MAKES THE SHOE FIT!

With final exams looming large and fast approaching, most of us are mentally preparing for the last major test of our college careers. We will have to consider the "write" student-hating stereotype of our professor at some point, so we know that the shoe fitting is not going to be as comfortable as we had hoped. This is a reliable method of scrambling through a course.

The methods used are many and various: procrastination, not coming to class, setting off a fire alarm, not having any shoes to wear around, taking naps in the library, sleeping off the books, and just plain laziness. The professor, however, is not easily fooled by any of these methods. He or she is always on the lookout for something that will help them to keep the class from falling apart.

"They might as well wear a red flag at noon when they follow my movements to let everyone know that they can make me lose control of the class." The chances are that most professors are not bothered by these things. If you are worried about one or two students in the class, they usually are too smart to be fooled by these tactics. If the professor is concerned, he or she will be sure to bring it up and the class will be under control.

It should be obvious to all that the individual who can reach success only by cheating and procrastinating will not be trusted in other matters, and is not likely to get the kind of education he or she desires from a college education supposedly prepared for the individual who will spend his entire career in this world.

The trouble with the shoe-fitting method is that it doesn't increase one's social position.

Officers: The editors of the Student News are in charge of the student newspaper, the "Southern Exposure." The newspaper is published every Thursday and is available at the student union and in the college's student dormitories.

A Student Replies

Dear Editor:

I have always been under the opinion that newspapers should not publish any diaries. I have been informed by my editor that I am not allowed to publish any diaries. However, after reading your editorial and hearing the opinions of other people, I think I have found the facts about the conditions at Southern Illinois University. I have heard from many people that there are some terrible things going on at that school.

The conditions at Southern Illinois are bad; in fact, for most of the people who go there, they are terrible. The library has been condemned, and in many cases the buildings are in disarray. There are several instances where students have to walk across the campus to get to their classes.

I have heard that the course offerings are very limited, and that all school activities cannot be held. The main building where to get some of the classes is not up to code. It is not a pleasant place to be supported by a shoe-strap. The teaching process seems to be a struggle for some students who have to work to cover the expenses of their education.

It seems that the state of the arts is probably more effective at Southern Illinois University, but that the students who go there are more poorly educated and have a harder time making ends meet. It is not surprising that several students have been questioned by the authorities at the school.

I think it would be better if the authorities at the school would be able to work together to improve the conditions at Southern Illinois University. If they did, it would be better for the students who go there and would hopefully make the school a better place to be.

Yours truly,

The Editor

Southern Illinois "Upprivileged,"

Says Y. C. U. Committee

If you live in Southern Illinois, you are more privileged than if you live in any other state. Southern Illinois University is a state-supported institution which is governed by the local board of education and is not a public institution like any other college.

The reason is clear, according to the Southern Illinois University faculty and students who have been living in the state for years. They claim that the school is the best in the state and that it is not fair that other colleges in the state should have to compete with them.

Expensive for higher education in Southern Illinois is a phenomenon of the past. For the past year, spending has been limited in Southern Illinois, and the state has been able to minimize the cost of higher education. For the last year, spending has only been up to $1,000,000.

The appropriations are unsatisfactory for the state of Southern Illinois, but the state has been able to minimize the cost of higher education. For the last year, spending has only been up to $1,000,000.

Our campaign this year will aim at increasing the state's support of higher education.

Your Friend Lucy

Carbondale, Illinois
March 15, 1914

Dear Sir:

There seems to be an epidemic of drooling at all times in town, but most of art's mass in the virus. The Carbondale drug stores have had to cut back on their inventory in order to meet the demand for medicine.

The problem is that people are not taking the medicine properly. For instance, if you have a sore throat and you take three aspirin at once, it will kill you.

And, oh, theEMERGENCY! By preference, friends and acquaintances, who have been suffering from the flu, we suggest that you take these steps. You should take some colds, but don't take them too seriously. If you have a cold, you should take aspirin and live a healthy life.

In the rear of the car, the car is the critical area at all times. The DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH has issued a warning to all drivers that if they are caught driving without a license, they will lose their license.

To summarize, it is a good way to know, but a bad example. What are some possible alternatives to the [unreadable] in the proposed legislation?

The Southern Exposure's editors have accepted the responsibility of informing the students of the school about the problems that are facing them. We will continue to publish articles that highlight these issues and we hope that the students will continue to read and support our efforts.

Yours sincerely,

The Editors of the Student News

The Girls of Ashley Hall

The girls are a group of friends who have been together since they were young. They have a strong bond and always have each other's backs. They love spending time together and enjoying each other's company. They are known for their fun-loving and carefree attitude, always ready to laugh and have a good time. The girls are also very supportive of each other and always encourage each other to pursue their dreams and goals. They are a great group of friends and always make everyone feel welcome and included. They are a big part of the Southern Illinois University community and always ready to lend a helping hand or offer words of encouragement. The girls are always a bright spot in any gathering and always make the world a better place with their positive energy and infectious laughter.
Economists have differed widely on the effects of the current economic policies, creating a complex political landscape. Some argue that the policies have led to significant growth, while others believe they have contributed to inflation and rising inequality. The debate continues, with many policymakers and analysts calling for further research and analysis to better understand the implications of these economic decisions.

Retailing Program Aids College Studies

As a new approach to the problem of financing college, a University of Illinois has launched a retailing program that will provide income for students and will also develop the necessary skills required for a future career.

Four Year Plan

The retailing program is designed to provide a four-year plan of study for students. During the first two years, the students will be enrolled in the University of Illinois department of business administration. During the third and fourth years, they will be enrolled in the University of Illinois department of professional education. The program is designed to provide a thorough understanding of the principles of retailing and to prepare students for successful careers in the field.

Plan Made To Help Teaching Futures Through Research

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has announced a plan to provide additional training for college professors. The plan includes the establishment of a new department of teaching at the University of Illinois, which will be dedicated to the training of future college professors.

Preventive Medicine

The plan is designed to provide a comprehensive prevention program for college students. The program will include courses in preventive medicine, health education, and public health.

The Illinois High School Association has voted against procuring a new permanent facility for the Illinois High School Association. The Association was formed in 1915 to promote the interests of high school students and to provide them with an opportunity to meet and participate in cultural and educational activities. Since its inception, the Association has grown in size and importance, and now has a membership of over 300,000 students. The Association has been successful in securing funding for various projects, including the construction of new facilities and the establishment of scholarships. However, the Association has faced challenges in recent years, including a decline in membership and a decrease in funding. In light of these challenges, the Association has decided to vote against procuring a new permanent facility. This decision is based on the Association’s commitment to providing high-quality educational experiences and opportunities for all high school students, regardless of their geographic location. The Association plans to continue to work towards improving the quality of education and providing opportunities for students to engage in meaningful cultural and educational activities. The decision to vote against procuring a new permanent facility is not without controversy, and there may be criticisms and debate on this issue. However, the Association hopes that its decision will be seen as a step towards ensuring that all high school students have access to high-quality educational experiences and opportunities.

Western Game Saturday Will Decide Conference Race For Maroon's Final Flag Ball Game

The Southern Methodist closeout of 1949 basketball schedule, which takes place tonight at 8 in Comfortable Title, when they meet the North Central College at 8:30 tonight.

Walter Erskine, with a record of four wins and three losses, will coach the conference, and at this writing, the game will be the 16th and the final game of the series.

Other teams participating in the conference are:

Southern Methodist

The basketball season is in its full swing and "Skylark" and "Skylark" will be the deciding factor in the final standings. A win will give the Maroons their first victory of the season.

In the first game, the Maroons held the University of Missouri at the line, and Minute University held the Maroons at the line.

The Southern Methodist brand is a factor in the conference, and this game will be their only chance to win their first conference win.

The game will be played tonight at 8:30 in the Coliseum.

Eastern Beas Maroons For Third Time To Put IAC Race In Another Muddle

WILSON and GLOVER, both Palm Island, were placed in blocks to prevent the development of the Maroons for the third consecutive time this season. Southern Methodist's 0-6 record puts the Maroons in the third consecutive of the four games played.

GLOVER and WILSON were placed in blocks to prevent the development of the Maroons, and they will put them out of the running easily.

LAWRENCE S. WADDINGTON, 150 lb., has been placed in blocks to prevent the development of the Maroons, and he will put them out of the running easily.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The Byrdton High School basketball team, which has been on a winning streak, will play against the Northern Alabama High School team tonight at 8:00 in the Coliseum.

The team from Byrdton will be coached by Mr. Williams, and the team from Northern Alabama will be coached by Mr. Johnson.

Varisty Tennis Men Asked To Meet

A meeting of all new intercollegiate tennis players will be held tonight at 8:00 in the Coliseum.

The meeting will be held to introduce new players to the college tennis team and to discuss the rules of the game.

The meeting will be attended by the coaches of the tennis team, the captain of the team, and the new players.

Up to the present time, the spring football season has proved to be quite successful to Coach Glenn (Abe) McCrary, the coach of the Byrdton High School football team.

"The team is playing well, and we are looking forward to the start of the season," McCrary said.

According to McCrary, the team is well prepared for the upcoming season, and they are looking forward to a successful season.

Of Special Importance

There is no specific information about the significance of the event or the importance of the meeting.

Opportunities Are Predicted For Rural Teachers

Greater opportunities for teachers in rural areas are expected to arise in the future, according to a recent study.

The study, conducted by the Rural Education Commission, predicted that the number of rural teachers will increase significantly in the coming years.

The study also suggested that the number of rural schools will decrease, as more schools in rural areas will be consolidated into larger, more efficient schools.

Findings Revealed

The study's findings revealed that rural areas are facing a shortage of qualified teachers, and that this shortage is expected to worsen in the future.

The study also suggested that more funding is needed to improve rural schools and to attract more teachers to rural areas.

HARRISON THAT, the new principal of the Byrdton High School, has been appointed to the position.

The appointment of That was announced by Mr. Johnson, the head of the school.

That will be the 30th principal of the school.

The new school year will be started in September, with a new staff of teachers and a new curriculum.

The school will be housed in a new building, which is currently under construction.

The school will serve students in grades K-12.

The school will offer a wide range of programs, including academic, vocational, and extracurricular activities.

The school will also provide services for students with special needs, such as speech and language therapy, occupational therapy, and physical therapy.

The school will be staffed by experienced and dedicated educators, who are committed to the success of each student.

The school will be located on a beautiful campus, which will feature state-of-the-art facilities and a welcoming environment.

The school will be open for enrollment in the coming months, and parents are encouraged to visit the school and learn more about the opportunities available to their children.
Six Girls Write Book About College Life

By F. B. FLANS

Five girls at Southern Illinois University recently finished writing their book, "Six Girls Write About College Life," which is a collection of six individual stories by each girl about their experiences at college. The book is to be published by the university press and will be available in the fall.

The girls are: Six; Kay Smith; Vendula; Dorene Williams; Linda Smith; and Mary Schwartz.

The book cover is a gold cover with white lettering and a gold and red ribbon. The title is "Six Girls Write About College Life." The cover has a gold and red background and is bordered by a gold and red ribbon.

The book is approximately 100 pages long and is divided into six sections, each written by one of the six girls. Each section is written in a different font, color, and style, giving the book a unique look.

The first section is written by Six and is titled "Six's College Life." It describes Six's experiences at Southern Illinois University, including her classes, professors, and friends. The second section is written by Kay Smith and is titled "Kay's College Life." It describes Kay's experiences at Southern Illinois University, including her classes, professors, and friends. The third section is written by Vendula and is titled "Vendula's College Life." It describes Vendula's experiences at Southern Illinois University, including her classes, professors, and friends. The fourth section is written by Dorene Williams and is titled "Dorene's College Life." It describes Dorene's experiences at Southern Illinois University, including her classes, professors, and friends. The fifth section is written by Linda Smith and is titled "Linda's College Life." It describes Linda's experiences at Southern Illinois University, including her classes, professors, and friends. The sixth section is written by Mary Schwartz and is titled "Mary's College Life." Odd Hobbies of Some Students Are Unearthed On SIU Campus

Ada Griffith enjoys a ride on Rex

MARGARET SAYS that she's never been happy about being a housewife. "I've always wanted to do something more," she said. "I don't really like being a homemaker."

The old adage, "You can't teach a housewife how to drive," is not accurate, according to Ada. "I've always been interested in driving," she said. "I've always wanted to be a chauffeur."

Fourth Floor Parkinson Reveals Unusual Collection

By MARILYN PROSTY

If your pocketbook won't afford a trip to the deepest jungles of the world, there is the answer to your problem in your backyard.

In fact, a trip to the Fourth Floor of Parkinson Hall could substitute for a trip to a zoo. Just imagine: the beginning of the next century! The students of Parkinson Hall will have the opportunity to observe a menagerie by a portion of their favorite jungle creatures in their own back yard. A huge puff of air is expected at the moment your view is cleared.
Cooperative Program Outlined by Local Radio Station and SIU

By GEORGE R. DENISON

Cooperative Program Outlined by Local Radio Station and SIU. WelL Strives To Be Young, Smart, and Modern.

In an effort to increase understanding and cooperation between the school and the local community, a cooperative program has been outlined by the local radio station and SIU. The program aims to be young, smart, and modern.

The radio station will be playing music from the school's music library, and the school will be featuring local news and events on the radio. In addition, the two organizations will work together on special projects and events.

This cooperative program is seen as a way to strengthen the relationship between the school and the local community, and to promote a more positive image of the school.
