A national chairman of the Museum Committee of the National Conference on Summer Art Education Association. The three-day conference opened Thursday with an address by B. Bace state pall- er, SIU research professor of design science.

Seidelman received his art education at the Kansas City Art Institute, Colorado State College of Education, the University of Kansas, and the University of Kansas.

A report from the Student Body President's Committee on University Statutes was presented at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Regents.

Formulated by the special student-faculty committee, the proposal, which will be considered by the Board of Regents, would allow the Student Body President's Committee on University Student Council is in operation.

Several other generalizations can be made from the survey. SIU students spent $29.99 more on gifts, and $20.99 more on gifts. Students spent $52.40 on beverages and $19.95 spent by coeds. The men also spent only $1.63 more for nightwear as compared with $3.47 which the women spent. The women spent $32.20 less on toiletry items.

These conclusions result from figures compiled during the survey. During the three quarter period, women spent an average of $251.59 on clothing as compared with $138.29 for the men. They spent $20.99 more on gifts. SIU men spent $92.40 on beverages and $19.95 spent by coeds. The men also spent only $1.63 more for nightwear as compared with $3.47 which the women spent. The women spent $32.20 less on toiletry items.

Sample cross sections of the whole student body were made which showed that the students spent $35,607.00 on clothes, $8,472.00 on clothing, and which have been presented to the women. These items received more attention than do men.
Two Enter Opera Semifinals

Two graduate students in music at Southern will advance to the semifinals of the nationwide WGN Opera Competition in Chicago this weekend.

Mary Lou Lawrence, director of the SIU Opera Workshop, said Katherine Kimmel of Carbondale and Ludlow Hallman of Dayton, Ohio, were selected for the semifinals on the basis of operatic selections taped at Southern and submitted to the contest authorities.

Hallman won in operatic competition in St. Louis last year and worked with the Santa Fe Opera during the summer. He is a graduate assistant in the Opera Workshop. Miss Kimmel was a finalist and appeared in a nation-wide competition on the Ted Mack television show.

Governors Meeting
Sought by Romney

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney suggested by telegram Thursday that the Republican governors meet in early December to determine how to help broaden and unify the party.

In a wire to Gov. Robert E. Smyth of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governor’s Association, Romney said such a meeting “would be an extremely useful thing in determining how we can contribute as a group.”

Romney’s overwhelming re-election victory Tuesday in the face of President Johnson’s landslide has put him in the GOP national spotlight.

The governor told a news conference in his Michigan Capitol office that he had talked by telephone with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, “but we did not discuss any meeting or actions other than this meeting of Republican governors.”

Romney, declaring he is “not a liberal moderate,” said, “I reject the fact that in the past several months I’ve been thrown into that group.

“I’m trying to be as conservative as the Constitution of the United States, as progressive as Theodore Roosevelt and as liberal as Abraham Lincoln.”

“The fact that Republican governors have come through and weathered this storm might point to where the Republican party could look for the type of approach the people are looking for,” he declared.

In winning re-election, Romney not only found himself being talked about as a 1968 presidential nomination prospect but was confronted with a Legislature of nearly two-thirds Democrats in each house. This was a jarring shift from the Republican majorities of Romney’s first term.

Defeated presidential candidate Barry Goldwater has indicated that he has no intention of yielding the reins of the Republican party. Nor does he regard the election results as a repudiation of the type of conservatism he has espoused.

Humphrey May Leave Senate
To Assume New Duties Soon

By Garth Jones

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey ended any speculation they might take over the Senate seat soon.

Joe McCarthy’s Republican presidential campaign.

The former vice president said the governor “got his pound of flesh.”

Nixon, who spent the past month campaigning across the country for Goldwater, said he found the people презерв College “sitting it out after running for the nomination” against Goldwater.

Humphrey may resign as senator before the inauguration.

The possibility that Humphrey would set up a vice presidential office in the capital in advance of the inauguration.

Humphrey, questioned by newsmen at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin just before his departure, also was asked about speculation that Sen. Eugene McCarthy will be a candidate for the vice presidency.

“Of course, I will be looking toward the Virgin Islands, beginning a two-week vacation in Europe on a trouble-shooting mission.”

“I have no assignment to go overseas,” he said. “I have seen the same news stories you have and I have nothing to confirm or deny.”

Humphrey said he would confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on “the war issue” before heading to the Virgin Islands, beginning Friday.

Humphrey was asked if he would begin now to act as vice president, an office he rejected since Johnson became President after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

“I’m still senator from Minnesota,” Humphrey said. “Of course I will be working ahead to the new job, very definitely.”

Then he was asked if he might resign as senator before the inauguration.

“There is that possibility,” Humphrey said. “The governor of Minnesota would want to appoint someone to take my place. And the senator named to serve with Sen. Eugene McCarthy D-Minn., would have the right to return to the Senate.

Mississippi legislative leaders are planning full steam ahead on the District of Columbia Committee.

Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., another leader of the liberal group, said Williams is second-ranking Democrat on the House Commerce Committee, and is high on the District of Columbia Committee.

“With those ratings, one is surprised that Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn., leader of the liberal group, would want to appoint someone to take my place.”

Bolling said Thursday that he will be looking toward President Johnson to be confirmed or resign.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy D-Minn., who openly supported Goldwater’s presidential campaign.

Watson is just emerging his second term, but the veteran Watson is second-ranking Democrat on the House Commerce Committee, and is high on the District of Columbia Committee.

To want to function effectively in terms of what the electorate said — whether it was anti-Goldwater or pro-Johnson — we are going to have to take command of our side of our committee,” Bolling said in a Washington interview.

“The party is for mediocrity, there is no doubt about that. It is for a whole set of things. If we are blocked in the Senate Committee, it’s the party’s fault, not the Republican’s fault.

“It is not enough to have a majority on the floor of the House. We have got to get the material from the committees for that majority to work on.”

Red Powwow in Moscow Won't Likely Heal Rift

By Henry S. Bradsher

MOSCOW (AP) -- Premier Chou En-lai of Red China, who stormed out of Moscow three years ago because of Nikita Khroushchev's policies, returned Thursday in a Soviet-Chinese atmosphere changed by the shift in Soviet leadership.

Chou arrived at the head of a delegation of Chinese experts on the dispute that has divided Peking and Moscow. Other Communist leaders from throughout the Red-ruled world also were gathering here.

They were coming for celebrations Saturday on the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

A post-Khrushchev summit conference of the Communist world is shaping up.

Barrientos Grabs Power in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)--Air Force Capt. Rene Barrientos took over the presidency of Bolivia Thursday night after a coup d'etat overthrew the 12-year regime of Victor Paz Estenssoro.

Barrientos, vice president under Paz, emerged as the strong man of the new government after brief political infighting that initially produced a co-presidency.

He told a cheering crowd from a balcony of the national palace that Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, earlier named as co-president, "has decided to cooperate in the re-establishment of tranquility in the country."

The fast-shifting power play in the new regime came after fighting among the new personnel of the government.

Fighting between soldiers and supporters of Paz, who fled to Peru after his ouster Wednesday, left possibly 40 dead. About 150 were reported wounded.

In an interview in Lima, Paz placed the entire blame for his downfall on Barrientos. He said Barrientos wanted to be president "so he rounded up air force and army support and overthrew me."

Only China's outspoken ally, Albania, is failing to send a high delegation.

The Communist party organ Pravda published an appeal clearly intended to serve as the keynote for the first big gathering of Communist leaders since Khroushchev was ousted as premier and party boss last month.

"The Communist party of the Soviet Union calls for an impregnable struggle against the appearance and survival of any kind of nationalism and chauvinism and against tendencies toward national narrow-mindedness and discrimination," Pravda said.

While there is a somewhat different atmosphere because of Khroushchev's fall, specialists on Chinese-Soviet relations see little prospect for significant improvement in the near future beyond a papering over of the more glaring points of conflict.

Publicly there is to be a fairly dramatic show in that Chou will be at Lenin's Tomb with Soviet leaders at Saturday's parade.

Neither side, however, has yet given much ground in the arguments between them.

Viet Official Hits Cabinet Makeup

By Malcolm W. Browne

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)--The chairman of the high National Council, Nguyen Van Cu, resigned Thursday in a protest about the makeup and method of appointment of South Viet Nam's new civilian cabinet.

Repercussions could be serious.

He was reported to have met two points in a 10-man government. The 15-man government Premier Tran Van Huong chose to take over rule from Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh's military regime.

1. The High National Council should have been consulted in selection of the ministers, even though the new provisional constitution does not require such consultation.

2. Two few political elements are represented in the cabinet, which therefore "will not have the confidence of the people."

Mars Probe Second Stage Is Deficient

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)--The Mariner 3 spacecraft was launched Thursday toward Mars but tracking data indicated it may have failed its mission because the booster rocket did not achieve the proper speed.

The national Aeronautics and Space Administration reported 3 1/2 hours after the launching that, "The spacecraft is being tracked by a station at Woomera, Australia, but there is difficulty in evaluating its performance and trajectory from the information being received."

The statement said evaluation of data indicated that the second stage of the Atlas-Agena D rocket had not performed properly.

It added that there was no confirmation that solar panels on the spacecraft had folded down as planned.

The solar panels must fold down if the spacecraft is to draw energy from the sun to run its batteries throughout the long journey to Mars.

The flight plan called for the spacecraft to streak across 330 million miles of space in 8 1/2 months, passing within 8,000 miles of Mars next July 17.

During the brief encounter with the planet a television camera was to snap pictures.

SIU ‘Pilgrims’ Visit Ezra Pound
Couple recalls meeting American poet in Italy

He was a giant of a man—tall, gaunt, rawboned and large, with a black, grizzled head and wrinkle hands—the type artist with Grant Wood usually paint as the earthy Midwestern types.

The big, yellow sunlight streamed through the windows, casting a golden filter over the startled, handsome white hair, beard and mustache.

The conversation was slow, at times even guarded, the way it usually is when strangers meet for the first time.

The scene might have been any Kansas farmhouse on a stifling August afternoon. But it wasn’t. In fact, it was not uncommon for the driver wanted an interpreter to call the hotel of Pound’s.

The Jacobsons jumped back into the car but were taken in by a hotel near the next morning, and succeeded in getting stubbornly in front of the steps, about to leave.

At Al Polacco, Pound’s home, to find that the poet had left the house 10 minutes before. Back in town our cab driver would stop in front of cafes, run along the side-walk tables shabbing, ‘Have you seen Mr. Pound, the poet with the beard?’ and a waiter replied, ‘Yes, but not for some moments,.’

“I wanted to give up and man the hotel near the next morning, and succeeded in getting stubbornly in front of the steps, about to leave.

Small Lincoln School Looks Large in Deed

Fans who look down their noses at the small school, knowing it is being pushed out in football competition had better take a second—and more straight-forward—look at Lincoln University.

Lincoln is a small school in Jefferson City, Mo., a town with 25,000 people. Because it is a somewhat diminishing university with an enrollment of less than 2,000 students, the school has often been scoffed at by fans in football circles.

That just shows you what squares they are.

"Hold on," one of them may say, "how can they ever whip them last year—something like 47-8?"

And didn't the Salukis beat the Tigers the year before that, on a touchdown shutout?

Right, again.

"Then how come I gotta quit looking down now at them in the like-kind? Take a good look at their records this year, that's all.

The Tigers, who have averaged 38 points per game in winning their games this season, have lost only to highly regarded Florida A. & M., and hold a 6-1 record and hold a 6-1 record.

A look at their scores will give you a good idea of Lincoln's offensive strength: 40-10, 25-8, 7-30, 7-44, 42-13, 44-13, 25-0, and 9-11.

And take it from Coach Don Shroyer: "Any team that can score as many points as Lincoln has this season demands respect and we fully recognize their speed and ability.

Shroyer does feel, however, that the University of Southern California, which faced much stronger competition on a weekly basis and that could explain the differences.

"Don't possibly match Lincoln's speed," Shroyer said, "but we're hoping to continue in other ways and feel the game is a tossup which could be decided by breaks."

Breaks such as penalties have actually been a constant factor in several of Southern's games already this season.

Last Saturday, for example, the theaters penalized what appeared to be a game-winning touchdown in the final two minutes of the Saluki-14 loss to North Texas State.

Almost certain to establish a season's record for number of yards gained, Southern already has lost an average of 90 yards per game on rule infractions.

In their first seven games the Tigers have held five opponents.

SIU's coach Ralph Casey will be the principal speaker at the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Swimming Coaches Association fall tourney today in Waukesha.

Casey, a veteran 49-year-old swimming coach who just one year ago led a U. of All. star team to one-sided victories over the Japanese in a series of dual meets held in the Far East, has developed an outstanding program at SIU where his team has finished among the top 20 in NCAA championship meets for the past five years.

In Waukesha, Casey will discuss a swimmer's understanding of split times and pace-setting, as well as explaining a weight and isolation conditioning program for swimmers.

From Live TV

One question asked quite often is, "Why doesn't WUSTU-TV broadcast the home football games?"

Chance has presently video-taped the home football games and broadcasts them on Mon. and Tue. night.

Eugene Dyvig, operations manager of WUSTU-TV, said games are not broadcast live because a ruling by the National Collegiate Athletic Association doesn't allow it.

This year broadcast rights for televising NCAA games were purchased by the NIH-TElevision network.

"However," Dyvig explained, "NCAA rules permit us to broadcast the game any time after midnight the day the game is played."

Because WUSTU-TV isn't on the air on weekends, the games are broadcast Monday evenings.
NCAA Bars Miami From Tourney, Censures Navy and Michigan State

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA has barred Miami of Florida from participation in its annual post-season basketball tournament and slapped Michigan State and Navy with probationary sentences for recruiting violations.

The steps were taken Wednesday by the NCAA's 18-man policy-making council, which at the same time fined the first salvo in renewing the battle with the amateur Athletic Union over the right to sanction track and field competitions.

Four member schools — Western State of Colorado also was involved — were penalized by the NCAA for "excessive financial aid and recruiting violations," but only Miami was barred from post-season activity.

The ruling, which places Miami on probation for one year and bans the school from the NCAA basketball tournament as well as other major post-season affairs cooperating with the NCAA, came about because of an incident last year.

The council said a representative of "Miami's athletic interests" gave a basketball player free room and board and paid for his air travel for several trips made in 1963. Miami President Henry King Stanford said the violation was unintentional but the school respects the decision and will abide by it.

Michigan State was placed on probation for three years but additional sanctions were suspended because the school corrected the violations after the 1958-59 college year.

Navy received a one-year probation with no additional penalties.

Neither the Spartans nor the Midshipmen are banned from post-season activity under the ruling.

Western State was reprimanded and censured because it gave a wrestler a grant of $1,500 in 1960.

Dr. J. E. White, executive secretary of the NCAA, post-season affairs coordinator and member of the council, said the decision is not final but it will abide by it.

The ruling was made after the council considered a proposal by the NCAA athletic directors who recommended that the association retain the right to sanction theAndy Cresswell / Associated Press

Athlete Recovering From Amputation

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Doctors said Wednesday they are optimistic about saving the arm of Oklahoma State University basketball player Bob Swaffar, who lost the limb in an accident Sunday night.

Swaffar's arm was rejoined in a lengthy operation after it was torn off halfway between the shoulder and elbow.

Doctors reported bloodflow is good in the 20-year-old athlete's amputated arm.

The big dangers now, they said, are the possibility of infection and blood clots.

Swaffar's arm was caught in a laundry water extractor machine in the school fieldhouse at Stillwater.

DETROIT (AP) — Milt Plum, a man of few words, was pleased at being named Player of the Week in the National Football League.

"It's always great to see an honor such as that," said the Detroit Lions' quarterback.

The 29-year-old veteran signal caller received the Associated Press' weekly citation for his handling of the Lions in their 37-17 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Gene Mauch Gets AP Manager-of-Year Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies Manager Gene Mauch was playing golf Wednesday when he learned he had been named National League Manager of the Year for 1964 in the annual Associated Press poll. Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost the title by a slim margin in 1963, was at second for Scrapper Sawyer. Post-season affairs coordinator and member of the council, said the decision is not final but it will abide by it.

"I don't remember how well I played after I found out," Mauch said.

He indicated, however, that the title meant more to him the first time he won it, in 1962.

"I don't remember how well I played after I found out," Mauch said.

"The circumstances are quite different this time," he said.
