STUDENTS ASK '200, Btu, dent was presented to Unger, freshman member of the last Monday asking, "The votes of the student council members on all issues, including those of the Student Council meetings, be made open to student inspection." The Council will hold elections for the next term of office, and the new members will be announced at the next meeting.

The proposed change has been approved by the Student Council, and the petition will be submitted to the student body for a vote. The petition will be distributed to all members of the student body, and a vote will be taken.

The petitioners believe that the proposal will increase the transparency of the Student Council meetings and will make the meetings more accountable to the student body. They hope that the proposed change will be approved by the student body.

More and Better Prepared
Teachers Needed For Primary And Kindergarten Levels

S. N. I. U. Elementary Curriculum has been revised to Meet These Increasing Needs

More and better prepared teachers are needed for the kindergartens and primary grades. The increased enrollment of students in these grades has created a need for more and better prepared teachers.

The curriculum of the S. N. I. U. Elementary Curriculum has been revised to meet these increasing needs. The new curriculum includes more and better prepared teachers.

The new curriculum will be implemented in the fall of this year. The teachers will be trained in the new curriculum before the beginning of the school year.

Families all over the nation will gather around festive tables tomorrow to observe Thanksgiving Day, held nearly to jubilantly as "Thanksgiving Day" since Franklin Roosevelt moved the day up a week.

When one recalls that Roosevelt is the third president to transform the nation's Thanksgiving observances, there is no question as to the relation between this day and politics.

Of course, the celebration itself goes back to the old thanksgiving story of Pilgrim Rock. After hard winter, during which almost half the Pilgrims died, Governor William Bradford declared the fall of three good weeks in 1621. Upon this day the natives gave thanks to God for a joyful harvest.

A century and a half later, George Washington, apparently disturbed with the way this holiday had been observed, set aside the third Thursday in November as a national annual Thanksgiving celebration.

In 1863, Abraham Lincoln made Thanksgiving a national holiday. He gave the last Thanksgiving in the White House at which the first lady was present. This is said to have been Lincoln's last public appearance.

For example. I wish that Mr. Wood could explain just a "small group might profit" from the boarding schools. If you ask the boy simply and directly, you will find in many cases that he is actually afraid to admit that he was there: he is afraid to confess to the faults that have been committed and to the stupidities that he has been guilty of.

It is interesting to note, however, that no changes have been declared by three great presidents, during three very critical periods in United States history. The change occurred while the coalition was struggling for survival. Under the first president, the second change was made during a period of great national success. Under the third president, the nation has been witnessing its greatest period of social reform.

STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT INSULTS ITS MEMBERS BY SAYING SECRECY IS NEEDED

Believes Fear Is Real Reason For Council's Refusal to Publish Votes on Personalities

By W. W. REYNOLDS

As if we needed Auckland's,Munsingwear ads or enhanced television to sell us our student leaders. It's as if we needed a government leader telling us that a Council member was actually interested in doing his job. It doesn't seem to have a lot of meaning...

In this issue, it is the student council which is going to charge the student members with neglecting their duties and failing to do their civic duty.

It is true that the students have a different philosophy of life. They have a different philosophy of education and of the meaning of education. They have a different philosophy of life and of the meaning of life. They have a different philosophy of the meaning of life.

So far, recent students have complained about the increasing emphasis on personality. As far as we can see, the emphasis is on the personality of the students who are elected to the council.

In recent years, some of the emphasis on personality has been on the students who are elected to the council. It is not the personality of the students but the personality of the council that is being emphasized.

In this issue, the students have a different philosophy of life. They have a different philosophy of education and of the meaning of education. They have a different philosophy of life and of the meaning of life.

I think that this first-year student of the Council members has a thorough understanding of the different rules of order. I would like to quote from page 184 of the book of Roberts' Rules of the City Council. The rules are not really, if suitably used in legislative bodies, but in ordinary societies especially salutary, it is usually said.

As far as we can see, the emphasis is on the personality of the students who are elected to the council. It is not the personality of the students but the personality of the council that is being emphasized.
