AND WATCH OUT FOR BOOBY TRAP

NEW YORK CITY.

Mr. F. P. Rockwell, administrative assistant of the United States, has said that the American people should not let their guard down for a moment, for there are still dangers lurking behind every corner.

There is no question that the war is far from over. The Axis powers have not yet been defeated, and there is still much to be done. However, we must not become complacent. We must remain vigilant and continue to fight until the war is over.

The war has been a long and difficult one, but we have made progress. The United States has played a crucial role in the war, and we have given our support to our allies. We have also played a major role in helping to defeat the Axis powers.

The war has been a test of our character and our resolve. It has been a test of our strength and our will. We have faced many challenges, but we have overcome them.

We must continue to fight until the war is over. We must not give up. We must not lose sight of our goal. We must continue to work for a better future.

Mr. Rockwell has said that the war is not yet over. He has urged us to remain vigilant and to continue to fight until the war is over.

We must remember that the war is not yet over. We must continue to work for a better future. We must continue to fight until the war is over.

We must not give up. We must not lose sight of our goal. We must continue to work for a better future.

A FRESHMAN'S VIEW OF HOMECOMING

Dear Editor,

As I walked across the campus today, I was struck by the many young people I met. It's hard to believe that we are already at the halfway point of our school year. It seems like just yesterday that we were all gathered here for the first time, eager to start a new year of learning and growth.

What a time it has been! Despite the challenges we have faced, our school community has come together in so many ways. From the academic to the extracurricular, there is a sense of unity that I have never felt before. I am grateful to be a part of this community, and I look forward to what the second half of the year will bring.

Sincerely,
