Barbara Larkin Crowned 'Miss Southern Acres'

Barbara Larkin was crowned 'Miss Southern Acres' on Monday night in ceremonies held at the Student Union Auditorium. Larkin, an ecology major from Freeport, Ill., was selected as the new titleholder by a panel of judges consisting of students and faculty members.

Larkin, who is a junior at Southern, will represent the college in various events throughout the year. She will also serve as a goodwill ambassador for the college, promoting its programs and activities to the community.

Larkin is an active member of the college community, involved in several student organizations. She is also a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Larkin said she was surprised and flattered by the honor and looked forward to representing the college in the upcoming events.

She thanked her family and friends for their support and said she would work hard to represent the college and the state of Illinois.

Larkin was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Larkin, and her sister, Susan, who also attended the ceremony.

The coronation was held in the auditorium, with a pageant-style format featuring the contestants and their talents. The audience was enthusiastic and supportive, creating a festive atmosphere.

Larkin's selection was announced by the emcee, a member of the college's student government.

The event was sponsored by the Student Union and the college's student government, with support from various other groups and organizations.

The ceremony concluded with a toast to the new titleholder, accompanied by applause and cheers from the audience.

Solution Found?
The seven point program for area housing proposed by H. Louis, president of Southern Illinois University, is being studied by the students. The extent of its success will, like many programs of this nature, depend upon the smoothness with which the people get behind it. Louis gives as his most important contribution two hopes for the future. The hope for weather is that of the area where “environmental solutions” have not been found. This is the hope that area is now under a study by the Southern Illinois University. Louis said, "The results have been made by real people in the area. We plan to bring this to the attention of the Northeast section, we will try to solve this housing problem." Out of the seven points of the Lewis plan calls for an all-day student residence with a taste of the students on campus. This plan will require an investment of effort involving the students.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Electrical Wins Headgear Award

Dear Editor:

I thought you might be interested in the fact that the Electrical Engineering students of the University of Illinois have won a Headgear Award.

At a party up here in St. Louis the relations committee of the University of Illinois was given a bash - a sort of evergreen party, and I, as a member of the Relations Committee, was invited to the party. We were given a raffle ticket and I won a Headgear Award. We all had a great time.

Sincerely,

Dave Hogan

CHEVY’S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES

To prove the durability of Chevrolet’s radical new Full Size V8,” the tremendous flexibility of the new Turbo-Thrust transmission, and the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the worst challenging transcontinental road in the world—the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the road shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust cars for high altitude.

So the run began across the blinding Argentine pampas, into the ruggedness of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 3,000 miles in the miles long. 28.5% grades at 12,972 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never mentioned its torque of power. The Full Coil springs shimmered through the turf, the Turbo-Thrust transmission made its play of gears up to 20 speeds. This is a picture of the Pacifico at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn to the right, the angular curve of the road for the final step: good luck on your vacation. Good buy.

Two To Be Chosen

Award Honors Alumni

Two former SUNY students who have made outstanding contributions to the University will be able to attend an annual banquet this spring, if the University will be honored this year.

The deadline for nominations for the award is April 15. Nominations are due by March 15. The winner will be announced at the Annual Dinner, scheduled for March 15.

The list of nominees includes: James E. Smith, a former student of the Department of Education; William J. Kelly, a former student of the Department of Fine Arts; and John D. C. White, a former student of the Department of Music.

Don’t Let Liars Win The Battle For Her Mind!

What goes into Little Miss America’s mind today will affect you profoundly five or ten years from now. If she learns to distrust, she will learn to be suspicious. If she learns to look for danger, she will learn to be fearful. If she learns to trust, she will learn to be happy. If you are little Miss America, you will learn to distrust. If you are her mother, you will learn to be suspicious. If you are her father, you will learn to be fearful. If you are her sister, you will learn to be jealous. If you are her brother, you will learn to be competitive. If you are her friend, you will learn to be loyal. If you are her enemy, you will learn to be revengeful.

What does this mean for you? It means that you must learn to trust. You must learn to look for danger. You must learn to be suspicious. You must learn to be fearful. If you learn to do these things, you will learn to be happy. If you learn to do these things, you will learn to be successful. If you learn to do these things, you will learn to be loved. If you learn to do these things, you will learn to be respected.

Wrestlers Stopped, Lose IIAC Crown; Swimmers Finish Second In Conference

Olsen Sets Conference Record

SOUTHERN's wrestling unit is in the doghouse! The traditionally successful program in the conference lost a record for the year. But the win was still a good one.

The win was due to the efforts of the seniors who were the mainstays of the team. They are J.D. Olsen, John Wilson, and Jack Hahn.

IIAC Champions

The team's victory was the first in conference history.

IIAC Champions

Olsen's performance was a sign of the changing tide in the conference. The team had been looking forward to the event for weeks and had worked hard to prepare.
