81 to 0. The following Saturday the light team from Zeigler fell before the attacks of the Harrisburg team. The score of this game was 92 to 0. But Zeigler and McLeansboro showed signs of their lack of experience but even then they were both "scrappy" teams who fought to the last minute.

On October 11 the Harrisburg squad will have its first real fight when Herrin journeys over there for a game for Harrisburg since this is the first conference game of the season for them and since Herrin defeated them by a close score last year.

Several games have been scheduled for the Purple and White second team. "The Bullpups" played only one game last year. That was with the second team from Carbondale who hunted the "Bullpups"' defeat of 167.

The G. A. A. met Tuesday evening at Chapel hour and the following officers took their places: President—Flora Clark, Vice-President—Mildred Barter. Recording Secretary—Hazel Pratt. Corresponding Sec.—Nora Marie Hall.

TIES AND PLEASURES IN OPERATING A STORE

Lots of troubles, too, just as in any other method of making a living, but if the pleasures didn't outweigh the troubles we'd get out and do something else.

It's a pleasure to be of service to our friends and neighbors; to feel that we are exercising good taste and good judgment in buying for you; that we are giving good values when we sell.

But the greatest pleasure of all, it seems to us, is to see a well dressed man on the street, and say to ourselves: "There goes one of our suits."

That's a pleasure we enjoy several times every day.

The Alumni Bulletin

An event of considerable importance which has hitherto escaped our attention was the marriage on Aug. 30 of Herman Sparr and Miss Jessie Stewart both of whom received their degrees with the class of 1924. Mr. Sparr is superintendent of the Bonner Hill school, and is starting on his second year of successful work there. His high school faculty is 190 per cent S. I. N., the members being Miss Annabel Wall, Latin and English, and Miss Lelia Williams, Math and Science. The above facts were given us in a letter from M. Wall who says, "We are praising the old Alma Mater and making friends for her."

Supt. Roy Leery, of the Evansville, Illinois schools says, "I have received two copies of the Egyptian and think it a most excellent paper."

Harry J. Brinkman asks that the Egyptian be sent to his address, S311 Vermia Avenue, Belvidere, Ill. Harry is one of the successful teachers of the Belvidere system. <

Lowell Smith is building up a strong high school at Vernon, Ill. He has added a second year and has a class of twenty-four freshmen.

The Madison County S. I. N. U. club held its annual meeting in connection with the County Institute at Edwardsville last week. At the meeting Wednesday noon Edward Zeller '23, principal of Alton Junior High School was re-elected president of the club and Paulette Jansen '23, teacher in Granite City Junior H. S., was elected secretary.

Attendance at S. I. N. U. Home Coming was emphasized and arrangements were made for attendance of former students at the football games when S. I. N. U. plays McKendree and Shurtleff Colleges.

Fifty members were present at the annual luncheon of St. James Hotel Thursday noon. Features of the very interesting program were talks by Dean George D. Wham of the S. I. N. U. faculty and President David Pilemey of the S. I. N. U. The president of the club, Mr. Zeller spoke. Benton Miles gave a violin solo and Mary Cowan, a vocal solo.

Members of the Club present at this meeting included the following teachers from Granite City: Edith Hails, Nina Lindsay, Paulette Jansen, Lillie Carroll, Rhoda Schubert, Mary Cowan, Elsie Haxel, Anna Lawin, Edna Lawin. "Cladine Coulter, Clara Weatherford; the following from Alton: Evelyn Williams, Lulu Watson, Hazel McCracken, Margaret Hill, Geneva Arenaman, Fannie Harccott, Myrtle Horstfeld Willms, Shadie Mabel McNabuck, Jennie Grosh, Charlotte Stamps, Ruth Norris, Lydia Waits; the following from Collinsville: Ransom Sherretz, Ernest Kunze, Cecelie Neele, Collete Nashiek, the following from Troy: Ray C. We call this a royal bunch of boosters for the old S. I. N. U.

Noel V. Greathouse is entering upon his second year as superintendent of schools at Mason, Ill. He sends remittances for the Egyptian and says, "I am enjoying each number of the paper as it reaches me."

Ransom Sherretz came down from Collinsville to see the Will Mayfield game Friday. He made a stirring pep speech in Chapel Friday morning.

METHODIST SOCIAL

Thursday evening the members of the Wesley Foundation gathered in the social rooms of the Methodist church for an evening of fun. The early part of the evening was spent in getting acquainted, then games were played. Those were skillfully directed by Harry Martin.

Everyone enjoyed the extemporeous stunts. Clyde Winkler proved to be the great singer of the evening. Then George Levy showed his skill in giving a demonstration of the funny bear walk having Josephine Yashko as his competent mistress. It was amusing to see Mr. Hill play a dramatic situation of how a must must should be conducted. Edna Young was his assistant.

Suddenly the lights were turned out and a ghost's voice was heard. The girls were so excited that the lights were turned on and to their astonishment saw that the ghost was none other than Kate Sturm. Following that was the "make a face" contest. We didn't know Harry Toprich could keep from smiling when six little maidens tried so hard to win just one smile from him. The stunt was also one of great excitement.

Did we have refreshments? Anyone wanting information may ask Mr. Hill and Mr. Muckleroy. They will be the most capable of giving you the desired information.

The Wesley Foundation is looking forward to a good year's work as well as many more social evenings.

At the meeting of the Forum Oct. 14th the following program was rendered:

The Junior Class met at chapel Thursday Oct. 7th and elected the following officers:

President—Francis Rienzo.

Vice-President—Claude Ross.

Secretary-Treasurer—Glenn Keen.

Appointments

Social Committee—Dorothy Furr, Dorothy Meffert, Lila Vere Johnson.

Home-Coming Committee—William Felta, Mary Dollins.

The Junior Class had a winner roast Wednesday night, Oct. 15. There was a large attendance.

The Junior class is the largest in the school and has the highest percentage of subscription for the Egyptian. There are approximately 400 Juniors in school.

SENIOR CLASS ORGANIZES

Sometimes the classes on the campus leap into the selection of officers. This year most of the underclassmen chose their class leaders before the Seniors, and triumphed over it, but several reasons delayed the class of '25. One was our class advisor, Mr. Wham has been away doing institute work and the other was each member had been contemplating the coming election and the favorite members.

On Oct. 14th the class organized with:

Orville Carrington—President.

Lynn McCormack—Vice-President.

Edna Dollins—Secretary and Treasurer.

The Senior class carries the burden of the school's activities and shoulders the greatest responsibilities of the year—the publishing of the S. I. N. U. annual—The Alibi.

THE EGYPTIAN
MUSIC OFFERS RELEASE
TO THE HUMAN SOUL

"Music today offers the same release to the human soul that it did when Homer wandered through the cities of Greece chanting his rhythmic narrative of the Fall of Troy."

"Music carriies the spirit to a land beyond space and time, a land marked by no boundaries, a land where those ideals of greatness and of grandeur, impracticable or improbable of realization on earth are given momentary reality in majestic concords of noble sound.

"Momentary? The actual vibration in motion by music may be momentary, but the effect on the human spirit is not. The mind lifted to the higher altitudes of Beethoven and Mozart brings some of the star-dust back to earth. We go to Orchestra Hall and for a few hours move as citizens in a larger, cleaner world. We come back to earth unchanged in our externals. The same old self, the same old environment, the same old gap between what we are and what we would like to be meet us at the door. But are we just the same? Ask those who by frequent attendance at the tours of fairyland conducted by Mr. Gebhardt have made themselves at home in the sphere of super-matter of which music is but one of the symbols.

"The Symphony Orchestra should be supported; as a distinguished civic enterprise; as an organization of proved competence in translating the week of the masters of music; as a medium for bringing the beauty once limited to the classes within reach of the masses; as an influence eternally at war with the mean, the petty and the ignoble in man; as a spiritual invitation for the soul to try its wings.

FACULTY NOTES
Dean G. B. Whyn lectured before the Madison County teachers at Edwardsville, October 8, 9 and 10. He also did institute work in DeWitt County the week preceding, also in Pope County.

Instructors in Wayne County for the week of Oct. 6-10 were W. O. Brown, E. G. Lenz and F. H. Colyer.

M. Colyer is an instructor in Clark County this week.

F. G. Warren spent the week of Oct. 11-14 as an instructor in Effingham County Institute.

Other faculty addresses of the past week were made by Miss Clady P. Williams at Carbondale, R. E. Muckleroy at Catlinville and Pekin, and Dr. Melba Caldwell at Anna, and Miss Clark at Metropolis.

In glancing over an old scrapbook the other day we found some choice bits of philosophy, wit, psychology, and legend which ought to be passed on and reproduced. One hit from Edwin Markham was, we thought, the best sermon text that any minister could choose. We wonder why more don't choose this one. It's a text on which much of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. work is based. It's a text that everybody in every walk of life should practice: thereby rising above those petty, small, mean trifles of life. And this is it:

He drew a circle that shut me out

Indian rebel, rebel, a thing to thumb.

But love and I had the wit to win

We drew a circle that took him in.

There fell like dripping honey,
This sweet assurance on my ear—
She had a heap of money!

So, though I sigh for Jennie's curls,
And Delia so impassioned—
And hanker for the other girl—
So smoothly, grandly, fashionably
It seems decreed that I should part
With all these charming witches.
And sacrifice my many heart—
To gain Eliza's riches!

Harrisburg-Herrin

Harrsburg got a late start to beat Herrin, but even at that succeeded in giving the Williamson Co. boys a decisive defeat. The game was no walk away during the first half for both teams battled doggedly in midfield with but two exceptions. The first of these happened when the Purple and White carried the ball down to the Herrin one yard line, but bumbled and in return allowed the Yellow Jackets place the ball on their own one yard line. However, Herrin did not benefit by this as a costly fumble also lost them a touchdown just as the second chapter was announced as over. However, when the third quarter started the outstanding superiority of Harrisburg was very obvious. In a vicious attack led by Halfback Miller and his teammates. the Purple sensationally ran three touchdowns, from open formation over the Herrin goal line. From the way the Herinnites were "rattled" one would have thought some screws were loose. Not satisfied with the score the Harrisburg warriors came back the next quarter with two more touchdowns which made a total of 24-0. With the Harrisburg machine working so well it looks as though they will be hard to get in the "55 championship." Their schedule now contains the menacing shadows of West Frankfort and Murphysboro who seem to be doing quite a lot of rapid developing.

Murphysboro-Cairo

Murphysboro "Red Devils" pushed their team toward the top of the little 10 standing by overcoming the huskies from Cairo 25-7. The opening plays of the game told that it was to be featured by hard line plunges and clever open field attacks. At the sound of the whistle Cairo kicked to Murphysboro's five yard line. After an exchange of punts and on a fake play Cairo plunged over for the first touchdown. The half with Cairo in the lead. The second half was an entirely different story. Murphysboro completely batted the Cairo defense by piling up twenty points while she in turn kept her rival's from the goal line. Evold Miller, Murphysboro's full back, was easily the star of the game, many times did he plunge off tackle and shirk the ends for long gains, his punts were far from sensational. Murphy's next conference game is with West Frankfort. Oct. 25, this being the date for Murphysboro's homecoming.

Benton-Johnston City

The Benton Maroons clashed with the Johnston City Gridders Saturday, Oct. 11 in what was probably the most thrilling struggle of the season the game ending in a tie, with neither team being able to register a score. Both teams used defensive tactics throughout the game and during the first three quarters both进攻ed almost entirely to three line plunges, then kickoffs. During the last three minutes of the play the Maroons become desperate and it appeared as if they would score in spite of the sterling defense of Benton's best. The game ended with the ball on Benton's 10 yard line in Johnston City's possession, who was trying many forward passes in a fierce attempt to clinch the battle.

We need your scandal. Also your fun. Send us your lines so your work can be done.

West Frankfort-Marion

Marion sank lower in the little conference struggle when they were unable to keep the West Frankfort Maroons fair grounds to a 30-0 defeat. Had the game not been at the fair grounds one might have taken it for a circus, for such it was. The County Susters never appeared dangerous against the well organized West "Wino" Warriors. It was ap...
