Meeting called to seek way of retaining police training program at SIU

By Larry Haley
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Approximately 30 police officials from 18 counties in Southern Illinois will meet Tuesday at VITI to discuss the cutting of funds for SIU’s police training program by the Illinois Local Governmental Law Enforcement Officer’s Training Board. Frank L. Holloway, chairman of the department of Technical and Adult Education, said Friday.

The board was in November revoked SIU’s accreditation to provide basic police training by discontinuing reimbursement to local municipal police forces for training members of their staff.

The training board was set up by the state legislature in 1963 to administer reimbursement to local police forces under a six-weeks training program offered in the fall and spring.

Wills said, “The last time SIU’s program came up for approval.” Wills continued, “the board saw fit not to approve funds for the program.”

Wills explained that there has been a “big push” by the board throughout the state to train policemen in heavily populated areas which have higher crime rates.

“Consequently, most of the small training programs like our one here,” he said, “have been cancelled and local police personnel who want to participate in a training program of this kind are forced to go to the University of Illinois.”

Wills said the police training program at UI is one of the 26 professional people working in law enforcement. SIU had a small group sponsored by the Crime Center and the department.

Housing proposal may delete University protection

By Chuck Hitzschereh
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A proposal to make University housing contracts non-negotiable for junior, senior and graduate students over 21 years old will circumvent the university’s legal protection for these students during housing disputes, according to Tom Bevits, administrative assistant to the student body vice president. The proposal is being made by the SIU housing office.

Bevits said Carbondale’s code enforcement is inadequate to handle the housing inspections that a university is required to make under present housing regulations.

The proposal will be presented to the SIU Board of Trustees at its Oct. 1 meeting.

Wilbur Moulton, dean of student services, said the Simon Commission report on campus unrest review University housing regulations.

Keene backs ‘Little Red Waggon’

By Dave Mahlman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

“The is no question that Carbondale needs more public transportation and we support Mr. Bramen in getting temporary authority (TA) from the ICC for his bus line,” Carbondale Mayor Dave Keene said Friday.

The Carbondale Transit Company, Inc. (The Little Red Waggon Line) was ordered off the streets Wednesday by the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) because the lines had not received an ICC operating permit.

Richard Bramen, owner of the lines, said Friday that if he had known he needed the permit, he would have had it.

Bramen said that another reason he had not applied for a permit was because he hadn’t had the time to prepare ICC operating regulations that would have been required.

The proposed operating regulations would have been required by the ICC if Bramen’s line was determined to be a commercial operation.

The ICC may be somewhat embarrassed in issuing the TA, Keene said, “because if a TA is issued, the ICC is admitting that the service is needed,” and a regular permit is good as good.

Keene said that once Bramen’s application is in, it will be reviewed by City Attorney Ron Briggs and City Manager William Schmidt about giving support to Bramen. He added that he will call a special meeting of the City Council if necessary, to help Bramen get a TA as quickly as possible.

Keene said that he has talked to Charles Janabus, supervisor of the motorized division of the ICC, and that Janabus seems cooperative. Keene said that he told Janabus that he would travel to Chicago if necessary to get Bramen a permit.

Janabus said that he probably would not be necessary.

Bramen said that he has had very good response from others who want to help. He said that he had surveys circulating a petition to be sent to Springfield asking that he be granted a permit.

If he can not obtain a TA, Bramen said that he may be able to enter into a contract with the city which would exempt him from the ICC permit requirement.

Bramen said, however, that obtaining a city contract would be more difficult than obtaining a ICC.

The University, if the proposal is accepted, intends to provide services for students with difficulties. Zimmerman said.

American vs America

By Rich Davis
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

America met America head-to-head Thursday night during a debate between Director of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation (IBI). Ware, speaking to a capacity crowd in Dave Davis Auditorium, was confronted with shouts and heckling and general disruption during a question and answer session.

Ware’s appearance at SIU was sponsored by the SIU College Republicans, but he was not by a group of students with a lot of questions. Earlier Thursday the Southern Illinois Student Peace Committee (SISPAC) passed out pamphlets urging students to attend the debate and to ask questions about the IBI’s role in drug raids staged in this area.

The meeting was set for 6 p.m. because of the large turnout. It had originally been scheduled for 4 p.m.

In a state of flux

The appearance Thursday of Mitchell Ware, Director of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation (IBI), sparked loud protests over drug raids and marijuana laws from SIU students who disrupted his speech by heckling and shouting.

The loudout for Ware’s speech caused the meeting site to be changed from Morris Library Auditorium to Dunn Auditorium. (Photo by Dave Frisch)

Ware, after only briefly mentioning the "name" of the IBI in arresting some "syndicate criminals," staged a raid on an East St. Louis gambling ring in which he said he could be found and mentioning the IBI’s intent to rid the state of drug problems which are "right on college campuses," agreed to address questions.

Town meeting: open government for all

All the people in Carbondale and Mayor David Keene have an opportunity Tuesday to voice complaints, ideas, opinions, and even concerns in the informal atmosphere of a town meeting.

The Carbondale City Council, City Manager William Schmidt, the police department, and other city officials will be present to answer questions and hear concerns from the public at a town meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Tiffany Hall.

Keene said Thursday that the key to the success of the meeting was getting the people of Carbondale acquainted and to open new lines of communication with city officials, so that many people from various segments of the community must attend.

Nixon signs pay boost totalling $2.2 billion

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon signed one bill and two executive orders Monday to boost a $2.2 billion in pay boosts to four million military personnel and white collar employees.

The law Nixon signed at the Western White House empowers him to adjust federal pay scales each year so federal pay rates will be comparable with wages offered by private enterprise.

In a companion move, he signed an executive order providing for average pay increases of 5.68 percent for 13 million federal employees in the white collar category.

A second executive order increases the base pay of 2.7 million military men and women by 7.9 percent.

Another measure Nixon signed raises pensions paid to former presidents and their widows. The allowance for all former chief executives is boosted from $25,000 to $22,000. The widows of presidents now will receive $30,000-double the former pension.

Annual payments of $60,000 will be made to former President Harry S. Truman and Lyndon Johnson.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be the only widow receiving $20,000 as much as Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis surrendered her right to federal pension because there is no office where a hearing problem and do not like to admit that there may be a better way of doing things.

"Many local government in Illinois is doing a good job," Keene said. "We have to prove it, especially in Southern Illinois. One way to do it is to listen to our bright young people.

"I want to emphasize, though, that this is for everyone in town, not just students. I will see a big crowd. We will even stand if we have to," Keene said. "It will be better than television.

"Fun and profit" film

Joe Namath proves his worth as un-actor

By David Daly
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Television director Seymour Bernstein of "Buddy" fame is using Joe Namath to prove he can't act. The vehicle is "C. C. and G.," a new situation comedy motorcycle epic made on location in Arizona in 30 days for $1 million.

Gary Cooper, Clark Gable and Jimmy Stewart have all been the target of acting criticism, but somehow they managed to weather the film world storm well. It's because they had, or have, a certain charisma; that marvelous attraction for the opposite sex, and Namath has this in abundance. Thus, if his croaky lines finally deal him out of football, it might well be that Namath will be on his way to a new and more lucrative career.

And if you're going to be a big star, why not get right at it by having a beauty like Ann-Margret for your co-star? A very unlikely and funny motorcycle gang led by a really menacing type (well played by William Smith) is the background to keep the story moving and to effect the romance between the leads.

One member of the motorcycle gang is Mike Battle, a fellow member of Namath's New York Jets, more often seen risking his life as a kick-return man. He does his role well, small as it is, as a character called Rabbit.

Namath plays the role of a gypsy-type who joins the gang for no other reason than that he and his boss at a motorcycle shop weren't getting along, and a couple of girls were beginning to give him trouble.

Ann-Margret plays the role of a fashion director of a slick magazine who is saved from the motorcycle gang by Namath after her car breaks down in the desert. "A"

To keep things moving right along, Namath becomes interested in motorcross racing, a short-of-suicide occupation with motorcycles, which Ann-Margret is using to shoot fashion layouts for her magazine.

The pair's life styles collide and romance flies all over the place.

Their relationship is further cemented when Namath saves his lady fair from the motorcycle gang in a sudden-death bike race.

There are some naughty words in this film and a nude love scene between the principals, but all the same the movie is fun, entertainment, and, according to producer Allan Carr, made for fun and profit. It will likely succeed on both counts.

Advice: Plan ahead

Financial aid still available; but hurry!

by Steve Fontaine

Several kinds of financial assistance are still available to SIU students this quarter, although students should have already started planning their finances, according to Charles E. Gray, assistant director of financial aid.

Gray said that students must apply for financial aid for the 1971-72 school year. Gray said.

Guaranteed student loans, paying educational expenses are available to both Illinois residents and non-residents through their local banks. These loans must be applied for before the sixth week of the quarter and as with all financial aid, the student must have a grade point average of 2.0 or better. The student must also be a U.S. citizen or a national of a foreign country who has completed a recognized four-year college preparatory course.

The Student Loan Program offers loans to SIU students in financial need. Repayment begins when the borrower is out of school at an annual rate of three percent. There may be applied for at any time a year. Gray said, but students should apply immediately, as limited funds are available.

The Student Work Program offers students the chance to earn approximately $300 monthly, according to Gray. He said, however, that a limited number of jobs are available, depending upon the student's work performance. Gray said that with the increase in tuition and housing, "There are just more people wanting to work this year."

Beginning Feb. 1, the federal loan will be a 10 percent increase in the starting salary, ranging from $6.50 to $8.50. According to Gray, funds have not risen proportionately and it will be necessary to cut back on the number of positions or to reduce the number of hours each student works.

Gray said that it was very late in the school year to apply for a tuition award, as most are given out for the entire year. The 500 SIU Scholarships have already been awarded and only through cancellations can students now receive these scholarships.

Teacher Education Scholarships, paying tuition and activity fees, can be applied for by those who graduated from an Illinois high school since 1966. This can be done by contacting one's home-county supervisor.

Grants are no longer available for this quarter, but applications for Illinois State Grants are now available for the 1971-72 school year. Gray said that these grants pay a maximum of full tuition and fees to students in financial need.

Gray said that it might be possible for someone financially in trouble now to get some sort of guaranteed loan within one month.

Applications for loans, scholarships, grants and student work can be obtained at the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Epiphany observed by Club Americas

The Epiphany, the 12th day of Christmas, was celebrated by students at a Club Americas coffee hour at Woody Hall recently.

Adviser Albert W. Bork, director of the Latin American Institute said "Each year on Jan. 6, or close to that date, Club Americas members and students studying the Latin American Languages celebrate the Epiphany."

The Mobilization of Volunteer Effort (M.O.V.E.) has begun to make Spanish-speaking "tutors" for tutoring children and helping in food stamp applications, according to David Raffer, co-ordinator of the program. M.O.V.E. now in its first week of recruitment, plans to enlist student help in serving the Carbondale-Murphysboro area.

Previously, the volunteer program relied on contact with local agencies for aid. This year, with an office in Student Activities and working through VISA members, the Student Activities Council, M.O.V.E. plans to gain support of various organizations and radio advertising and dorm recruiters.

Since the program began Nov. 1, Raffer, co-ordinator Pat Jackson and a steering committee of nine have contacted more than 35 local organizations and five campus organizations.

"We don't plan to have programs of our own because there is a great need for volunteers in other areas," Raffer said.

The program has a wide-open format and is open to anyone. For The University of Illinois has more than 1,000 students involved in volunteer programs, Raffer is confident his committee can keep 1,000 students involved.

At the Club Americas reception, a circular cake, called a rosecake, was made with a doll representing the Christ child inside. The student gave the piece of cake with the doll inside will give a party Feb. 2 in accordance with tradition, Bork said.

"On Feb. 2, Candelmas is observed," Bork said. "Candelmas is the 40th day after the birth of Jesus and is a day of special mass in the purification of the Virgin according to Jewish law.

In its 12th active year, Club Americas attracts 75 to 100 members each year. Among the activities are plays in both Spanish and English, lectures and seminars.

The main purpose of the club, which meets monthly, is to observe Latin American festivities and to encourage the exchanges of ideas and cultural participation. Bork concluded that the club is growing.

Lawyer fails to file

unrest hearing report

URBANA (AP) — A Chicago lawyer was asked Friday by the Faculty Senate Committee on Student Affairs at the University of Illinois to file his reports on hearings involving 13 student protesters on charges of making noises last spring.

The committee said J. Ellen S. J. Jr. the lawyer, was one of three persons whom the university asked to preside as a hearing officer in the disciplinary cases.

The committee said Jener began hearings in March and completed them three months later but he failed to submit to university officials his recommendations for disciplinary action and his evaluation of the office.

The committee said Jener failed to meet several self-imposed deadlines and the committee decided to impose a deadline of Jan. 15 for submission of the report.

ment of Technical and Adult Education, which did not include any law enforcement staff.

When a request for the spring police training program was made to Mayor Theophilus Wilkins, said the training board denied reimbursement for the program.

By meeting with police officials, he added, he hopes to show enough concern for the need of this training facility in Southern Illinois.

The training program began in 1960. Wills said, but at that time police departments were financing the training for their officers. The program has been without a state financed plan for about five years. he added.

"Many local law enforcement officers feel that they have been unreasonably dealt with by the board's action and this meeting will be primarily to discuss ways of convincing the board to change its mind about the program at all. We feel short-changed because so much of the present police training program has been aimed at larger communities.

"The police training program consists of 240 hours work in arrest, search and seizure, first aid, human relations, vehicle stops, traffic laws, court proceedings, gathering evidence and defensive tactics," Wills said.

Program director Donald F. Bagdas said, "The program offers basic and specialized training in that the first step toward a professional police force in the state. Wills estimated that about 300 percent of municipal police forces in Southern Illinois are inadequately trained.

Navy awards two fast-sub contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Navy awarded multimillion dollar contracts to two firms Friday for construction of a new class of high-speed, nuclear-powered attack submarines.

The new subs, known as the 688 Class, will be designed to work with the excellent Soviet Russian submarines and to destroy surface ships as well.

Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., of Newport News, Va., was awarded two contracts totaling $323.5 million to build the lead ship and four other submarines.

General Dynamics Corp.'s Electric Boat Division, Groton, Conn., was awarded a $258.5 million contract to build 12 subs.

In awarding the contracts, Secretary of the Navy John H. Chafee said the first 12 subs "represent the first increment of a new submarine program which, it is anticipated, will be augmented by additional ships in subsequent years.

Crews eligible

Salukis in Texas; Brooks stays home

By Mike Klein

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

It’s tough enough to win with a major college basketball schedule. Paul Lambert has found that out this season.

But when one of your top players doesn’t register for classes on time and can’t make a road trip, that must be rather aggravating.

Harvin Brooks didn’t make Friday’s road trip for just that reason. He hadn’t completed registration for winter quarter and had to be left in Carbondale to face the Salukis.

The remainder of the Salukis squad took off at 8:30 a.m. for Beaumont, Tex., where it will meet Lamar Tech at 8 p.m. today.

Brooks’ unexpected absence already has given Lambert a start with a Kuat banner of Stan Powell, Nate Hawthorne, L. C. Bradfield, Greg Stackruck and John Garrett.

At least, that’s how it would seem. But Lambert wasn’t quite sure that before take-off Friday, saying he would know for sure after Friday afternoon’s practice in Texas.

Lambert has a new weapon he might use soon for the first time tonight, either in a starting or reserve role. His name is Alan Crews.

The 6-7 former high scorer from Dodgson High School will get his game baptism in two road contests, Lamar Tech and Evansville next Wednesday, before appearing for the first time in the SIU Arena.

That will happen one week from today when the Salukis host conference foe Indiana State in SIU’s first loop contest.

Addition of Crews, who has now completed a one-year residency requirement after transferring from the University of Illinois last January, might be the extra ingredient Lambert needs to get SIU on a long winning streak.

That’s a quantity that’s been absent from the Southern Illinois basketball scene since the 1988-89 season. SIU opened that campaign with five wins and a loss before reeling off six more wins.

Then, the Salukis stumbled in a fall blizzard.

They never won more than two in a row last season and so far, that’s the longest streak for Lambert this time around.

Although Crews might be more aggressive and improve his rebounding, he has looked good throughout practice, especially at putting the ball through the hoop with consistency.

He could be just what the doctor ordered to get a sagging field goal percentage back near 40 percent. It stands at 40 going into tonight’s action.

When assistant coach George Lubelt was asked during Christian break if Crews would make the traveling squad, he replied, “He’ll do a little more than that. He may pull a few people out of there.”

AROUND THE RIM

Tonight’s game will be aired by WSIU-FM radio, 91.9, at 7:30 p.m.

Mark Seip, a sophomore and one of five freshmen on NCAA scholarship last year, left the team and has transferred to a smaller school in Missouri.

Fans of major college basketball can catch weekend action on the tube thanks to a clever—though annoying—accidental bit of scheduling.

Mississippi State battles Old Miss on WPSD (either channel six or 10) at 11 a.m. Saturday in a true intrastate game of rivalry, Michigan and Wisconsin attempt to knock Kentucky out of the Big Ten race at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon on WSUI channel 3 and what will probably be the best game, Nationally ranked Notre Dame with All-American Austin Carr tackle the Air Force Mustangs at 3 p.m. Sunday on WPSD.

None of the game times conflict so those who follow the collegians can flip from channel to channel and get a weekend full of basketball.

And SIU fans should mark the time 7:55 down. Although there will be no local television. WSUI-FM will have a radio play-by-play of the SIU-Lamar Tech game originating from Beaumont, Tex.

If you’ve gone through the seven plus post-season football games and still want more, WPSD’s got another ball game on at 1 p.m. Saturday.

This is one of two weekend games which features two teams composed of the nation’s senior college football players. The other is the Hula Bowl which is on WSIU at 2 p.m. Saturday.

WSIU’s got a basin meeting Philadelphia at 1 p.m. Sunday in their NBA game of the week followed by the American Sportman and KFVS has got the Professional Football League meeting in the National Hockey League’s game of the week at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. For电影 highlights of last season’s St. Louis Cardinals defeats with links between Boston and Chicago.

Football attempts to show its following side in the Super Comedy Bowl at 7 p.m. Sunday with the first televised game of the noted comedian Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears.

And WPSD of course fans will have a chance to see the former Illinois Fighting Illini on NBC’s All-Star game on KFVS at 9 p.m. Tuesday. Frazier did not participate in any games, as something to cheer about last year’s game but has remained a team member of the team.

Chicago Black Hawk fans will get a chance to see their team in action next week when the Hawks play against New York in the next NHL game of the week.
