SIU Pays $204,402 To 662 Employees During December

Labor Manual Written by SIU Professors Is Now Used In 68 Colleges

Three Southern Illinois University professors have recently been informed that 68 colleges and universities in the United States are now using a laboratory manual written by them.

Authors of the manual are Dr. J. E. Helmer, chairman of the chemistry department; Dr. T. W. Abbott, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; and Dr. Kenneth A. Van Lente, professor of chemistry. The manual is titled "Experimental General Chemistry," and it is for use in introductory chemistry classes.

Southern To Open East Parking Lot To General Public

The east half of the east parking lot at Grand and Illinois avenues is now open to public parking, according to Miss Mary E. Armstrong, chairperson of the parking committee.

This was one of the decisions which the committee made at its meeting held earlier this month.

The committee met with the academic deans and Dr. Charles D. Tenney, administrative assistant to the president. It was decided that a violation of parking regulations by faculty or students would be followed by disciplinary action.

Anyone receiving a parking ticket is expected to report to the person indicated on the ticket within 24 hours.

curtilage Audio-Visual Aids Service Because Of Student Help Funds

A "lack of adequate student help in the audio-visual aids department at Southern to partly curtail its campus services, according to Dr. A. Inglis, head of the audio-visual aids department.

Off campus, run or day, cannot be accepted unless the operator is paid by an agency other than the audio-visual aids department.

Inglis also appealed for class-5 showing quite a few films to try to train a person in the class to show the films in order to cut down costs.

SIU Enrollment Continues To Drop; More Than 140 Leave This Term

Southern's student population continues to dwindle as more males drop out of school to enlist in the armed forces.

So far more than 140 have withdrawn from Southern to enlist since the beginning of the winter quarter, according to figures obtained from the Dean of Men's office. More than 120 have quit school this month.

A TOTAL OF 149 students have withdrawn from Southern this month, in addition to the 66 males who enlisted in the armed forces earlier this month, as follows:

Don E. Hooper, Joe R. George, Marion E. Thornton, Donald E. Wiley, and Seven students from the Division of Women.

Full-time campus enrollment for the present term is 2,777, with 1,791 full-time men and 986 full-time women.

The total enrollment shows a decrease of 77 students from the enrollment for winter term a year ago.

Since the beginning of the term, approximately 140 men have dropped out of school to enter the armed forces.

Enrollment of residence students by classes includes 927 freshmen, 661 sophomores, 486 juniors, 429 seniors, and 274 graduate students.

DINING HALLS OF the highest number of students registered with a total of 1,414. The College of Vocational and Professions is next with 603 students, followed by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences with 447.

A BREAK-DOWN of part-time students reveals that 1,349 are taking courses through the division of extension and adult education, and 56 are enrolled at the Belleville residence center.

A total of 1,406 are registered for non-credit courses, and 144 are enrolled in courses offered by the School of Business Administration.

Part-time students usually take only one course and are considered "elective" enrollment. Full-time students are allowed for part-time enrollment for 1,405, by four, the result is 78 part-time students. This makes the total enrollment for Southern equal to 2,128 full-time students.

Chicago Staff To Head Special Child Guidance Clinic at Southern

The clinic staff includes Dr. Harold L. Balter and Dorothy Danisky, psychiatrists, and Miss Marion Spassier and Miss Dorothy Lauter, psychologists.

These special clinics are held once during each of the four school terms, and clinical cases are being taken from all departments throughout the entire year, with the exception of the month of December.

CASES STUDIED include a large range of types of difficulty, including personality problems, particularly in the field of reading emotional emotional disorders, attitudes, personality involvement, truancy, sexual difficulties, delinquency, the dream, and many other problems of both normal and exceptional children, both in and out of the classroom and at home.

Children who are brought into the January clinic have already

Cheer Up, Girls

Despite Drop, Men Still Outnumber Women, 2 to 1

Despite the loss of men to military service, the number of men enrolled at SIU for this term is still equal to about the number of women students.

Salaries and wages totaling $204,402.27 were paid Southern employees for last month's services, SIU administrative assistant, Dr. Charles D. Tenney reported today.

Of the total $155,921.49, 452 is paid to employees of whom 280 were full-time and 172 were either part-time or temporary, and $48,480.78 was paid to 210 non-academic employees.

Academic employees include members of the faculty and administrative staff; non-academic staff include the maintenance staff, secretarial employees and others on non-teaching services.

The payroll included employees at the university's campus as well as those employees who staff SIU Clinics, which are located in 30 communities throughout the state.

The payroll is expected to report to the .ticket office. of the state government in 1949. The list of colleges using the manual was supplied by the publisher, Thomas Y. Crowell Company.

Our Opinions... Catch Up with the World

Since Benjamin Franklin wrote a series of articles called "Poor Richard's Almanac" back in 1732, the proverb, "Haste Makes Waste" has been biting around the continent. Consequently, we have come to use the phrase as a crutch for our laziness. Say, "hurry up" to practically anyone today, and his answer will—probably be, "haste makes waste." Though the saying is over 228 years old, quite a few Americans still live by it.

FACES, HASTE does make waste, but only when we daily round, until we have only 10 minutes to go 20 miles, then drive at break-neck speed to get there. Haste makes waste when we try to beat trains to crossings, or when we don't take time to stop for school crossings.

But in our daily lives, it certainly will not hurt to quicken the pace a little. That is not to say that we should rush around as if the world were on fire, but we should move as though we had someplace to go. We could stop going into any job that we have to perform with a slovenly slip-shod attitude. By looking alive, and greeting people cheerfully, the day seems to take on a new spark of life.

This IS AN atomic age, an era of jet planes and super-scouts. Consequently we have come to use the phrase as a crutch for our laziness. Say, "hurry up..." to practically anyone today, and his answer will—probably be, "haste makes waste." Though the saying is over 228 years old, quite a few Americans still live by it.

Super Student—Hal

Administrators at Marquette university at Milwaukee, Wis., recently thought they had a super human student enrolled.

The modern superman—James O'Brien by name—was enrolled in more than 35 classes. played halfback on the varsity football squad, and held two full-time jobs.

Since university officials found out that James actually was seven persons instead of one.

Even if James were only one person, he could, hardly be compared to Southern's Dr. Staff who now is teaching numerous courses in several different fields.

Have you sent in a suggested name for Southern's gym. Why don't you do it today?

Do you doubt that if your professor would actually read all your term paper. Why doesn't he pick a trick of a student at another Midwestern school. This student inserted a paragraph stating that he didn't believe teachers read what students write and he asked the professor to underline the paragraph if he read it.

The paper was returned—unmarked.

Reader Comments of Editorials on Negroes

Dear Editor:

Recently in your columns you have been emphasizing the status of the Negro student. I am afraid that you have not fully understood the Negro problem. I fail to see what you are trying to prove. It seems to me that you are trying to set up a Negro. If there is no trouble. I admit that there is racial prejudice in the United States. However, in Southern I have found very little.

The Negroes on this campus are allowed the same educational opportunities that the white students have. They may participate in athletics; they may attend the same classes as the white students.

In recent articles you stated that the IBM card pertaining to race should be eliminated because it is aimed at discrimination of the Negroes. Come now, Mr. Hollada let us examine the question. We have three major races: the Mongoloid, the Negroid, and the Caucasian.

The words of these students belong to one of these races and it is as much a part of his makeup as the sex to which he belongs. In short, all university facilities are at their convenience. It is also a known fact that no fraternity on this campus, has a policy of excluding someone else on the basis of race, sex, or color of his hair...

In conclusion, I would like to say that this is my fifth year on Southern's campus and I have had the opportunity to see any Negro here walk around looking dejected and claiming that he was denied an opportunity because of his color.

The Negroes seem to be happy here at Southern, so why not let them continue. So many people like you that hurt the Negro cause rather than aid it. In other words, you smell faintly of the rouser. such as the Abolitionists and you do not think that this is my fifth year on Southern.

Sincerely yours.

George Criminger

Special Instructor—Will Teach Charleston

Special instructors will be on hand at the Student Center Friday afternoon, February 17. You, the students of Southern will have the opportunity to meet and talk with the instructors from the Charleston will come up to Southern for an evening's entertainment.

The instructors will aid in the entertainment, and some of them have already danced the Charleston.

Others who know how to do the Charleston may also take part. Charleston records which are being provided especially for the dance.

The Charleston is the dance in order to provide some all-school entertainment for the week end.

THE EDITOR REPLIES

Dear Mr. Criminger:

I agree with you that there is little to be gained by this plan. Furthermore, if you will examine all editorial comments I have made on the race question, you will find that my ideas have been aimed directly at Southern: 1. That Arkansas State Southern's athletic committee announced that Southern would not schedule opposition teams having a ban against Negro players.

The suggestion that the race question are harmful to registration forms was a direct recommendation of a special state group concerned with the registration of Southern Negroes. And if the officers here said that Negro football players you will be asked to sign a consent form.

I feel that both editorials were aimed at Southern's athletic committee on Arkansas state, Southern's athletic committee announced that Southern would not schedule opposition teams having a ban against Negro players.

The suggestion that the race question are harmful to registration forms was a direct recommendation of a special state group concerned with the registration of Southern Negroes. And if the officers here said that Negro football players you will be asked to sign a consent form.

Sincerely,

Bill Hollada, editor

Obelisk Sets March 1 As Picture Deadline

The staff is working toward a March 1 deadline for all copy and pictures. So far all pictures of independent organizations and fraternities and sororities have been returned with proofs.

Class panels and all sports proofs except basketball have been returned from the engravers and accepted.

Miffin says the tentative publication date is May 1.
Souther Applins For Naval ROTC Unit

Contrary to rumors going around the campus the Navy has not announced that an ROTC unit will come here in the near future, Dr. Charles Tenney, administrative assistant to the president, said today.

"Tenney said Southern has applied for a naval ROTC unit to be sent here if the ROTC program is begun again.

During World War II, Southern had an aviation cadet candidate school.

More Extension Credit Granted Toward Graduation

As a result of a recent action of the university curriculum committee, students may now apply more extension credit toward graduation than was the case in the past, according to Raymond H. Dey, director of the division of extension and adult education.

Realizing the need for this increase by many Southern Illinois residents, the committee increased the amount of credit permitted from one fourth of the total amount required for graduation to one-third of the amount needed.

EXTENSION COURSES offered for credit in Southern Illinois communities by Southern Illinois University have doubled in number in the last two years, according to Dey.

The total number of classes to be offered during the second semester beginning the week of Jan. 21, is 46. The increased number of classes has resulted from an increase in the demand for extension courses and an attempt on the part of the university to reduce the enrollment for individual classes.

"An average class in 1948-49 had an enrollment of 49 students which is much too large for effective teaching," Dey pointed out. The average class enrollment at the present time, he added, is 37.

Total extension enrollment for credit courses during the first semester was 1,116. That figure for the second semester just ending has increased to a total of 1,486. The increase has been significant in both undergraduate and graduate classes.

ALL OF THE extension courses offer four hours of university credit and meet weekly for a period of 16 weeks. Credit received in the courses may be applied to most graduation requirements or towards a master's degree. All of the courses are taught by regular members of the SIU faculty.

Communities in which one or more extension classes will be offered during the second semester include: Alto, Anna, Ava, Belleville, Benton, Cairo, Carlin Centralia, Chester, Eldorado, Edwardsylvania, Elizabeth, Golconda, Goshen, Fairfild, and Harrisburg.

Clark Still Not Fully Recovered From New Years

By Roy L. Clark

I've resolved again as I did last year To give up cigarettes, poker and beer; And again it will be a race to see Which breaks first, the resolution or me. YES, I KNOW it is a little late for New Years resolutions. It's also a little late to join the Air Corps to keep from getting drafted into the army, but fellowes are still doing it. Though late and broken, here is what I had planned when 1951 came in.

To the editor:

I'll meet all deadlines, and I won't curse the redlines
That you draw through parts of my copy,
I'll write to amuse you, and never confuse you
With dictio and choppy.

I'll never say things like D-N, and H-I.,
I'll be an angel just for your sake
That's my resolution, but you know d-n well
It's the first one I'm going to break.

To my long-suffering instructors
I promise to be a model student,

Barbour, Harris Write About Area Folklore

By Phyllis Alversen

Two of Southern's English professors are collecting diverse bits of folklore from Southern Illinois. Miss Frances Barbour, associate professor of English, has been collecting proverbs and folk sayings. To date, she has collected over 2,000, only a few of which can be proven to be of a local origin.

Miss Barbour began to collect folk sayings five years ago for the American Dialectic Society. Most of her information comes from students at Southern, from high school students, and from downstate editors who publish homespun proverbs contributed by their readers.

Some of the proverbs which are definitely of a local origin are:

"As pretty as a Coblenn peach," - A case in point.

One of Miss Barbour's own favorites is the saying, "As interesting as a day in Makanda." Makanda is a small town where nothing happens year-round except the annual Easter sunrise service on Easter Sunday.

"Miss Barbour was impressed by the homespun wisdom of people who live near the soil." She quotes some of the more thoughtful expressions as examples. "He that cuts his own firewood, warms him twice," and "Don't measure my corn by your half bushel," are some of these.

Although Miss Barbour has been working on her study for some time, she still carries a notebook to jot down expressions she hears.

Many Southern Illinois localities often have two names, or an odd explanation for the reason they are so named. Dr. J. W. Harris, another associate professor of English has been collecting these odd bits.

Dr. Harris collects bits of folklore as a hobby. He has had articles published in "American Folklore." And "American Speech." A native of southern Illinois, Dr. Harris heard many of these stories in his childhood and has collected many more from students and from people everywhere in the area.

One of his stories has to do with how Makanda came to be.

The proprietor of a local store had two sons, Bill and Andy. Bill was home and when asked by his father to do a piece of work, would say, "Aw, make Andy." This saying became a local saying and finally developed in the name place.

Dr. Harris gives more credit to the version that the town was originally named Markanda, for two daughters, Mary and Veranda, of an early settler. The 'r' was sloughed through the years.

Grand Tower takes its name from the Tower Rock just across the Mississippi River from the town. According to popular legend, this tower is a petrified haystack that a local farmer rescued from a flood and anchored to the shore.

Coal mining has left its mark upon place names in the locality. Harris added, the custom of calling a mining settlement a 'patch,' has led to such names as Was- tenazachat and Tan Patch. Tower takes its name from the Harrisburg Colliery company which once operated a mine there.

Many Violate Parking Rules

Violation of the parking rules of the University may soon become the rule rather than the exception.

Recently, in one day, 31 tickets for illegal parking were given out. Four of these were in the Anthony Hall parking lot, 13 in the Barracks lot, and 14 in the two lots at Grand and Illinois.

Of these 16 were for first offenses. Some of these first offenders were undoubtedly visitors to the campus and as such, will disregard the summons as instructed on the ticket. Eleven offenders were second offenders, and so are candidates for letters from the Dean of Men.

Besides these first and second offenders there are two third offenses, one fourth offense, and one sixth offense. These last will have the record of their parking, and the names of all of these are: Fred Westmoreland, Burt Lord, Thomas E. Baum, and Robert T. Gill.

IMMUNALUS

Here's how things are shaping up in intramural basketball play: The Bruisers, Broadjumpers, and the Bulldozer are each holding top positions in the Indiana league. In the Navy league the TKE Cherry and the Campus Kd have each won two games each and both of these quintets stand a good chance to participate in the playoffs. The Navy league is playing of course as are the teams in the league are held by the Kappa Alpha Phi and the Fighting Fleet.

The Manor House looks like the top team in the Illinois league. The Sabers and Normandy have unblemished records. One team, Southern Aces, has dropped out of league play.

In the newly organized league the Maroon Manor quintet and the Northern team are both seeking to be the best quintet in the American league. The Oilers and the Nile Bulldogs are unbeaten in one contest.

The Gillespie Miners look like the top quintet in the Central Illinois league. The Goofy Gophers and the Alpha Phi Alpha are also undefeated.

Southern Aluminum has not compiled as yet. Supervisory of intramurals, John Connor, is the team to coast. In the shoes that would knock the door.

COULD BE COMFORTABLE

We don't know what the exact reactions were to Southern's two basketball victories last week, but as far as we're concerned, the boys played commendable ball. All they did was beat two teams who were undefeated in league play, two teams by whom they were to be soundly trounced. They may have made their mistakes along with the opponents, but when the final whistle sounded, Southern was the winner on both occasions.

If the boys don't let up now, they'll be "the" team in the IAC. Western and Eastern have to battle it out now, and each team is sure to bag the other, or in other words they should split. In this event, Southern would be, in a comfortable position. We've only lost two ball games ourselves, and surely shouldn't lose any this weekend. Thus, we can go into the round of play with five wins and two losses.

But knowing Lynne Hadler as we do, we imagine he's playing these IAC games one by one. No team in this league is a gofer. We were beaten by Central Michigan, and they're in the conference. We dropped the other to Southern, and they're sure to defeat us this time. But all three teams are in good fashion. These boys have to keep improving if Southern is to keep up the winning ways.

Another basketball player, Ernie Bozarth by name, is the man we've been watching closely this season. Ernie is one of the hardest-playing cagers in the conference, and this guy has got drive he isn't even used yet. Against Western, his 15 points out of 18 for Southern were among the last two minutes, and the points that in event won the game. If this guy has a good night, Southern is 46% better.

He has on and off nights. His last two games have been on most of the time. It is fine to maintain a consistent effort, and the kind of play which made him a star in his sophomore season here, the Korner isn't too worried about our future performances. Bozarth has a pretty good pair of shoulders, and he can carry a lot of weight on them.

MAT BOUT CANCELED

The wrestling meet against Eastern, scheduled for Friday, Jan. 19, has been canceled due to Eastern's dropping wrestling from their list of varsity sports. This move on the part of Eastern was necessitated because of the lack of funds with which to purchase equipment. Southern's next collegiate competition will be with Arkansas State Saturday.
