Wednesday Opening
Slated for Center

( Related Pictures Pages 4-5 )
The University Center will open Wednesday for general use for the first time since construction started over two years ago.

Two governors of Illinois have assisted in the preparation of the building—William G. Stratton (1952-60) was on hand for the cornerstone ceremonies May 26, 1959; a little over two years later, the building was dedicated by the new governor, Otto Kerner.

And now, students will be permitted to sample the building which has been constructed partially with the student fees they pay each term.

Gracing the formal entrance on the east side of the building is a lighted twin-gusher fountain which changes colors at night. On the west side of the building is the patio in a nearly naturalized background. The completely air-conditioned building houses over 250,000 square feet of floor space.

The ballroom on the first floor contains 6,000 square feet of floor space; it is large enough to accommodate 500 people for food services, 200 people for meetings, and 1,500 for dancing.

The River Rooms are private dining and meeting rooms named after various streams in Illinois, including Kaskaskia, Illinois, and the Ohio.

The Activities Area will provide student offices, meeting rooms and a multipurpose activity organization.

Although a temporary set will be moved into the TV Lounge, that room will soon be equipped with a built-in 27 inch television set.

Ghosts
Small But Capable Group
Opens Playhouse Season

By Betty Lou Gross

A small but capable group opened the Southern Players' summer playbill with a superb performance of Henrik Ibsen's "Ghosts." Ibsen's play deals with complex problems-making them difficult to present. The five performers in "Ghosts" appeared to have no difficulties in presenting the play.

As Mrs. Alvina, Barbara Paul stepped off slowly, but after the first act she appeared to be more at home in her role as the woman bewitched by the truth. In the third act Miss Paul gave one of the finest performances seen at the Playhouse. The audience could not help but share in Mrs. Alvina's sorrow.

Mark Malinovskas in the role of Pastor Manders can take second to none. From the moment Malinovskas stepped on stage he had the audience in his hands. He did not let them down as he shot and parried around the stage.

The troubled son of Mrs. Alvina, portrayed by Daryl Fairchild, suffered greatly. In the final act Fairchild stood tall along with Miss Paul bringing the play to a tremendous ending.

Nancy Pever and Leo Hicks cannot be denied. Their roles as Reppina and Enquist were excellent.

Charles Zocher of the theatre department directed the play and the settings were done by Darwin Payne.

Wounded Coed
Improves At Doctors Hospital

Shooting victim Doris M. Brown has progressed to "not much noise or discomfort" condition at Doctors Hospital.

The SIU senior was shot by James Cunningham, 24, 520 E. Green St., while on her way to classes June 20. Miss Brown underwent surgery after she shot the left hip by Cunningham, who had been released from the Sangamon County Jail on a $100 bond and arraigned for the second time in the University Hospital following treatment for mental illness. He has been returned to the hospital.

No charges were filed against Cunningham, who gave no reason for the shooting. Miss Brown is from Palestine, Ky., and a member of Alpha Kappa Phi Alpha sorority.

BANGKOK PROFESSOR
Praises New Center

The University Center was highly praised by its first official visitor, Somdet Phra Phra Ketsadi, adviser of the student union and professor of physics at Chulalongkorn University in Bangkok, Thailand.

"I am pleased to see a campus with a lake, outdoor recreation, and adequate and beautiful buildings for student activities," stated the visiting professor.

And the country living in the university residence at Thompson Wing were ideal for sleeping, very different from my sleeping experiences at city universities, with so many things to do," he added.

Professor Ketsadi, currently participating in the Foreign Specialists Program of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State, spent three days. During his visit to the University, Thursday, this week to observe student life and the activities of the student organizations. He was a guest of University President Dave Davis and his staff, during his visit.

No Classes, No Paper
On Tuesday

Thanks to the Fourth of July holiday, there will be no classes Tuesday. The Egyptian staff will also be on a holiday break. The next issue will be printed Friday.

Business School Office
Moved To West Mill

The office of the School of Business has been moved to Hoshaw 322. The move was made June 15 in order to meet the increased demand for space for office operations.
Southern Editors Wage War Against Prejudice

By BEN LAIME

I have a friend who is a newspaper editor in the state of Mississippi.

He isn’t well-known. He’s a quiet guy, who honestly believes that a Negro should have the same chance as any Caucasian citizen of this land.

No, not separate, but equal — FTP All rights like every other person should have. And yet, he will never say so in his editorial column.

No, he’s not a coward. He has a family. He’s lived in Mississippi for half his life. The remainder of his life he has spent as a reporter on the beaches of Tarawa, in China, and other places where all colors and creeds were fighting bigotry, hatred, and every other thing which can ruin the man.

And now, he is on his biggest head and he’s afraid — as afraid as he was on that February morning he landed in this country.

And one of his best friends is a Negro writer to the community.

There are other editors in his state who have gone ahead of him and said the word about the outrageous conditions in the “Magnolia Jungle,” as he calls it.

Mr. East knows what it means to stand up and be counted. He has not a single local subscriber to his Pedia PAPER. He took a stand so strong, he’s got the silver-dollar-streets, and he’s lost about $15,000.

Roddie Carter and his son. They lost the rest of their III, have taken a stand. They are more fortunate than most lilies and sunflowers, perhaps this is because it is a daily paper and no one will read Carter’s really something to say. They think it is a duty to express themselves.

I, as Mr. East, believe what he said. I don’t think it is ever going to happen, with them, it is interesting.

Mr. East, as I mentioned before, is not quite lucky.

And then my editor friend knows some people in Oxford, Miss., who are college people. Now these are educated people.

I would think that a college man or woman would have enough common sense to know that the Negro in Mississippi is getting a “real deal”.

And then my editor friend who is his representative in the Senate of the United States. He is a man called James O. Eastland. Senator Eastland is a 100 per cent American, by golly, so watch your tongue. He just believes that “them colored folks” ought to be put in their own place.

And probably doesn’t realize that more than half of the world’s population is of color. North of the Mason-Dixon line.

And you know, truly, my editor friend worries like hell about it around her fold.

“September cools her with an autumn’s breath. And soon bedows her lawn with autumn leaves.”

Woe to the man who says these stories are not thrilling.

And who says the Negro is not a real man.

There stands she in her mighty magpie:

Colorful, graceful and without utterance.

She is a grace, without a blacken.

She is a grace, without a blacken.

She is a grace, without a blacken.

Her name is called.

And the world is awed with beauty.

Stately standing nature’s flower, like a castle of Edil.

In the world of this shade will reign fair Altheid.

Weekly newspaper publishers will be on campus Sunday through Thursday for the first weekly newspaper publishers conference.

Marion Krobel, newspaper editor and consultant of the Gothenburg, Nebraska, newspaper, will present a variety of experts to discuss general areas of management during the six-day meeting.

Many members of the conference staff already made arrangements with the guest speakers to work with the publishers of weekly newspapers who will be attending the conference.

Principals’ Workshop Terminates Today

A special workshop geared to the problems of the elementary school principals of Illinois ended today on the campus.

The workshop, conducted by Dr. Robert Eades, executive secretary of the National Department of Elementary School Principals, and has been in session since June 15.

Three quarters credit will be given to those who studied with Eades. He worked with the workshop principals always to improve their leadership in the local school and community. He also dealt with such problems as in-service training for the staff, curriculum development, personnel policies, and community relations.

UNIVERSITY CENTER GROUND FLOOR

Pictured above is the plan for the main floor of the new University Center which will open Wednesday. In addition to the six pictured areas which will be available for use, the ballroom and ballroom lounge on the first floor will also be open. The areas open Wednesday are: 1) Activities Area; 2) Olympic Room (recreation); 3) Roman Room (cafeeteria); 4) Magnolia Room (lounge); 5) River Rooms (private dining rooms); and 6) TV Lounge. The areas which will open at a later date are: 7) Bowling Alleys; 8) University Store; and 9) Oasis.

By Ben Laimo
India is a multitude of problems which seemingly have no available solutions.

This is the message Prof. Robert I. Crane, head of Duke University's Asian Studies program, told an audience in the Morris Library auditorium Tuesday evening. Prof. Crane opened the first in a series of talks to be held this summer under the auspices of SIU Asian Studies program.

"The primary problem of contemporary India is lack of unification," said the former University of Michigan educator. "In 1947, the people of India gave lip service to a united the present other problems India faces agreed that national unity is his cultural economy for the past a better to rule. The problem, with independence would come in India had to ask 'patch work' economy," commented Prof. Crane. "This Southeast Asian country has tried to set up a workshop economy in addition to having lived with a traditional agricultural economy for the past 2500 years."

"India also lacks political sta-ility and leadership," Prof. Crane told his audience. "The Indian government has taken political action in the form of a weak opposition. This is very tintantly not the most feasible way to train government leaders," he added.

Growing Impatient

Two spring term SIU students were recently suspended from the University for two years for the theft of over $600 worth of equipment from the Photoshop Service. Richard Kohrin of Chicago and Frederic Goldman of Wilmette, Illinois, were arrested by the SIU security office for the measles.

The pair "will be given the opportunity to petition for enrollment after one year giving an account of how they utilized their time during production," said Assistant Dean Joseph Z. Falezki.

Equipment taken is the lack of a single national tongue. At the present time, 15 different tongues are used in the country. When India gained its independence in 1947, the parliament voted to make Hindi the national language by 1965. "Communist and other nationalist groups are fighting hard to delay this move," said Prof. Crane. "This is their attempt to stave off national unity," added the chief of OSS in India during WW II. In India, the language issue has created a conflict between the two major religions in India.

The temperature drops sharply, a foreboding breeze nips at the ears, and the hundreds of uneasy eyes scan the cloud-laden sky. Suddenly a sharp, piercing blast comes through the air and Carbondale residents prepare to "batten down the hatches."

The alert was preceded by a list of high-speed planning at the SIU storm warning center. The center's main job is to protect a college population of more than 9,000, plus Carbondale and its citizens.

How It Happens

Let's stir up a little imaginary trouble and see what is done before the siren is blown. At 1 p.m. the Cairo Weather Bureau phones SIU's Security Office and reports "a severe weather forecast, including rain, large hail, damaging surface winds and a possible tornado or two may be expected along and 60 miles on either side of a line running from Vichy, Mo. to Evansville, Ind. The time of the alert will be from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. to-night."

Security officers immediately notify three men—A. Frank Blase, associate professor of health education and Civil Defense center for SIU; Carlton F. Rasche, assistant director of Auxiliary and Service Enterprises, and Col. William H. Rankin, commandant of cadets at the campus Air Force ROTC unit. These men have the responsibility of alerting the area, and determining when to blow the whistle which will notify thousands of people scurrying to carefully-chosen "safety spots."

Early this afternoon, they'll consult with the Lambert FieldMet Office and the Weather Bureau in St. Louis and the Cairo Weather Bureau. As the afternoon progresses, it becomes evident that a very severe storm is forming over Missouri, though there are no tornadoes yet. But the Action Control Group decides to blow the public alert whistle. The information will be sent to the University's Telephone Exchange for dissemination to listed members of the Disaster Committee. And a "storm center" in Lenox Hall in the Thompson Point student residence area is activated.

Moving In

Now constant contact is maintained with various weather operators who report on progress of the storm. SIU, not the Air Force, is responsible for the campus Air Force Program. The mandatory program would not be considered if the storm is becoming severe. As more and more students become aware of the storm, a decision is usually made to refrain from blowing the evacuation whistle.

WSIU and other area radio stations are broadcasting constant messages to listeners at homes, in apartments, in the dormitories. Most of these stations will remain on the air un-til danger is passed. In five years, the Civil De-fense warning system has been much improved throughout southern Illinois, constantly being studied, revised and re-worked to afford even greater protection.

Says Blase

AFROTC Is In For At Least Two More Years

Future SIU freshmen and sophomores can look forward to at least two more years of mandatory AFROTC. An old proposal that would curtail this mandatory program will not be considered by Congress until sometime in 1962, according to Col. G. H. Blase, Professor of Meteorology.

Even if the proposal is ac-cepted by Congress in 1962, the program probably will not take effect until the aca-demic year 1963-64, said Col. Blase. SIU, not the Air Force, is responsible for the present system on campus. The mandatory pro-gam began in 1951 when 83 per cent of the faculty voted for it. Many classes have transferred from mandatory to vol-untary programs.

The SIU Policy Commit-tee on campus could change the requirement to a voluntary sys-tem sooner than 1963, but this is unlikely since it would in-volve two major changes in a short period of time if the Air Force plan is adopted, indicat-ed the Air Force colonel.

If passed, the plan will be called the Officers Education Program and would be conduct-ed on a voluntary basis. Under the program a sopho-more could apply for a military scholarship. If approved, he would need summer sessions in an Air Force camp before his junior and senior years. During the two academic years, he would go to college or university under an Air Force-directed program.

The scholarship would pro-vide $100 a month during the academic year and $300 a day during the summer session.

Flying Club Takes New Members

Dr. Joseph Burnside and Gene Seibert were inducted as honorary members of the Saluki Flying Club Monday evening. The men are advisers to the club.

Plans for Wheel's Night, held during New Student Week, were discussed at the monthly meeting. Seibert also talked with the group about aircraft rental rates. A movie, "Air Age," was shown at the meeting.

President Ron Kelly announced that Norman Hanes has been appointed Administrative Officer of the flying-enthusiasts' club. The next meeting will be held July 24. Time and place will be announced later.

Joining and supervision are made through the office of Lee.

The program was initiated last year and is being continued because of the enthusiastic response on part of students and faculty.

The center of population in 1940 was 16 miles east of Mooresfield, W. Va.

Nurses End Patient Care Conference

Registered nurses studying "Individualized Patient Care" will end their work commitment here tomorrow.

Sponsored by the SIU department of nursing, this has been the department's sixth summer workshop for registered nurses.

The conference met under direction of Min Katherine R. Nelson, assistant professor of nursing education, Teachers College, Columbia University.

Open to professional nurses in colleges, universities, hospitals, nursing homes and public health agencies, the program was devoted to planning of nursing care through the use of a technique incorporating all the elements concerned with the medical plan of therapy, family interpersonal relationships, teaching and rehabilitation.

Record Year at SIU

For Student Presidents

To U.S. Universities

A record number of foreign students from the U.S. and SIU during the 1960-61 school year were visiting from Hong Kong to Great Britain. They were led to consider their study and over 53,000 of their numbers visited the University of California this spring.

During the same period, fewer than 15,000 American students traveled to foreign lands to study. The number of foreign students coming to the U.S. is over 10 per cent over the total of all visiting students. There were 130 foreign students at SIU this term.

According to the Institute of International Education this substantial rise is due to the growing number of African and Asian students coming to study. According to Mrs. Mary W. Wills, foreign student advisor, more than 20 per cent are of African and Asian students coming to study. According to Mrs. Mary W. Wills, foreign student advisor, more than 20 per cent are of African and Asian students coming to study.

The inauguration program in the winter or spring school terms, the September Experience, gives the student an insight into the problems to be met at the beginning of the school year. Students interested are asked to obtain enrollment blanks at the office of the department of elementary education in Barracks T-40, room 103. All arrangements are in non-iron Ship'n Shore, softly detailed a blouse so becoming—with two-way continental collar, notched sleeves. In 65% Dacron polyester/35% cotton.
