Homecoming returns again
HALLOWE'EN IS HERE, TOO.

In all the excitement of Homecoming, it seems that a lot of people have forgotten that Halloween's coming along next Tuesday, October 31, to add an extension to the gala festivities of Homecoming week-end. And that can't be helped, if you have been reminded, because it's difficult to resist the excitement of a real holiday. Let's hope that this can be done without too much carelessness. Anyone will be able to do something to make sure that the night will not be spoiled for the many who are looking forward to it. But no matter what you do, it's impossible to resist the temptation to put on a costume and go out on the town. It's one of the great delights of the season.

THE OTHER DAY

by Paul Johnson

The next day he went out to the market and bought a new suit. He was very pleased with it and said to his wife, "This is a great improvement in the way men dress these days." His wife replied, "Yes, it is. But I think we should buy a car." He said, "That would be nice, but I think we should wait until we have more money before we buy anything." This led to a long conversation about the wisdom of buying a car before you have enough money to pay for it.

UP TO NOW!

Robert Browning pretty well summed up all the details about certain national events by saying, "I must hear Wise talk of the kind of weather. Sort of matters, time of year!" But nevertheless it remains a popular subject of conversation. "When summer comes," Browning says, "how will it affect the crops?"

"It is the easy way out of a difficult situation - a mere of deception. When people are old and have lived long enough, they can arrive at some other topic of mutual interest, they concern themselves with the state of the atmosphere. Then they are older when one afternoon is going to be able to please everybody with his opinions on some controversial issue, there is always the weather as a safe alternative.

But about the weather with which we are particularly concerned, "Oh for the summer and the sun!" says Browning in greeting of giving us a recent week-end of Homecoming this year. Anyone can see that it has been good rope-making, what not? Bringing weather is nothing sort of a subject either hot or cold. But in my scores of years, rather more or less, there have been more similar forecasts. Homecoming was entirely organized. One particular was 1941 when it turned cloudy and soaked all morning so that by game time it was miserable. But, who knows?" The sun might peek out after trick that he used in the grade school classes. How many can remember certain scenarios where a sunny week-end of weak building school and various outdoor activities is always rain? Let's hope that nothing like that happens this week.

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

By BEAVERS (LESAHRA)

Like the self-appointed sex detective of television, the little fellow sashays along, leering and sniffing, and then, suddenly and unexpectedly, he makes a speech. He pauses, as if Bolts is taking a breath, and his eyes narrow, as if he were thinking. As he steps forward, he makes a gesture with his paw, as if he were pointing at something. He then begins to speak, his voice rising and falling as he goes. His eyes gleam with excitement, and he waves his tail, as if he were showing off.

BROOKS SIGNAL

The signal of the 21st century is a roar in the distance, the clatter and crunch of a distant train. In the city, it is the sound of traffic, the hum of engines, the chatter of people. In the country, it is the sound of wind, the rustling of leaves, the trill of birds. It is the sound of life, the sound of the world.

WOODS TALK

A recent study of the way deer feed in the woods revealed that they are more selective than previously thought. The study, which was conducted by a team of biologists, found that deer are capable of distinguishing between different types of plants and choosing the ones they prefer. This is important because it means that deer are not just feeding on whatever is available, but are actively selecting the plants that are most nutritious.

MERGER

A merger between two major companies, ABC and XYZ, is expected to be announced next week. The companies have been in negotiation for several months and have reached an agreement on the terms of the merger. The combined company will be headquartered in New York and will have a market capitalization of over $10 billion. The merger is expected to create significant synergies and generate substantial savings.

HOMECOMING THIS YEAR WILL SEE DUPLICATION OF VETERANS' PARADE OF 1921

Homecoming will repeat itself for those on campus who remember the first homecoming of ISUI held on Armistice Day, November 11, 1921. It was a weekly newspaper and also initiated the tradition of Homecoming which has since become a big event in the school year.

A striking similarity is noted in one respect, namely, the feature of ex-service men in the parade. In 1921 there were 61 ex-service men registered at the college and free to the ready. These few faculty members who had served in the army. These few faculty members who had served in the army were invited to bring their uniforms and parade.

Our veterans will be featured in the parade next Friday, five of whom will escort the American Legion colors and flag. There are approximately 35 veterans enrolled in school this term,

In the past Homecoming the students were asked to concentrate on matching the colors of the class and asked invitations to those. The tradition, if it could be called next, included a school program. Following an address by the Rev. Walter W. Whitten, of Bra-tford, he recited of the college, Acacia was the class and 1911-12. was the date as this program.

The parade theme will be along the same lines.

A float planned for the Homecoming is the city of Chicago. The parade will include other floats and may include others.
