Egyptian Urges Students To Patronize Advertisers

FAITHFUL ADVERTISERS MUST BE SUPPORTED

Egyptian Thanks Carbondale’s Loyal Advertisers

Down through the ages, radicals, socialists, economists, communists and thousands of other numerous “ists” have held to the theory that capital is not necessary to run this universe. Now and then there have been people foolhardy enough to try this. Most of them either starved, committed suicide or became a permanent inhabitant of that infamous institution, the poor house. Well, this is neither here nor there and we are neither socialists or communists. We have learned by a process of collection and expenditure that of all things difficult to secure in the publication of the Egyptian, money is the hardest to get and the easiest to get rid of.

So much for theory. Practically, 75 percent of the cost of each Egyptian must be paid for by our advertisers. I fear we are slightly inaccurate when we speak of the Egyptian as “our paper” or as the “school’s paper,” for without the aid of the business men of Carbondale, the Egyptian would be as flat financially, as the proverbial pancake.

Few people realize the significance of advertisements, so we take this means of calling your attention to them. Read the advertisements in The Egyptian as thoroughly and heartily as you read the “Wee Wunder Column.” You will find that those advertisements will save you a vast amount of time, money and effort.

Window shopping will be unnecessary or at least a pleasure. If you follow the advertisements you will know the exact cost of the article which you see displayed. In addition you will be sure of securing the best quality for the least money. Students of the S. I. N. U. spend thousands of dollars annually in Carbondale. They do this because business men of Carbondale always have what they want when they want it. There is no friction between business men and students. This is unique in

CARBONDALE WINS FROM CARTERVILLE, 1 TO 0

Maroons Even Up Tally From Last Week

Last Thursday the Maroons met Carsterville on the Maroons’ own field and defeated them 1-0 in the last of the ninth inning, when Hartley singled to right field with Staley and Johnson on second and third. The batteries for Carbondale were: Pursell catcher, Pankey pitcher.

The game was close all the way through. Neither side was able to get a good number of hits. The Maroons could hit the ball, but could do nothing with it. Almost every time they hit the ball it was a fly right into the opponents’ hands. Carsterville’s main trouble was in hitting the ball. From the opinion of the writer, the Maroons had the better pitcher, but Carsterville outclassed us in field work, especially the outfield.

“What we need is some good hard work during the next week.”

When we played Carsterville the preceding week they beat us in the ninth inning and play it off some other time, but Hartley, who was late and not put in the game till the last inning, surprised the spectators as well as himself when he started scoring Staley from third, thus ending the game.

A few games like this one and the students will take some interest. Following is the box score:

DELPHIC LITERARY CLUB
VISITS 5.1. N. U. SOCIETIES

Mr. Richard Browne Brings the Marion H. S. Society to Our Campus

Last Friday, night Mr. Browne brought the Delphic Literary Society of Marion Township High School to Curbedale to visit the literary societies here. The group divided and part went to visit each society. The Socratic Harmony Six was a big attraction and many were heartily entertained there, while Mr. Browne and the others came to the Zetetic program. Neither society had planned any extra program for that evening, but both programs were exceptionally good. (That is, we thought so, and "wee wonder" what the Marion students thought about them—maybe they had better be the critics.)

Richard Browne, the son of Professor G. W. Browne, is a teacher in M. T. H. S. now, and was formerly an active Zetetic. Now he tells us that he has organized the Delphic Society on the same lines, and for the same general purpose that the Zetetic Society stands for. Not only this, but he said that he knew of several other former Zetetics who now are directing and promoting literary societies in their respective schools—all are modeled after the Normal societies.

This visit was greatly appreciated by the organizations here, and we wish to state that the Delphic or any other neighboring societies will always be welcomed to our meetings. Come again, M. T. H. S.

ANTHONY HALL
Mary Virginia Linder and Ruby Lee spent last weekend visiting at the home of the latter in West Frankfort.
Elsa Young visited in Alto Pass last weekend with Mildred Anderson.
Mattie Hall, Viola Gaskins and Carmen Stone spent the week-end visiting in Harrisburg.
Julia Bohmer and Iah Jackson visited in West Frankfort last week-end.
Gail Bayton motored to Inka to visit relatives and friends Saturday.
Genevieve Owen and Ada Dale chose Fairfield for their place of visit Saturday.

Mary Hall spent the week-end in Inka.

Other girls away for the week-end were Miriam Doolittle, Mary Loomis, Nell Munal, Esther Roberts, Effie Lloyd and Norie Hall.

Faithful Advertisers

a college town. As students we especially owe a debt of gratitude to the advertisers that have faithfully supported "The Egyptian." They have made the paper a real thing. What would our school be without "The Egyptian"? Here is a list of the steadfast advertisers that have made the maintenance of the Egyptian possible this year:

John, Vancil & Taylor.
I. W. Dill Co.
The Yellow Flood Taxi.
Jesse J. Winters.
Wilhelm Drug Co.
P. B. Spear.
Carboland Candy Kitchen.
The Fashion Bootery.
Cragg's Studio.
C. E. Gim.
Dr. W. A. Brandon.
The Style Shop.
Union Baking Co.
E. E. Rushing Drug Co.
Martin, "The Jeweler."
Prince.
J. A. Patterson.
Sam Patterson.
Hewitt's Drug Co.
Imperial Cafe.
The Faultless Cleaning & Dyeing Co.

Make a mental note of each one of these advertisers. Be sure that you know the location of their place of business and be sure to go there often. They have supported your paper; now you support them. Remember we have found that money is necessary. They will find it as convenient and useful as we have. Students, you must patronize our advertisers so they can patronize us. You seem to be the ultimate source of the Golden Book that flows through the Valley of Our Advertisers, rushes swiftly through the Channel of the Egyptian into the Domains of the Printer. After all, I suppose it is "your paper."

The Socrates Literary Society have changed their spring play. The one selected now is "The Whole Town's Talking."
I dent should co-operate in every way with the business men. Are there any merchants and leading men of the city each year. Every loyal student should co-operate in every way with the business men. Without the aid of these men the task is at hand. Remember that no matter how dark the night may be, there is always a dawn coming.

SCHOOL FRIENDSHIPS

We meet, we pass, and we forget. Or do we forget? Aren't there, still lingering in the fringes of our consciousness, some pleasant memories of past friendships of our school days? If, those friendships, made spontaneously and lived through without a thought of the future, are remembered with a twinge at our heart-strings, surely these friendships which we are forming now in our learned maturity are at least worth a thought.

There is a vast difference between an acquaintance and a friend. An acquaintance may be someone you have met and associated with involuntarily, while a friend means infinitely more—someone to whom you can confide your innermost thoughts. True friendship takes place on a higher plane than the ordinary life of the individual would seem to indicate.

The true joys and the real values of friendship are usually not recognized until for some reason this friendship is broken. Then we see wherein we failed, if we did fail, to make the most of it. Friendship means sacrifice, so always be willing to give something and do something to aid in raising it to the level it deserves. What if your friends do have their faults? So do you! Think of that the next time you feel like criticizing someone, and don't do it, for the only danger in friendship is that it will end.

COMMENCEMENT IS COMING

Golden Moments

EACH AND ALL
By Ralph Waldo Emerson

Little thinks, in the field, you red-cloaked clown
Of thee from the hill-top looking down;
The heifer that lows in the upland farm,
Far-heard, lows not thine ear to charm;
The sexton, tolling his bell at noon,
Deems not that the great Napoleon
Stops his horse and lists with delight,
Whilst his files sweep round you Alpine height;
Nor knowest thou what argument
Thy life to thy neighbor's creed has lent.
All are needed by each one;
Nothing is fair or good alone.

MERCHANDIS, ATTENTION!
The value of this school and its student body to the merchants of Carbondale is great beyond comparison. It is the belief of many Carbondale merchants, without reason, that they are not benefited by the school being located here. This belief is the result of surface thinking, plus a little self pity. Let me tell you, Mr. Merchant, that the students of this Teachers' College spend over one half million dollars a year in this town. If you do not receive their trade directly you are benefited by the trade of the people who are directly benefited by the school. This article is just a reminder to many of the business men that they do not show their appreciation. We ask you for an "ad" that we may support a student enterprise. You fail us. Think, Mr. Business Man; you fail those who make up a large part of your business. These people contributing much more to you—thousands of times more than they ask in return. Think what five hundred dollars means divided among the business men of Carbondale. Can you fail to give an "ad" to this paper without hurting your conscience?
ALMA Mater Dict

Mother, am I of the multitudes,
Dreaming all day on the jewel-green lawn;
Yearning and waiting for those who will come,
Sighing, alas, o'er those who have gone.
Had they a joy that I failed to share?
Dreamed they a dream that I knew not of?
They who had fed at my life's warm stream,
Could they plumb the depths of a mother's love?
Do the harpies of evil their footsteps dog?
My heartstrings throb to that distant call,
But we may not live our loved one's life.
They may eat life's honey; they must drink its gall.

Ah, fain I'd have gone with them all the road,
But I might not leave and they might not stay,
So I wait the echoes, that drifting in Tell me the part that they choose to play.
Their place must be filled with the faces new,
With lives still ungrayed by the world's grim toll,
My place to inspire and lead and teach
And light them the way to a distant goal.
Mother, am I of the multitudes,
Dreaming all day on the jewel-green lawn,
Brooding and longing for those who will come,
Sighing and praying for those who have gone.

SENTENCE SERMONS
Any man is free——
To choose those companions who will enlarge his life.
To fight against the evil within him,
That is defeating him.
To sing a song, no matter how the battle is going.
To add new efforts to his effort every day,
To close his heart to envy, covetousness and hatred,
To air out his mind once in a while with a good book.

Ordinary men gain
Much by associating with extraordinary men.
Their chief advantage through extraordinary efforts.
Nothing by trying to appear extraordinary.
Everything through extraordinary persistence.
Their sweetest victories after extraordinary endeavors.

THE SENSIBLE MAN
Wastes no worry over the chances that are gone.
Is one who never tries to disguise himself as "advanced thought."
Knows that no lie or subterfuge ever makes any road smoother.
Does not expect perfection in his friends.
Strange animals and people will be in our campus May 6th.

CIVILIZATION'S MONUMENTS

 Stranger in City—"What is that splendid structure whose golden dome I see rising above the skyline in the distance? Is it some church?" Local Citizen—"No, that is our new filling station, which breaks all records for size and cost."

 Stranger—"And what is that monumental edifice on the next square?
Perhaps it is the city library."
Citizen—"No, that is the new mov-

 Stranger—"New don't disappoint me this time. What is that wonderful skyscraper over there, which seems to be as busy as a hive of bees? Is that the college?
Citizen—"No, that is our radio bargain house."

 Stranger—"Just one more and then I'll let you go. What is that colossal specimen of architecture which owers like a giant over all the other objects in the business district?
Citizen—"Oh, that's the five-and-ten cent store."

THE ONE ULTIMATE TRAGEDY

The policeman, hearing the shot, burst into the fashionable apartment.
Crinizing before him on the floor was the crumpled figure of a woman weeping hysterically, "a smoking pistol clutched in her trembling fingers.
"My husband! Oh, my husband!"

she moaned.

"Control yourself, lady," urged the officer. "Where is the corpse?"

"Gone," sobbed the woman. "He went out through the window. I—I missed him."

MISTAKE SOMEWHERE

A young man once submitted a poem to William Dean Howells, "I think it is a magnificent poem," was the verdict. "Did you compose it unaided?" "Yes, sir," said the young man firmly. "I wrote every line of it out of my own head." Mr. Howells rose, and said: "Then, Lord Byron, i am very glad to meet you. I was under the impression that you had died at Missolough a good many years ago!"
