Barbara Von Behren
And Wyona Smith To Assume Editorships

Barbara Von Behren, junior from Mt. Vernon, was chosen as editor-in-chief of The Egyptian this coming year, and Wyona Smith, Steeleville sophomore, was voted editor of the Obelisk, at a meeting of the campus journalism council Thursday, Feb. 7.

Council members also voted on other staff members of the SIU publications. Beverly Fox, West Frankfort junior, was chosen managing editor for the Madrigals, Choir ISet; Ruth Harms, freshman, replacing Richard Stancil and Wyona Smith, this year's associate editors.

Barth, Feb 10th, who had been managing editor of The Egyptian for the past year, replaces Vonda Poff as editor-in-chief.

Don Duffy, Chicago junior, as sports editor.

THE TWO NEW associate editors for the Obelisk will be Betty Sevi, Sophomore in the School of Business, and Charles Dickerman,@stop alongside the Southwestern.

All undergraduate students who do not obtain pre-advisement this week will not be entitled to register for the fall semester. This is an important fact that students should keep in mind when registering.

Students wishing to present musical selections should bring their accompanists with them. It is necessary that all records are to serve as the musical background, these may not be replaced. Instead. A record player will be available for anyone wishing to use it.

Any information concerning the act should be placed on paper and submitted at the time of tryouts.

All acts which are not acceptable to Bob Mosher, chairman of the selection committee, according to Mosher anyone who is planning to be in the show should select a musical number that can be easily used in the future. For the sake of the student body and the school, an award will be presented to each member of the best individual act.

Tryouts for master of ceremonies will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 26, 10th and 12th. All candidates will be present at these tryouts.

Nearby is the Shakespearean festival, which is a three-day event. The festival will be held on the same campus as the tryouts.

The festival will be presented on a stage located in the middle of a field. The stage will be set up with the help of the students and faculty. The festival will be open to the public and admission will be charged.

Students Voice Opinions On Number Of General University Requirements

by Helen Nance

The number of general requirement for graduation from the university tend to be too high, according to half of the students surveyed. The 16 asked this question. The other half, most of whom were upperclassmen, felt that there were too many requirements.

A senior, majoring in Spanish, said that the subjects required had already been taken in high school and he did just enough to get by in these. He thought efficiency tests for requirements should be given and therefore cut down on requirements. If there were not any tests, he said, he would take up another minor and specialize in another language.

Others who say there are too many requirements think that by the time one has finished taking these, he has to go back and pick up too many courses in his major. If one has already decided on a major, they think it is foolish to take all of these courses one cares nothing about. One will therefore take less time studying requirements and will remember very little about them. A more specialized field can be acquired with less requirements and more fields can be taken.

REQUIREMENTS SHOULD not be abolished altogether, but reduced in number and fitted to each major so that they will all be helpful in that specialized field, according to those who think there are too many requirements.

Those who think the number of requirements is not too high argue that each person will get a broad education if he takes some subjects in every field. They say one has to know a little about everything in the world to get along. Students who come to school and are not sure as what their majors will be, can get a sample of several fields before they decide for sure what they like and what is best suited for them.

Taking a number of general requirements gives one a dip into all phases of education. Taking this will give one a well-rounded education so he might know a little about fields other than the one in which he is specializing.

Two Child Guidance Clinics To Be Held In Area In February: Thalman

In addition to the Child Guidance Clinics which have been held in various communities throughout Southern Illinois during the past several months, two more have been scheduled for the month of February, according to Dr. W. A. Thalman, clinic director.

The Springfield clinic will be held at Mt. Carmel on Feb. 13 and 15. This is the second one held at Mt. Carmel within the past two months. This clinic will be conducted in cooperation with the Wabash County Nursing Service and the Mt. Carmel Public Schools.

On Feb. 22 a community clinic will be held at Pinckneyville in cooperation with Mt. Hugh Malan, Superintendent of Schools.

Graduate assistants Fay Sisko and Wanda Mitchell in the Child Guidance clinic, Katherine Darius, graduate assistant in the department of guidance and educational counseling, and Redbh Gray who is in one of the practices as directed by the Child Guidance clinic, and Warren Selbert, from the Office of the Beulah Bend, will assist Dr. Thalman in the testing of the children and in the interpreting of the findings.

CLINICS ON THE campus are conducted throughout the entire academic year and utilizing the time of the summer session. Most of the cases which are brought to the clinics are seen on campus, although some cases are also brought to the clinic on the other days of the week.

During 1951 children and adolescents were studied by the Child Guidance Clinic from 50 different communities in Southern Illinois. In practically all instances the clinic only makes a complete study of the patient, but it works directly in cooperation with the teacher, the school administration, and the parents of the patient. A definite program is outlined for the parents and for the teacher as well as for the child with respect to therapy and procedures to be used in correcting the difficulties.

In some of the cases where the distance is not too large, therapy is offered by the staff of the Child Guidance clinic, and the children are brought to the campus once and twice a week.

Eastern Barely Beats Southern Here, 59-56

by Sherman Doolen

It was a case of "almost but not quite" here Saturday night as Southern lost a heart-fluttering decision to unbeaten Eastern Illinois, 59-56. The Panthers thus chalked up win No. 17 of the year, but the Salukis could console themselves with the thought that it wasn't an easy one.

The Panthers were averaging 83 points per game, but a scrappy Southern defense and a five-minute freeze sealed it down in a bid. The Salukis kept the outcome in doubt until the last minute.

Despite a 19-point deficit at the end of the first quarter, Southern led by one or two points most of the first half. The Salukis, after stacking up a three-point lead, stalled out the final five minutes of the second period to lead at the halftime 33-31.

EASTERN THREATENED to pull away in the third quarter but when the period ended Southern trailed only 42-36. Late in the fourth quarter, Southern took the lead again. With two minutes remaining, the score was 50-50, but former Normal Patberg hit a basket and Bobby Lee a free throw to give the Panthers the underdog margin. Patberg would up high scorer for the game with 21 points. Panther star, Tom Kaismipal, was well guarded by Chuck Thate and was held to 12 points.

Top scorer for the Salukis was Vern Smith, who hit seven baskets in 12 shots and chipped in a free throw for 15 points. He got all those in the first two minutes and finished with 10 points in the last quarter, when he nearly put the Salukis over the top.

Southern outshot and outbounded the visitors and scored just as many field goals as the Panthers, but free throws turned the tide. Each team had 20 baskets. Eastern made 19 free throws to Southern's 16. The Salukis outrebounded 43-35. They missed only three free throws but their earlier defensive play, spread out to 25 total and Eastern was thus able to afford missing 10 free shots.

SOUTHERN PLAYED probably its best game of the season. Especially noteworthy were the efforts of the two freshmen. Ray Ripplmeyer and Gib Kurtz. Ripplmeyer made three baskets in the first half, and rebounced beautifully all during the game. Kurtz made four baskets in eight shots and did as much as anyone to hold the Salukis together.

But it was all in all, a brilliant team effort that almost turned the tables on what was undoubtedly one of the finest teams a Southern fan has ever had occasion to play.

Martin Announces Salukis’ Spring Baseball Tour

Southern’s baseball team will make a voyage game spring training tour next month as a prelude to a 19-game schedule. Coach Glenn L. Martin has announced.

The Salukis will make the pre-season tour March 10-15, Martin said, playing Southeast Louisiana, Loyola of the South, Mississippi College and Louisiana State.

The regular season opens April 5 when Southern plays Arkansas State at Jolisco, Ark., and ends May 31 with a doubleheader at Brackly University, Peoria.

SPRING TOUR SCHEDULE:

March 10—Southeast Louisiana at Lafayette.
March 11-12—Loyola of the South at New Orleans.
March 13-14—Mississippi College at Clinton.
March 15—Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

Salute the Salukis

It is the custom in this space to single out some particular player for compliments, but now seem a good time to offer a bouquet to the whole bench. Saturday's defeat to Eastern may not seem the proper occasion to extol our guys, but it is unlikely that the Salukis will turn in a better performance this season.

A story on the game elsewhere on this page contains a few kind words for the two starting freshmen, Ray Ripplmeyer and Gib Kurtz. It is for them to be out of place to say a few more.

RIPPLEMEYER, we would say, is one of the best freshman prospects ever to turn up at Southern. His play here Saturday night was a good example of how the younger generation has got into a real game. His rebouncing this season has been second only to that of Chuck Thate, who stands about 6-2. But Ripplmeyer talks taller than Ripplmeyer, for his part, has looked better than the past couple of games than he has all season and with some extra seasoning he may be, as the sports writers are fond of saying, outstanding.

THATE, a JUNIOR has been averaging about 12 rebounds per game and the last time we looked, he was No. 19 among the college basketball leaders according to statistics compiled by the NAIA. Thate grabbed 12 rebounds against Eastern and did a good job of covering Tom Kaismipal, who made only 12 points, considerably fewer than he used to scoring.

Salukis Play Normal Saturday; Washington Comes Here Feb. 20

Southern travels to Normal this Saturday to try to average a 65-63 loss suffered here Feb. 2.

The next home game, and perhaps the final one of the season, will be played Feb. 20 with Washington University of St. Louis. A game scheduled earlier with Michigan Normal was postponed, but as yet the two schools haven't been able to agree on a date for the game.

Outside of this contest, there are four games left on the schedule and all of them stack up as tough ones. On Feb. 23 the Salukis travel to meet powerful Beloit and on March 1 they close the season in New York against Siena, a team that has been rated among the top 20 teams of the country in the weekly service polls.

Southern's record to date is 12 victories and eight defeats. The Salukis may be hard pressed to equal or exceed their last year's mark of 13-13.
