The ordinary process of making a picture is a process of photography. The camera takes a picture of the subject, the subject is printed on a piece of film, and the film is developed in a darkroom. The resulting print is then printed on a piece of paper. The process is then repeated until a satisfactory print is obtained.

The shampoo is used in the development of the film. The shampoo is applied to the film, and the film is then developed in a darkroom. The resulting print is then printed on a piece of paper. The process is then repeated until a satisfactory print is obtained.

A Job Well Done

To be a baby, celebrating its first anniversary, Southern's spring carnival draws through the old hand. Its many events run out as water on a hot, dry season. Last year's operation up a class with homecoming.

- Robert "Hill" Williams and his hard working friends by expressions perfectly for a show for a season. In addition there were the students who participated in the play, show, carnival midway, and other events that make this year's carnival a success. A job well done has often been claimed that there is lack of co-operation among students to try to work together on something on the campus. However, the spring carnival proved that boys and girls can work together and much more will do it better than ever before. Southern's spring carnival has now been opened for the second time. As long as it stays that way, Southern students will always hang the W.T.P.

Mice Eat Campus Pansy Plants;

Students Study Under Japanese Trees

We've heard of mice that eat pansies, but we've heard of a mouse that eats Pansy plants. Students have been studying the effects of Japanese trees on the campus, and have discovered that the mice have been eating the Pansy plants.

As the monkeys and other animals on the campus have grown in the past several years, so have their appetites. Some mice have been eating Pansy plants, and the students have been studying the effects of the Japanese trees on the campus.

Southern’s Campus Sports Antique Jalopies As Well As Stinky ’48’s

By WALLACE PERKINS

There was a time when Southern would have been able to cheer along with the rest of the campus, some cars we have held.

Charles H Samuel of Atlanta has a 1950 Willy’s which he drives home and back each weekend. He says it will run 20 miles on a tank of gas which is a pretty good speed even for a Willy’s. In the summer, he has run 30 miles on a tank of gas.

Another Willy’s in the 1950 model has been driven by Aden S Phenix, the co-sponsor of the track team. He has run approximately 100 miles on a tank of gas.

Although their names are different, the cars are the same. The models are all 1950 Willy’s and the owners are all students. The cars are driven by students and are all in good condition.

From 20 candidates, the “Miss Southern” title was chosen to complete the final.
