Kerner Declares ‘War on Crime’

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner asked the Illinois Legislature Monday to increase the state police force by 400 men, place controls on hand guns, and crack down on tavern gambling and drunken driving.

In a special message on law enforcement, Kerner also requested stiffer sentences for crimes of armed violence, payments to innocent victims of crimes, and regulation of motorcycles.

Many of the Democratic governor’s proposals already have been filed in the legislature by Republican leaders.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, GOP Senate majority leader, said Kerner “obviously has read our document and apparently is in accord with our recommendations.”

“We think this argues well for the war on crime in Illinois,” Arrington added.

Kerner recommended the legal limit of 1,100 state policemen be erased and funds appropriated to permit hiring of 200 additional men a year until the force reaches 1,500.

Another 100 state troopers are employed on the Illinois Toll Highway System.

Arrington noted Republicans have offered to boost the force by 200 men but he said, “This is an area where differences can be ironed out.”

Kerner also proposed basic pay hikes for state troopers and compulsory retirement at age 65.

Defensive Game Ends in Rout

Southern handed Evansville College its tenth consecutive defeat Monday night as the Aces dropped 55-41 in a give and take basketball game.

The Aces have scored the initial eight points of the night. They went on to open up leads of 10-1, 12-3 and 15-5 before the action grew slow and each side started committing fouling errors.

Basketballs grew scarce as action grew old in the first period, which finally ended with the Aces ahead 25-16. Even after the period ended and the games shifted to dressing rooms confusion set in, not with the respective teams’ defenses, rather between the referees and the scorekeeper.

The teams were called from the dressing rooms later than normal because the gun had not sounded even though time had run out.

So Evanville threw the ball in, all was made official and the teams once again retreated to the dressing rooms.

During that low scoring first half the Aces hit on only 18 per cent of their floor shots, while the Sabuki were compiling a more respectable reading of 41 per cent.

The second period didn’t start off any faster than the first finished. Southern out scored Evansville 13-5 through the final minutes.

Harriss ‘Beasts! Beauties’ on Exhibit in Gallery

The “Beasts! Beauties,” a one-man art show featuring the work of Harvey Sherman Harriss, associate professor of art at SIU, is currently on exhibit at the Diamond Mitchell Gallery at the Home Economics Building.

The show began with a reception for Harriss at 2-4 p.m. Sunday. The show will continue through Jan. 31.

Harriss came to SIU in 1960, after teaching at Louisiana State University, Louisville Art Center, University of Louisville, and the State University of New York, Oswego.

He has studies under Thomas Hart Benton, an American realist; Josef Albers, of the non-objective tradition; and Willard D. Kooning, an abstract realist.

Harriss has participated in over 70 shows throughout the Daily Egyptian.

High Court Finally Says
Token Integration Wrong

The fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has blown the whistle on token school desegregation. The court, in a 2-to-1 decision, held that the practice—exacerbated in the South by the Missouri and Mississippi declarations—has perpetuated a largely segregated public school system in the Deep South in defiance of the Supreme Court and Congress.

Upholding federal school desegregation guidelines, the court, in a 2-to-1 decision (the dissent was by segregationist- minded Judge Harold Clarke of Mississippi) declared: “Now after 12 years of small pace progress toward school desegregation, the courts are entering a new era. The clock has ticked the last tick for tokenism and delay in the name of ‘patience and prayer’ again.”

This means that the seven school districts involved in the cases before the court—extension all school districts in the South, must desegregate all grades next fall and achieve substantial faculty desegregation by the fall of 1964, a time when the court closed off virtually all maneuvering room for Southern officials bent on preserving segregated school systems. No juror who can local school officials declare responsible.

Lies About Bombing of Hanoi
Merely Add to Grievance List

It seems that we have lost something. And it’s not clear which it was when it was lost. At one time it was considered standard operation procedure for the United States government to at least keep the public informed of the truth.

Not lying to the populus was considered good form. And if there was an accoussional Hip-up, then it was at least expected that there would be a good deal of beat bearing. The United States has been bombing the city of Hanoi. This fact the North Vietnamese and a good number of other people consider deplorable.

But what is being overlooked is that the Pentagon and administration policy has been to lie about the situation.

No one doubted that if there is a war being carried out, then there must be military secrets.

But this was not a military secret.

It was a policy secret. The information was not released because those in charge feared the public reaction.

In the usual reports from all over the world describing the bombings, the United States insisted that it was their policy only to bomb military targets. There probably are military targets in residential areas of Hanoi. But, then why didn’t the Pentagon say that in the beginning instead of denying the charges?

This question first came to a head with the U-2 incident under the Eisenhower administration.

It was then renewed during the Cuban missile crisis of 1962.

But this time there doesn’t seem to be a ripple. It may well be that the big lie is now becoming part of the accepted procedure for dealing with unpopular situations.

Arthur Sylvester, who recently retired as assistant secretary for defense for public relations, was often criticized for managing the news.

After the Cuban crisis, it was admitted that he had intentionally misled the press. He defended his action by saying that a government had a right to lie in order to save its own life.

That’s one criterion. It’s a principle that doesn’t have much to do with either truth or democracy.

But even this weak guideline doesn’t apply to present government policy.

Nation’s High Crime Rate:
Disgraceful

It is ironic, but true, that Washington, the city under the direct control of Congress, is becoming one of the worst crime centers in the United States.

The President’s Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia has again confirmed this ugly trend.

What is appalling is the apparent breakdown in the crime-time machinery revealed in the commission’s study. It reported that in fiscal 1963 only about 14 per cent of the 10,822 adults arrested within the United States Attorney’s jurisdiction were prosecuted as felons, although almost half the arrests were on felony charges.

This poor record of prosecution would light on another grim statistic in the survey—that an astounding 92 per cent of felons convicted in the federal court in the District of Columbia had been arrested previously.

The study committee purports to be astonished at the high percentage of crime committed by juveniles, nearly 50 per cent of all major crime.

For one recommendation of the survey group, there certainly is no law enforcement—a proposed revision of the criminal code in D.C. to evaluate sentencing provisions and introduce new treatment provisions, such as rehabilitation programs for offenders.

This is coming glaringly apparent that not only the District of Columbia setup but the whole nation’s judicial and penal system is failing abysmally. The fact that those that society had assumed were being made useful citizens.

This then is a story of crime—fighting machinery falling all along the way.

It should be the job of the Ninetieth Congress to take the action of restorine police powers that have been eroded since Supreme Court rulings, and to take necessary action to see that those who are legally and justly enforced and prosecuted, but new and more effective means of rehabilitating criminals are developed. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Anti-Missile System May Get Confusing

By Arthur Hoppe
(San Francisco Chronicle)

"I have called this emergency meeting on national security, gentlemen," said the President, gravely, "to discuss the growing missile gap."

"Excuse me, Mr. President," said Dr. Werner, "missile gap? I am a professor of physics. I would like to say we still have 342 more missiles than they have. The problem is that they are developing anti-missile missiles with which to shoot down our missiles. And while we have more missiles than they, we fear they have more anti-missile missiles. This creates a missile gap."".

"Did you say 'missile gap'?" asked the stenotypist, Miss Carbondale.

"No," said Dr. von Teller, "'Anti-missile missiles' you have been hearing the 'anti' and the 'missile.'" Thank you," said Miss Carbondale.

"The danger," continued Dr. von Teller, "is that if they perfect an anti-missile missile that would destroy our missiles, they would then free to launch our missiles at them."

"Then why not build more missiles," asked the Secretary of Defense, shaking his head.

"But there is a company that is working on a new form of a Bill of Rights, and I believe they have a capital outlay which would require a billion dollars."

"I see," said Miss Carbondale.

“Yes,” the Secretary, “I am against the anti-missile missile. My cost projection analysis shows that an effective anti-missile missile system would require a capital outlay which would break us down to $97.32 per cent of our total cost. And that’s too high. We need a bigger bang for our buck."

"Well, there’s a third alternative,” said Dr. von Teller, "if we can develop a new missile in a couple of years, perhaps develop a small missile to be carried by our missiles. Thus, when our missiles were attacked by their anti-missile missiles, we could launch these anti-missile missiles to..."

"Pardon me,” said Miss Carbondale, "but what about the problem of the dangerous missile gap, and what if they’re already working on an anti-anti-missile missile system?"

"If you say ‘missile missile,’ sir?”

"Missile missile,” said the President, “But maybe we could build an anti-anti-missile missile which would be the anti-anti-anti-anti..."

The very next day the United States proposed a workable treaty for total disarmament.

Enormous War Costs Hurting U.S. Economy

By Robert M. Hutchins

On Dr. von Teller’s request, the President gave a speech about the cost of the war.

The war was costing the country $3 billion per month.

"What of progress on the home front? Seymour Melman, professor of industrial engineering at Columbia, estimates that if we are to deal effectively with our economic problems, if we are to avoid the problems of inflation, we shall have to spend at least $5 billion a year more than we are now."

Mr. McGeorge Bundy, President of the University of California, estimated that the loss of tax revenue, of the loss of productivity, of the loss of student service, would reach the figure of $3 billion per month.

"Now is there any body present who is anti-war?" asked the President.

"Hold on," said Mr. Melman, "we are in the midst of a war, and we must take into account the losses of the war."

Overseas Jobs Recruiter Due

Paul B. Altman, a representative of International Voluntary Services, Inc. (IVS) will visit the campus on Jan. 23 and 24 to discuss overseas opportunities.

IVS, founded in 1951 as a private, non-profit organization, provides small scale technical assistance and works directly with the people of developing countries. Over 200 volunteers are now in Southeast Asia in the fields of education, agriculture, rural development, and youth work.

Altman recently returned from a tour of duty in Laos where he taught English in a Laos high school and worked with local youth programs. He has a movie illustrating the work IVS is carrying out in Viet Nam which he will show to interested groups on campus. Those who want to talk with him about the opportunities for service with IVS may arrange an appointment through the Placement Services.

Russian Study Deadline Jan. 31

Deadline for applications for the 10-week Russian study tour will be Jan. 31, according to Joseph R. Kupcek, director. Enrollment will be restricted to approximately 25 participants and the cost per person from New York is expected to be about $1,000. The tour will offer a four-week intensive study of the Russian language at Moscow State University, and two weeks of study in Czechoslovakia. In addition, the group will travel through southern Russia and the central European countries before returning home.
Activities Office Releases New Rules for Trips

A new procedure for off-campus trips, effective this quarter, has been announced by Lyle Gohn, head of the Student Activities Office.

The trips are classified as either "academic" or "activity," Gohn said. The first involves those which are a part of regular course work for which the student receives University credit; the second are a regular part of the student organization or in connection with an all-campus activity.

Gohn said students are being advised to inform instructors of anticipated absences caused by either academic or activity trips. Formal reports will no longer be sent to the departmental offices, the announcement continued.

"All academic trips should be initiated with your academic dean," Gohn said. Forms will be available from the deans and must be filled out and returned to them for final approval, Gohn explained.

Forms for academic trips will no longer be sent to the Activities Office for approval, he added.

However, all requests for activity trips should be started with the Activities Office, where forms are available.

Either the Academic Deans or the Activities Office will return one copy of the request to you for your file. Likewise, one copy will be kept on file in either of the offices in case of emergencies or for faculty members who want to determine if a student is legitimately missing his class. Previously used trip permit cards signed by the parents will no longer be checked. This is now normally signed by parents at time of admission.
Syrian, Israeli Tanks Battle Along Frontier

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Heavy gunfire exploded Monday near the Syrian-Israeli frontier for the seventh time in nine days as Syria and Israel exchanged tank shells across their tense frontier.

A Syrian army communique claimed one Israeli tank was destroyed. Israel claimed it destroyed a Syrian tank and damaged a third.

The latest skirmish along the 47-mile border of rolling hills, split by a demilitarized zone, lasted about four hours and threatened for a time to develop into something more serious.

It followed a warning by Israel last week that it would not tolerate further Syrian bluffs against its security, and a counter warning from Damascus that Syrian forces were under orders to strike heavily against Israel in future flareups.

U.N. observers who man 10 points on the demilitarized zone apered into the fighting area in their white-flaged cars to investigate the hostilities. They managed to arrange a truce after four hours of shooting.

Border firefights have become almost routine between Syria and Israel, especially at this time of year, when farmers from both sides try to plow for planting in forbidden areas. But the frequency of the latest exchanges have increased the tension.

Extraordinary Precautions

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jury of six men and six women was selected Monday to try Bobby Baker on multiple charges. Six alternates—four men and two women—were picked.

The government and defense expressed satisfaction with the selection after a day of questioning a panel, and with Federal Judge Oliver Gasch taking extraordinary precautions to get and maintain a fair and impartial jury.

The jurors are expected to be sequestered until the jury would be locked up each night during the trial, which he said is expected to run from two months to 10 weeks.

Baker, 38-year-old former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority and confidant to many of the senators, including Lyndon B. Johnson, was watched attentively as the panel was questioned.

And as the jury and alternates were sworn, Baker arose and faced them.

The questioning began the trial three weeks ago, and was expected to include the issue of electronic surveillance or hotel or office suites of Baker acquaintances. The government maintains the admitted bug jamming by Baker had no connection with the indictments charging Baker with income tax evasion, larceny and conspiracy.

He was arraigned at the time of his indictment a year ago.

Baker emphasized that "both the accused and the government are entitled to have this case tried by a fair and impartial jury."

He recognized, Gasch said, that there would be extensive press coverage of the trial, and said that this is as in accord with the principles of American law as it could possibly be.

"I must also take note of the decision in the Sheppard case," he said. In that case the Supreme Court ruled that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was deprived of his constitutional right to a fair trial because the judge who convicted him of killing his wife wasn't shielded from prejudicial publicity. A second trial won him acquittal.

Baker sat at a table with his four attorneys, including the noted trial lawyer Edward Bennett Williams. Gasch first excused those who were familiar with Williams or the other lawyers. He excused those who had formed an opinion about the case. Remarkable that there had been news stories about the case, particularly in week-long magazines, Gasch asked the panel if they subscribed to or read regularly the following:

Many said they subscribed to one or more of the magazines; some said they read them; but none said they had formed an opinion from their reading.

Gasch asked also if anyone knew the senators and two members of the staff of the Senate Rules Committee. The Rules Committee, which conducted an investigation, issued a demurrer of Baker in June 1965, saying he used "the political influence of his public office to further his own needs."

Baker made $19,600 a year in his Senate post, but he built holdings which he estimated at worth $2 million in such diverse fields as vending machines, real estate, and law firm stock.

Lo Juiching, chief of the general staff, already has been described.

The Tokyo paper Asahi's correspondent in Peking said the capital's security police headquarters were closed and Red Guards were stationed in front of the building. He reported the action came apparently because headquarters was staffed with officers loyal to President Liu.

Nanking's city officials were said to have called on the army and security forces to carry out house-to-house raids on pro-Mao forces after bloody rioting in which 24 people were reported killed and 300 injured.

Clashes between Mao's young Red Guards and workers were reported last week in Peking, the old wartime capital of Beijing and several other cities. During the weekend, Chinese peasants stormed a pro-Mao rally in the Chouen Islands, at the gateway to Shanghai, killing many.

A factor in the new violence may have been the Maoist demotion of Tso Chu, the head of propaganda who had risen to No. 4 in the Chinese Communist party since the purge began. He was accused of siding with President Liu and Tseng Hai-lu-po, the party secretary general, in following a capitalist, pro-Soviet line.

As one blow in the conflict, Red Guards struck at Liu through his wife, Wang Kuang-ting. Red Guards posters said she was lured to a hospital Friday by a telephone call saying several of her daughters had been hurt in accidents.
VC Attack
U. S. River Facilities

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Viet Cong frogmen sank a huge American dredge while shellfire hit a British tanker and two South Vietnamese mine-sweepers Monday in a concentrated enemy assault on allied river traffic.

The American dredgeworkers were killed and another is missing as the $3-million Jamaica Bay, the fourth largest dredge in the world, sank in 20 feet of water near the Mekong River delta city of My Tho, 35 miles southwest of Saigon. The fourth was wounded.

Closer to Saigon, Viet Cong gunners raked a rifle fire on the 12,000-ton Shell Oil Co. tanker Haus- trum, wounding the vessel’s master and killing a Chinese crewman. But the vessel in the Long Tau River suffered only slight damage.

A new civilian tragedy was reported by U.S. spokesmen in the delta. Ten children were killed and 16 wounded when they and some adults were used as human shields by the Viet Cong in an attack on South Vietnamese rulers.

The rangers warned the Viet Cong not to fire, but the Communists opened up and the rangers had no choice but to retaliate, the spokesman said.

Air activity over North Vietnam was curtailed by bad weather and U.S. pilots flew only half the planned sorties Sunday, less than half the total for a good weather day.

Communist ground fire downed a U.S. AC 47 Dragon plane, of the type known as "Puff the Magic Dragon." It crashed 26 miles southwest of Quang Tri, a central coast, killing all seven crewmen aboard.

Ground fighting continued at a slackened pace, and no major engagements were reported by either the U.S. or Vietnamese military commanders.

With more than 390,000 military personnel in Vietnam, word came from Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., commander of the U.S. Marine Corps, that more American troops would be going. A new company was afloat.

At a news conference, the visiting commander said that Gen. William C., Westmoreland, commander of American forces in Vietnam, “is going to get more men.” He did not say how many, or when they would arrive.

Geography Legislation
Seats Julian Bond

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia’s enlarged legislature, its actions dominated by court decrees, quietly seated a twice-barred Negro member Monday and moved toward election of a governor Tuesday to resolve a popular-vote stalemate.

"The eyes and ears of the world will be focused on this chamber when a joint session is convened to unanimously one of the greatest governmental snarfles of our day and time," Speaker George L. Smith told the House.

"I know you are ready," he said.

Democrat Lester G. Maddox, who hit public view in 1964 with his cafeteria segregation stand, was favored heavily in the 259-member legislature which has 252 Democrats.

Maddox and Republican Howard H. Bo Callaway, a conservative who shifted to moderate views in the campaign, were thrown into a no-majority deadlock in the November election by write-ins for a third candidate.

Court rulings opened the way for the legislative election of a governor and the seating of Rep. Julian Bond, 26, Negro Democrat from At- lanta.

Bond, denied his seat a year ago, took the oath of office with a group of other members. There was no challenge, although Rep. James Floyd of Trion staged a one-man walkout in protest.

“I don’t want to be associated with a man who does not know whether or not he will come to office,” said Floyd, who took the oath minutes later with another group of legislators.

Bond said only that he was not surprised that no challenge was made of him. The Supreme Court ruled in December that the House could not exclude Bond because he endorsed a statement labeling U.S. involvement in Vietnam as aggression and murder and calling on young men to seek alternatives to military draft.

Leaving the capital, Bond appeared at a news conference with Stickly Carmichael, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee SNCC, Carmichael read a statement opposing the stripping of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., of his committee chairmanship.

Science, Math Institutes Set

Summer institutes for superior high school science students and high school mathematics teachers will be conducted at SIU under grants from the National Science Foundation.

The two grants total $92,293. The largest—$71,360—will support SIU's ninth annual program for mathematics teachers. It will run eight weeks, from June 19, and two thirds of the 60 teachers enrolled will be continuing from previous summers.

The institute, directed by Wilbur C. McCulley, professor of mathematics, emphasizes coursework and materials used in the "new mathematics." Teachers continuing in the program can earn a master's degree in four summers.

Some 50 juniors and seniors from high schools across the nation will be selected for the 10th annual science institute. The NSF awarded SIU a $20,935 grant for this program high school teachers, for eight weeks beginning late this month.

Students will take college level courses and tackle special research assignments in fields of their choice. Study areas are zoology, physics, chemistry and physics, computers, engineering science and economics. Director of the institute is Duwayne Englest, assistant professor of zoology.

Selections for the two programs will be made in April and May.

ICE FORMING ON LAKE—SIU's Lake-on-the-Campus takes on many seasonal dressers in the course of a school year. In late spring, summer, and early fall, the lake serves recreational purposes such as swimming, boating and fishing.

Theta Xi Tryout Forms Available

Applications for tryouts for the 20th annual Theta Xi Variety Show, to be presented March 3 and 4 in Shryock Auditorium, are available at the information desk in the University Center.

Applications for master of ceremonies are also available there.

The format of the different act categories has been changed this year. The individual category consists of one or two participants, intermediate category three to eight, and the group acts nine or more participants.

The number does not include accompanists. Accompanists do not have to be entirely from within the group, but all members of the cast, without exception, must be a member of the group.

Applications must be returned to the Student Activities Office by Jan. 20. Further information may be obtained by calling 3"-2525.

If the weather this time of year is sufficiently wintry, ice skaters will get an opportunity to use the lake. It's beginning to get a skin of ice, as the water solidifies in coveres just as this one.

Queen Candidates for Ball

Pamela Reid, a 20-year-old junior and Linda Borger, an 18-year-old freshman, have been chosen as queen candidates for the forthcoming Aerospace Ball.

The queen will be selected by vote of the Air Force Cadet Corps. The choice will not be announced until the candidates have been presented at the dance, Feb. 4.

The queen will reign at various cadet functions and represent the RO TC at campus and civic activities.

The ball, sponsored by the Arnold Air Society and the Morris to Speak, will be held in the University Center. All students and faculty are invited. Tickets for the Ball are $3 per couple.

Berger Plans Talk on Reading Subject

The Southern Illinois Reading Council will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 17, at the Benton High School in Benton, Ill.

Allen Berger, assistant professor at SIU and director of the college reading program, will speak on "A Kaleidoscopic View of Reading." The meeting will be open to the public.

The meeting will be held in the Communications Building.

"Adventures in Poetry" is a programmed collection of poetry especially designed to capture the interest and imagination of the audience, according to Paul Roland, director. This presentation by the Division of Oral Interpretation in the Department of Speech is created in keeping with the objective to present a series of challenging and stimulating programs drawn from literary heritage, he said.

It is hoped that a number of experimental adventures in form will become a regular part of the SIU entertainment climate, Roland continued.

Roland directed the initial offering for Interpreters Theatre in November, "In White America."

‘Adventures in Poetry’ Auditions Set Today

Auditions for the forthcoming Interpreters Theatre production, "Adventures in Poetry," will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., today and Wednesday.

Tryouts will be held in the Calibre Stage on the second floor of the Communications Building.

The City Council must ratify the zoning application by the Plan Commission but agreement by four of the five Council members is necessary to change a decision by the Plan Commission.

Cedar View Drive runs north and south through the area, Lynda Street runs a semicircle through the land, and Cindy Street runs east and west in the area.

The Plaza Motel is at the north-west corner of the area. Buena Vista and other apartments are in the territory.

The groups petitioning have not asked for a specific zoning classification. Easesty said, "All the extra planning will be accomplished by the Plan Commission."

Anthropologists To Hear Lecture

Philip Weigand, research assistant in the SIU Museum, will describe an 11-month archaeological expedition to northern Mexico in an Anthropology Club lecture.

The talk, at 7:30 p.m., Friday in the Agriculture Building Seminar Room, will mark the first in a series of club lectures and seminars during the winter and spring terms. It will be open to the public.

Fred Schmidt, the Museum's curator of exhibits and Club chairman, has launched a membership drive aimed at undergraduates interested in anthropology. Current membership is about 35, mostly graduate students and faculty.

Other club members participating in the program are Mrs. Charles Buten and Mrs. Oliver Caldwell, who are in charge of entertainment and music; Mrs. Howard R. Long, business; and Mrs. Ralph Gillington and Mrs. Roger Beyler, tea table. President of the club is Mrs. Ferre Ra dall, and Mrs. John LeFevere is vice-president.

City Mulls Annexation Of Land to Southeast

Approximately 20 acres of land, much of which holds apartments and homes for SIU students and faculty, will be considered for annexation and zoning to the city Jan. 18.

A public hearing is scheduled for the City Hall courtroom at 7:30 p.m.

The Carbondale City Council has drawn up an ordinance for annexation of the land, known as Tatum Heights and Crestview, located on the eastern edge of Carbondale. The Council is taking the action under Illinois Municipal Code rules which allow a municipality to annex 60 acres or less if the territory is wholly surrounded by the municipality.

The land became surrounded late in December, according to Thomas Easterly, building and zoning administrator for the city.

The master plan of development for Carbondale recommends that the land be placed in an R-8 zone for single family housing.

Some commercial interests near the land now are contained in the area up for annexation, Easterly said. The Carbondale Planning Commission will make a decision on zoning following the hearing Jan. 18.

‘International Market Place’ Women’s Theme

"International Market Place" will be the theme of the SIU Women's Club guest program Jan. 18.

It will be held in the theatre corridor and lounge of the Communications Building at 1:30 p.m. and is open to the public, according to Mrs. Ernest J. Simon, program chairman.

International aspects of the University and Carbondale families will be the theme of the afternoon program. Items representative of cultures in seven areas of the world will be exhibited.

Mrs. M. Keith Humble will present a program with slides on "Women in Vietnam." She returned last fall from four years in the Southeast Asian country where her husband, director of VTl, headed a team of SIU technical educators.

Mrs. Charles C. Clayton will be in charge of items exhibited from Asia; the European display will be handled by Mrs. George Adams; Mrs. W. Van Brown will have Latin America; Mrs. Nicholas Vergette and Mrs. Dennis Fair, Africa; Mrs. Norma Goodman, Vietnam; Mrs. Clarence Henderson, Middle East; and Mrs. William Simeon, Florence, Italy. Mrs. Alexander MacMillan and Mrs. Walter Wills are exhibit chairman. Items such as brass from India and Thailaids, silks and linens from China, rugs from the Middle East, and China and glass from Scandinavia have been contributed for display by faculty families and townspeople who have visited or worked in the areas. They will not be for sale, but those who wish will have an opportunity to contribute to the fund for Florence, Italy.

Grouse, Marine Life Topics for Seminars

Three seminars in zoology are scheduled this week, says Robert S. Dormay, program specialist in the Department of Scientific Affairs of the Pan American Union, spoke at 4 p.m. Monday in Room 205, Life Science Building. His subject was morphological and demographic variations in the continental populations of the ruffled grouse.

The speaker at 4 p.m. Wednesday, in the same room, will be John N. Krull of the Department of Forest Zoology, State University College of Forestry, Syracuse, N.Y. He will discuss association of certain groups of aquatic invertebrates with several species of submerged aquatic plants.

The zoology graduate seminar is scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday in Room 218, Lawson Hall. Richard Vanderhorst, instructor in zoology at the Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory at SIU, will discuss shallow water aggregation by selecting forage organisms in the presence of the largemouth bass.

The basketball Salukis started their five-game-in-nine-days basketball mara­thon with a 72-69 victory over Indiana State in the Arena. The Salukis rode an early second-half flourish, that saw them take a lead of first 29 points in that quarter, into what eventually amounted to a 10-point lead before a Sycamore rally brought them within striking distance in the final four minutes.

Southern trailed at the intermission, 37-30, after a score, save at half. During the initial 20 minutes the lead changed hands 10 times, however, after halftime the Salukis took command by forcing Indiana State into several of their 14 total turnovers and breaking open for numerous layups and short jumpers. Just when things looked as though they would be all downhill for the Salukis, Indiana State got a hot hand and gradu­ally cut into Southern’s lead until they trailed by a mere two points halfway through the first half. After the Salukis twice missed on one and one free throw situations, giving the Sycamores two opportunities which they were unable to cash in on.

With 2:11 left Indiana State’s Jim Cronen brought the ball downcourt. The Sycamores trailed 67-63 and had an op­portunity to close the gap to a bucket. But Cronen was called for charging and the Salukis made 69-63 on a Walt Frazier lay up.

After Frazier missed a free­throw, Rich Mason scored for Indiana State with 1:52 left. Chuck Benson made two free­throws for another six point lead, but that was cut to four by Larry Peterson’s 1:02 mark. Frazier was fouled and missed a one and one, but he couldn’t find the range this time and Saluki guard Ed Zastrow sank a charity to put things out of reach at 72-67 with 23 seconds left.

The Salukis continued to be less than potent from the free­throw line, sinking only 10 of 22 for a .454 reading. They missed eight of these in the final five and one half­minutes. Three were on one and one situations where a con­verted initial attempt would have produced another chance.

The leading scorer in the game was Indiana State’s New­som, the fourth All-American, who scored 20 points and also grabbed 11 rebounds.

Leading the Salukis was Frazier with 18 points on eight field goals and a pair of free throws. Zastrow, making his first start, drew praise from Coach Jack Hartman for his 15 point contribution. He made seven of 11 field goal attempts. Forward Clarence Smith chip­ped in 12 points, Ralph John­son had 11 points on four of five from the field, and Dick Garrett and reserve center Benson had eight each. Hartman felt that the Sal­ukis did a particularly good job defensively, pointing out that senior guard Burch Wade, who is on the way toward breaking the all time school scoring record was held to nine points for the night’s performance.

Hartman added that the team did a good job offensively early in the second half, but was a little too anxious once it got the big lead, “The boys had trouble pacing themselves and controlling the tempo offensively,” Hartman said.

Indiana State Coach Duane Klueh said that the Sycamores hadn’t met any teams of the Salukis’ caliber prior to Sa­turd a y. The loss leaves the Sycamores with a 9-2 record, their only other loss coming at the hands of Columbia Uni­versity in the Steel Bowl Tour­ney in Pittsburgh. They went into Saturday’s game ranked sixth in the small college polls.

St. Louis Baptist Third Win for Frosh

SLU's freshman basketball team fought off a stubborn rally and defeated St. Louis Baptist 61-57 in the first game of Saturday's basketball doubleheader at the Arena.

The victory was the third in a row for the Blue Salukis, who own victories over Louisville, 68-53, and Belleville Junior College, 92-73, while they have been beaten by St. Louis University, 68-65.

Bruce Bucchi, the leading freshman scorer with a 25 point game average, had a cold night from the floor hitting only five of 19 shots and getting only 10 rebounds.

The 6-7 Bucchi, however, pulled down 14 rebounds to lead the Salukis in that department.

High point of the night for the Salukis under the net was forward Bill Stepp who hit 4 of 7 from the field and converted 7 of 13 from the free throw line to finish with 15 points. Stepp also grabbed 9 rebounds.

Guard Mike Dixon had 11 points after hitting 5 of 14 shots, and forward Jauere Rosborough had 10 points each. Rosborough, averaging 15 rebounds a game, was credited with 11 rebounds.

The closing seconds saw the Salukis ice the game when the St. Louis five were called for fouls in succession.

In the end, the free throws, and control of the boards proved to be a decisive factor in the Saluki victory.

The next game for the frosh, the fill-in with Evansville College last night, will be with Louisville University tomorrow night. Game time is 6 p.m. at the Arena.

SIU Looks Toward Louisville

as the Salukis’ fastbreak began to click. However, Southern still had trouble finding the basket when the ball was slowed down.

Walt Frazier scored 10 on the Salukis’ first 17 points in the half and then turned the one man offensive show over to guard Dick Garrett, who rang up 11 of Southern’s final 13 tallies, mostly on long range jump shots. Garrett was outscored by Evansville by three points in the final eight minutes, but by then the Salukis had a 19 point lead and Coach Jack Hartman had turned the reigns over to his sophomores.

Garrett and Frazier were the leading scorers in the contest in the 1st and 2nd quarters each. Forward Clarence Smith had nine, Ralph Johnson four, Ed Zastrow four and Roger Bossert told 2 points. Also seeing action for Southern were Chuck Beaton, Cretton Whittaker, Willie Griffin, Bobby Jackson and Craig Taylor, who was playing in his home town.

The scoring for the Aces went this way: 6-9 Tom Niewi- meier had eight as did Howard Pratt, Dave Riggs had seven, Dave Harvey six, Darrell Adams and Ron Johnson four and Jerry Mattingly and Herb Williams two each.

Clarence Smith once again turned out in one of his enigmatic defensive performances by holding the high scoring Williams, the Aces’ big weapon, to a pair of free throws. Both seemed repeated.

Missed opportunities throughout the entire game. The Salukis had chances to break the contest open early. The Aces couldn’t utilize their numerous opportunities to close the gap on Southern.

The win brings the Salukis’ overall record to 7-2, while the Aces are 2-10 after winning their first two contests this season.

Southern returns home to play Louisville Wednesday. The Cardinals are riding a 13 game winning streak this season and are ranked second to UCLA in the University Division polls.

Times to be impressive at the heavyweight position. Sol- lover ran his record to 7-3 on the season with two victories and the heavyweight championship at Miami. He recorded a pin in the preliminary match and then won the championship with a decision.

Sinclair Brown, 152 pounds, made his first appearance for the Salukis and came out with a 1-1 record. Brown lost in the preliminaries and won in the consolation bracket.

3 Interviewed For Illini Job

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — Dave Nelson of Delaware, Burt Smith of Michigan State and basketball coach Lee Elbbracht of Illinois have been interviewed for the Illinois’ athletic director job, it was learned Monday.

The Athletic Association’s board of directors, however, did not make a recommendation during a meeting over the weekend.
