The SIU Speech and Debating Society was second meeting of the new year for the SIU Speech and Debating Society. The main topic of the meeting was "The Use of Teach Books as a Relevance in Speech." The meeting was held in the Speech and Debating Society's meeting room in the Carbondale High School auditorium.

A statement made by the SIU Speech and Debating Society president, Mr. John J. Ryan, was that the use of teach books as a method of teaching in speech would be a valuable tool in the education of future speech teachers.

Some possible solutions discussed were the need for more research on the effects of teaching methods on student achievement, and the need for more teaching methods that are based on evidence rather than tradition.

The SIU Speech and Debating Society is a student organization that focuses on the study and practice of the art of speech and debate. The society is open to all students, regardless of major, and meets weekly to practice public speaking and debate.

Eligibility Changes Explained

The eligibility changes for the University's varsity sports teams are designed to ensure fairness and competitiveness. The new rules are aimed at reducing the number of players who are able to participate in the sport, thereby increasing the quality of competition.

These changes are a response to concerns raised by coaches and athletes, as well as by the NCAA. The NCAA has been making efforts to reduce the number of players on college sports teams in order to create a more level playing field.
