Residents of Bailey Hall, Thomas Pointe, began a 24-hour vigil at the University Center Sunday noon, in hopes of obtaining the first block of tickets to the Peter, Paul and Mary stage show when sales began at 8 o’clock this morning.

The hall residents, who were first in line to buy Homecoming Show tickets earlier that Academic year, have kept persons in line in one- and two-hour shifts in the assurance of buying a block of about 200 tickets.

Under the new Student Council plan, half of the tickets will be reserved for purchases of six or fewer tickets. The other half will be reserved for sales to students as has been done in the past.

Tickets for the performance, sponsored by Thompson, can be purchased in the Student Activities Office for $3, $5, and $7. The show is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. April 23 in the Arena.

Among their best known songs are “Go Tell It on the Mountain,” “Blowin’ in the Wind,” “The Magic Dragon,” “Don’t Think Twice, It’s All Right,” “Lemon Tree,” and “If I Had a Hammer.” They have made appearances on numerous television shows, and at nightclubs and colleges across the nation as well as many foreign countries.

Coach Not Surprised

Schmitz Reaches His Goal, Receives Two NCAA Titles

By Joe Cook

“Yes I do,” said Frank Schmitz, Saluki gymnast, when asked two months ago if he had any goals. “I want to win NCAA titles in free exercise, trampoline and long horse.”

Saturday night in the SIU Arena Schmitz nearly reached his goal as he won NCAA titles in free exercise and trampoline and finished second by a half point to Danny Millman of the University of California in long horse.

Coach Bill Meade felt that it was Schmitz’s best performance of the year. “I’m not surprised by Frank’s performance Saturday as he is a type of performer who works best under pressure,” said Meade.

Winning both events was not easy for Schmitz as he spent many hours preparing for the meet under the watchful eye of Meade and assistant coach Rusty Mitchell.

A former NCAA free exercise champion himself, Mitchell gave Schmitz a few pointers in free exercise.

Schmitz changed his free exercise routine for the final. Although most of his routines were the same, he added a full twisting forward dive. He is the only gymnast who performs this routine.

His trampoline routine was changed somewhat too. Besides adding a half roll off trampoline which is a double somersault with a twist on the second somersault, he used no single back flips in his routine. This was done to prevent him from having any resting movements in his full routine on the trampoline. The judges were impressed with the almost flawless routine as he received a score of 97.

Council to Review Working Paper

Student Body May Get Vote

On New Government Plan

By Ric Cox

A working paper to reorganize student government was adopted last weekend by a committee of student leaders that he will put to a vote of the student body.

As a result of a movement started by Pat Micken, student body president, the committee decided to send the proposed working paper back to the campus student councils for their recommendations.

The paper will be presented to the Carbondale student council at its meeting Thursday night.

In addition, Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for area and student services, told the committee that he will recommend to President Dolye W. Morris that the working paper be put to a vote of the student body in a referendum.

Ruffner also promised the committee that if any part of the paper fails to meet the approval of the administration, the paper would be changed back to the committee for its consideration.

“I don’t intend to red-line it and not let you do anything about it,” Ruffner said.

HUNDREDS OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS BRAVED THE RAINS SATURDAY TO TAKE PART IN THE ANNUAL GUEST DAY PROGRAM SPONSORED BY THE SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS, SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE, AND SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY

1600 Attend Guest Day

High School Students Visit SIU, Hear 'Keys for Better Living' Talk

Almost 1,600 Illinois high school students were on campus Saturday, taking part in the University's High School Guest Day. The day was sponsored by the Schools of Home Economics, Agriculture and Technology.

Most students also attended the "Know Your University" exhibit in the University Center which included displays by 34 campus groups.

George R. Carpenter, associate professor of home and family, told 1,100 students attending the home economics program that "the truly educated person knows how to make a good living, but also knows how to make living good."

"We have released today's woman from the overpowering burden of housework and in so doing have robbed her of her sense of being needed," he said.

So we must help her find ways to be creative, he continued. She must be able to "live life a little more deeply...and to make living good."

Carpenter outlined seven "keys" which he said would help any college student unlock the doors to "the most important products of a good college education."

"Students should learn techniques, he said, and not just in practical applications, but also in the ways of understanding life. He must mold maturity. He must learn to accept reality and face the truths of life."

If a student is going to live with the people around him he must develop his personality so that he can always be pleasant.

Carpenter urged students to appreciate creativity, he said. "It is just as possible to make a work of art out of a banquet table, or a pretty wife, as out of a canvas and cubes of oil."

You owe society some of the benefits of your college education, so build citizenship, he said. Payment can be made with the coins of tolerance, justice, civic support, public welfare and concern for others.

Carpenter's seventh "key" was for students to support Southern. "That which builds Southern builds you, and that which destroys Southern destroys you," he emphasized.

Other activities during the day included talks on professional opportunities in home economics and a fashion show. Almost 300 students attended talks, tours and a bac­cue given by the School of Agriculture. Included in this program were brief talks by presidents of student agricultural organizations.

About 100 students regist­ered for tours of SIU School of Technology labora­tories and the buildings under construction.

The students spoke with S. Howe, instructor in the School of Technology, and were shown experiments under way in various depart­ments of the school.

Jobs ScarcE Despite Boom

By Robert M. Hutchins

The profits after taxes of 2,804 leading corporations increased 31 percent between 1960 and 1964. Of all major groups, only tobacco failed to shoot up, and it hardly increased.

The comparison with 1960 is even more impressive. For example, the net income of automobile manufacturers rose by 10 percent in 1964, between 1960 and 1964 it grew by 120 percent. This growth has been expanding at a rate of 20 percent per cent for the last four years.

Meanwhile, unemployment has been stationary and is, in fact, probably worse. There is something wrong with the way of people who have given up looking for work.

One reason for this is that the labor force has grown.

Letter to the Editor

'The Way It Is': Fee for Text Can't Be Used to Buy Books

During the past year I have purchased most of my textbooks for one sample which I now rent. I would like to purchase them. That's the way it is. Fee, please.

The Revenue Act of 1962 provided a 7 percent increase in credit. At the same time, the Board of Directors, who have increased investment in new equipment by more than 20 percent, new equipment that required more labor. In 1964, the labor force has grown.

I am all for—on one condition: that we begin now to face the consequences.

There is a great deal of work to be done. But much of it is impossible with our present conditions against foreign aid, against trade with communist countries, public expenditures, etc., those few factors that we don't have to face.

The situation is acute now. It will get worse if we make any progress toward disarmament.

So, let us overcome our problems, we may continue the great economic boom, The Times needs to do it. But millions of our fellow citizens have been transformed to misery and despair.

Road Is Long, Time Fleeting

Why is it so hard to get the right thing done? Why do so many people have to knock themselves out to clear away the roadblocks? Then why are memories so short that bitternesses are seldom learned?

The death of Edward Kennedy raises all these questions. Kennedy was the courageous new-thinking leader of Labor, the national weekly newspaper of the railroad brotherhood. He was also the national labor leader who made the first child labor act of 1938.

Kennedy was no Kansas farm boy, he was taken out of school at 14 by his widowed mother and put to work on a Denver newspaper, holding a job in the mailroom. When Colorado sent him to Congress in the first Wilson election in 1912, he began a crusade to abolish child labor.

The sponsored seems reasonable now that the opposition to it is hard to understand.

Exploitation Wins

Relaying on the ease by Congress of its intimidation, the railroad has been able to drive down wages. The railroad has been able to drive down wages. The railroad has been able to drive down wages. When Colorado sent him to Congress in the first Wilson election in 1912, he began a crusade to abolish child labor.

The sponsored seems reasonable now that the opposition to it is hard to understand. The railroad has been able to drive down wages. The railroad has been able to drive down wages. The railroad has been able to drive down wages.

As the bill was fought, so was the law. The committee. A.N.C., said his rights were taken away when he could not work his small town in a cotton mill. And the Supreme Court of the day actually agreed with the employer, 5 to 4. But Justice Holmes was moved to one of his strong sentences. John, by McKeown, Brandeis, and Clarke, he said:

"This act does not meddle with anything belonging to the states. They regulate their own commerce as they like. But when they send their products across the state line, they are no longer in their rights.

The national welfare as understood by Congress may require a different standard within its sphere from that of some self-seeking state. It seems to me entirely constitutional for Congress to enforce its understanding by all the means at its command."

The Long, Hard Road

That was in 1918. Then Congress taxed almost every product. It did, too, declared unconstitutional in 1923. Unwilling to accept these rebuffs, Congress in 1926, with both branches controlled by the opposition, renewed the anti-child labor amendment to the Constitution. Many newspapers opposed it as did many Catholic clergymen, who testified that it would interfere with the line. By 1937, 38 states had approved. Then the opposition really put on the heat. The amendment was defeated in the Supreme Court, led by Justice Stone, reversion itself in 1941. Thus it required 25 years for the Keating act to become the law of the land and child labor to be abolished.

Congress ought to keep this in mind in老太太 overexcitement. We shouldn't have to wait forever.
Council to Analyze Proposal
For Government Restructuring

headed by William H. Murphy, chairman of the University Student Council.

Several representatives from each of the four student councils attended. Administrators present were Ruffner, Jack W. Graham, dean of students; Elizabeth L. Mullins, co-chairwoman of the Student Senate; George R. Mace and Virginia R. Moore, faculty advisers to the Edwardsville campus council.

The meeting, which was to last more than 15 hours, convened at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Chairman Murphy opened the meeting with a report of the results of his research on student government which had been conducted over the past months.

One important conclusion, which helped set the tone of the meeting, is that three other universities with similar one-university setup (with representatives of student government bodies whose power was limited in that their main function was that of liaison.)

Summary reports were also given by Lyndel F. Lertz, vice chairman of the University Student Council; and Vice President Ruffner.

The committee spent the rest of Friday’s session drafting a list of seven principles for student government.

At Saturday morning’s session, the two proposals from the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses were presented to the committee.

After a lengthy discussion of the two proposals, Ruffner informed members of the committee that neither of the plans conformed to the University statutes. He then proceeded to present a plan which he said resulted from a two-hour session Friday night with Murphy and Graham.

Micken informed the Daily Egyptian that at this point he completely reversed his thinking and, in his words, “accepted the facts of life.”

He then proceeded to attempt to make out of the proposed structure as strong a student government as possible.

Proposed Working Paper Plans
For Student Government Listed

Following is a listing of the highlights of the proposed working paper for student government listed:

Duties of vice presidents include:

- Legislative process
- All bills go full circuit (i.e., all three legislative bodies)
- If the (defeated) bill is acceptable, it may be sent to the legislators for approval.
- If the bill is approved and signed by the vice president, it will then go to the President for approval.
- If the bill is again vetoed by one of the legislative bodies, it still fails.

Chairman Murphy, however, over-ruled the objection, stating that the member had been appointed legally to fulfill a vacancy on the ad hoc committee. Shortly thereafter, at about 11:45 p.m. Saturday, the committee voted unanimously to adopt as its proposed working paper before sending it to both campus councils to be forwarded to the administration.
Smooth Shaving Cream on TV

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court ruled today Colgate-Palmolive Co. deceived the public with television commercials using a faded "sandpaper" test of Palmolite shave cream.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the majority decision. Justice John M. Harlan dissented in part, with Justice Potter Stewart joining him.

In the commercials, a surface supposedly to represent sandpaper was covered with shaving cream, then shaved clean with a single razor stroke. Actually the demonstration did not use sandpaper, but a simulated mockup of sand and Plexiglass.

Warren said the court upheld a Federal Trade Commission order against the Colgate-commercial.

The chief justice noted arguments had been made that the order might be too broad. He said, as to this, that anyone doubtful as to a future course could not ask the commission to give them definitive advice.

Police Bombard Negro Marchers

With Gas, Smoke

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP) - Negroes tried, five times to march downtown Montgomery as part of a voter registration drive but were halted by police who bombarded one group with tear gas and smoke bombs when they refused to disperse.

Two groups of marchers stood on the sidewalk and sang and chanted after they were halted. Twelve marchers were taken into custody by police. Mayor Reginald Altman told the adult marchers they were free to walk to the registrar's office, with a police escort if desired, but could not stage a mass march.

While the demonstration went on, about 35 Negroes lined up without incident at the registrar's office. At their request, some were accompanied by a policeman.

Johnson Proposes New Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson asked Congress Monday to authorize new farm stabilization programs that would shift part of the cost from the treasury directly to the consumer.

One effect probably would be an increase of a little more than a penny a loaf in the price of bread and an increase of from 5 to 7 cents a pound in the cost of rice. Flour and other wheat products would advance.

With the cost of rice. Flour and other wheat product prices also would advance.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee translated it this way: "The bill would mean 'a slight increase in the price of bread' of 5 to 7 cents per pound. It would be 'so little,' he said, that 'the average person would not notice it.'

He urged also the establishment of a new farm retirement program patterned somewhat after the Eisenhower administration's soil bank program.

Agriculture Department officials said such a program is not one of the President's recommendations but might result in reducing government farm aid costs by more than $200 million a year.

The new program, the cost of wheat products and other products would be paid would be $300 million to the consumers' annual food bill.

About $100 million of the increase paid by consumers would go as wheat growers in the form of higher income.

Reverses Own Ruling

High Court Extends U.S. Rights Article

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court affirmed Monday the right of a defendant in a state criminal case to face and question witnesses against him.

Such confrontation is fundamental and essential to a fair trial in all criminal proceedings, federal and state, said Justice John M. Harlan in a unanimous court.

Thus, what started as a §373 holdup case in Houston, Tex., in June, 1962, developed into another extension to the state level of federal rights guaranteed by the Constitution's Bill of Rights. Two years ago, in its Gideon decision, the Supreme Court declared a defendant's right to an attorney in all key stages of a criminal proceedings is just as obligatory upon the states as upon federal courts under the U.S. Constitution's Sixth Amendment.

"We hold today," wrote black, "that the Sixth Amendment's right of an accused to confront the witness against him is likewise a fundamental right."

Krebiozen Trial Is Reset;
Ivy Holds Firm on Drug

CHICAGO (AP) - The trial of Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, former vice president of the University of Illinois, and three others on criminal charges in connection with the promotion and sale of the drug Krebiozen was postponed Monday.

Judge Julian J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court tentatively reset start of the trial for today but said it would be continued on a day-to-day basis until Maruelle J. Walsh, a defense attorney, completes his work as defense counsel in a bank robbery trial in progress in another court.

Soviets Harass Air Corridors; Autobahn to Berlin Blocked

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet jets roared across Allied air corridors to Berlin, and the Communist East Germans blocked the Berlin autobahn for three and a half hours Monday in defiance of Western access rights on the 10-mile highway through Red territory.

Communist announcements said the measures were taken in connection with Soviet-East German military maneuvers. Westerners expressed belief, however, that the Russians and East Germans were acting in retaliation for West Germany's plans to assemble its more sophisticated equipment as they prepared the Berlin blockade of 1948.

Travel on secondary roads from Frankfurt and southern Germany was permitted. Railroads ran normal schedules. However, the West Berlin Barge Association said a number of river and canal routes were blocked.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States rejected a Soviet attempt to restrict flights in the three 20-mile-wide air corridors.

U.S. Plants Meet No Challenge In Second Viet Raid of Week

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes blasted the Vinh Linh radar station and shot down some North Vietnamese rolling stock Monday. Ground fire was reported absent to moderate.

A U.S. spokesman said a fighter-bomber was downed, but the pilot was rescued. The New York Times Agency, whose statistics rarely agree with those reported by U.S. officials.

Officials Analyze U.S. Air Losses

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Despite North Viet Nam's successes in downing American planes, officials in Saigon do not believe the Russians or Chinese Communists have the warplanes in appreciable numbers or with important new equipment.

The most spectacular Communist success came Sunday when a dozen North Vietnamese MIG jet fighters downed two speedy U.S. Air Force F105 jet bombers.

On nearly all of the 17 U.S. or South Vietnamese raids since Feb. 7 at least one plane has been downed. In one raid Sunday, as many as six planes were downed.

U.S. officials feel the Communist successes have not been due so much to modern Communist equipment as they have to the tactics the American and South Vietnamese planes have had to use.

The raids have been limited to spot tactical bombing of military objectives. There have been no general raids on communications or industrial complexes.

This means that the enemy targets are smaller. Attacking planes, many of which are smaller than twice the speed of sound, must fly slowly to hit their objectives precisely.

MAYOR IN CRISIS — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt is talking to West German customs officials at Lausenborg, on the Hashmark-Berlin highway, 174 miles west of Berlin. East Germans refused to allow Brandt to drive to West Berlin along the autobahn, so Brandt took a plane home.

Two time East-West Trampoline Champion, 1963-64,
South African Games Trampoline Champion, 1963;
World Tumbling Champion, 1965;
Runner-up World's Trampoline Champion to Gary Erwin, 1965.
"Saturday night was the biggest night for me," said Schmitz. "My mother and father had come up from Lafayette, La., and I wanted to perform well for them."
Schmitz gives a lot of credit to his success to his coaches Meade and Mitchell and freshman trampoline Dale Harter who pushes him in practice on the trampoline.
Schmitz temporarily diverting his interest in gymnastics to a new hobby--flying. He started flying lessons yesterday.
"This doesn't mean that he is giving up the trampoline and the free exercise mat for the flying machine though.
In fact, he plans to enter two more events next year. "If I work hard, I think I can help the team next year on side horse and parallel bars," said Schmitz.
Meanwhile, he will start getting ready for his next meet which is April 16 when he will be competing with the other Saluki gymnasts in the United States Gymnastics Federation Open Meet in Nashville, Tenn.

Gymnastics is an intriguing sport, but it is also dangerous, as many of the thousands of fans who were at the NCAA finals can testify.

During the competition for the trampoline title, the Arena was filled with cheers as Frank Schrunk, SIU gymnast, performed flawlessly. However, complete silence reigned a few minutes later, when Gary Erwin, two-time NCAA world champion trampolineist from the University of Michigan, lost his balance and fell from about 20 to 22 feet into the springs of the apparatus.

Attendees and performers rushed to aid the fallen gymnast, while the Arena crowd drew a breath and hushed to silence. The only sound heard was the electric hum of the CBS boom camera moving in for a closer shot.

Erwin was carried to the training room, where he was examined by a doctor and found to be merely shaken up.

Coach Doesn’t Regret Team’s Defeat in Meet

Washington Coach Eric Hughes had no regrets about his team’s loss to Penn State in the national gymnastics finals Saturday night.

"They were just a real good team," he said. "They were more athletic than we were. They had three solid performers in every event. We didn’t have anyone just beat us by a better team."

The senior captain of the Huskies thought the turning point of the meet was the long horse event. "I felt good," Hughes said. "If it had just gone the other way we might have been in there."

Hughes wasn’t trying to take anything away from Penn State, but he felt his team had reached its peak in the semifinals against Iowa State. "We didn’t get our top performances tonight," the 41-year-old coach said.

Strangely enough Penn State coach Bob Hughes said the same thing about his national champions. They too felt they had reached their peak earlier.

Hughes thought he didn’t even think his team’s performance was above average this year. He admitted his team had come up with its best performances during the last 10 percent of its season trail.

The former University of Illinois three-year-man looked ahead to next season with the gleam in his eye. Remarks will be the five of the eight men that scored in Saturday’s finals. "It looks good for the future," Hughes admitted. "We’ll still be strong. We hope to be back."

Geography Talk Set

The SIU Department of Geography will present an illustrated talk on “Landscapes in America.” Scheduled for the evening of the South Viet Name finals. Saturday night’s finals. Can attest to this fact. Last year he guided his team to States, men’s gymnastics won 70 of 92 dual meets. In the NCAA at 8 p.m. today in Room 214,

"It was a big night for the gymnasts from Penn State. The Nittany Lions from University Park, Penn., walked off with their eighth national championship Saturday night by defeating the host institution of University of Washington 68-1/2-31-1/2. Washington jumped off to an early 27-19 lead after the trampoline event, but Penn State won the meet’s final four events and the all-around to win the meet.

Coach Mike Jacobson was the big gun for the Lions as he won both the parallel and bars and added records in free exercise, side horse, a third in high bar and a fourth in rings. In addition he won the all-around event.

Bill Halvorsen, a big-point man for the Huskies as he added a first on side horse, seconds in high bar, second on rings and fourth on floor in free exercise.

It was also a big night for four Saluki gymnasts, Frank Schmitz won two NCAA championships in his last season on trampoline. He was edged 97 to 95.25 by the University of California on long horse in his third year.

In winning the trampoline Schmitz defeated his old nemesis and two-time trampoline champion Gary Erwin of the University of Illinois. Schmitz, who has lost to Erwin numerous times this season, pleased the crowd by showing him for the first time and

The Salukis’ Bill Meade, can attest to this fact. Last year he guided his team to the National Collegiate Athletic Association’s championship, but was passed over by the coaches for the honor. Meade estimated this was the year honors: three months. him for the first time and a Schmitz, who has lost to Erwin numerous times this season, pleased the crowd by showing him for the first time and a near perfect execution helped him earn a 9.7. Bill Wolf was the other Southern performer who qualified for the final three events. Wolf ended up the evening tied with California’s Rick Field for the second spot on the high bar and fifth on parallel bars.

Brent Williams finished fourth on long horse and Tom Cook finished fourth on the rings.

Coach Meade had words of praise for all of his performers in the finals.

"It was a big night for us," he said, "The best performance of the year." "I felt all along he would win trampoline."

Bill Wolf — “His performance is a tribute to his fire and spirit and to the accident last spring which nearly ended his career.”

Brent Williams — “Breet’s performance on long horse is a remarkable story. He came a long way after he recovered from a knee injury during last year’s Big Eight duel with the first couple of meets.”

Tom Cook — "His improvement this year is encouraging for next year," "I think we should tie our top ring man."

Larry Lindauer — “Should be an easy night for Bill in free exercise as his routine was one of his best.” Could have easily finished third on third or fourth Saturday night,

Hartzog Predicted It

Track Team Records Hit Dust Last Week

When snow covered the ground back in January, SIU track Coach Lew Hartzog predicted great things for a talented foursome who like to run about as well as they like to eat.

"When they get in shape, watch out, the Texas native warned. "They're going to tear up the school record (3:13.8) something fierce out­side.

Over the weekend the four made Hartzog appear to be clairvoyant. Competing in the Texas Relays, the Salukis raced to a new school record in the indoor season. The former record was 6-53/4 set in 1948 with a leap in the high jump.

Two other varsity and two freshmen records were set in the meet by the Salukis. One of them was the sprint medley which the team won in record-setting time. The team's 3:19 clocking erased a record set in 1958 by California. Cornell paced the team to victory with a speedy 1:48.4 half mile after Hendrich had run the quarter in 47.4 and Coventry and Carr had run 220's in 21.2 and 21.9 respectively.

High jumper Tom Ashman set the other varsity mark with a 6-10 leap in the high jump to erase the second old­est mark on the Saluki var­sity track ledger. The former record was 6-53/4 set in 1948 by Harold Hartley.

Freshmen records to fall were in the high jump and pole vault as Mitch Living­ston won 6-6 for the first time outdoors this season and Rich Ellison soared 14-4 in the vault.

Three other Salukis com­peted but didn't place. Al Ack­man finished eighth in the mile with a 4:35 clocking. Joe Bevitch threw the javelin 200 feet but didn't make the finals with 214 feet the cut­off point.

To Have Seminar

A joint seminar of the Depart­ment of Botany and the Depart­ment of Plant Industries will be held at 4 p.m. today in Room 171 of the Agricul­ture Building. Collectors of the seminar are Lloyd V. Sherwood, pro­fessor of plant industries; and Ari­stotle J. Pappelis, as­sistant professor of botany. J ohn D. Dahler, candidate for a master's degree, will talk on the "Affect of a Glu­coside Fraction from Corn of Germinations of Diploida Zea Spicata."

The joint seminar will in­clude plant pathologists from the Department of Botany and agronomists and soils spe­cialists from the Department of Plant Industries.

Students to Meet Representatives of Their Old Schools

SIU students who have received letters directing them to meet with representatives of their former high schools are reminded that the meeting begins at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the SIU Arena.

The students will be asked to describe some of the prob­lems they have encountered in adapting to university life. The meeting is part of an articulation conference which is intended to smooth the trans­ition from high school to university.

Herschel W. Biggs, chairman of the steering committee for the banquet, explained that the banquet is being arranged by members of the community who feel that some form of recognition is due the members of the team.

He said that students can ob­tain tickets for the banquet at the information desk of the University Center. The tickets are $5.50 each. Biggs said that members of the com­munity are subsidizing the amount so that more students can attend.

Tickets will be on sale until Wednesday at U.D.'s Caffee­ria, Campus Clippers and Bevis Cafeteria.
