Normal Loses To McKendree 42-6

LEO GARDNER, U. OF I. DEBATE

Word has recently been received at the Egyptian office that Leo Gardner '22 has been chosen as one of the six Illinois University debaters for this year's interscholastic debates. This is an honor that shows up well for S. 11. N. 1. and for Marphysboro High school, from which he graduated in 1920.

While at Normal, Leo took an active part in campus activities. In his senior year he was editor of the Oke-Ha. He also held down the pilot position on the Maroon football team for two years.

His debating ability was acquired in the Agora debating society at Normal. The Agora especially rejoiced at the success of its illustrious member.

THE GLEE CLUB APPEARS IN CHAPEL

During chapel last Friday morning, the members of the school had a rare treat consisting of a couple selections from the orchestra, and a special program arranged by the Glee Club under the directorship of Mr. J. H. Jaquis. The program was as follows:

1. "It's Home for You and Me, My Lad!"

The Glee Club was enjoyed by the whole student body, as the audience showed its appreciation by its attentiveness.

The voices of the "Glee Club" are well balanced as shown in the first number, "It's Home for You and Me, My Lad!"

In the second selection, "Cradle Song," by J. Brahms the perfect unity of voice and the blending effect attained was wonderful.

This was the first appearance of "The Glee Club" in Chapel and we hope it will not be the last appearance.

"The Glee Club" shows what can be accomplished in the art of singing under the directorship of Mr. Jaquis.

The school hopes that this will not be the last appearance of this organization, let's hear from you again.

Love is like an onion.
We taste it with delight,
But when it's gone we wonder.
Whatever made us bite.

KIMMEL SCORES LONE TOUCHDOWN

Normal went, she saw, but she did not conquer, McKendree overwhelming them with a 42-6 defeat. After the first few plays of the game it seemed, almost certain that McKendree's heavier and faster team would get the big end of the score.

Try as they would the Maroons couldn't stop the Bear Cats' rushes toward the goal. The Normal was outplayed throughout, but never gave up, although some of the players were crippled, they were in there fighting. When they started down the field for gains, penalties, fumbles or intercepted passes stopped them. Normal was penalized seven times during the game for a total of 55 yards.

A Normal line plunge was lacking, Lamer being out. Lentz got hurt on the second play. Ross, although playing, was badly crippled, and couldn't carry the ball.

Our lone score came at the close of the game, Kimmel recovering a McKendree fumble and making a pretty run of 87 yards.

The Game in Detail
First Quarter
"Red" McLoughlin won the toss and chose to defend north goal.

Smith kicks off for McKendree into touchback. Normal's ball on their 20-yard line. On a fake plunge through left tackle Johnson was thrown for a two-yard loss. McKendree aside and penalized five yards. Kimmel goes back on punt formation and carries ball around right end for no gain. "Red" makes first gain of the game plunging through right tackle for six yards. Lentz is hurt on this play, but stays in game. Kimmel punts to Search on his 83-yard line. Search makes most spectacular run of game by going through the whole Normal team 68 yards for a touchdown in first three minutes of play. Smith drop kicked the extra point.

Kimmel goes in for Lentz, who is in.

Carbondale kicks off to Loom on his 6-yard line. He carries it 44 yards. McKendree penalized 15 yards on the next-play. McKendree punts to Moore in his 25-yard line, who returns three yards. "Red" lost three yards around left end. Johnson also fails to gain around right end. Kimmel punts 45 HEARTS beat high with pleasurable (?) anticipation in the breasts of the youthful candidates for the Agoran initiation, Monday, the 17th. Few members escaped the goose, as no previous initiation had been held for almost a year.

The first number on the program was a case of highway robbery. Fifteen cents were extracted from each unwilling and willing member and laid aside to be used later.

Next came the blindfolded of the novitiates. Thereupon the Illinae were invited in. They were lined up facing the audience. Wisdom food, in the shape of raw oysters with sugar overstuffed was served. Unfortunately Richard Lyttley had lookjw and couldn't taste any. Correct guesses as to the nature of the food brought its reward. Blindfolded, the initiates guessing correctly were seated in a chair and in turn, had their heads tipped back by a member of the Illinae and kissed. Some of the boys asserted that the "girls" doing the kissing needed a shave. Then Brother Lyttley led in prayer meeting. Among those taking an audible part were Thomas Whittenberg, J. Kay, White, Ray Knox, etc. All were then required to do penance for their sins. They were all lined up and as they would not go to the paddle machine, the paddle machine came to them. In this way several Ilinae girls paid off old scores with a "two by two." All then declared themselves sufficiently repentant.

The Illinae were thereafter allowed to work their will upon the candidates. They did a good job. Ask them for the details.

At the close of the candidates were given the "Angora" bandshaker, an oath read to them, whereupon they sealed their vows by placing the uplifted right hand into a plate of sticky molasses.

As an aftermath the boys, blindfolded, chose their companions and were led to the Stumble Inn. There the aforementioned fund bought drinks for all.

Don't ask when we got home. We don't know!

The reading by Ruby Baine was very well given and liked by everyone, as she has that little witty way about her which takes with everybody.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend the Socratic Literary Society every Friday night and enjoy the wonderful programs that they have for your entertainment.

Watch the Society programs in the future and keep up with its doings.

A visitor said to a little boy, "And what will you do, dear, when you are as big as your father?"

"The Daily Dozen," said the modern child.

LEO GARDNER, U. OF I. DEBATER

The Forum held its regular meeting on Monday, November 17th, and a very good program was given. Geo Brutlewave gave a talk on the Japanese question. The question for debate was: Resolved: That the government should own and control the railroads of the United States.

The affirmative team consisted of Roy Taylor and Ray Ferrell while the negative was supported by LaRoy Willy and Finley Morse. At the next meeting each member of the Forum will be expected to make a talk or tell a joke.

The Obediah officers have been chosen for this year as follows: Editor-in-Chief, J. Cary Davis; Business Manager, T. L. Whittenberg; Art Editor, Lewis Ed Williams; Sr. College Editor, Marion Taylor; Typist, Willard Gersbacker; Kodak Editor, Hurley Hammack; Literary Editor, Syvilla Reis; Athletic Editor, Bob Hartley; Drama Editor, Celeste White; Joke Editor, Josephine Darke; Artist Editor, Zelda Thomas; Social Editor, Jowell Finley; Homecoming Editor, L. P. Shannon; Organization Leta Clark.

If the laws of geometry you don't understand, and you have to paint the floor: Why goodness gracious, oh! my land, you have a quart or more of paint left over when you're done.

But if the theorem of limits you can fathom, and then you want to paint the floor: Of paint you can use up to the very last atom. And of unfinished floor there is no more.

When you're, isn't geometry fun?

Dorothy Fur: "Oh, don't some people get offensive when they own a car!"

James Gallet: "Well, some certainly do get a habit of running other people down."

Y. M. & Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Joint meetings of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. were held in the Zetetic Hall Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. A large number of the student body gathered to hear Miss Gertrude Swallen of Korea, who is a graduate of Wooster College, Ohio. She is now traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions. Miss Swallen’s parents are missionaries in Korea. All those who attended the services felt they had gained thereby.

A summary of her talks follow:

The people of Korea are yellow skinned, but brown-eyed neither the Chinese nor the Japanese. Korea, however, is in the possession of Japan. About forty years ago the gates of the cities were closed to all foreigners. A slip once left-scared on the sand by the low tide was set on fire by the Koreans. The opening of the country to “outsiders” begins with the sinking of the King’s son, who was made well by an American doctor.

The Koreans are very superstitious. The streets are made crooked so evil spirits cannot follow the streets. Hiding pictures are drawn on the doors to drive these spirits away. A beautiful child is given an ugly name to save him from the evil one. Their famous mischief maker is Tollable.

The Koreans become Christians they are so filled with joy that they want to share it with others. Are not we Americans a bit behind in sharing our Christianity with others? They read their Bibles very earnestly, many giving their hearts to Christ by this. There are many churches and the churches are filled to capacity when there are services. The men are seated on the floor on one side of the church and women on the other. In Sunday school the women and girls first attend and after they go home, the men and boys come. Do we see our Sunday schools thus-crowded?

Miss Swallen sang a Korean boat song Wednesday evening. The chorus translated is:

If Christ is our Captain
We need not fear the wind
Nor the storms, for
He will bring us safe to shore.

We as a body of students need Christ at the helm. At the beginning of life we should have a real purpose, a big purpose, and then declare it without being ashamed of it. It will strengthen someone. We ought to share our purpose with those we meet. It is not necessary to cross the ocean in order to share it.

How are we to prepare for our purpose? There is a four-fold plan, mentally by having a trained mind; physically, with a strong body; socially, having that understanding and sympathy for the other person; and most important of all, spiritually.

How big is our purpose? D. L. Moody once said, “The World has yet to see what God can do with a life yielded to Him.” Do we have a big enough interest in the other person? Are we honest with ourselves and with God?

The missionaries are in other lands to introduce people to Christ, to show the living presence of Christ. Of course, one way is the home life. The missionary homes are quite like American homes, but simple. Electric lights are to be had, however. The native Koreans live in mud huts with thatched roofs. There are two rooms besides the kitchen. The living room floor is raised so that the smell of the oven can pass underneath to furnish heat. The houses are poorly ventilated, having no windows. Their food is mainly of rice or grains, dried fish and pickle.

After the people become Christians there is a decided difference in their personal appearance. They come to church dressed in clean white clothes, as they wish to be reverent before God.

By telling a story Miss Swallen likened our lives to a bell. We are here to ring a message and may that message ring true.

THE FRESHMAN PAPER
Can we Freshmen write a paper?
Can we make it worth your while?
Will we put in all the news, in the best newspaper style?
Can we write up editorials?
Do we know the latest jokes?
Will our fiction be appropriate for the Carbondale type of folks?

Yes, we’re very inexperienced.
For we’ve not done this before.
We don’t know quite all the gossip;
We’re not up on campus lore.

But you ask us to write something,
And we do it with our might.
Though we make mistakes this time,
Next time we will do it right.

Then and Now

Thanksgiving is a joyful time of the year. It is the day when we can all go home to a big dinner including turkey and pumpkin pie. Over three hundred years ago the founders of America celebrated the first Thanksgiving Day. But in our great country is now from what it was then! Think of the many things which we have to be thankful for that they did not have.

When the Pilgrim Fathers set aside a day of rest and of thanksgiving for the bountiful returns of the soil, they were a small group of people huddled upon the bleak New England coast. They rejoiced because they had won the friendship of the Indians and had raised food enough to last during the winter. Little did they realize that they were setting a custom which was to last through many ages. Probably they had just as faint an idea of the great number of people who were to observe this custom, that some day the government which they were so nobly striving to give firm foundations would be not a little village, but a huge republic, reaching from ocean to ocean was not given thought.

We, the people of today, are the harvesters of the many privileges and opportunities that were planted many years ago. We are the ones who should be really thankful. Thanksgiving Day is not a custom of the past because as the years go by the many benefits of our work increase. As our benefits increase so should our appreciation for them. The same spirit that caused our forefathers to rejoice should be with us at the present and thanks should be as theirs, fourfold.

Girls' Basketball

One of the latest, in organizations in S. I. N. U. is a girls' basketball team. It is a jumping, peppy, new formation and great plans are being formed. As yet, a permanent coach has not been selected, but several are in consideration. So far only twenty girls have responded.

Great hopes are being built for some inter-class games. But the frays will not be fair unless the Seniors "step on it" and come out, as the Juniors outnumber the Seniors 2 to 1. So come out, Seniors. We practice in the gymnasium Tuesday and Thursday afternoon the eighth and ninth periods.

Later in the year there will be bas-

WE WUNDER

If the Sigma Alpha Pi boys enjoyed their serenade Monday night? Are there turn bugs for turn beds? Why Kervin Batou and Blanche Lentz are together so much? Who the "silly bunch" includes? Why Lewis Ed Williams is called the "Fashion Plate?"

What is the proper costume to wear to a moth ball? What makes a grasshopper hop when the light bugs turn out his lights? Why Warren Van Berhen will not smile any more? Who is the best dancer in the gym? Why the word "Danna" sounds so sweet to Byron Allen's ears?

What makes some girls afraid of mice? Why some people call William McLaughlin "Red" and Allen Mclaugh "Furley?"

What does a grasshopper do when there's a bug? If there's insect rouge to match the insect powder? Why Oliver Redd is so thin and skinny?

Who wears his hat in shorthand class? What does the lightning rod turn on the night track? Another very laughable thing in connection with the refuse jars. The jars are very tricky and unless a student is very careful he is liable to suffer a shock of some kind. It is doubt of this statement ask Dwyer and Hall.

THE CHEMIST'S JOY

Among the many things that add to the joy of teaching chemistry are some of the things that happen in the chemistry laboratory. As the chemist from his lofty story of knowledge from sulphuric acid for nitric acid and carbon for antimony. But nevertheless experience and a few blunders put one on the night track. Another very laughable thing in connection with the refuse jars. The jars are very tricky and unless a student is very careful he is liable to suffer a shock of some kind. It is doubt of this statement ask Dwyer and Hall.

EDITOR CALLED HOME

Mr. Howard S. Walker, Egyptian pilot, has been called to the home of his father, who has been doubly stricken with typhoid-pneumonia. The members of the staff wish to express their hopes for a hasty recovery. They pay in respect, too, the student. If they make anything prove fatal, we weep for him. If he returns joyously, we shall rejoice. We hope for the latter.

We devote these lines to express our everlasting sympathy, and best regards.

A GERMAN SWISS GIRL
IN OUR MIDST

The first Swiss student ever enrolled in S. I. N. U. entered classes Wednesday morning. She is Miss Ella Halter from Marbach, Switzerland, and has come in order to learn to speak the English language. She entered the English classes Wednesday and caused more or less excitement, especially when the Grammar teacher informed the class that a foreigner was in their midst, and it was up to each one to use his very best English. "It's your fault if she learns poor English and bad grammar," the teacher said. "You have a great responsibility. Live up to it."

Miss Halter has been in New York City for three years, living with a wealthy family, who have aided her in her English; and now she comes to us to get the ground floor knowledge of our language.

She is a most interesting person. When we called her into the office for this interview she was almost painfully polite. We motioned her to a chair and she thanked us profusely, as if we had bestowed some great honor upon her. She is a very pleasant and affable person and begged our pardon most humbly every time she used a German word to complete her sentence.

"Which seems the harder for you," we asked, "the writing or speaking of the English language?"

She smiled, then wrinkled her brow in an effort to explain, then she burst out, "Veil, you see to speak is harder—because my mouth not fast."

She crossed the Atlantic on the New Amsterdam. When we asked her what her most exciting experience was on board, she said, "Veil, I got seasick. Nothing else happened." We understood perfectly.

Her father and mother own a little Swiss inn—called the "Taube" in Marbach. Miss Halter has worked in the inn for her parents ever since she graduated from the eighth grade.

After spending some time here in learning the language she expects to return to Switzerland and get a position in one of the big winter resort hotels at St. Moritz.

Mr. Felts was making friends with Johnny, his host's son. "And how old are you?" he asked. "I'm five," said Johnny. "Ah! quite a little man! And what are you going to be?" questioned Mr. Felts who has been professor so many years that he now believes that he selected his own career in the cradle and that all infants to likewise. "I'm going to be six." Johnny returned with conviction.

Senior Tea
Do you know that on Thursday aft noon at 4:15, a goodly number of Seniors and faculty members enjoyed one of the most del. .. peted this year? This wonderful time was due, of course, to the admirable music, the delicious cookies and tea.
Well, perhaps I should say teas.
which she so nobly 'accomplished.'
This paragraph is written for that purpose.
This social was planned and brought about by the social committee of the school. The members of this committee are: Jones, Wham, Williams, Boomer, McKendree, and Entzminger. Without their firm support, such a pleasant afternoon would not have been observed. No doubt, they foresaw the enjoyment, and the inspiration that would be attained by all who participated. They have our thanks and best regards.
In the middle of the parlor a table was placed beautifully decorated. At the center, an admirable bunch of roses could be seen, around which were nine glowing candles. At each end of the table a tea pot was placed, in all its magnificence. At one end of the table Miss Hickson sat, eager to serve those who were disposed to drink of her fountain. Opposite, and facing Miss Hickson sat Miss Wil-lians. Many times did she inquire.
"Will you not have something of 'tea'? " Many times the same cup was replenished, oftentimes thrice, but each time it was cheerfully done.
Lo! and behold there came a flush of music from one corner of the room.
All looked in the direction from whence it came. There in the corner sat the Miss Helen Smith at the piano.
The music lent a homelike atmosphere to the occasion and was greatly appreciated by all who were present. Among the numbers played were "My Heart
At Thy Sweet Voices", from Samson and Delilah; "One Fleeting Hour";
"Love Song" from a Birth of a Nation;
"Auf Wiedersehen" from The Blue
Paradise.
Members of the String Quartet were: Miss Helen Smith, piano; Miss Dickerman, violin; Frank Smith, violin, and F. E. Morse, cello.
Many times has the question been discussed in regard to personal companionship between the faculty and the students. The Seniors feel greatly inspired by the personal touch and companionship that was observed at this tea.
