Dr. FRAZER METZGER DESCRIBES RAW MATERIAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION

"The problem of America is the phase of our college will be large and strong. Institutions of higher education are to be judged by the excellence of their educational programs, not by the number of students enrolled. It is the responsibility of these programs to provide a suitable environment and opportunities for all students. The raw material of higher education is the students themselves."
DEBATERS CLOSE SEASON WITH BANQUET

Thirtydeliver, faculty members, and others present all at the annual debate banquet at Illinois City Hotel as Thursday April 14th.
