Deadline worries system study panel

After grinding out a procedural framework, the 20-member Advisory Committee on Board and Executive Officer Relationships agreed Wednesday to notify the SIU Board of Trustees it probably hasn’t been given enough time to complete its mission.

The group was charged Wednesday by Board Chairman Ivan A. Elliott Jr. with recommending revisions in SIU’s administrative structure to “insure maximum autonomy for the two campuses within the SIU system” by September.

C. Addison Hickman, professor of economy who was elected committee co-chairman from the Carbondale campus, was later authorized to warn the board Thursday that September may be too early for a final report.

Elliott said early in Wednesday’s meeting that the board expects a final report and any delay would “prolong the situation of unrest” and “make it more difficult to recruit a new SIU president.”

Vaughnie Lindsay, dean of the graduate school at SIU-Edwardsville, was elected committee co-chairman from that campus and will preside at meetings. Hickman will preside in Carbondale.

Vaughnie Lindsay

“To insure maximum autonomy within the SIU system is to some extent contradictory,” Elliott told the panel.

“Within the SIU system” indicates one Board of Trustees and one system,” he continued. “Higher education in Illinois is a system of systems.”

Elliott then instructed the group that they “have the liberty to recommend what you think is reasonable” to “govern our great university (SIU).”

C. Addison Hickman

“If you come up with a better way,” he said, “the board will be glad to hear your recommendation.”

“But criticism of present system is not enough,” he said.

Elliott urged committee members to consider not just their separate concerns but the university as a whole, including its public image.

In response to a question from Roland Kowte, associate professor of higher education at Carbondale, Elliott said the committee had the flexibility to propose separate sets of board statutes for the two campuses.

A packet of background information compiled by James Brown, chief of board staff, including copies of Board By-laws, and governance documents of Illinois’ Board of Trustees, Board of Governors, and Board of Regents, was distributed to panel members.

Included in the packet was a copy of the Illinois Open Meetings Law. Elliott instructed committee members to read the law and decide whether their future meetings would be open or fall into an “exception” category and be closed to the public.

“You are an advisory committee of the board—not of either university or of the board staff,” Elliott told the group. “If you have problems, I’m your contact.”

During its meeting Wednesday the committee:

—Elected Thomas O. Mitchell, associate dean of the Graduate School at Carbondale, as secretary.

—Allowed proxies to substitute for members.

Students find forgiveness--within limits

By Nancy Landis
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Students have misunderstood the SIU grade forgiveness policy Sue Eberhart, assistant to the registrar, said Wednesday.

She said students have requested grade forgiveness to get on the honors program, into graduate programs and in applying for teaching assistantships.

“The policy is one which only is applicable to a graduating student,” said Robert McGrath, dean of admissions and records.

McGrath is a member of the Undergraduate Education Policies Committee of the Faculty Senate which approved the policy last August.

He said the forgiveness policy allows some students to graduate with an overall grade point average below 3.0. The policy allows the forgiveness of a maximum of 10 semester hours of D or E received in courses other than the student’s major and completed prior to the last 60 hours of course work.

McGrath said forgiveness is granted only to graduating students because the graduating term is when “it can be universally applied and can be meaningful.”

Under the other provision, a graduating student may obtain grade forgiveness if he has a minimum grade point average of 3.1 in his last 60 semester hours of course work but has an overall average below 3.0.

The grades stay on students’ transcripts and in grade point averages, McGrath said. The forgiveness only allows the student to graduate.

“Frankly, we don’t think it’s going to affect very many people at all,” McGrath said.

Eberhart said the policy enabled about 10 persons to graduate in June. She said she knew of about three or four who will be able to graduate at the end of summer only because of grade forgiveness.

McGrath said the policy doesn’t help transfer students, because it only affects grades received at SIU.

Sex bias charges spur federal investigation

By Gary Huey

Representatives of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) visited the SIU campus Wednesday as a result of sex discrimination charges against the University.

Bruce Bowman, EEOC representative, said he could not discuss anything about the visit because it was a government investigation. “We are here now and we’ll probably have further on-campus work in the future,” he said.

He declined further comment.

One of the persons charging SIU with sex discrimination is Marisa Canut-Amoros, former professor in the School of Engineering and Technology. She said Wednesday T. Richard Mager, vice-president for development and services, and SIU Legal Counsel John Huffman recently made a trip to Washington D.C. to confer with officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning her case. In March, Huffman and Mager were criticized by Canut-Amoros for allegedly providing incorrect information in her case.

Mager and Huffman could not be reached for comment Wednesday night.

Canut-Amoros resigned from her position in 1971 after filing sex discrimination charges. She said there were obvious discrepancies in her salary, summer teaching assignments and sabbatical leave policies compared with male counterparts.

She filed similar charges with HEW and the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) in 1972. HEW ruled there was sex discrimination involved, and ordered her reinstated with full back pay. SIU appealed, and HEW said it would not force SIU to comply. Ms. Canut-Amoros turned down a $50,000 back-pay settlement offer because she did not consider it a full settlement.

U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson and Charles Percy have taken an active part in the case. Stevenson wrote the Office of Federal Contract Compliance asking it give “careful consideration” to a further review of the case. Percy said representatives from both senators’ offices termed the case “very worthwhile.”

Canut-Amoros had planned to file a federal suit against the University this month, but said now there is no need to do this because an intensive investigation seems to be underway.

She said the EEOC members questioned her Wednesday, but she could not say what was discussed. “I’m not going to speculate what we’ve been optimistic for three years,” she said.

Ingrid Gadway, ombudsman, said she also spoke with members of the EEOC Wednesday and said now there is no need to do this because an intensive investigation seems to be underway.

Gadway filed a salary discrimination complaint with the FEPC in August, 1973. The Chicago FEPC office said Wednesday a complaint filed between Gadway and SIU was settled, but that further information would have to come from “the parties involved.”

Gadway said she could not discuss the settlement.

Gadway was appointed ombudsman in June after her termination from the foreign language department and the resignation of Kris Haedrich April 1 from the position.

Editor wants to build news columns

By Ralph Eichenberger
Student Writer

The new editor of the Uhuru-Sasa, black student newspaper, plans some changes in content and format of the paper. Leonard Sykes, who was elected editor by the executive council of the Black Students Council in May, wants the paper to focus more on news and in- crease community involvement.

"In a recent poll, most students felt the paper was not informing students of black news," Sykes said. "In the past the paper tended to focus more on entertainment." Sykes, a journalism major, went on to list the goals the paper's program for: "To inform black students of news which affects them through the University, to inform the students of activities, and to be used as an organ of the Black Affairs Council."

The Uhuru-Sasa has a paid staff of four along with Editor in Chief Assistant Editor Alfred King; Darlene Tyree, artist; and Dianne Sawyer, secretary. Although much of the work on the paper is done by the paid staff, there are also students who volunteer their services as reporters or writers.

In the past the Uhuru-Sasa's circulation has been about 2,500 copies per issue. Sykes wants to increase the number of issues the paper publishes a quarter. He hopes to publish an issue every two weeks during the summer quarter. The first issue is scheduled for distribution Tuesday.

"The Uhuru-Sasa was once included in the funds of the Black Affairs Council," Sykes said, "but is now funded separately."

The Uhuru-Sasa received $4,500 for operations and salaries from the Joint Fee Allocation Board last May. For the year 1972-74, the Uhuru-Sasa was given $6,000 for operations and was only able to publish an issue once a month. Unless the paper receives other funds, Sykes feels, operations of the paper will have to be cut back.

Assistant Editor King says the paper is trying to sell ad space to local businesses to bring in more revenue. In addition, those stores having high black patronage are buying the ads. King listed Discount Records and Gusto's as examples.

Sykes and King agreed the most outstanding problems facing the paper is money and a lack of volunteer workers. Sykes attributes the problem to the fact that there are few black majors journalism interested in news.

He said those interested in working for the Uhuru-Sasa may call 452-2226 for King or Sykes at the BAC office, third floor, Black American Studies Building.

Thesis goes up, mortgages less

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mortgage rates may be the best buy when it comes to investing in housing.

A house that sold for $35,300 in 1972 was selling for $40,500 in 1975 — a jump of 18 percent in one year. During the same period, there was only a 10 percent increase in new conventional home mortgage rates, the American Bankers Asso. reports.

Balance — that's the aim of SIU's intercollegiate athletic program, according to T. Richard Mager, vice president of development and services.

Mager said about 25 members of the Graduate Student Council Wednesday night the philosophy of the intercollegiate athletic program at SIU in both men's and women's sports has two aims.

"What we hope to achieve in the future is a balanced athletic program and an additional, revenue producing sport," Mager said. Mager added that he hopes the program will continue to improve SIU's intercollegiate football program.

Some council members asked Mager why women's athletic programs will receive only $6,000 instead of projected $45,000 in athletic budget. Mager explained the level of funding for women's sports will continue to go up, but, at the same time, he doesn't want their funding to go down.

Mager said he feels the funding is set at a fair level, and funding should be determined in terms of enrollment and participation "vis a vis men and women."

Tom Strini reported to the council that he is formulating a report for the University Goals Committee. Strini asked council members for input regarding recommendations to the committee.

Leadership symposium searching for original offerings from experts

By Karl Plath
Student Writer

Plans for the third SIU Leadership Symposium were announced at a meeting by James G. Hunt, professor of administrative sciences.

The symposium, to be held in March 1975, will feature papers on leadership. Hunt said the exact theme won't be determined until the papers have been received and reviewed, he added. Hunt has said to put out a "call for papers" from administrative experts with a deadline of Oct. 15. The paper must be new offerings that have not been presented elsewhere.

Liquor advisory board urged to back campus liquor sale

By Charlotte Jones
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale Liquor Advisory Board is urged to support a proposed liquor license on campus and to recommend more liquor licenses be issued along Illinois Avenue, at a public meeting Wednesday night.

Buz Talbot, representing the Carbondale Human Relations Commission, said, "Supporting more liquor on Illinois Avenue would lessen the congestion of our downtown, improve the image of Carbondale, and bring dollars to the hotels, bars, movie houses, bowling alleys, beer and wine on campus.

Talbot said the Human Relations Commission supported selling beer and wine in the Big Muddy room and restaurants of the Student Center, at SIU football games and in University housing.

The Student Center is an excellent recreational center but many students won't spend free time where they can't drink," Talbot said.

The football stadium could help for itself and costs of living on campus could be reduced if beer and wine sales were legal on campus, Talbot said.

A state statute, the Drama-Shops Act, prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages on state-owned property, although the act has been amended many times.

Talbot said he thought the act could be amended again to legalize sale of beer and wine on campus if it received public support.

Another (PAEF) award, for $2,500, will allow Donald W. Lybecker, assistant professor of animal indus- tries, to begin a pilot program in computerized advisement.

Lybecker said he hopes to formulate a system allowing advisers to use the computer to eliminate time-consuming work and free themselves for more counseling.

Some of the possibilities Lybecker will study are:

— Computerized potential programs for students during advisement.

— Computerized lists of alternative schedules.

— Programming the computer giving students schedules allowing for specific "work blocks."

— Printing a "master plan" of study for the student's adviser.

Lybecker said he will initially try these possibilities in the agriculture department. The first trial run should be about November (for spring semester advisement), he said, with a second trial made for fall (1975) advisement.

George McClure, professor of philosophy, plans to use a PAEF award ($4,920) to develop a course in Philosophical Foundations of Ecology.

The course will deal with a general outlook on nature and the relation of organic matter to humans, McClure said.

McClure said he hopes to have the course ready by next spring.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell fenced for hours Wednesday with House impeachment investigators.

"We want to get the benefit of the Fifth Amendment without using it," he said during an interview in Ohio about Mitchell's testimony before a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee.

"He doesn't recall things," said Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. of Ohio, who is not recollecting.

Mitchell reportedly told the committee that he did not wish to plead the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination, but said he wanted to prejudice his right to a fair trial in the Watergate cover-up case.

But Mitchell is scheduled to go on trial Sept. 19 on the cover-up charge.

Meanwhile, House panel finds Mitchell about Mitchell's testimony before a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee.

A source of new oil wealth in special departments of the new Oil Wealth Agency produced some $8 billion in 1971, according to testimony by Daniel Ellsberg before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

The conversation was between Dean Rusk and John Mitchell, and Mitchell's record was subsequently talked to the committee.

Mitchell is scheduled to go on trial Sept. 19 on the cover-up charge.

Parents hear new school talk

The Carbondale New School, to be opened for the 1974-75 school year, will hold a meeting for interested parents at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Community Center of the Carbondale School District.

Parents may get information on the school's application and financial aid forms at the meeting.

The New School, adopting the open-classroom approach to education, is accepting students in kindergarten through grade 12.

A reception for the new board of education is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the University City Community Center. For further information call 677-4986.

Assembly ‘cooling-off period’ ends

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A fight over appropriations for the Environmental Protection Agency and the Liquor Control Commission amounted Wednesday as the Illinois General Assembly resumed its last day of work.

Legislative leaders lobbied the last week of August for a "cooling-off period" after budget for major state agencies was signed on hold in the political feud between Gov. Daniel Walker and Atty. Gen. William J. Scott.

Walker, a Democrat, and Scott, a Republican, are political opponents over which of them should have control over the legal divisions in those departments.

Scott told new conferences in Chicago and Springfield Wednesday he had asked the legislature to remove from some 15 appropriations bills an amendment giving the attorney general the appointment and exclusive use of money set aside for legal assistance.

But Scott said he would not agree to the removal of the so-called "attorney general's amendment" from the EPA and Liquor Control Commission appropriation bills.

The Walker-Scott dispute boiled down to $4 million in appropriations bills, and the dispute began when the governor agreed to sign the bills after the beginning of the new fiscal year.

State officials on the delay might hold up some state payrolls, although legislative leaders said they were confident all state employees would be paid on time.

Walker and Comptroller George W. Lindberg have insisted the two agency heads would not use their veto power to impede the processing of appropriations bills and payrolls.

Normally, several days elapse between the time an appropriations bill is passed by the legislature and the time it is signed by the governor.

However, Walker assured Lindberg he would not use his veto power to impede the comptroller's authority to issue checks, and Lindberg said this assurance would enable him to process payrolls as soon as legislation was passed.

System Council study panel concerned about board date

—Set the next meeting of the full faculty council panel at 2 p.m. July 31 at Edwardsdale.

—Decided that the 10 members from each campus should meet before July 17 to define autonomy, determine the functions of the SIU system and its components, and formulate the problems of each separate campus, among other matters.

Members of the Carbondale half of the committee will meet at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center.

Carbondale members are: Mitchell from Graduate Council; Hickman from Faculty Senate; Keene from University Senate; Tony Walker, graduate student in chemistry, from the Graduate Student Council; E. Earl Sibity, professor of English, from the Faculty Senate; JoAnn Thorpe, chairman of the department of women's physical education, from Faculty Senate.

Also: Greer Knopf, from Student Government; Bernie Weitborn Jr., campus photographer, from Civil Service Employees Council; Pat Benninger, assistant-advisor in Liberal Arts, from Administrative and Professional Staff Council; and Robert Davis, chairman of the department of cinema and photography, from the Graduate Council.

Our president does it again

By Arthur Hoppe

It was the wild ringing of the church bells and the joyful honking of the sirens that brought me out in the street.

"Haven't you heard?" cried my neighbor, Mr. Crannich who was dancing with old Mrs. Magruber. "Our President is back from Moscow with two secret protocols, one partial test ban and maybe even a conclave in Kiev some day!"

"And don't forget," shouted Mrs. Magruber over the din, "his personal friend, Brezhnev, agreed both sides would want to build any more, but our President's now had and not build any more -- not that either side yelled "America, The Beautiful." Hoopes respectively.

I was happy jumping up and down on my breath, waving a huge American flag. "Their ABM site they already have and not build any more -- not that either side will cough up the money to build any more of the 1040 Iand-based missiles."

"Our ABM site they already have and not build any more -- not that either side will cough up the money to build any more of the 1040 land-based missiles.

"The only sour note was sounded by Mr. Mudgeon. "Don't see what good it does with all those thousands of missiles we still got aimed at each other," he grumbled.

"Oh, but they're even going to do something about that," said Mr. Crannich, They agreed an agreement should be completed at the earliest possible date before the expiration of the interim agreement."

"So they can only blow us up 30 times over while we can still blow them up 30 times over," explained Mrs. Magruber.

"Hallelujah!" shouted the crowd. "Hallelujah!"

Oh, it was a joyous celebration. I just hope Mr. Brezhnev doesn't discover how our President outsmoked him. Our President can't afford to lose another warm personal friend.

No guns needed for security police

To the Daily Egyptian:

After reading the recent article about the target practicing of the SIU security police it again raised a question in my mind as to why they even carry guns.

I was once informed that we at SIU have the distinction of being the only school whose security police carry guns. It appears all other security police at schools are able to handle situations without the use of guns but here at SIU someone deems it necessary to have them part of the security's normal uniform. What part of security job requires a gun? Somehow I don't think a gun should ever be the answer to any campus situation and if a gun is available it will someday be used, or misused.

Transfer student woes

Enrollment at Southern Illinois University has been dropping steadily over the last few years.

In an attempt to reverse this trend the University has been sending out people to many of the Community Colleges in the state in an effort to persuade students to continue their education here in Carbondale.

The people that the University sends out are competent and paint a persuasive picture of student life down here in Carbondale.

Many of these efforts are being negated because of the manner in which the University's bureaucracy handles the transfer student.

One example of this bureaucracy at work is the manner in which the transcripts of transfer students are handled.

Normally when a Community College student contemplates enrolling at the university he is asked to send in a transcript of his grades.

Unfortunately the snag comes when the student graduates from their junior college and receive an Associate degree. For some reason Admissions and Records fails to update the transcripts that they receive and in many cases a transcript is lost and it takes months to unravel the resulting confusion.

If this were an isolated case it would be understandable but unfortunately the student transferring down to Carbondale encounters this more times than is normal.

It is beyond understanding how the University expects to continue to attract a sizable number of transfer with blunders such as these.

Unfortunately the first contact the incoming student has with SIU-C is with Admissions and Records and if the University expects to stop or even reverse the decline in enrollment steps will have to be taken to improve this first impression the transfer student receives from the University.

Ailment hampering Paul VI's schedule

By Victor L. Sipson
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Paul VI, ill for the third time this year, canceled his weekly public audience Wednesday because of the recurrence of a painful knee ailment.

Various sources said the 76-year-old pontiff was advised by his doctors to get some rest. Yet he appeared at the window of his apartment, when he used his cane rather than a walker, to bless the crowd in St. Peter's Square below.

"You must excuse me, I am suffering more pain," the pontiff told his listeners, who were the ailment limited his movement, but he wanted to give him usual blessing.

The Vatican said the Pope was suffering from arthritis of his right knee, the first official acknowledgement that he was suffering from the ailment. Arthritis is defined as a disease of the joints.

Spokesman Federico Alessandri said arthritis had attacked the knee some time ago but that the ailment flared up during the night and the general audience was therefore canceled.

Some 1,000 tourists and pilgrims were already in the audience hall when the announcement of the Pope's indisposition was made, and they were advised to go to St. Peter's Square for the papal blessing.

Vatican sources said the Pope had no fever and that, while doctors believed the ailment was not too serious, they thought it best the Pope remain in his apartment at least for the day and cut down on his schedule.

In March the Pope developed influenza and three weeks later suffered a recurrence of flu. On the advice of his doctors he pared down his Easter week activities but has since generally resumed his usual heavy schedule.

Florida's Gurney faces grand jury

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Sen. Edward J. Gurney on charges of bribery and conspiracy stemming from an effort to raise funds in exchange for influencing government housing and mortgage money.

The indictment, returned in U.S. District Court in Jacksonville, Fla., and announced by the Justice Department, also accused the Florida Republican of participating in covering up the alleged scheme, defrauding the government, accepting illegal compensation and lying to the grand jury.

Gurney's former administrative assistants, James L. Greul, and Robert W. Stant, the former District Court judge, were also indicted. So were two Republican party officials and two officials in the Florida housing and urban development department.

Forty-two other persons were named as indicted co-conspirators.

In a statement, Gurney said, "I maintain my absolute innocence of any wrongdoing of any kind."

"I have an abiding faith in the American system of justice and I firmly believe that I will be proved innocent of any wrongdoing in this affair," he said.

The indictment was the first to be brought against a sitting senator in 50 years.

According to the secretary of the Senate, the last sitting senator to be indicted was Robert R. Wheeler of Montana, who was accused of influence-peddling with the Interior Department in 1924.

The specific charges against Gurney, a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, are one count of conspiracy, one count of bribery, one count of receiving unlawful compensation and four counts of making false declarations to a grand jury.

Gurney faces maximum penalties, if convicted on all counts, of 42 years in prison.

The indictment charged all six defendants with conspiring since December 1970 to raise funds for Gurney from building contractors and developers who deal with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Washington.

In return for the contributions, HUD would be pressured to give favored treatment to those builders and developers in awarding contracts for government-sponsored housing and mortgage insurance, the indictment asserted.

The indictment listed 115 overt acts as part of the conspiracy and said $323,160 was paid by the unindicted coconspirators either to Gurney aide or to organizations linked to the senator.

Radio drama era airs on WSU

WSU-FM has debuted a series of radio dramas titled "NW Theater." The new 60-minute program from National Public Radio can be heard weekly at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays. Station frequency is 91.9.

Produced by Station WHA in Madison, Wisc., "NW Theater" revives the era of radio drama, with progressive dramatic material. Plays scheduled for the first edition of the program include "All the Fish in the Sea," exploring the possibilities that revolutions are caused by boredom, "The Solicitors," concerning the loneliness and dependency of two people who reflect the beginnings of their life together; and "The World of Neshiah," about a whimsical fiction of a world whose citizens have no memory of the past, but can see into the future.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Arab oil ministers decided quickly Wednesday to lift their oil embargo against the Netherlands, an act that brought peace to the Middle East.

In The Hague, the Foreign Ministry declared, “Apart from the favorable aspects it has for the world, the Netherlands' economy, the Dutch government wants to stress that this decision will stimulate the development of good relations between Holland and the world, as the Netherlands has always wanted.”

Following announcement of the decision in Cairo, Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani stated, “All the members were convinced the Dutch government’s attitude toward the Middle East had changed and lifting the embargo was imminent.”

The decision came withing 15 minutes of the opening of a meeting of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries.

CSEC president says pay raises needed

By David Kaehrlih
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

David Reed, president of the Civil Service Employees Council (CSEC), told members Wednesday he has been corresponding with Gov. Dan Walker and has met with Dale Knight, campus treasurer, in an attempt to secure a raise for SIU civil service personnel.

At the monthly meeting of the CSEC, Reed said he has written two letters to Walker requesting a three per cent wage increase.

He added that he has met with Knight twice in an attempt to convince him that the SIU civil service people need raises.

"We don't want to see civil service people working here at sub-standard rates," Reed said. He added that he wants to see salaries at SIU in line with other state universities.

"We can be raised to 3o per cent without Urbana saying anything because we are that underpaid," Reed said.

Malone to speak at Grad Council

Friday morning

Willis Malone, chairman of the Presidential Search and Advisory Committee, is scheduled to address the Graduate Council at its meeting at 8 a.m. Friday in the Student Center.

Malone is expected to comment on the progress of the search committee.

The council, which is scheduled to convene in the Missouri Room on the second floor of the Student Center, will also nominate members for the Faculty Programatic and Personnel Review Committee, according to Chairman Phil Davis.

Reports from the Educational Policies Committee, the New Programs Committee, the Program Review Committee and the Research Committee are also on the agenda.

This is the first meeting of the council since installation of officers for the current year.

CSEC members because he said the plan didn't afford enough representation to the civil service employees.

The civil service employees are to supply five members to the 36-member Forum.

CSEC also discussed the second of their floating 1975 holidays. There has already been agreement on the December 26, 1975 float.

Reed told the members that he thought the other floating holiday ought to come when the entire University was shut down. He added that in such a case no work would pile up on the civil service personnel.

In addition to work pile ups, council members talked about traffic that piles up at the Student Center parking lot.

Richard Musgrove, a council member, suggested the renovation of the booth in front of the Center. The booth, which could be funded through Traffic and Parking, would allow tourists to stop in and walk around campus, he added.

Reed also told members to think about people to replace two former council members. He said a vice-president would be appointed and ratified at the next meeting.

"We don't want to see civil service people working here at sub-standard rates," Reed said. He added that he wants to see salaries at SIU in line with other state universities.

"We can be raised to 30 per cent without Urbana saying anything because we are that underpaid," Reed said.

Cancer afflicts captive leopard

CHICAGO (AP)-Physicians at Rush-Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital gave one of their special five-year patients a. second chance for survival Wednesday.

The patient, Nicoli, is a 15-year-old snow leopard and the prime breeder for that endangered species at the Lincoln Park Zoo.

He underwent his first radiological treatment Tuesday for cancer, which has infected his jaws.

"That he be asleep. He's a pretty big cat," Dr. Frank R. Hendrickson, professor of therapeutic radiology at the hospital, said he had just one stipulation in admitting Nicoli.

Mitchell Gallery to display exhibits

Vernon Town and Michael Rings will present their combined Master of Fine Arts Thesis Exhibition in Mitchell Gallery from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday. The exhibit will run through July 19.

Town, who has worked at SIU as a teaching assistant in the School of Art, will exhibit drawings combining images of metamorphosed animal life and erotic satire.

Rings' exhibit entitled "Things that Go Bump in the Night," deals with an attitude of metal and image, integrating technique and form with a motif of whimsy and fantasy and combining human and animal forms.

Malone is expected to comment on the progress of the search committee.

The council, which is scheduled to convene in the Missouri Room on the second floor of the Student Center, will also nominate members for the Faculty Programatic and Personnel Review Committee, according to Chairman Phil Davis.

Reports from the Educational Policies Committee, the New Programs Committee, the Program Review Committee and the Research Committee are also on the agenda.

This is the first meeting of the council since installation of officers for the current year.

CSEC president says pay raises needed
State EPA agency funding impounded by administration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Over $1 billion has been awarded by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in the last five months for construction of sewage treatment plants, the deputy director of the agency said Wednesday.

John R. Quarin, Jr. also said the impoundment of funding by the administration has not stalled progress in meeting environmental goals.

In Illinois, however, this was challenged by the state Environmental Protection Agency.

Speaking at a news conference, Quarin said the $1.2 billion in grants have gone to more than 800 cities, which he said brought $1.4 billion in total amount awarded during the last fiscal year for waste-water treatment facilities.

Notified of Quarin's intention to hold the news conference, a spokesman for the Illinois EPA telephoned news media in the state.

"They're going to make $252 million available to Illinois in the present fiscal year," the spokesman said.

"But what they're not going to announce is the money we're not going to get, the $357.4 million impounded by the President."

He said Congress authorized $18 billion in 1972 and that Illinois' share of this was calculated at about $1 billion over the three fiscal years 1973, 1974 and 1975.

However, the state EPA spokesman said, only about $64.8 million would be forthcoming during this period because of the impoundment.

"We have 976 applications for money to help upgrade sewage plants in the state," he said. "To fund these it would take $2 billion in federal and state money."

British educators featured at music, dance workshop

Twenty-five music teachers and therapists from public schools and institutions are here this week attending a workshop on Dance and Music for the Exceptional Child, conducted by two outstanding British educators.

V. Bruce, dance teacher from the Leicester College of Education, and David Ward, Darlington College of Fine Arts, are the visiting specialists for the workshop, sponsored by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the School of Music and Division of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Sessions are held at Carbondale East High School.

Bruce is the principal lecturer and head of the Movement, Dance, and Dance Drama at the Leicester school. She has written extensively on the dance, including three books: "Dance and Dance Drama in Education," "Awakening the Slow Mind," and "Movement in Silence and Sound."

Ward is the project organizer for a research project, "Music for Slow Learners," sponsored by the Carnegie United Kingdom Trust and based at Darlington College.

Both coordinators for the current workshop, Jean Preston, OPED education specialist, and Catherine McHugh, SIU professor of music, attended a workshop Ward conducted at Dartington last summer for a group of SIU students from SIU's Residential Program.

Safety program to be conducted for area children

The Evergreen Terrace Safety Council is sponsoring a safety program for children.

The program is to be held in conjunction with the Carbondale Police and Fire Departments.

The first program in the two part series will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the community room at Evergreen Terrace. The Police will lead a discussion on vandalism and crime prevention.

The second program, to be held July 8, will be conducted by the fire department.

Both the police and fire departments will bring their emergency vehicles and will discuss them during the program.

All interested persons are invited to attend the programs. For further information about the programs contact Mrs. Connie Hallas at 449-1940.

Firemen's union may begin talks on city contract

Contract negotiations between the Carbondale firemen's union and the city may resume next week after being delayed for two months.

Glenn Stearns, president of the firemen's union, said the city and the union have agreed on a federal arbitrator to decide if the city is willing to accept the position.

Negotiations on a one-year contract were halted when the city and the union reached an impasse.

Carbondale's 25 firemen have been working without a contract since May 1 when the contract expired.

Stearns said he did not know the name of the arbitrator.

The union rejected a 6.2% wage increase offered by the city.

Stearns wouldn't disclose the union wage and fringe benefit demands.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of Earl Warren will be in state Thursday in the marble building of the Supreme Court over which he presided for 15 years as Chief Justice of the United States.

Services for the nation's 14th Chief Justice, who died in a Washington hospital Tuesday night at the age of 82, will be held at Washington Cathedral at noon (CDT) Friday.

Warren will be buried Friday afternoon in Arlington National Cemetery.

Although he had no previous experience as a judge, he so firmly put his stamp on the nation's highest tribunal that it quickly came to be known as "the Warren Court" in decision after decision, the court ploughed new ground in racial integration, equal voting rights and procedural guarantees for criminal defendants.

It also set out liberal guidelines for dealing with obscenity, outlawed some religious exercises including prayers in the public schools and restricted the power of the governors' loyalty apparatus.

All this drew criticism as well as praise. "Impeach Earl Warren," bumper stickers appeared under the sponsorship of the John Birch Society and other conservative groups.

But by the time Warren retired on June 23, 1969, admirers ranked him with John Marshall, the 19th Century chief justice under whose leadership the court asserted its power as the final arbiter of the Constitution.

Warren made no pretensions of being an intellectual. In questioning attorneys from the bench, he would brush aside fine points of the law and ask: "Is it fair?"

In an interview after his retirement, Warren was asked about criticism of the court's decisions curbing the search and seizure and other powers of police.

"It would be easy to let anyone come and crash into your home at any time and search it and see if you were possibly committing any crime, but the Constitution says you can't do that," he said. "Of course, that makes it more difficult to convict people, but there are certain things that an ordered society must respect in the rights of individuals — things that cannot be countenanced in a decent society."

Inquirers were asked by Buring.

Tributes to Warren continued to flow in.

Recital planned for Friday night

Alex Montgomery of Springfield, Ky., bass-baritone candidate for the master of fine arts degree, will present his senior recital at 8 p.m. Friday in the Home Economics Auditorium.

Montgomery, graduate assistant in the School of Music, is a member of the University's Marjorie Lawrence Opera Theater and has sung major roles in several productions. He also has sung with the Collegium Musicum and the University Choir. He is a voice student of Burt Kageff, assistant professor of voice.

For his recital Montgomery will sing selections from Handel, Bach, Brahms, Verdi, Schubert, and a group of contemporary songs arranged by Buring.

The recital is open to the public at no charge.

Teamster strike postponing lane construction on Rt. 13

By Karl Plath
Student Writer

Construction of two additional lanes on Rt. 13 between Carbondale and Murphysboro is expected to begin when the Teamsters strike is settled, according to Ted Jennings, district planning engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Walter Gleason, vice president of Teamsters Local 627 in Peoria, announced Wednesday a tentative settlement to the strike. Local union members are awaiting ratification of the agreement.

A spokesman for the Illinois Conference of Teamsters said the men would return to work pending ratification of the contract.

Plans call for the existing road to be widened four feet to four lanes from Old Rt. 13 to Rt. 127. Jennings said the construction is to be done under four separate contracts, of which two have been awarded and a third is being considered.

The two contracts awarded call for a bridge over Mud Creek, about midway along the six-mile stretch, and a bridge over the Illinois Central-Gulf railroad tracks about a mile west of Carbondale. The bid being considered is for a bridge over the Big Muddy River east of Murphysboro, Jennings said.

Still out for bids is the paving of the two new lanes and resurfacing and shoulder work on the existing lanes.

The roadwork will include new intersections at Stiegel Road, Airport Road, Williams Road and a signalized intersection at Rt. 127. All intersections will feature left-turn lanes, Jennings said.

The department is also working on plans for a west coupling into Carbondale that will route eastbound Rt. 13 traffic onto Walnut St.

Jennings said the plant under consideration would widen Rt. 13 to six lanes between Old 13 and Oakland, with the eastbound lanes swinging south from about Brook Lane to join Walnut.

"The traffic volume is very high—much higher than the present facilities allow for," Jennings said.

The proposal has been presented to two groups of businesses from the Murdale area. It will also be presented for public hearings and environmental impact discussion.

The overall plan for Carbondale calls for three westbound lanes along Main St. and three eastbound lanes along Walnut. Jennings said the ICG tracks along Illinois Avenue will have to be deepened and overpasses built, he added.

Campus Briefs

Dale F. Ritter, SIU geology professor, has been invited to present papers at two professional meetings during the summer.

He will appear on the program at the third biennial meeting of the American Quaternary Association at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, July 30 to Aug. 1. He will present a review paper at the July 31 afternoon session on "Holocene Climate Change and Fluvial Systems."

He also has been invited to take part in a special Princeton University conference, July 26 to 28 at Red Lodge, Mont., honoring Princeton University geologist Eirling Dorr who is retiring after 48 years of service to the institution. The special conference program is on "The Central and Northern Rocky Mountains.

Ritter's discussion at the conference will be on "Geomorph History of the Central Rocky Mountains: Late Tertiary to the Present." Sessions will be in the Yellowstone Bighorn Research Association center at Red Lodge.

A report on "Inventorying Environmental Quality" was presented by Charles Myers, SIU associate professor of forestry, at a recent conference in Syracuse, N.Y., sponsored by the International Union of Forest Research Officers (IUFRO) and the Society of American Foresters.

The conference program centered on "Monitoring Forest Environment Through Successive Sampling." Sessions were held at the University of New York College of Forestry.

Myers currently is involved in research on inventorying environmental quality of forest land, gathering information on the adverse effects of forest utilization practices, insect and disease problems, and the use or disposal of forest waste materials.

Rene Laventure, Career Planning and Placement Center vocational-educational counselor, will be attending the LAJolla Program of the Center for Studies of the Person from July 13 to 26, in Santa Fe, Calif. While in the program, she will participate as both member and leader in encounter groups and in workshops dealing with the program.

Three SIU School of Agriculture faculty members have returned to the Carbondale campus after completing specialist assignments with the SIU-United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization agriculture development program at the University of Santa Maria in southern Brazil.

Gordon Langford, associate professor of agricultural industries, returned to teaching duties in the agricultural industries department at the beginning of the summer session.

Returning to the area June 15 was Oval Myers, associate professor of plant and soil science and botany, who will return to his campus duties after several days of vacation.

Irvin Hillyer, professor of plant and soil science, returned June 17 from a two-months short-term assignment at the University of Santa Maria project as a specialist in a greenhouse management and operation.

Pekin High School nickname under barrage of protests

By T. Lee Hughes
Associated Press Writer

PEKIN (AP) - The executive director of a state Commission on Human Relations said Wednesday he is supporting a drive to get Pekin High School to drop the nickname "Chinks" for its athletic teams.

Transcript slated for radio show

WSIU-FM is pre-empting its regularly scheduled programming Wednesday to run the National Public Radio's live broadcast of readings of the Presidential transcripts.

The special broadcast will begin at 1 p.m. and will conclude at 4 p.m. when WSIU-FM will resume with regularly scheduled programming.

The nickname is derived from Pekin's traditional association with the Chinese city of Pekin. One story has it that the Illinois city got its name after an early settler's wife stuck a pin in a globe map and it came out in Pekin.

Another Chinese organization, the Chinese Image Promotion Association of Columbus, Ohio, protested the nickname in letters to the school in 1972 and 1973. But the name stayed.

"Something appealing. Something appalling.

"Something for everyone, it's a comedy tonight!

"Something that's gaudy. Something that's bawdy.

Tragedy tomorrow...comedy tonight!"

Comedy will reign at 8 p.m. Friday when Summer Playhouse "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." To comedy and also will be staged at 8 p.m., Saturday and Sunday and on July 14th, 15th and 16th. This Broadway hit, which also was made into a film starring Zero Mostel, was written by Kurt Siodlko and Larry Gelbart, with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim. According to Tom Doman, publicity director for Summer Playhouse, "A Funny Thing Happened" is packed lightning fast and is outrageously humorous. 'Forum' is a comedy of disguises—full of mishap, tricks and mistaken identities. The play runs with non stop action. As soon as one problem is solved, another begins," Doman said.

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" concerns the plight of a conquering Roman slave named Pseudolus (Christopher Adams). Pseudolus' young master, Hero (William Martin), agrees to set him free if he can obtain for him the woman of his affections, Philia (Maureen Carroll), whom he has seen from a window. Pseudolus discovers that the woman works in a Roman house of prostitution run by Marcus Lycurgus (Dick Freeman). The agent promises to secure the young man for his master and obtain his own freedom becomes more hilarious and complicated as he continually comes across a group of unsavory characters; namely Philia’s beautiful courtesans, a bragging soldier named Miles Gloriosus (Steve Drakulich), a slave-in-chief named Hysterium (Christopher Adams) and three Proteans: Harpo (William Brewer), Groucho (Richard Bryant) and Chico (Paul Dinamond).

Also mixed into the play's panoplium are Hero's parents, Domina (Patty Cormierke) and Seme (Dennis Kinotza), and an old man named Eunomius (James Gulledge) who is searching for his long lost children.

Besides the opening hit song 'Comedy Tonight!', the play also features many other musical numbers such as 'Free', 'Everybody Ought to Have a Maid' and 'Lovely'.

Tickets for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" are $2.75 for the general public and $1.75 for students. Tickets may be purchased at the University Theatre Box Office and the Central Ticket Office in the Student Center.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—American and Canadian inmates of a Mexican City jail said Wednesday that prison authorities beat, tortured and tricked them into signing confessions, and complained that U.S. officials have turned a deaf ear to their cries for clemency.

The U.S. Embassy had no immediate comment, but promised a full her statement soon.

Sixty-eight of the prisoners have started a hunger strike to protest the conditions at Lecumberrn Prison. Most of them were jailed for being caught with drugs at the Mexico City airport.

A statement signed by James Phillip Morrison—giving up his hometown—said that he and his wife were beaten and tortured for five hours at the airport and that police ripped off his wife's earrings from her pierced ears, tearing the ear lobes.

"For five hours we were both exposed to violent fist and club beatings, electric shock treatments by cattle prods even," Morrison said.

Six inmates spoke on condition of anonymity but all said that 68 said in an interview that the U.S. government not only has neglected to look into their claims but encourages cruel punishment.

Lawyers tell us that the U.S. government is pressuring the Mexican government to go as hard as it can to make examples of us—we warn in vain others not to bring drugs through Mexico," said one of the inmates, Philip Millard, 29, Alameda, Calif.

"We are being struck because the U.S. Embassy is subverting justice," Morrison added.

When visiting hours were over, the inmates said, but that Morrison's hands messages were telephoned to their loved ones back in the United States.

Going to England for U.S. Handicap doesn't slow SIU student

The fact that a 26-year-old SIU student, the first-ever 25-yard backstroke competitor in a recent national meet is amazing enough. But the fact that D. Wenado Howard has also been confined to a wheelchair with polio since he was two, makes the feat all the more amazing.

Howard's two national wheelchair game awards have earned him the right to represent the U.S. July 17, in London, England, at the International Stoke Mandeville Games. Three other SIU wheelchair athletes will also Observed Trials for area cyclists to be conducted

There will be an Observed Trials motorcycle competition at 1 p.m. Sunday at Greenbriar Raceway, 1 ½ miles north of Rt. 13 on Greenbriar Rd., six miles east of Carbondale. The competition will be sponsored by Cyclospore, Inc.

Observed Trials features a number of "observed" persons who include obstacles as steep uphills or downhill.s, rocks, logs, tight turns, etc. The rider must navigate each section a specified number of times without stopping his motorcycle or killing the engine. That form of competition is a test of balance, coordination and control of the motorcycle, not a speed contest.

The event will be open free of charge to the public.

All-Star game cancelled

By Bruce Lawitt
AP Sports Writer

The strike-plagued College All-Star Game was cancelled Wednesday, only a few hours after representatives of the National Football League and the striking players agreed to meet Friday and attempt to resume contract negotiations.

The decision was made by Chicago Tribune Charities, sponsor of the game which annually kicks off the NFL, exhibition schedule. It said it could not finance and plan a game under uncertain conditions.

On Monday, the All-Stars voted not to play the July 26 contest unless the strike by NFL veterans was settled by then. The sponsor said it would cancel it by Wednesday if they had not received irrefutable assurances that the game would be played regardless of any outside conditions.

There had been a possibility earlier Wednesday that the All-Stars—47 of the top college football seniors from 1973—might reverse their narrow majority vote of Monday and decide to play the game.

The cancellation was clearly a victory for the striking players, who have vowed to prevent any exhibition games being played until their walkout is settled. Their next target would appear to be the July 27 Hall of Fame Game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills at Canton, Ohio.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union, has been quoted as telling the All-Stars that the NFLPA would give the Chicago-area charity half of last year's receipts from the All-Star game—about $100,000—if this year's game wasn't played. Garvey hasn't confirmed that pledge.

Friday's scheduled meeting won't be a resumption of negotiations, but rather a get-together with federal mediator James Scarsce to see if there is any basis for resuming negotiations, broken off two weeks ago.

According to Garvey, though, things still look grim.

"I don't see how we can have any meaningful negotiations until there is a counterproposal from the owners.

The breakdown in talks reportedly resulted from the players' demand that management produce written counterproposals to the NFLPA's 63 unresolved proposals.

The so-called "freedom issues" are the major stumbling blocks not only in the negotiations themselves but in the conducting of talks. They include the players' demand for the right to negotiate with any team a player wishes, the right to veto any trades, the elimination of the reserve and waiver clauses and a sharp curbing of coaches' powers to impose disciplinary measures such as curfews and fines.

Howard's academic advisor and mentor Dick Weltspurger, Director of Specialized Student Services, said, "Dennis has a good chance of winning his case and I think he and the handicapped will push it in all other events. In fact, we asked him to compete in the Pentathlon—an event centering upon his competency in five different areas."

Part of Howard's expenses will be shared by the United States Wheelchair Sports Fund and the National Wheelchair Athletics Association. Before returning home August 2, Howard will also participate in an exhibition of his skills, along with other team members, in Scotland.

Joining Howard from the SIU Squids will be Ellyn Edmunds and Sturtz. At this year's nationals, the Squids raked in six first place trophies and over 20 medals for track, field, archery and swimming efforts.

Employed at the Easter Seal Society Office in Carbondale, Howard is a clerical worker and in charge of wheelchair maintenance in the Society's equipment program.

Mrs. Mildred L. Holland, executive director of the local society, said, "We are quite proud of Dennis' accomplishments in athletics and education, for it demonstrates what we have known for a long time in the Easter Seal Society—people with disabling persons should be given the opportunity to achieve their goals in a profession or in any activity."

Cubs batter Cincinnati, 11-3

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago struck for three runs in the second inning and An­thony Thornto scored a run in a sixth-run eighth that carried the Cubs to an 11-3 rout of the Cincinn­ati Reds Wednesday.

Thornton and Jerry Morales singled to start the second and moved up on a sacrifice. Billy Grabarkewitz, making his debut for the Cubs following his pur­chase from Philadelphia Thursday night, was intentionally walked, filling the bases.

Fred Norman, 8-4, then walked Steve Swisher, forcing in Thornton. With one out, Ronnie Cey and Ed Gaubert scored on a double by Derrel Ford, 11-3, and Grabarkewitz scored when Perez dropped shortstop Dave Concepcion's throw to first base.

Padres slam Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Winford sessions hit a three-run home run in the top of the third to give San Diego an 8-1 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday.

Greif, 4-1, checked the Mets on seven hits, striking out eight and walking three. He gave up a fifth-inning run on Wayne Garrett's two-out triple and Felix Millan's single.
