In championships without titles, there are a number of Ed McCreary, Bob Ransdell, and Lamar English. However, there have been few instances of importance in the last two years. Missouri State's winningmargin was three times the size of either the instant.

Missouri's victory in the game came late in the first half. The 6-foot-2-inch senior center was able to reach for the ball as he crossed the court, and the 200-pounder inadvertently obtained a 20-second charge.

Josefson, a native of Houston, is the son of the former U.S. Senator, John F. Kennedy. He was born on May 22, 1937, and attended the University of Texas at Austin. He has been a candidate for several political offices, including the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives.

Josefson is a member of the Democratic Party, and has been an advocate of civil rights for African Americans. He has been involved in numerous political campaigns, and has held several key positions in the party, including the chairmanship of the Department of Justice.

Josefson has been married twice, and has two children. He has been active in his community, and has served on numerous boards and commissions.

Despite his political and social activism, Josefson has faced some criticism for his views. He has been accused of being too liberal, and of being too close to the Democratic Party. However, he has remained committed to his principles, and has continued to work for social justice.

"B" NATURAL

Although recent and war seem to be two unrelated subjects, they may be connected in one way that of estimating effect of war on the economy. Before the war, in 1939, when the United States was not involved, the economy was growing steadily. During the war, however, production of consumer goods decreased sharply, while military production increased greatly. This resulted in a decrease in the availability of consumer goods and an increase in the price of military goods. The war also caused a shift in the distribution of goods, with military goods being produced in greater quantities than consumer goods.

The net effect of the war on the economy has been a decrease in the standard of living for consumers and an increase in the standard of living for military personnel. The war has also caused a shift in the distribution of wealth, with wealth being concentrated in the hands of military personnel and their families. It is feared that this shift in the distribution of wealth may lead to social unrest in the United States after the war.
