Power Restored To Campus Buildings

Electrical power was completely restored to the campus late yesterday after a day of partial and complete power failure for many major office and classroom buildings. The failure stemmed from two underground explosions that sent fire spouting through man-holes at about 9 a.m. on Tuesday. It caused a complete power loss over most of the campus for about two hours. Then power was restored with a few intermittent failures to all buildings but those in the Old Main quadrangle, the Biology Student Union, the University School and the College of Education, which is under construction.

The University School was closed all day yesterday due to the power failure. Buildings in the Old Main quadrangle and other areas were powerless until the afternoon.

The First Presbyterian Church on South University was without power also but is expected to have it by yesterday.

Israel's Ramat-Gan Chamber Orchestra managed to pull itself together despite the lack of power.

William A. Howe, director of of the University School, said temporary action had restored electrical power and safe working conditions.

He explained the explosions as resulting "from a faulting of the line." He added this came about because of the added loads being carried by the lines.

McNamara Answers Senators Who Charge Red Buildup

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday he believes "beyond reasonable doubt" that all offensive weapons systems have been removed from Cuba and have been reintroduced.

Speaking at a hurriedly arranged news conference that was part of the administration's effort to clear the air on the current situation in Cuba, McNamara said over 400 reconnaissance flights have flown over Cuba since July. The McNamara speech came after a week of charges and countercharges by the administration and Republican leaders over the missile buildup in Cuba, Republic forces led by Sen. Kennedy have charged the present Soviet military strength in Cuba poses a real threat to the United States.

He said these flights formed the basis for the decisions last October and they also recorded the removal of the weapons and continue to show such weapons have not been reintroduced.

Thus McNamara echoed an earlier statement by CIA Director John A. McCone, who said a "relatively small amount of Soviet military equipment has reached Cuba" since the U.S. quarantine of the island.

McCone testified at a closed meeting of the Senate Armed Services Select Committee. Defense officials have been in conference with Cuba officials to remove the missiles. They also have sent a large number of military and other personnel to the island.

Descalzo, a seven-day tour of Cuba. The major items in the $17,305,000 approved improvements budget for the 1963-65 biennium approved Tuesday, "The $17,305,000 approved for a new physical science building at the Carbondale campus and $5,905,806 for moveable equipment to furnish buildings built from university bond issues.

Southern's request for $41,905,000 for capital improvements was chopped about $24,700,000 by the Higher Education Board. The $24,605,000 approved included a $6,050,000 science and technology building at Edwardsville, and other projects for the Edwardsville campus.

President DeWitt B. Morris said yesterday that the capital improvements budget has no effect on the program being financed through the bond issue.

A breakdown of the capital improvements items approved by the Higher Board shows $6,050,806 for moveable equipment; $1,500,000 for repairs and remodeling; $900,000 for public improve-ments; $1,500,000 for land acquisition; $500,000 for planning; $1,500,000 for matching federal grants; $1,500,000 for a physical science building and $800,000 for a power plant addition, both in Carbondale. The $17,305,000 approved was about $8,400,000 higher than first priority improvements originally recommended by the Higher Education Board's staff. The board's staff submitted first priority and second priority recommendations on each of the six state universities' requests.

President Morris said the board Tuesday approved both the first and second priority items recommended for SIU plus an additional loan.

The University of Illinois had asked for capital improvements and the board approved a total of $25,368,000.

The capital funds budget is completely separate from the operating budget which was acted on by the Higher Education Board last month. The board recommended the SIU operating budget request cut from $63,272,988 to $56,394,523.

The $36,394,523 recommended is $14,108,833 more than the operating budget for the current year, which totals $42,285,690.

Of the $6.8 million cut from the operating budget, the major reduction recommended was in the request for $4.0 million for faculty leave and research. This decrease was cut nearly in half, or to almost $2.1 million.

U.S. Art Director At Mexico Fair

Returning to Harvard after an assignment with the American Academy in Rome, McLainathan taught art history at the University of Wisconsin from the New England institution.

He is presently associated with the Museum of Art in Utica, New York.

Officials said Taylor was admonished for the remainder of the winter quarter and will be required to maintain a 3-point grade average each quarter for a year when he returns to school.

Taylor had his car parked in a garage at a private home in Carbondale when it was discovered and he was charged with the second offense. In mid-October Taylor was fined $50 for illegal possession of a car after he was stopped for speeding on campus, authorities said.

Authorities quoted Taylor as saying, "I knew what would happen, but I wanted a car."

Disarmament Chief To Replace Dean At Talks

WASHINGTON

The State Department announced Wednesday that the U.S. disarmament chief William G. Foster, will head the U.S. delegation to the new round of disarmament talks opening in Geneva Feb. 18. Foster's appointment evidently means two things: 1. President Kennedy wants a new high-level effort made to obtain nuclear test-ban agreements with the Soviet Union in spite of the collapse last week of East-West negotiations on that issue in New York.

2. Kennedy is evidently in no great hurry to name a successor as disarmament negotiator to Ambassador Arthur Dean, a New York Lawyer, recently re-appointed when the disarmament talks at Geneva recessed for the holidays.

British Minister of State Joseph Godber, conferring at the State Department Wednesday, renewed hope of an eventual agreement. He said he believes that the Soviet offer, made by Premier Khrushchev, of three on-site inspections each year is a genuine concession toward getting a treaty.

OTTAWA, Canada

Conservative party members of the House of Commons, together with the Cabinet, decided to back Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker in the coming election campaign. After a two-hour caucus, Finance Minister George Nelson said Diefenbaker "will be prime minister" after the April election that were made necessary by no-confidence votes in the House of Commons Tuesday night.

While other elements of the party outside Parliament remained to be heard from, the caucus settlement seemed to assure Diefenbaker of keeping the leadership.

Nowlan had been mentioned as a possible new leader of the party. Some elements were dissatisfied with Diefenbaker even before the U.S.-Canadian dispute over nuclear weapons forced the votes.

WASHINGTON

Official Washington adopted a policy of discreet silence Wednesday on the fall of John G. Diefenbaker as prime minister of Canada. There were no cries of approval but neither were there any loud lamentations.

The fact is that relations between Canada and the United States have been tense much of the time since Diefenbaker became prime minister. U.S. leaders obviously were upset by his political misfortune.

What does seem to have dismayed President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk is that the United States and Russia are now such a close to bringing about collapse of Diefenbaker's Conservative party regime on a non-confidence vote in Parliament Tuesday night.

Administration authorities insist the U.S. action was not designed as a political bombshell—at least that much of a bombshell.

The luck of the draw also produced a quarterfinal round meeting at Chicago between the class of the Chicago Public School League which may be Carver or former state champion Marshall.

Budget Cuts

The Governor's budget message is generally given around the first of April, at which time he will outline his recommendations. The bud­ gets of universities will not be acted on by the state legis­ lature until appropriations bills come up for considera­ tion in the 15th week.

"It is a long hard row for the budget," President Stricklin said. "We just have to wait and see what evens out."
Model UN Session Opens Here Friday

All foreign embassies and permanent missions in the United States have been contacted for opinions on the questions to come before the Model United Nations here this weekend.

According to David Lauerman, who will serve as secretary-general of the 1963 assembly, the generous responses will aid the delegations in their deep studies of the problems.

Highlight of the fifth annual session, to be held in the University Center Friday and Saturday, will be the address by Ping-chia Kuo, associate professor of history at Southern Illinois and a former member of the Nationalist Chinese delegation to the United Nations. His speech to the delegates will come at 8 p.m. Friday, following 11 o'clock registration and the opening sessions.

A coffee hour and reception for Kuo will follow in the Center Ballroom.

According to Lauerman, 54 delegations of four delegates each will be represented at the Assembly this year. Since the number of alternates is not limited, a total of 225 to 250 delegates are expected, many of them from other campuses. Only 20 nations were represented at the first Assembly.

The Joliet Junior College and the SIU Alton branch are sending two delegations, Lauerman said, McKendree, Paducah Junior College, Carbondale Community College and the East St. Louis branch of SIU are each sending one delegation.

The off-campus delegations will be housed at Thompson Point. Dwight Smith was making arrangements to entertain and host this group.

International students have been urged to serve on the delegations and advise others. The Chinese Student Club will represent China and the Ethiopian delegation will be entirely of Ethiopian students.

The questions to be debated and eventually voted on in the final plenary session this year will concern nuclear disarmament, economic development, colonialism and special assessment.

Lauerman said a set of rules of procedure has been prepared this year, which follows the actual U.N. rules of order. In addition, each delegation has been provided with a copy of the International Conciliation, issued for the 17th Assembly of the United Nations, and a list of reference books.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the sessions of the Assembly and hear Dr. Kuo's address, Lauerman said.

SIU Student Fined $50 For Damaging Funeral Home Light

One of two students charged with malicious mischief and destroying property at the Van Natta Funeral Home has been found guilty by Police Magistrate Robert Schwartz. The other student was found not guilty.

Schwartz said Jeffrey M. Gordon, 19, pleaded guilty, was fined $50, placed on four months probation and ordered to make restitution to Joe Van Natta, funeral home operator.

The incident occurred Jan. 25 and Van Natta fired a shotgun blast of salt at two fleeing persons who he said had over­ turned a light on the lawn of his funeral home. No one was injured.

The inadequate Constitutional framework of the Student Government can be likened to a play with a blank script.

The plot of Student Government is the desire of the students and to defend their rights. The characters are the members of the Legislative and the Executive. However, the script (i.e., constitution) does not encourage committees to meet. The characters, therefore, do not hold the whole story but the blank script is presented (they can be played anyway-the play must go on). The character, therefore, must prepare their own scripts, if the bill, mandate, the President shall assign the investigating for the bill.

Cut yell's director (i.e., President). An argument issues between director and committee chairman. The gist of the director's plea is that the committees are ignoring their responsibilities and allowing Executive infringement of Legislative branch.

However, the director cannot point to anything in the script to support his argument. Whatever wrote the script apparently felt that committee members would be concerned enough to do their own work.

But committees have not produced good legislation in the shortest time possible. The fault lies partly in the failure of committees to do their job. A bill or a resolution must be worked on. Someone must investigate the various possibilities for action, talk to the people involved, determine the nature of the problem. This job can not be done in committee. If they don't do it, there is no reason for having committees.

The fault lies also in the failure of the Student Government Constitution to outline the committee's authority and to provide a means of enforcing Constitutional directives.

The great tragedy is that the committee's chances for a revised Constitution rests with another committee. If the script writer (i.e., Constitutional Revision Committee) does not get on the ball, this play (i.e., Student Government) is certain to be a flop.

Is It A Favor To Teachers When Students Decide To Attend Class?

Editor:

After reading the Egyptian's article on the Student Council, I feel that our most brilliant bill yet, "requiring students to wait not more than one minute for an instructor," I must say it brought me a great deal of chuckle. If not a laugh.

In my estimation, college is basically for one thing—to educate. The instructors are here to teach. Therefore, they are doing the students a favor by teaching them. Or are the students doing the instructors a favor by attending classes?

I am sure, Mr. Student Council Member, that your instructors don't care whether you attend class or not, and if you can't wait more than one minute for your instructor, I don't know what you are doing in college in the first place.

This type of thing makes me wonder just what kind of minds are running our Student Council anyway. This one sounds like it is of grade school level.

Student Council: Act I

Not too many Illinois residents are aware that Abraham Lincoln served four terms in the Illinois House of Representatives.

He was 25 years old when he was first elected. Though certainly an above average legislator during his four terms, he was not as outstanding as some of his colleagues.

One of the battles Lincoln fought regularly was to get district interests relented. Some times he was successful, frequently he was not.

On February 12 there will be high-sounding speeches in the legislature about what a good man he was. I thought of simply re-introducing a bill on that day which he introduced as an amendment on January 30, 1840. I would do it, except for the fact that it would not have the slightest chance of passage. Lincoln's amendment read: "Provided that nothing herein shall be construed to legalize the taking of more than twelve per cent interest per annum in any case whatever."

Lincoln was defeated—as would any similar effort be today. As a matter of fact, our state which calls itself the "Land of Lincoln" on its license plates permits an interest charge of as much as 36 per cent on loans up to $400.

The difference between Lincoln's 12 per cent suggestion and 36 per cent permitted today is considerable—particularly when you consider that the average interest rate on loans and bonds was higher than, then it is now.

The argument is made that those who are charged the 36 per cent are high risks. This is undoubtedly true, although some of those charged 36 per cent probably could secure a loan from their local bank rather than pay the 36 per cent figure.

Most finance companies where these high rates are charged realize they are dealing with people who for one reason or another are faced with special difficulties. Many charge considerably less than the permitted 36 per cent maximum. Or if they do charge the full amount, they do not make unreasonable demands on repayment.

The people in the finance companies are not the group of hard-hearted villains some suppose them to be; but there is a minority within that profession who certainly fit that description.

Any reasonable person should agree that interest rates of 36 per cent are excessive.

Interest is usually stated as three per cent per month, rather than the 36 per cent figure; the result is the same.

Gus Bode Says...

It's easier to make flowery speeches than to follow Lincoln's example. His ideas on interest were defeated when he was a legislator.

They are still being defeated.

The young people of the present era, we are happy to report, are doing quite well despite the fear of the older generation which remembers its childhood.

SIU Opens Indoor Track Season
At University Of Kansas Saturday

SIU opens its indoor track season Saturday at the University of Kansas.

Saturday's meet is the first of several that the Salukis will participate in despite the lack of indoor facilities.

Coach Lew Hartzog's trackmen, who fared well outdoors last spring when they competed in top relay meets across the country prior to placing fourth in the NCAA championship meet, are not expected to create too much of a stir this winter.

"Our prime purpose of an indoor season is merely to condition us for the spring," Hartzog said. "It means we will have to be able to put on weight and have the strength necessary to run with the country's top relay teams."

Nevertheless, the Salukis have a keen nucleus in All-Americans Jim Dupree, Illlorn Cornel1 and Brian Turner. Dupree, who made his debut in suspicious fashion by defeating Jim Grelle in the Oregon Invitational, will be competing in the mile run as well as his specialty, the 880- and 1,500-yard runs.

John Peters (Morton) and John Saunders (Marion) will run the 440; Alan Gelson (West Frankfort) and Dan Trowbridge (Alton) in the two-mile; Carl Roper (New Rochelle) and Herb Walker (Springfield), in the hurdles; and Stewart Peters, Saunders and Ed Houston in the mile relay.

Freshman Wrestlers

See Action Tonight

SIU's freshman wrestling team will compete tonight and Friday night in Oklahoma. The Saluki freshman will compete against Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

This year's freshman team is rated by Bob Franz, assistant wrestling coach, as the 'greatest in SIU's history.'

Hunting Accident Victim:
Woods Returns To Action Against Kansas Saturday

George Woods, who accidentally shot himself in the foot in a hunting accident last fall, will compete for the first time since the accident Saturday when SIU travels to Kansas for an indoor meet. Several questions will be answered with Woods' performances at Lawrence. Lew Hartzog, SIU track coach, wants to know how much weight the youngster will be able to put on the injured foot.

"It is not a matter of how far he will put the shot," Hartzog said. "But will he be able to put as much weight on the foot as is necessary."

"He has been working with weights and his arms are strong," he said. "We are just thankful that Woods can still compete."

At the time of the accident Woods was ranked third among the U.S. shot putters by Track and Field News. Despite the accident which tore all the flesh from Woods' foot, the athlete never did lose confidence saying, "I will be competing this winter."
Faculty Asked: Should Student Graduate Without Fulfilling Major?

Faculty members are being questioned for their opinions on the proposal that would permit a student to graduate from SIU without fulfilling the normal requirements for a major or minor.

The two-question questionnaire is being distributed by the Faculty Council, which has just started a study of the proposal of the idea submitted by Lowell R. Tucker last summer. It asks first, whether the program is favored or not and why? Second, any personal experience or information about other colleges with a similar program is solicited.

Tucker who is an associate professor in the Plant Industry, had considered such a program for 18 years prior to actually submitting it. He feels a non-major curriculum would eliminate problems such as a student, who finds he is not really interested in his major, being unable to switch majors.

Less than one percent of the students would probably be affected if the proposal was adopted, said Tucker. Since the Faculty Council study is just getting under way in its study, no immediate action is expected in regard to the proposal.

Students Needed On Center Board

Applications for membership in the University Center Programming Board will be available at the Information Desk until Feb. 25, according to Elected Commissioner Chuck Novak.

The programming board, which plans social and educational activities for students and faculty members, needs new members, Novak said. Qualified, hard-working students are urgently needed for the upcoming spring quarter.

Novak also said the board was looking for a student chairman.

WILSON ASSOCIATION URGED TO BOOST LIBRARY HOLDINGS

Newspaper columnist Irving Dillard recently suggested to the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Association that they build up SIU's collection of Wilson books.

Dillard expressed this opinion at the 43rd annual meeting of the Association. He feels Morris Library should have a particularly good collection due to its proximity to the Wilson Memorial Association.

The former editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial page and current editorial columnist of the Chicago American says, "at least half a dozen persons have expressed interest in donating books to SIU."

Cyril Clemens, editor of the Mark Twain Journal and secretary of the Mark Twain Society, in a letter to Dillard offered a Wilson book to start or further the SIU collection. Clemens, a relative of Mark Twain, said the book is signed by Mrs. Wilson.

Ralph McCoy, Director of Libraries, said the library would be quite interested in receiving such books, but that no offers had as yet reached him.

He added such books would be given a book plate and added to the present collection of about 80 books.
