Southern Gymnasts Display Fine Team in Losing To Chicago University Muscle Men 559-507

Southern-Alumni Meet Here Saturday Night to Feature Past Maroon Gym Performers

The Maroons' defeat in the Big Ten meet last Friday was not as decisive as the final score would indicate. Indeed, the Maroons played well in the early part of the meet and were even with the University of Chicago in the third set, but the team could not hold its own as the match progressed. The Maroons' performance was not as good as in previous meets, and it is hoped that they will improve in the coming weeks.

Chicago in the Meet: The meet started with the singles, and the Maroons had a good showing. The doubles were also close, with the Maroons leading slightly at one point. However, the University of Chicago pulled ahead in the third set, and the Maroons' chances of winning were slim. The University of Chicago went on to secure a 559-507 victory.

Southern men's gymnastics team is looking forward to the Alumni meet on Saturday night, when past Maroon gymnasts will be featured. The meet will include exhibition routines and competitions against other schools, giving the gymnasts an opportunity to show off their skills.

Landis Studies Old Age
By W. H. Landis, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, in a recent article in the "American Journal of Sociology," has given a much-needed study of the old-age problem. His findings are based on a series of interviews with elderly people in various parts of the country, including those in Illinois. He concludes that the best way to solve the problem is through a combination of government and private enterprise. The article is a must-read for anyone interested in the future of the elderly population.
