NO DANGER OF FASCISM AS WE KNOW IT IN EUROPE. WE HAVE DIFFERENT TYPE OF PEOPLE—SMELLEY BUTLER

By MARIAN SCHINDLER

Generous Smelley Butler, director of the Art Institute of Chicago, addressed students and faculty members last Wednesday evening in the library of S. I. N. U. The address was well attended and a large number of visitors from other institutions were present.

Smelley Butler began by explaining that there were two types of fascism: one in which the state is the one that makes propaganda and the other where the people make propaganda. He pointed out that the first type of fascism is more dangerous than the second because it involves not only political but also cultural control. He emphasized that in Europe, where fascism has been a serious threat, education has played a crucial role in combating it.

Smelley Butler then discussed the role of art in promoting democratic values and reducing the appeal of fascism. He highlighted the importance of art education in fostering critical thinking and encouraging personal expression, which are essential for a healthy democracy.

In conclusion, Smelley Butler urged the university community to remain vigilant against any form of authoritarianism and to continue supporting the arts as a means of promoting a free and open society.

Letter From Brown Announces Schedule For Grad. Course

The following letter was received by President Brown in response to the request for a schedule of extension courses for the coming term:

Dear President Brown,

I am pleased to announce that arrangements have been made for a series of extension courses to begin in the fall. The courses will cover a wide range of topics, including business, finance, and technology.

Please find attached the schedule for the upcoming term. I hope that this will be helpful to you and your students.

Sincerely,

President Brown

WAR IS A RACKET SUBJECT OF TALK

Colorful Speaker Promotes Political Solutions To Student Body

The speaker emphasized the importance of understanding the underlying causes of conflict and the role of diplomacy in resolving them. He advocated for the promotion of cultural exchange and the strengthening of economic ties as means to foster cooperation and understanding among nations.

The speaker also encouraged the audience to be proactive in seeking out opportunities to engage with people from different backgrounds and perspectives, and to contribute to the building of a more peaceful and prosperous world.

RETIRED GENERAL OF MARINES TALKS TO CHAPEL MONDAY

A retired general of the Marine Corps shared his insights on the importance of leadership and the role of military service in the national security of the nation.

He concluded his speech by emphasizing the need for continued education and training to prepare future military leaders, and by encouraging students to consider military careers as a means of serving their country and contributing to its security.
ANOTHER EXPERIMENT OVER

Another experiment has been made—whether successfully or unsuccessfully rests with you. For the first time on this campus, a summer edition of the Egyptian has appeared.

Realizing the fact that news of this college is scarce during the summer term, we have tried to vary the reading matter in this publication. Again—the success of this trial depends on your personal opinion.

We of course, made mistakes. Some events have not been adequately covered. We ask your tolerance of our errors which we attempt to excuse on the grounds of inexperience with a summer paper.

Any rate, art and skill is over. We enjoyed your cooperation and enjoyed giving you a paper—each week. We hope you've enjoyed it as much as we have.

BOOK REVIEW
THE LIVING JEFFERSON. By John D. Parker. New York:

In his latest book, "The Living Jefferson," Mr. Parker has given us a splendid recollection of the life of Thomas Jefferson and also of the "Jeffersonian era." Moreover, he has defended the Negro in the South.

In order to acquaint the reader with the profound knowledge Mr. Parker has, he has given us some valuable advice on the best way to use the book, and also some advice on the best way to use the book.

INDIAN STUDENT WRITES OF AIMS AND CUSTOMS OF INDIAN LIFE TO VIRGINIA SCHOOL

It is necessary for college students to have the opportunity of meeting people from other parts of the country and from different walks of life. This is especially true for students from Indian backgrounds who may not have had much exposure to American culture.

The student who wrote this article is from Carbondale, Illinois, and is a member of the Illinois Student Association. The article explores the customs and traditions of Indian life, as well as the aims and objectives that驱动了Indian students in the United States.
