50 faculty members face cut in salaries

By Jeff Joventi
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

At least 50 faculty members stand to lose from one to three months' salary per year as a result of being switched from 12-month appointments to academic year salary basis. The salary cuts are expected to total $100,000.

Leasure added. The faculty members are not assured of teaching positions in the fall semester of 1973-1974. Faculty paid on a fiscal year basis are entitled to summer sessions. The change to academic year salaries involves a cutback in guaranteed pay for faculty from 12 months to nine months. Faculty paid on a fiscal year basis are paid from July to the next July. Leasure explained.

Academic year salaries cover nine months, from the start of fall semester to the end of spring semester, Leasure said. Academic year salaries are not assured of teaching positions in the summer, Leasure continued.

According to Leasure, those receiving summer teaching appointments will only be paid for the nine months they work. Leasure said salaries of faculty recently switched to academic year basis will be reduced and the cutback will not be entirely cut, Leasure added.

Assignment to teaching positions for summer sessions depends on the budget for the particular summer.

Plaintiffs found for suit against SIU

By Diane Micilakho

The Carbondale Federation of University Teachers (CFUT) has recruited two terminated faculty members as plaintiffs in its suit against SIU's planned federal suit against SIU.

Harry H. Nickle, associate professor of political science, Dean Tarter, instructor, School of Technical Careers, will represent terminated faculty in the class action suit, Herbert Donow, CFUT president, said Wednesday.

Nickle is a tenured member of the faculty and Tarter held a term appointment. They both lost, their jobs in the December term appointment. The court alleged "financial exigency." Both are in the same catchment area.

Donow said a plaintiff holding a continuing appointment could not be located in the CFUT's membership.

Gus Feldman, CFUT attorney, will mail the suit and a temporary injunction plea to U.S. District Court in East St. Louis Thursday, Donow said.

"The suit should be filed Friday or Monday," he added.

The CFUT's suit claims that terminated faculty have been denied substantive due process and adverse action under the law, in violation of the 14th Amendment.

The federal court will be asked to enjoin SIU from firing the faculty before the CFUT's complaint is heard.

Although the CFUT's suit will be filed as a class action, Donow explained, it will later be amended to name only a "fairly small, if not insignificant, number of plaintiffs.

The class action includes terminated faculty who haven't accepted settlements from the university," he said.

All terminated faculty will receive counsel faculty, too. Gus says he still has to buy groceries for 12 months.

The court also has an order of the state board of education to terminate the university's circuit court suit to establish financial exigency as a valid basis for the terminations. "If the AAUP wants to join us in this, they're welcome to," Donow said.

The CFUT will have "no problems" in financing the federal action against SIU, Donow said. The General Counsel of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) has offered to act as co-counsel with Feldman, he said. The AFT also has committed itself to providing financial support.

Gus says he still has to buy groceries for 12 months.

Recreation complex bids go over projected mark

It's back to the drawing board—again—for the planned East Campus Recreational Complex.

Tuesday's second round of bidding for the proposed facility yielded bids totaling about $8.3 million. The budgeted ceiling for the project is $6.9 million.

The first round of bidding, held in June 1973, yielded low bids totaling $9.8 million.

In September, the Board of Trustees authorized an expenditure of more than $65,000 for modification of the original design by the project's architects, Ralph Rapson and Associates of Chicago.

Rino Bianchi, director of construction and facilities planning, said Wednesday, he has asked Rapson and Associates to "examine the possibility" of further design modifications.

"There might be another fee from Rapson," Bianchi said. "There might be another fee from Rapson, too." Bianchi also has committed itself to a policy of building more and three semi-detached satellite structures which could be added as funding permits. Now, Bianchi said, Rapson has been asked to determine if the pre-cast concrete may be substituted for steel in the buildings' skins.

Bianchi said the recreation project is "in danger." "We just can't keep up with this insane escalation. These are perilous times in the construction business.

In the past, the Rapson design included a facility's concrete may be substituted for steel in the building's skins.

Bianchi said the recreation project is "in danger." "We just can't keep up with this insane escalation. These are perilous times in the construction business.

T. Richard Mager, vice president for development and services, said he will report to the Board of Trustees June 13.

"I'll tell them I want to mount a concerted effort to save the recreation building," Mager said.

Besides substituting pre-cast concrete for steel, Mager said, it may be possible to cut construction costs by substituting self-contained heating and cooling systems for systems extended to the complex underground from East Campus.

Mager said he assumes Bianchi has opened discussions with Rapson about possible design modification, but that no fee will be incurred unless new drawings are required. "It doesn't cost anything to have them look at the plans," Mager said.

Bianchi said there is no way to obtain more money for recreation complex construction unless the students want to give it. The facility's funding is drawn from the Student Welfare and Recreation Fund which is assessed with student fees.
Sears to open outlet at new shopping mall

By Dave Ambrose

Sears, Roebuck Co. will open an outlet at the Carbondale Mall Shopping Center east of Carbondale when the merchant does the complex opens this fall.

David Hocker and Alan Squitieri, partners in the Hocker-Squitieri Co., which is developing the Mall, announced at a meeting of city officials, businessmen, Chamber of Commerce and media representatives Wednesday that the Sears lease had been finalized.

Sears will occupy space originally built for Brittle's Department Store. Brittle's burned down last February, leaving a 8,000 square foot building about a year and a half ago, according to developer David Hocker.

After Brit's failure to accept the building, Hocker and Squitieri Co. moved ahead to negotiations with Sears. Leiland E. Stalker, general manager of Sears' St. Louis Retail Group, said negotiations for the lease had moved along very quickly and he was delighted. The fact that the building was already built enabled us to move a lot faster," the developer said.

Stalker said Sears will employ 300 to 350 people in the new outlet. Most of these, he said, with the exception of store executives, will be locally hired personnel.

Now that Sears, Roebuck has been secured for the mall, the opening will be speeded.

Originally, the grand opening had been set for this spring but was delayed by the developer's inability to secure a segment of anchor stores for it and the other anchor store for the complex.

The center will have three levels and coverers 340,000 square feet, excluding an additional 10 to 12,000 square feet which will be used for the Sears outlet.

Of the space, exclusive of Sears and Penney, which has been leased to shops and boutiques. Hocker said the mall will have about 20 to 25 shops before opening.

"I don't expect any problems leasing them," he said.

"This is going to be a tremendous store," said Stalker.

"The introduction of a leading retail chain is going to mean more people coming to the area to shop."

Hocker said the mall will become "Main Street, Southern Illinois," with three major retail giants of the country—Penneys, Sears and K-Mart, which will be located on the other side of Route 13 from the mall.

The three stores will represent a half-million square feet of retail space.

"There are very few communities of 20,000 that will support that amount of business," Hocker said. "We think of this as a Southern Illinois Shopping Center" that will attract a trade area of more than 200,000 people.

Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice-President Marvin VanMeer said the mall opening will be a "shot in the arm for Carbondale."

"The name of the game is getting shoppers to the area," he said. "It's a little early to be putting the kiss of death to downtown Carbondale. We're talking to a number of downtown merchants who are very enthusiastic about all this."

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Despite predictions that it won't be enough, a bill to provide $1,491 billion for public aid during the next fiscal year passed the Senate Wednesday.

The appropriation, slightly larger than the amount recommended for the Department of Public Aid by Gov. Daniel Walker, cleared the Senate on a 44-6 roll call and was sent to the House.

"This budget is not sufficient to carry us through fiscal 1973," said Sen. Don A. Moore, R-Middletown, chairman of the legislative advisory committee on public aid.

Moore said he expected to be back next spring asking the legislature for a $100 million deficiency appropriation if the House does the House without an increase.

A deficiency appropriation of $67 million for the current fiscal year already has been signed into law by the governor.

Moore had attempted to add some $80 million to the bill earlier but was defeated in his efforts by senators from both sides of the aisle.

"I think it's just politics to stand up and say that this is not enough," said Sen. John L. Knaepl, D-Petersburg.

The bill provides $20 million for aid to aged, blind and disabled; $287 million for aid to families with dependent children; $592 million for medical assistance; and $3.5 million for research.

Meanwhile, the House rejected a proposal that would have raised the gas taxes levied by the board of the Regional Transportation Authority for the metropolitan Chicago area. The vote on the proposal was 53-60.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill to double the salaries of the state to families of policemen and firemen, including volunteer firemen, who are killed in the line of duty.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Thomas F. Storer, D-Hickory Hill, passed unanimously and raises from $1,000 to $2,000 the amount paid. The measure scheduled to that the pay would be paid retroactive to Jan. 1, 1972.

Two House bills, minor appropriations legislation, cleared the Senate Wednesday and became the first House bills to pass the Senate this session.

Also passed by the Senate and sent to the House was a bill which its sponsor said would assure that local school districts will receive state aid at regular intervals to facilitate their budget planning.

Faculty salaries may be cut

"Every time they reduce four faculty to nine-month salaries," Leasure said, "they save one faculty member from having to be cut."

The deans can recommend faculty be paid for at least 30 hours of full-time teaching if they teach less than 12 hours a week.

"In the past we've allowed faculty some leeway for research and other projects," Leasure said, "but the deans expected faculty to teach 12 hours for full-time pay," he added.

Burton, a state assemblyman, defeated seven other candidates in the 6th Congressional District.

In other highlights of Tuesday's balloting:

—Congressman Paul N. McCloskey, the maverick California Republican, narrowly won renomination over conservative GOP challenger Gordon Knapke, 53-60.

—South Dakota Republicans chose a former Vietnam prisoner of war, Leo Thurlow, to face Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee. McGovern is seeking a third term.

—Civil rights pioneer James H. Meredith lost a field of five candidates in a Democratic primary election in Mississippi and goes into a June 25 runoff with two black nominees for the state Senate.

Public's milk deal cost may be $300 million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The milk fund story before the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday involves a promise of millions in political donations and a guided decision estimated by Senate investigators to have cost the public $300 million or more.

Many of the facts reviewed by the impeachment probe have been known through public records and official documents.

The committee's investigation focuses mainly on the events of a few days in late March. The Senate panel, which had announced there would be no increase in the federally supported price of milk for the coming year, dairy-farmer cooperatives launched a high-powered lobbying campaign in the Senate where many congressmen sponsored bills that would have forced the administration to grant a price increase.

The Senate's investigation focuses on the events of March 25, the morning of March 26, and the following few days.

The fifth defendant in the suit is the AMPI, a trade association whose membership consists of major dairy cooperatives serving the Chicago market.

Scott said his office is also investigating whether damages may be sought for citizens who bought milk at artificially inflated prices.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the House Judiciary Committee members listened Wednesday to tape recordings of White House conversations on the day after the suit was served, evidence of an increase in milk price supports.

The impeachment panel is considering whether the presidential directive was used to campaign contributions promised by dairy cooperatives.

The committee had tapes of three conversations that were released to the public March 21, 1971: a telephone discussion with Treasury Secretary W. David Scott, a White House briefing, and a meeting with dairy cooperative representatives and a staff discussion of the price support question.

One day, some day

To the Daily Egyptian:

In reference to Jim Starines’ May 29 editorial in which he strongly recommends that state and federal legislators get on the ball and do the right thing—legislate and utilize the death penalty—allow me to respond.

Sure, why not? After all, who would society be killing? Even a casual glance at the several studies done on the use of the death penalty in this country reveals that about 75 per cent of those bumbling fools or gassed are just dirty white trash, niggers, spics, etc. You know, all those historically powerless types that don’t count anyway.

And we all know, don’t we, that such people, with rare exceptions of course, do not contribute to societal peace in a wholly negative manner. That is, they just spend their lives killing, robbing, raping, living in poverty, war, crime, etc., etc., etc.

Don’t be really comfortable in your ignorance, Starines. One day, some day, all those niggers, white trash, spics and others around you who have been abused, misused, exploited, robbed, raped, murdered, etc., are going to turn on you and your ilk like rabid dogs to get your foot off their necks. You and yours, and the political-economic system that is you. Use the death penalty, poverty, racism, war, crime, etc., etc., etc.

Your system and its agencies and tools of social control will not carry the battle for you and yours much longer. I know, though, that, until the long overdue critically needed revolution—of a social-as nature—happens in this fantasy land which claims “liberty and justice for all,” you Nixon, Ford, Kennedy, Wallace, Hags, DuPonts, Moores, Geneens, and you, Starines, will continue to be and do as you please, excluding using the death penalty if that suits your wants and needs.

Every bit as much as you, I deplore the rapes, robberies and murders which are definitely increasing. I think I know why these things are happening. You and yours don’t want to face the fact why; you probably think you can sweep us under the rug and continue on as you always have.

Your system presently holds the power, but the SLA is a welcome reflection of the volcanic forces now at work: the country and its use will not be able to stop or escape the heat of the explosion.

One day, some day...

Consult the supervisor

To the Daily Egyptian:

This is a reply to Marquita Grady in regard to her letter printed in the May 28 DE. My reply is in regard to Item 1 of her letter and to the point of her letters and to the point of the Daily Egyptian letter, which was not in keeping with the point of her letter.

I was not present at the so-called injustice done to the blacks in the canoe on Campus Lake but as a lifeguard supervisor I’d say you have a lot of nerve to imply that the SLU lifeguards are a bunch of bigots when it comes to guarding their jobs and protecting the safety of all individuals using the Campus Lake facilities. To come to this conclusion you use one instance that is not even supposed to be happening and it is not true that the SLU lifeguards down and portray them as hungry-eyed, trigger-happy, callous, cold-hearted, disregard every rule, etc., etc., etc. that’s your claim and you, Starines, will continue to be and do as you always have.

I personally have pulled more blacks out of unfavorable situations than whites so the next time you want to cry at the privilege you have you’ll better not include, as far as I’m concerned, a drowning body has no color, just a need. Lifeguards are trained professionals and expect to be treated as such and not run down by someone with a personal agenda. If you in the future have a complaint about one of our guards I would appreciate it if you would present it to that lifeguard’s supervisor immediately after the fact so validity of the complaint can be determined; if validity exists appropriate action will be taken. I believe this approach would be far more constructive than “grandstanding” in the Daily Egyptian.

Let women decide

Women have a right to determine what happens to their bodies and they will. Whether abortions should be performed should not be weighed as a moral issue. The abortion question itself may be a moral issue, but its legalization is not. Abortion should be an avenue open to all women on a national scale.

Before the supreme court handed down its historical ruling making abortion legal across the nation, women were being forced to funnel from 50 states into four states where abortion was legal. The crowded conditions, high prices and excess transportation were unfair. Congress and the court should keep this in mind and make themselves leery of anti-abortion forces seeking to spark a reversal of the Supreme Court ruling. The enlightened decision of the court should stand.

If anti-abortion forces are able to spark a federal law or court ruling making abortion illegal, women once again would be forced into backstreet operations endangering their health, life and emotional stability needlessly. Under good conditions an abortion is a safe, simple, minor procedure women can recover from in a day. But abortions performed out of sanitary, equipped surroundings or by amateurs have proven to be dangerous or even fatal. Women never again should be subjected to such senseless abuse, neglect and inhumane conditions.

Anti-abortion groups should have every freedom to expose their views—use any tactic they can muster to influence the sentiments of those in opposition. They can argue the virtues and preference of contraceptive which often have failed. They can advocate the merit of adoption. They can argue from a religious stance. They can cry, threaten, warn, harry. But that should be the limit. They should have no influence on the law. When a woman decides to have an abortion, it should be denied. She should receive the best medical services possible.

Illinois farmers may receive $800,000 from lost bonds

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A search through forgotten records and papers has turned up a dusty box containing some $800,000 in bonds which may prove to be an unexpected windfall for some Illinois farmers.

The box contained grain elevator bonds required by state law to protect farmers in case the elevators go broke.

The bonds were found by Illinois State Police Department officials at one of their offices on the state fairgrounds. A spokesman said Wednesday that reimbursement of some of the money to farmers will begin next week.

In an interview Tuesday night, Director of Administration Robert "Pud" Williams said the box of bonds was found nearly six months ago.

"We debated for a long time about whether to make any sort of an announcement, but we weren't sure how many of them we could redeem," he said.

Department officials said the bonds were posted for eight elevators which failed between 1956 and 1970. Two of the elevators were located in Winchester, with others in San Jose, Lake City, Annawan, Gunda and Harvard.

Les Pulfer, a department claims specialist, said the search for the bonds began after questions were raised by a legislative committee.

They told us about elevator failures and wondered why there hadn't been any bond money," he said.

"Considering the large amount of bond money found," Pulfer said, "It's a wonder farmers weren't ringing our phones off the hook."

He said some complaints from farmers who suffered losses were received by the department and filed away.

"Grain elevator regulation has been incredibly lax in the past, and I don't just mean the past administration," Williams said.

He said the department has collected $56,000 so far on some of the newer bonds.

MURPHYSBORO (AP)—Jackson County authorities think the body of a young woman retrieved Monday from the Mississippi River may be that of a St. Louis woman who apparently drowned.

However, identification was hampered by the length of time the corpse had been in the water. A deputy said authorities were not sure of race. She was described as about 30, 125 pounds and 5-feet-4.

Randolph County authorities spotted the body Tuesday night in the river but lost sight of it. Wednesday morning a large worker spotted it and a private boat owner recovered it.

A spokesman said it was brought ashore at Gara City, about 10 miles south of Murphysboro.

Master's thesis on solar heat 'hot' on library loan docket

An SIU graduate student's master's thesis on solar energy heating has been the "hottest" item on the 1974 inter-library loan docket at the University's Morris Library, according to Harold J. Rath, special services librarian.

Written by design major John Noreika of Topeka, Tenn., the thesis is entitled "A Design Approach for Application of a Solar Energy Heating System to a Goodness Dorm.

"Requests for this title have been sent to us from coast to coast by individuals and university libraries," Rath said. "We've even had requests from foreign universities."

January, 1974, was the library's busiest month on record for the inter-library loan requests (2,263) until May, 1975, according to Rath said. During the fiscal year ending last June 30, incoming requests totaled 3,441, of which the Library was able to fill 10,911.

Bengalee students to attend SIU

An agreement signed with the Bangla Academy in Dacca, Bangladesh, makes SIU the only educational institution in the world which has been successful in establishing a cultural exchange program with any Bangladeshi educational or cultural institution.

This was announced by Basil Hedrick, dean of international education who negotiated the agreement last November under suspicion of the U.S. Department of State. Hedrick said the Patrice Lumumba University in Moscow also had tried for an exchange in a similar pact with Bangla Academy, the national academy for Bangladesh.

Grounds for this agreement were established by Arthur L. Caeser, higher education associate professor and former head of International Student Services, Hedrick said. Caeser was on a Fulbright lecture tour in India in the spring of 1973, Hedrick said, and while there visited Dacca and made the initial contact with authorities.

After Caeser’s visit to Bangladesh, Maszhar Islam, director-general of the Bangla Academy, came to SIU for a short visit to review programs.

On Nov. 23, 1972, the SIU-Bangla Academy agreement was signed. Funds for the exchange program between the two institutions are being provided by the State Department, according to Hedrick.

Beginning this summer the first Bangla student will come to SIU to major in U.S. history. The agreement provided only for graduate-level exchanges, and all graduate-level candidates for study at SIU are to be nominated by the Bangla Academy, with their specific disciplines selected by the Academy.

Work session planned for zoning map review

The Carbondale City Council will hold a work session at 7 p.m. Thursday in the City Hall courtroom to review the proposed zoning map.

The proposed map shows zones throughout the city that will be established by the proposed zoning ordinance. A copy of the map can be inspected at the planning department office in City Hall.

The work session was recommended by the planning department so the council could prepare for the public hearing on the map scheduled for June 28.

At the special meeting, council members will be able to direct questions or problems at the planning department. Council members will also discuss at the special meeting the legality of the allocation of about $228,000 to four non-profit organizations in the area.

The council made the allocation at its Monday night meeting. The allocations must be approved by the Internal Revenue Service.

The money is coming from the refinancing of the city’s $8 million of water and sewer bonds.

The four groups which were given the money are: Green Earth, Inc., $11,000; the SIU Foundation, $25,000; the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts, $15,000; and the YMCA, $75,000.

Prize-winning film scheduled for Davis Auditorium shows

“Five Easy Pieces,” a film which won three major New York Film Critics Awards in 1970, will be shown by the Southern Illinois Film Society at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday in Davis Auditorium.

The awards won by “Five Easy Pieces” were Best Picture, Best Director (Bob Rafelson) and Best Supporting Actress (Karen Black). The film was also nominated for Academy Awards in these categories, as was Jack Nicholson for his lead performance.

The film deals with the inner conflicts of a man who is unable to be satisfied by any one lifestyle. He has spent his life as an oil drill worker who lives with a dour waitress to return home to his family of accomplished musicians. There, he realizes that he has missed his natural abilities, but again runs away to find something different.

“Five Easy Pieces” is a very American film, with a theme of success and failure running throughout. The film also features early performances of Susan Anspach (Blame It On L妃), Sally Struthers (All In The Family) and Helena Kallman (Tina Welch’s opponent in “Kansas City Bomber”). Admission will be 96 cents.

Former crime chief to head city juvenile section

Lt. Wayne Booker of the Carbondale Police Department has been named head of the juvenile section of the Police Community Services Center and the Crime Prevention Bureau.

Booker, former chief of the Crime Prevention Bureau, has moved his office out of the Main Street station to the Police Community Services Center, 212 S. Illinois Ave.

The move was made in an effort to consolidate the services of the juvenile section and the Crime Prevention Bureau, said Capt. Edward Hogan, interim chief of the department.
Smallpox epidemic has killed estimated 30,000 in India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A virulent smallpox epidemic, described as India's worst of the century, has killed an estimated 30,000 persons this year, the World Health Organization said Wednesday.

The dread disease has attacked 110,000 Indians since Jan. 1, 30 percent more than the number of cases in all of last year, the organization reported.

The outbreak has surged from village to village despite an intensive detection and vaccination drive launched last October with the aim of wiping out the scourge by this summer.

Officials at the organization's Southeast Asia headquarters in New Delhi said a standard rule is that the disease leaves a third of its victims dead, with many more grotesquely pockmarked for life.

More than 90 percent of the reported cases — 67 percent of all reported cases in the world this year — occurred in the poverty-wracked villages of Bihar State. Statistics showed.

Health officials just returned from the area reported the child population had been decimated by smallpox. Children with smallpox sores walked the streets of some towns, they added.

The eastern Indian state, the poorest in the nation, has for several years been the most infested area in the world. Its administration is weakened by political turmoil and corruption that the chief minister recently admitted has tainted many officials.

World Health Organization officials are reluctant to comment on reasons behind the epidemic for fear of antagonizing state and central agencies whose cooperation they need to eradicate smallpox.

A doctor recently returned from treating the Bihar cases said the outbreak was the worst known in India since an epidemic around 1890, though disease reporting only recently has offered a relatively complete picture of smallpox incidence.

Murphysboro High plans commencement Friday at 8

Murphysboro High School commencement exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at the football field in Riverside Park. If it rains, graduation will be moved to the high school gym.

Craig Buchman, one of the top ten seniors in the graduating class, was elected to give the commencement address. Other top students to be honored are Wayne Swafford, Everett Blackwell, Teresa Beasley, Tim Akin.

17th Spelling Bee to air on PBS

The finals of the 47th National Spelling Bee will be shown for the first time at 7 p.m. Thursday on PBS and Channel 6.

From a starting point of eight million youngsters in classrooms across the country, the television program covers county finals, regional and the Washington, D.C. finals at the Mayflower Hotel. Jean Shepard, humorist and author, will host the program in a "play-by-play, word-by-word" fashion.

Watergate spurs reform year

By Louise Cook
Associated Press Writer

Worries over Watergate and its implications have turned 1974 into a year of political reform. An Associated Press survey showed reforms have been approved by lawmakers or voters in 21 states this year.

Most of the measures are similar to, but no so far-reaching as the one passed by California voters in a referendum Tuesday. They limit campaign contributions, make candidates account for the money they’ve spent, curb activities by lobbyists and require public officials to disclose their financial holdings.

Common Cause, the self-styled “citizens’ lobby” that spurred the California referendum, has been a leader in the drive for reform in other states. Legislators themselves also expressed concern over public loss of confidence in elected officials and sought to regain the trust of the people.

"Out of the rubble of ‘Watergate’ and the ‘Agnew affair,’ the 1974 legislative rise as a body to support reform in its conflict of interest laws and in its laws relating to the conduct of elections," said Republicans Robert F. Bennett, president of the Kansas Senate and a candidate for his party’s gubernatorial nomination.

The Kansas lawmakers passed two bills: one dealing with the conduct of state officials, the other limiting campaign contributions and requiring spending reports before and after elections.

Other states where reforms have been approved are: Alaska, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Nine other states passed bills in 1973 and two approved some reform legislation prior to last year. Measures are pending in four states and have been defeated or allowed to die in six states. The issue has aroused little or no interest in eight states.

Earlier this week, Common Cause chairman John Gardner told the nation’s governors, meeting in Seattle, that the states had taken the lead in political reform.

Some of the reform measures had been pending for years, but gained little support until the disclosures about campaign spending during the 1972 presidential election.

The new measures will mean more paperwork. "There’s going to be a lot more bureaucracy for campaign organizations which we hope is worth the effort," said Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill who signed into law four election reform bills on May 22.

Democrats choose 10 delegate electors

Jackson County Democrats Tuesday elected 10 delegate electors to represent them at the 24th Congressional District meeting June 18.

Jackson County Democratic Central Committeemen Ray Charey, said 114 county Democrats voted at the meeting which was conducted at the Jackson County Courthouse.

The delegate electors are Charey with 95 votes, Robert B. Harrell, 92 votes; Rosemary Hawks, 92 votes; Virginia O’Dwyer, 91 votes; George Makain, 85 votes; T. E. Jim, 80 votes; Robert Adams, 76 votes; A. V. Nelson, 69 votes and Faith B. Vaught, 75 votes.

The delegate electors will join other district electors at the 24th Congressional District meeting June 18 at the SIU Student Center. In select delegates to attend the Democratic National Conference Dec. 4 through 8 at Kansas City, Mo.

Delegates to the conference will lay down new rules, regulations and a new charter under which the 1976 convention will operate.

The delegate elector system was created at the last national convention at Miami Beach and was designed to give greater public participation in the convention. It has called the system a “frial” which, if it doesn’t work, will be scrapped for the old system of choosing delegates on the primary ballot.

Candidate deadline Monday
Panel preparing ‘ombudslst’

Dean of Students Bruce Swinburne will have a list of the three top candidates for the position of SUOmbudsman by June 14, Arnold Barton, chairman of the U-Senate Ombudsman, said Wednesday.

The U-Senate panel is accepting applications for the full-time position, which “hopefully” will be filled by July 1, Barton said. The deadline for submitting applications to the panel is 5 p.m. today.

Barton explained that his committee will screen the applications before turning its three top choices over to Swinburne.

Applicants for the job of intern ombudsman, which opened in April with the resignation of former Ombudsman Kris Riedrich, will be considered for the permanent position if they conform to the panel of a continued interest in the post, Barton said. An intern ombudsman was never selected because the post’s proper job classification was undetermined, he said.

Since April, two graduate assistants have been operating the Office of the Ombudsman.

Swinburne said Tuesday, “We’ve been slower on this than we wished” because the SU Personnel Office and the State Civil Service Merit Board needed time to decide whether the ombudsman should continue to be a civil service appointee.

The decision was made recently. Swinburne said, to classify the ombudsman as a staff assistant, although the salary will remain in the “same general area” as when the job was listed with Civil Service.

Swinburne said he will consult with Emil Spees, dean of Student Life, in selecting the ombudsman. “We will either select the top one of the U-Senate’s candidates or one of the three, or we will provide the ombudspanel with a written statement as to why not,” he said. “However, I anticipate following the panel’s advice.”

Persons interested in applying for the job of ombudsman, or intern ombudsman applicants who would like to be reconsidered, should call the Office of the Ombudsman, 433-3411, for information, Barton said.

State probing candidates for political office

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State agents are investigating the three top candidates for the politically sensitive post of Illinois auditor general.

Sen. Terrel Clarke, D-Oil City, and Senate Minority Leader Gerald Porter, a Senate Republican, have been cast in a showdown vote by the Bipartisan Commission which was asked to select the auditor general.

In a showdown vote last month on a candidate, the Legislative Audit Commission split between Cronson and Thomas and neither received the required majority. Votes had been cast for Porter on earlier ballots.

After the vote, Clarke charged that political pressure from House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest; Gerald Shea, D-Chicago, an assistant House minority leader; and Senate Minority Leader Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, influenced the vote.

“All are supporting Cronson,” he said.

Graduate Council, Leasure to meet Friday

Keith Leasure, vice president for academic affairs and provost, will discuss the status of the Graduate Deanship Committee during a meeting of the Graduate Council at 8 a.m. Friday in the Student CenterMississippi Room.

Council members discussed the status of the committee with Thomas Mitchell, acting dean of the Graduate School, at the May 10 meeting. Mitchell said he had asked Leasure whether the committee was still functioning and who would define the position of Graduate School Dean.

Leasure said the committee had not been discharged and he would consult Interim SIU President Hiram Leazer about the position of the Dean of the Graduate School and the position of Vice President for Research. Mitchell told the Council.

The main question facing the committee was whether the research vice president should also be dean of the Graduate School, Mitchell said.

The Graduate School announced that Hans Rudnick, English, won a runoff election for a seat on the Graduate Council. Rudnick and S. Daley progress called 'excellent'

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor Richard J. Daley was reported Wednesday making excellent progress in his recovery from an operation to prevent a major stroke.

A spokesman for Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital said the mayor, who underwent surgery Sunday, was recovering so well the hospital will issue only one progress report a day, instead of two.

Daley, who suffered a mild stroke May 4, underwent surgery to remove fatty tissue from a neck artery to allow freer flow of blood to the brain.

Dr. Lee H. Jafre, philosophy, received the same number of votes in the original election.

The council will hear a second report from the ad hoc Committee to study the Report on Guidelines and Functions of the Board of Trustees of SIU, headed by John Booker.

Booker said last week the committee was recommending a system president for SIU and a chancellor for each campus. If approved by the Graduate Council, the report will be sent on to the Board of Trustees. The Board asked for more input from campus groups concerning the System Council plan at its May meeting.

T. Richard Mager, vice president for development and services, will also be present at the meeting to discuss a plan for the performance of minor physical facilities projects by contract,' and proposed amendments to motor vehicle regulations and bicycle regulations. The contracting plan would allow SIU to solicit bids to outside contractors for minor repair, modification and improvement projects. The Office of Facilities Planning estimates that approximately 259 such projects will be performed during fiscal year 1975 and 85 per cent of those projects will cost less than $5,000, according to a report by Mager and Dale Knight, vice-president for Administration and Campus Treasurer.

The proposed amendments to motor vehicle and bicycle regulations include a change in the price of parking decals. The blue decal would cost $30, the red decal $10 and the silver decal $2 under the new plan.

The report also proposes that the registration fee for each bicycle be required only once while an individual remains a student, faculty or staff member at SIU-C.
Marijuana grower arrested; taken to mental institution

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Under Illinois law, police must sign a paper saying you are mentally disturbed and you can be taken to a mental institution against your will for up to seven days before you get a court hearing.

It appears frightening, but Department of Mental Health officials say it's all perfectly legal. That procedure was used Tuesday to take Kenneth Kays, 26, of Fairfield to the Chester Mental Health Center.

Kays, a Vietnam Medal of Honor winner who insisted on growing marijuana despite two arrests, was arrested by sheriff's deputies and taken to the center after his father obtained the necessary papers.

"There is little likelihood that anyone would be railroaded into a mental health institution against his will," said Dr. Patrick Staunton, deputy director of the Mental Health Department.

But Staunton confirmed that Illinois law permits any citizen, regardless of whether he is a relative, to have police take any other citizen to a mental health facility against his will by signing a form stating that he is a danger to himself or to others.

No one is actually admitted to a mental institution until after a sanity hearing in court, Staunton said. Such a hearing is required within seven days of the time someone is brought to the facility, he said. If doctors at the institution determine they are sane, those brought to a center against their will are released immediately.

"Then if someone has signed a petition saying you were mentally disturbed and you're not, you can sue him," said Staunton. "And believe me the courts will support you."

Staunton said few are taken to mental institutions against their will through the citizen petition process. "And very seldom is anyone motivated by a grudge to do that kind of thing," he said.

Some 24,000 persons are admitted to state mental institutions each year, between 80 and 90 percent of them come voluntarily, Staunton said. Most of the rest are sent to institutions by courts and law enforcement officials, he said.

She's 73, but still 'working'

By Charles Chamberlain
Associated Press Writer

PEORIA (AP) — You've never too old to practice the world's oldest profession," says Sarah "Baby Doll" Cowan.

Police arrested her again Tuesday on a prostitution charge. She is 73.

Miss Cowan was picked up, police said, after an undercover vice squad officer claimed she invited him to her house to "have some fun."

"I've been selling my services since I had a broken love affair when I was 15," Miss Cowan said in a telephone interview from the Peoria County Jail. "I've paid enough fines to own a third of this damn county."

I'll get out again, and, maybe, I'll be back in again. But $150 a month Social Security just don't put enough bread on my table."

Miss Cowan said her going scale is $10 and up.

"Those are inflation prices," she added. "When I first came to Peoria in 1932 it was known as dollar town."

In my time, I've pleased thousands of men. Some have asked me to marry them. Those that did I wouldn't hang on my Christmas tree. I'm too particular, I guess."

Age is no problem, she said, because men always have wanted a woman and always will.

"The only things bothering me are my weight and high blood pressure," she said. "I'm up to 300 pounds from a trim 150 in my heyday. I bought an exercising machine a couple of months ago."

Police say she has been on more diets than a ballpoint pen.
PARK DISTRICT TO OFFER MORE ACTIVITIES IN SUMMER PROGRAM

The Carbondale Park District’s summer program, scheduled to begin the fourth week of June, will offer a variety of new programs as well as activities continued from the spring program.

Program director John Allen has urged anyone interested in any of the programs to register as soon as possible.

The newest park district offering is the summer adventure program. The program, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday from June 20 to July 28, will offer a full day of activities for grade school children.

The program is free but children must be registered in the program, Allen said. Transportation will be provided by the park district.

Among the activities in the program are horseback riding, a magic show, presentations by the Carbondale and SIU police, a pet show by the Humane Shelter, nature studies and various crafts and sports activities.

Other activities in the summer line-up include beginning golf for anyone 12 years of age or older. The course will be taught by P.G.A. professional Jerry Glenn and involve basic skills and terminology.

Advanced Guitar is another new offering and will be taught by Jeanne Pappelis. Basic Photography will also be offered and will include the fundamentals of photography, cameras and their operation and beginning dark room.

Advanced Belly Dance has been added to supplement the Belly and Hula Dancing the district offered spring. Adult and children’s tennis is another addition to the program.

Activities continued from spring include arts and crafts, karate for adults, knot tying and weaving, yoga, adult oil painting, adult bridge, self-defense for women, rappelling and rock climbing, special teen activities, softball, baseball and track.

The best news for the district’s summer swimming program may be that the admission fees have been lowered. The fees will be 45 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

The fee for Early Bird swimming, from 7:45 to 8:45 a.m. Monday through Friday, has also been reduced to 30 cents.

All swimming courses will begin June 17 and run for eight weeks.

Allen said summer swimming courses include beginning and advanced beginning for those in grades one to four and five to eight. Intermediate classes will also be offered for those in grades five to eight and 9 to 12.

Another new class is advanced swimming which concentrates in self-survival skills. Senior Life Saving and a water safety instructor course will also be in the line-up for the summer.

A beginning sailing class will be taught by Chris Goff, former chairman for the SUI, Sailing Club.

The course will provide training in techniques and terminology for the novice.

The park district will sponsor a city-wide novice swimming meet July 30. Anyone who has never won awards in competitive swimming will be eligible to participate.

Allen said anyone interested in any of the activities must register in advance at the park district office.

A brochure of the entire summer program is available at the park district office.

Cambodian ambassador Sim will deliver campus lecture

Um Sim, Cambodian ambassador to the U.S., will visit SIU Thursday and Friday. He will deliver a public lecture on “The Future of Cambodia: the Alternatives” Friday at 1:30 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom B.

Sim has served in Cambodia’s Ministry of Posts and Telecommunication on the United Nations delegation, as ambassador at large to Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa, as cabinet director for foreign affairs and as chairman of the Asian Parliamentary Conference in 1971.

He was the first Cambodian student to receive a college degree in the U.S. He earned his bachelor’s degree in 1957 and his master’s degree in 1962 from the University of Illinois.

Sim will spend Thursday with personnel and students at the Office of International Education.
Bomber budget kept

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate today refused to slash funding for continued development of the Air Force B1 bomber.

Rejected by a 59 to 31 roll call vote was an amendment by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to allow $200 million for the coming year in place of $409 million requested by the Air Force and $455 million recommended by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Opponents said the cut would have killed the B1 development program.

Thursday Activities

Recreation and Intramurals:
- Pullman gym, weight room, activity room 1 to 11 p.m.; pool 9 a.m. to midnight, boat dock 1 to 6 p.m., beach 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Grand auto Touring Auto Club: meeting, 7:30 to 8 p.m.; Student Activities Room B.

CHICAGO (AP) — Dave Dryden, All-Star goalie in the National Hockey League, signed a multiyear contract Wednesday with the Chicago Cougars of the rival World Hockey Association.

Terms of the agreement were not announced but Dryden, 32, said he gave the NHL Buffalo Sabres a chance to match the Cougars’ offer:

"It’s a long term and there’s security here," said Dryden at a news conference.

Dryden was purchased by the Sabres in 1979 after playing with the New York Rangers. St. Louis, Pittsburgh and the Chicago Black Hawks.

He was used as a backup goalie until the 1973-74 season when Roger Crozier was hospitalized four times with an illness. Dryden, the older brother of goalie Ken Dryden of the Montreal Canadians, appeared in 53 games with the Sabres last season and compiled a 1.97 goals-against average.

He was named to the second team of the East squad in the NHL’s annual All-Star game.

Dryden said Cougars general manager and player-coach Pat "Whisky" Stapleton first contacted Dryden about switching to the WHA before the start of last season. The two were teammates when Dryden was with the Black Hawks from 1967-76.

"Whisky was one of the main reasons," said Dryden about switching to the Cougars.

In his first year as coach, Stapleton led the Cougars from a last place finish in 1973-74 to the eastern division WHA championship the past season.

A source said Dryden’s contract contained a no-trade clause and a provision for a management job with the Cougars when he retires from playing.

Dryden said a management position was not discussed with the Cougars during the negotiations but Stapleton said Dryden would help in grooming the club’s youngsters.

Salukis depart today for World Series

By Mark Tupper
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The 21-man Saluki baseball team departs Thursday to meet the greatest challenge in collegiate baseball—the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

The remaining eight teams in the nation will do battle for the national championship.

"They've won hard enough to get there and now they want to go as far as they can," Saluki pilot Richard "Ichcy" Jones said. Jones indicated his team is physically and mentally prepared.

The Salukis (47-10) will open play Saturday at 8 p.m. against District II champion Seton Hall (N.J.), who will meet the No. 3 and 5 teams in the pairings. Should the Salukis win that game, they will play at 8 p.m. Sunday against the victor of the Texas-University of Southern California contest. If SIU loses its first game, the Salukis will meet the loser of the Texas-USC game at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Other teams also in the double-elimination tournament are Harvard, Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma and Northern Colorado. Perhaps the biggest upset in district play occurred when Arizona, the No. 1 nationally ranked team, lost 6-5 and 6-2 to Northern Colorado to miss out on the World Series.

Leading the Seton Hall offense are second baseman Ed Bokelman (417), centerfielder John Hodges (6-1) and catcher Rick Ebert (341). As a team, Seton Hall is hitting .307. Hodges also leads the club in home runs with seven and Schoenauer is the RBI leader with 22.

Hancock stumbles in NCAA decathlon

SIU's gymnastic coach Bill Meade and his assistant Jack Bieverfeldt will head a staff of four during the SIU gymnastics camp beginning Sunday, July 21.

The camp will be divided into three separate one-week sessions of intensive gymnastics training at SIU. The camp is open to all high school students who have not begun their senior year as of July 21.

The cost for these sessions will be $75 per week. Applicants may sign up for one, two or three sessions. A $25 deposit is payable only once and is deductible in several events. Tuesday, as the remaining eight learn in the gymnastics gymnasium at SIU. The camp is.

The camp begins July 21 and runs through concurrent one-week sessions; June 23-29, June 30-July 7, and July 8-14. Registration requires a health certificate certifying that the applicant is in good health.

The camp will be under the direction of a coaching staff that includes Indiana State's Roger Council, Northern Illinois' Chuck Ehrlich and Oklahoma's Paul Bert.

In addition, top collegiate gymnasts from SIU, NIU, Iowa State, Illinois State, Illinois-Chicago, California at Berkeley, Oregon, Michigan and Massachusetts will be on hand for several coaching sessions.

The camp will begin at 8 a.m. daily and will conclude at 9 p.m. The camp will consist of seven hours of coaching per day.

Cardinals drop Giants 4-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Lou Brock and Tom Houseman cracked three home runs Wednesday afternoon as St. Louis won its third and 34th of the baseball season, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Right-hander Sonny Siebert, 6-3, gained the victory with last-out relief help from Orlando Pena. Siebert was deprived of a third consecutive shutout when the Giants scored an unearned run on right fielder Reggie Smith's sixth-inning throwing error. Smith, however, drove home Brock twice and took over the National League RBI lead with 47.

Scott Kidd warms up.

Kidd won the SIU tennis team's most valuable award, the Most Valiant record. Kidd, a freshman from Alexandria, Va., finished the regular season with a 29-4 record. Kidd played the No. 3, 4 and 5 positions during the season.

The NCAA tournament is a single-elimination tourney, with each individual advancing to the next round.

Match ups for the tourney will be decided by a draw at the beginning of the meet.

The draw is very significant," said LeFevre. "If we get a decent draw we'll have a good chance to score some team victories.

Top teams to watch at this year's tourney, according to LeFevre, are Stanford, U.C.L.A., U.S.C., Houston, Michigan, UCLA, Florida, North Carolina and Western Michigan. Stanford is the defending champion.

Jorge Ramirez, who has played the No. 1 position the last half of the season, will be playing his last tourney for SIU as he graduates in the summer. Ramirez said, "It'd be a special guest for UCC. IID and will be a guest at the NCAA championships, to be held June 17 through 22 in Los Angeles.

Scott Kidd, Felix Ampon, Mel Ampon and Jorge Ramirez will journey to L.A. under the guidance of coach Dick LeFevre.

No boycott for Kathy

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Kathy Corbelly, whose U.S. Open Alvarez who will defend her title in the $100,000 Desert Classic this weekend, says she will not support a proposed boycott of the 1976 U.S. Open.

Mrs. Alvarez had said she was in favor of the proposal at first but has since changed her mind.

The SIU tennis team will send a four-man entry to the NCAA championships, to be held June 17 through 22 in Los Angeles.
