SIU Cagers to Meet Indiana State

Housing Bills To Be Early

An advanced billing procedure to remind students of upcoming housing payments has been initiated by Housing Office, Robert E. Maurath, assistant coordinator of housing. Students were notified at the end of fall term to remind them of payments due Jan. 4, 1965. Bills include the Jan. 4 payment plus any earlier payments due, Maurath said.

In other words a student who pays three times a quarter should have received a bill for the $85 due Jan. 4 for the first third of winter term, plus any overdue payment for fall term housing. On each bill is a billing date. If a student has made his payment later than this date, he should disregard the bill.

Students paying by the quarter owe $265. Maurath said the office hopes to send bills a month ahead of the time payment is due.

Students Express Opinions On Health Service Move

By Roland Gill

When news hit the campus of the proposed moving of the Health Service to Small Group Housing B, it generated immediate opinions from SIU students.

Favorable or unfavorable attitudes toward the shift usually depended on where the student lived.

On-campus students reacted favorably to the idea, while some off-campus residents showed immediate dislike for the move.

Suzanne Shelton, freshman from Paducah, Ky., majoring in Spanish, and Andrea G. Bugalski, a junior English major from Christopher, both live at Baldwin Hall at Thompson Point. They agreed that the move is a great idea, because the facilities will be much better now.

On the other hand, Judy Bowman, a senior living at 400 W. College St., responded to the news with, "Moving way out there is a terrible idea; It may be great for the Greeks, but for us off-campus students it's terrible."

Darrell Murphy, a University-City resident, said, "It sure will be a long walk." Murphy, a sophomore pre-engineering major from Pittsburg, agreed, however, that the new location would be a much better building.

"It certainly is a lot cleaner looking than that shack on the other side of the tracks," he said.

"I'm in favor of it," was the reaction of Al Burk, a sophomore in Plan A Curriculum, "The new building will give the expanded facilities which are so badly needed," he added.

"Money the move will do away with the three-hour waiting sessions to see a doctor," hoped Carla Phelps, an off-campus student. Carla, a senior kindergarten-primary education major from Joliet, added, "We might be dead when we get there after walking that far, but it's a great idea."

An altruistic opinion was offered by Bill Kilpatrick, a freshman history major from Elmwood, Bill, also off-campus, said, "It will be closer for more people over there and will do more people more good, I think it's a good idea."

Tonight's opponent has won six of its first 10 games, but has scored a steady 75 points a game in its last four tests. The Salukis have scored a steady 70 points a game in its last four tests.

Taking credit for only one of the three victories is Duane Klueh, discovered earlier this week that he was the only player to participate in an amateur tournament in violation of National Collegiate Athletic Association rules.

Starting guard Curt Crittenden, in 14 minutes, is eligible because of his participation in the tournaments and Indiana State Bill. Cubs will have been hit as the hands of a pair of the finest teams in the country. The University of California at Los Angeles, the nation's top-ranked major college team, clubbed Indiana State 112-76, and third-ranked Michigan beat them 108-65.

Crittenden's loss is one of the possibilities the Salukis will have to cope with tonight. The Salukers second leading scorer, forward Lenny Long, suffered a concussion in Wednesday's game with Hawaii and will be out of action. The 6-5 senior had two double doubles and had picked up 19 points before his injury midway in the first half.

Coach Klueh will go with Fred Green, 6-2. Curt Crittenden, Joe Wardell, a 6-3 junior averaging 10.6 points a game, and the team's other forward will be Don Pope who moved up to start for the injured Crittenden. The 5-8 senior was a starter last year, but is averaging less than four points a game so far as a reserve.

Teaming with Pope at the guard spot will be Rich Blinn, a flashy young playmaker, Edgerton has improved considerably since the start of the season in Long's place tonight. The 6-5 senior is averaging less than four points a game so far as a starter.

The penalty for operating a car without the authority of the University or for disciplinary action, including suspension from the University.
Bossings' Cookie-Tasting Party
To Have International Flavor

Nelson L, Bossing, professor of secondary education, and Mrs. Bossing will entertain foreign students with an international cookie-tasting party at their home from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The party will be the last of a series of cookie-tasting fetes for SIU foreign students sponsored by the Bossings. Four similar parties were given on Dec. 24, Dec. 27, Dec. 29, and Jan. 3. This series of the parties was planned for those foreign students who could not leave Carbondale through the holidays, to help them get acquainted with each other. Some 200 foreign students have been guests of the Bossings.

Mrs. Bossing has made the cookies from recipes collected from 20 countries. The reception on Jan. 10 is particularly for new foreign students entering SIU this quarter.

The Boslings' home is at 804 Skyline Dr., Carbondale. Transportation to the party will be arranged.

WSIU Announces Radio Auditions

EU's radio station, WSIU, will hold auditions Monday and Tuesday nights from 7 to 10 at the studios in T-37. Students interested in announcing, network broadcasting, sports announcing, or writing are invited. Anyone interested in any other facet of radio broadcasting is also welcome to attend the tryouts. No previous radio experience is necessary.

PLAN BRIDGE LUNCHEON — Committee members of the SIU Women's Club are planning the organization's annual lunchbox and bridge party, to be held at 1 p.m. Jan. 16 in the University Center ballroom. The members are Mrs. Robert O'Sullivan, in charge of decorations; Mrs. Troy Edwards and Mrs. Robert Gallegly, cochairmen; and Mrs. Carlton F. Ranche, publicity chairman.

Deadline for reservations, at $2 each, is Tuesday. They can be made to Mrs. Paul Lounsbury or Mrs. Howard French. Guests of club members are also invited to attend.

Absence of Senator Brings Heated Debate
In Year's First Meeting of Student Council

At their first meeting of the year, Student Council members waged a long verbal battle over the constitutional powers of the presiding officer to excuse the absences of student senators. The meeting moved along smoothly at first with a roll call, reading of the minutes, a few announcements and some postponed old business. Then, the fireworks began.

Under new business, Bill H, Carel, senator from the College of Education, told the Council that Ann M. Antoniono, senator from General Studies, had missed more than two meetings. He said that under Council bylaws she should be impeached automatically.

Don Grant, presiding officer of the Council, said he and Pat Micken, student body president, had talked to the student senator previously to her absence from the meeting and they had excused her. Upon hearing this, James R. Standard, senator from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, asked why Grant thought he could excuse a student senator from meetings.

Grant replied that Miss Antoniono had given him extenuating circumstances, and he and Micken had decided that she could be excused. Grant, hastily thumbing through the Council constitution, explained that he, along with advice from Micken, had decided Miss Antoniono should be temporarily excused because of extenuating circumstances.

Carel, who himself had been impeached at the beginning of fall quarter and then re-elected, persisted and said Miss Antoniono had missed four meetings, not two, and that she should be recognized as impeached.

He then made a motion to this effect, and included that Howard F. Bencos, election commissioner, schedule an election in two weeks to fill the vacated seat.

The motion was seconded, but in order for the Council to act on the issue, two-thirds of those present must be in favor of voting on the motion. The required two-thirds was not registered, so instead of voting on the motion, the problem was opened for further discussion.

Again the argument waged back forth until Grant cited the following:

According to the Council's constitution, "any senator who is absent from more than two meetings, without a proxy, is automatically impeached unless there is extenuating circumstances."

Grant continued that there was such circumstances, and that he, as presiding officer, had the power of impeachment — at least for one more meeting.

Grant said he will check on Miss Antoniono to find out if she is present at the next meeting, he will call for her impeachment.

Future U.S.-Soviet Relations Is Big Question

World Problems Press Johnson for Decisions

By James Marlow
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—In one of the most vital areas of all—foreign affairs—the new year starts off with questions marks dangling over the United States and the Soviet Union.

There’s no doubt about where President Johnson stands on domestic affairs. He has talked about them a thousand times and laid down a huge program in his State of the Union message to Congress.

But still unknown, after his more than 13 months in office, is how he will perform and what he will propose in the foreign field.

This is also true of Nikita Khrushchev, successor to the new Soviet leaders, Alexei N. Kosygin and Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party chief. In his message, Johnson invited them over here.

Johnson consistently has spoken so mildly, and so little, about foreign problems that his restraint had to be deliberate, although this is in keeping with his technique of creating no unnecessary conflicts or antagonisms.

The net result is the picture of a man who didn’t want to get involved or commit himself in dilemmas overseas until he had straightened out things at home. This paid off well, as the election showed.

Ever since they bounced Khrushchev out of his job as premier last fall and out of the Kremlin picture altogether, the new Kremlin leaders have played about as mum as Johnson.

They haven’t shown any more initiative or imagination in foreign policy then Johnson. At this point the West can hardly pretend to say what direction they will take or how difficult they will be to get along with.

They sounded more than ungracious—they sounded dull, hackneyed, unsure and negative—in their reaction to Johnson’s invitation and the mild tone of his message on Communism in general.

They didn’t say anything directly, but they did indirectly, through their government-controlled press and radio, which practically accused Johnson of double-talk when he talked of peace and talked of staying in Viet Nam.

Various reasons could be conjured up to explain this criticism—for example, an attempt to chill any desire on the part of their European satellites for friendlier relations with this country. All might have some validity.

But underneath lay this one consistency on their part: their almost totally speechless performance since Khrushchev’s departure.

What the West can’t even tell yet is whether the present two-

man leadership is just a temporary arrangement until a single leader can be agreed on.

In short, the Soviet leadership up till now gives the impression of being unsure of itself.

Johnson’s gestures toward the Soviet Union cannot be taken as a policy unique with him. He inherited it from Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy who worked to build it up.

Johnson would have caused a sensation if he had acted any other way. But his up-till-now tactics of subordinating foreign policy positions to domestic ones can go on much longer, if only one spot, Viet Nam, is taken as an example.

With the repeated defeats of the American-backed forces there and the steady disintegration of the government, Johnson will have to make new decisions, his own, to find a solution.

New Organization Like Viet Cong Adds to Peril in Malay

By Edward Neilan
Copley News Service

HONG KONG—Still another Viet Cong-like organization has popped up in Southeast Asia.

This time it is in the Malaysian state of Sarawak on the Island of Borneo, and it is adding to the war peril in this hot-spot of the “confrontation” instigated by Indonesian President Sukarno against Malaysia.

The deteriorating situation between the two countries, heightened by Sukarno’s announcement that he was pulling Indonesia out of the United Nations because a seat on the Security Council had been denied for Malaysia, also has brought on a renewed flurry of terrorist activities.

The first paratrooper contingents of what will be a 1,000-man British police to help neutralize and root out possible Indonesian attack, have begun arriving from Singapore. But there also has ordered an aircraft carrier and several cruisers to the Malaysian area. British ship crews also are being flown in to man activated reserve fleet ships in Singapore.

Malaysia also has sanctioned “hot pursuit” against large-scale guerrilla attacks, which would authorize its troops to cross the borders of Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo) to pursue guerrillas into Indonesian territory.

Lending new aid to the Indonesian front is the new Sarawak Viet Cong-style multiracial front group, which calls itself the “North Kalimantan National Liberation League,” is supported by the underground Sarawak Communist Party. North Kalimantan is the Indonesian name for North Borneo.

Judging from documents captured by the Malaysian Army, the organization bears close resemblance to the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam, which is the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong.

The group has flourishing counterparts in Laos, Cambodia and, more recently, in Thailand. Like the Viet Nam Liberation Front which was formally launched four years ago, the North Kalimantan Liberation League has issued a manifesto, a constitution and a set of directives.

Captured documents instructed agents to recruit members from Malaysians of Chinese origin, non-Chinese are to be accepted “only with strict caution.”

According to the Malaysian government, the documents were captured last month in a village in the Borneo.

It is estimated that about 1,000 Chinese living in North Borneo crossed into Indonesian Borneo in 1962 and 1963 after Indonesia announced its confrontation of Malaysia.

Many of these Chinese have returned to the region after undergoing training by the Indonesians.
Steelworkers Election Delays Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The election feud in the United Steelworkers Union forced a recess in basic steel contract talks Friday, dampening hopes for an early settlement. The 11 steel companies involved in negotiations proposed a five-week recess. The union went along with it.

Presumably, the delay will add to the uneasiness in the steel and steel-using industries which always get a case of jitters during negotiation periods. Some buyers already have started to build up stockpiles out of fear of a strike.

Incumbent David J. McDonald is being opposed for the union presidency by U.S. Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel. The race has erupted into a heated verbal battle of charges and countercharges. Some one million USW members will vote Feb. 9.

8. Conrad Cooper, a U.S. Steel Corp. vice president who is the chief company negotiator, told a news conference the delay in negotiations increases the possibility of a living crisis in bargaining.

Cooper said the companies do not want to get drawn into the union election struggle, adding: "The companies have not forced a suspension of negotiations. We have simply forced a recognition of the facts of life regarding collective bargaining."

New Role for Chile Urged by Minister

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes recommends that Chile establish closer ties with the neutralist and Communist nations as part of an expanding world role.

"Chile must be an active element in the creation of a new world community, in which the underdeveloped countries of the so-called third world will play a decisive role," he said in a foreign policy address to the Senate made public Tuesday, hinting at closer ties with Red China, he said that Chile "has a destiny open toward the Pacific and, in a future which is not far away, continental China will open itself to exchanges in this area."

The BIG Inch

The BIG inch - bedside of itself, but when incorporated into a DAILY EGYPTIAN classified, it is mighty big. Let's see, 1 inch equals 10,000 (that's our circulation) is 10,000 inches. At a rate of only $1.00 for 20 words, that's nearly 10,000 inches for $1.00!

Who will need your 10,000 inches? Students just like you — faculty just like you — families just like yours — people just like the people you know.

Wilkinson's Matmen Face Iowa School Team Today

Jim Wilkinson and nine of his SIU wrestlers left Friday on a 375-mile trip to Fairfiled, Iowa, where they will face the University of Northern Iowa at 1:30 p.m. today.

Dan Geske, who wrestles in the heavyweight class, is in the only undecided entry for Southern.

Wilkinson plans only to use him in case a fall is needed to score an SIU victory.

If Geske does not wrestle, his place will be taken by Alf Harem, Harem is not operating at full strength either and, if the meet is not close, Wilkinson may forfeit the heavyweight class to Parsons. Wilkinson believes his squad's chances at all weight classes.

Southern's other entries include Don Devine at 132 pounds, newcomer Dave Pfarr at 147, and Thomas at 191. A Dan DiVito at 157 and Bob at 177.

The meet is expected to warm up the Salukis for their quadrangular meet next week at Oxford, Ohio. The SIU matmen will be facing wrestlers from the University of Cincinnati, Indiana State, and the host school, Miami of Ohio.

Cadet Bands Plan
To Play at Games

ROTC pep bands will provide entertainment for all home basketball games, Jim Lagente, conductor of the bands, had announced.

Two divisions of the band will divide the work, with one division performing at all games during the week and the other participating on Saturday.

Mighty Wichita Team to Give Salukis Hard Night's Fight

Southern's basketball team will face its toughest test of the season when it invades Wichita on Monday night.

The Shockers, who are ranked fifth in the Associated Press major college polls and have won nine of their first 11 games, both of the defeats have come from other highly regarded teams, the Shockers fell to St. Joseph's, the fourth-ranked team; and lost to a clipped five Michigan, 87-63 on a basket by Larry Russell at the buzzer.

Wichita's lineup is enough to frighten even the most stout-hearted opponent. The full roster of 11 men have a combined height of 90 feet. For the mathematically inclined, this is an average of just over 6-feet-5 inches per man. The Shockers have three men at 6-7, two at 6-8, and one each at 6-9 and 6-10.

Wichita also has an abundance of experience and depth to go along with the height. They have nine men back from last year's squad which posted a 23-6 record and advanced to NCAA final Four. The list of returnees is Dave Stallworth, whose eligibility expires three weeks after Monday's contest.

Salukis averaged 73.5 points a game in the season's first 11, 85.9 in a battle against Kent State's Butch Wade. The 6-4 sophomore flash averaged 15 points a game in the last four outings. The big man for the Salukis, however, is center Butch Wade. The 6-4 sophomore is averaging 25 points a game and is breaking school records right and left. In his first varsity game, Wade set a record for most points against Illinois State.

A couple of weeks later against Kent State, he made 18 straight free throws and wound up with 23 of 26 attempts for another pair of records. In the Ball State game the sophomore tallied 35 points and pulled down 18 rebounds.

Konishi Gets Grant From U.S. Agency

A $17,666 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service has been awarded to Frank Konishi, associate professor of food and nutrition, to support his research on the metabolism of liver and fat tissues.

Konishi last year received $37,890 from the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases for a three-year study of this obesity problem. Former radiobiologist with the U.S. Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory at San Francisco, Konishi joined the SIU School of Home Economics faculty in 1964.

City Planners OK 2 New Dorms

The Carbondale City Plan Commission has given its approval for the construction of two dormitories to be built on Graham and Wall streets, just north of East Freeman. Construction of the dormitories is scheduled to begin in the spring, and completion is expected to be completed by September.

Both of the three story dormitories will house 111 occupants each and will be served by a centrally located dining hall.

In other events Barbara Rondeman, chairman of the zoning commission, said that a hearing will be held on the 1/2 mile city zoning ordinance.

Robert A. McGrath, University registrar and vice chairman of the City Plan Commission, presided over the meeting in place of Chairman John F. Losegarn, University landscape architect.
