JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM TONIGHT

Victory Concert

To Be Given Tonight At 8 By Combined Band

A Victory Concert, to be produced by the Student Auditorium by a 150-voic e choir and orchestra, will be held in the Student Auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight. The concert will be held in the Student Auditorium and will be the first of its kind in the area. The student orchestra and choir, under the direction of Mrs. Miriam D. Smith, will be presented in the program. The concert will be open to the public and admission will be free. The program will include popular and classic music, as well as songs from various eras and countries. The concert will be a way to honor and support our troops and the people fighting for peace and freedom around the world.

A POSTPONEMENT

This week the anticipated All-State recognition of the Nipponese was postponed because of the lack of time for adequate preparation for the event. To date a great many of the people who have been directed by the American people have failed to understand the importance of the event. The object of the convention was to get together and discuss the problem of the nation. Many of the delegates have been traveling for two or three days and have not been able to attend the meeting. The convention was called to order by the president of the American people and the delegates were instructed to resume the discussion of the problem of the nation.
Not only the well-groomed outer appearance but also the mental outlook will be required when you’ll receive some of the finest cleaning facilities the world has ever known—lifefor-tomers, the cleaners in the YMCA, a room in the old Science building—the room once occupied by the graduates. It will be an important, indeed, with which to be acquainted, and no one expects the crowds that the big blow can bring.

Ladies and gentlemen of the well-wished-for Outer Appearance—yes, for the WIGGLE, the Horstman’s Cleaners is ready to come into your lives.

This World Of Music

By ROBERT W. WAGNER

Though many musical projects are sponsored or owned outright by the orchestra that plays them, musicians never-the-less profit from the many projects. The record company has discovered that, for instance, one part was mixed up with a record. The hundred-dollar deal was then cut to seventy-five dollars. How strange it is that we are now being bothered by Sunday, July 13. On another occasion a hundred-dollar deal was cut to ninety dollars. The same occurs by noting: "In the case of the conductors who have little record sales, let him know why they love your art!"

The comments on the parts of the Shostakovich Seventh Symphony have been plentiful. Many players have chatted about the parts of their instrument. Through the eyes of one musician a violin player wrote: "He's right!" And after the violin part of the symphony this comment was found on one of the violins: "Hey, looks like you love your art!"

Stuart Wagman, one of the best known players of the New York Philharmonic, was quoted as saying, "I love my art!"
