Council Picks A President Pro Tempore

James R. Standard, liberal arts, was chosen from among four candidates as president pro tempore of the Student Council Thursday.

Don Grant, president of the Council, explained the president pro tem's responsibilities.

"For example," Grant said, "it would be the president pro temp's job to take over my duties if something should happen to me like on the plane to or in Edwardsville Sunday."

Grant and Pat Micken, student body president, will travel to Edwardsville Sunday to present a report detailing the governing powers that should be allocated to the present Council now that the Student Union Student Council is in operation.

In other business, the Council voted to donate $100 to the Carbondale United Fund drive. This is the amount that has been contributed by the Student Welfare Committee to help give more information to students before final action is taken.

The Council also voted to declare Nov. 18 as John F. Kennedy Memorial Day and officially set Nov. 18 to 22 as "Kennedy Memorial Library Fund Week.

Rodger Hart, a member of the Peace Corps, was a guest at the meeting and gave a tabulation of the peace corps and what he received from the experience.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

‘Grid Explosive’ Forecast Tonight

‘Hold those Tigers’ will be Southern’s objective tonight as the Salukis challenge the highly-powered Lincoln University grid team in McAndrew Stadium, 7:30 p.m., tonight.

Game time for SIU’s fourth home contest of the season is 8 o’clock.

If past performances are any indication, SIU football followers should be prepared to brace themselves for an explosive duel of explosive might--both on the ground and through the air.

The mere mention of the words ‘running game’ during the past week has caused Southern’s hopeful coaches to shudder.

Struggling under the weight of a dismal 2-5 season’s record, coach Don Shroyer’s Salukis will face a potent bunch of Tigers who sport a class 1-4 record and a foot of ferocious ground attacks in small-college football.

Carleton College’s Bulldog Reed’s startling cats are eighth in the nation in total offense and one of the top scoring teams in the nation with 416 points per game, including victories of 73-0 and 74-0.

In seven games, Lincoln has rolled up 2,310 yards--mostly on the ground--for an average of 385 yards per game.

Shroyer hopes that his young defense can contain the favored Tigers and his awakened backfence will be handled by former quarterback Jim Hart--can counter Lincoln’s potent thrust.

Hart, whose passing made short work of Illinois’ weak defensive secondary in Southern’s 47-4 rout of the Tigers has the Orange and Black out to roll out once more this year but has made an encouraging comeback during the second half of the season.

Already, the Morton Grove Junior has completed 77 of 117 passes for a record 1,113 yards and 10 touchdowns, Hart needs only 11 passes to break an SIU pass attempt mark and five touchown passes to set another school record, Hart established the present rec- ord of 14 touchdown passes in 1963.

Hart’s company in the backfield will include fullback Jim O’Malley (SIU’s leading runner with 341 yards, tackles Vic Pancake and Isaac Brigham, guards Mitchell Kwaczewski and Earl O’Malley, and center Jim Hanks.

Southern’s young defensive team will have Larry Wolfe, Jerry Olson, Lewis Hines, Bill Chambers, Jim Maguire, Dave Cronin, Jim Westoff, Rudy Rhodes and flankerback Rudy Phillips, the team’s leadership, Pat Shafer and St. Joseph’s Hospital and top pass receiver with 21 catches.

An offensive line Shroyer will go with consists of center John O’Malley with 340 yards gained on pass receptions--and Bonnie Seabolt, tackle Vic Pancake and Isaac Brigham, guards Mitchell Kwaczewski and Earl O’Malley, and center Jim Hanks.

Social Fraternities to Operate Blood Bank; SIU Students, Area Residents to Benefit

An Interfraternity Blood Bank for use by all SIU students and Carbondale area residents will be operated by SIU’s eight social fraternities.

An organizational meeting was held Thursday evening at which Jim Hansen, a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, was named coordinator of the program.

Hansen said 210 members (21 years and older) of the fraternities have volunteered to donate blood. As members receive notarized statements of permission from their parents, they will be included in the program.

The blood bank will be available free of charge for use through the end of Small Group Area Office to type the blood of the participating men, After the blood types of each blood donor become known, the interfraternity program will begin, Hansen be said. If all men according to schedule, the Interfraternity Blood Bank will be in operation Thursday.

In the past, several lists of available blood donors have maintained at various campus offices. However, this will be the first central listing available for the campus.

Monday evening Health Service lab technicians will be on hand at the Small Group Area Office to type the blood of the participating men, After the blood types of each blood donor become known, the Interfraternity Blood Bank will begin.

Republicans Hassle Over Who Will Take Helm

Party Chiefs Talk of Rebuilding

By Jack Harrison

What is the Republican party planning to do now? Party leaders agree that disaster has befallen their organization, but they don't agree on what should be done about it. They all have had something to say since the debacle of Tuesday's election. Following are some of the comments.

I'M NOT WORRIED—I MAY STEP OUT ANY MINUTE

By ROBERT BETTS

The financial crisis for which the United Nations has long been heading will break over the General Assembly when it reconvenes in New York for its 19th regular session on Tuesday.

Refusal of the Soviet Union and other countries to pay their share of the cost of U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo, the Middle East and elsewhere that has left the world organization short of $123 million in overdue assessments.

The biggest defaulter in Russia, which owes $35 million. Because this is in equal to two years of the regular dues which Moscow pays, it stands to lose voting rights in the General Assembly.

This penalty is prescribed by the U.N. Charter. The United States will insist that it be imposed unless the Soviet Union makes a substantial payment on its debt.

The Soviet Union, on the other hand, contends that imposition of the penalty must be approved by two-thirds of assembly members present and voting. In addition to the Communist bloc and those other nations in arrears, the Russians are probably counting on the support of many neutralists.

Sixteen countries, 12 of them under Communist rule, are in arrears with their payments. They have withheld support of various U.N. activities for political reasons. France has contributed to Middle East peace-keeping operations but has refused to support similar operations in the Congo.

The Russians maintain that special assessments are not binding on U.N. members, since peace-keeping operations are "illegal" unless approved by all members of the Security Council.

However, the Soviet Union, as one of the "Big Five" permanent members of the Security Council, has used its veto against such operations. To get around this roadblock the General Assembly resolved that if the Russians vetoed, they must be present when the Assembly might be called into emergency session to recommend collective security measures.

It was under this provision that the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping operations were set up. The Soviet Union has refused to acknowledge their legality.

The Russians have threatened to walk out of the General Assembly and perhaps quit the United Nations if it is deprived of its assembly vote. In a memorandum last July, however, it announced that it would support future U.N. peace-keeping operations under certain conditions.

Many Republicans expressed confidence that their party would bounce back quickly.

"The party is too strong at the local level" to be killed off by a crushing national defeat, said Robert A. Taft Jr., who ran a close race but lost his bid for a Senate seat from Ohio.

Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton commented: "Right now, there's no question of survival. The people want a strong two-party system."

From outside the party came the happy assessment of James Reston, New York Times' Washington bureau chief.

"He (Goldwater) has wrecked his party for a long time to come and is in no even likely to control the wreckage."

And there was the Republican state chairman in Oklahoma, who picked himself up out of the post-election rubble and asked, "Did we get the number of that truck?"

China's Friendship Has Price

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

The journey to Moscow this weekend by Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and his delegation may spell less than the troubles for the Khrushchev regime.

Gestures, Premier Chou's trip is for the purpose of exploring ways and means to restore world Communist unity. It is not expected that conditions that cannot be done.

However, this seems an opportune time for Red China to use subtle diplomacy. Anxious-sounding pronouncements under a new leadership hint that the turmoil in high places in Moscow is not over.

The new regime, with Leonid I. Brezhnev commanding the party and Alexei N. Kosygin the government, still has a rather fragile, transitional look, and it is beset by innumerable contradictory problems.

The Bolshevism Revolution anniversary provides an opportunity for an international meeting of Red leaders to survey the ailments of the world Communist movement against the background of Nikita Khrushchev's demotion.

The Chinese would not talk with the Russians while Khrushchev remained in the Kremlin. He was their chief target, the top revisionist, the man whose scalp was the price of Peking's policies.

The Reds are said to be interested in establishing relations with the Chinese, but have been prevented by the Chinese price would require much from the Russians, including abandonment of what Peking calls revisionist theory, willingness to support all violent revolution regardless of risk, greater and more significant aid to China at the expense of nations like India, and a harder Soviet policy toward the United States.

GOP Head Says Unity Imperative

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republican National Chairman Bruce Burch Friday called on party leaders to quit their public squabbling over the GOP's future and concentrate on providing "loyal opposition" to the Democrats.

He announced a meeting of the Republican National Committee will be held in January to discuss all questions of interest to the party, including that of chairmanship.

There have been calls from some Republicans - unhappy with the party's performance over the past few years - for Burch to step down as chairman.

"For the first time in Republican history, we have a truly national party with significant federal and state representation in the north, south, east and west," he said. "We have a solid financial foundation. We have a solid volume of votes. We have a solid organization in every state. We do have 50 states." Burch said.

The struggle for control of the party essentially an effort by moderates to regain the influence which Goldwater conservatives won at the national convention last summer - had been pretty much fought until Nixon spoke last Tuesday at the New York news conference Thursday.

EgypTian Tabulations Under Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two state investigators flew to Egypt at the request of the state's junior senator to clear up some business with an investigation involving 20 state election officials, the senator's aides worked diligently with the state's tight senatorial campaign. But he said there has been no discussion of when or where to hold such meetings.

The State Department is understood to have advised Johnson against any quick trip abroad, citing among other reasons the question of presidential succession at a time when there is no vice president.

Kilduff said Johnson obviouksly wants to get together with North Atlantic Treaty Organization leaders. But he said there has been no discussion of when or where to hold such meetings.

Half-Cocked Talk Hit By Senator Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Barry Goldwater, pausing to welcome him, International Airport, Dulles, near Washington and working at his LBJ Ranch, Wednesday, moved indirectly Friday to step care­fully around the time of when or where to hold such meetings.

Goldwater arrived at the request of the political campaign of when or where to hold such meetings.

Mathematics Faculty Adds Versatile Prof

Andrew Sobczyk, 49, who lives in Micanopy, Fla., as his home "until we sell our property," has joined the faculty of the Department of Mathematics as professor. Sobczyk, who was born in Duluth, Minn., and has five children, has quite an impressive portfolio. His single-space list of education, special interests, memberships, offices, honors, publications and reports occupies five pages of a Math Department bulletin.

He was awarded B.S. and M.S. degrees in mathematics with a minor in theoretical physics as a graduate assistant in mathematics at the University of Florida. He is interested in topology, functional analysis, algebras, feedback control systems and stochastic processes.

In addition to scores of articles and reports already in print, Sobczyk has at least 15 more soon to be printed. He is now conducting a seminar in functional analysis at SIU and doing research on projection in Banach spaces and linear topological spaces and algebras.

100 Register This Week for Peace Corps Test; Recruiters Consider Visit 'Very Successful'

Approximately 100 students signed up to take the Peace Corps placement test this week, a Peace Corps recruiter said. This is only about half the number who signed up for the test last spring, when the Peace Corps sent its first team of recruiters to SIU.

R. S. Karr, director of Community Development Service, said the Peace Corps placement test was given in Room 20 of the University Center. The test cannot be taken at a later time.

Joseph was also pleased with the cooperation of the department heads and instructors who relinquished 15 to 20 minutes of class time so the program could be explained to the students.

The placement tests will be at 10 a.m. today and at 10 a.m., 1, 3 and 7 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday. The tests, which will take about one and one-half hours, will be given in Room F of the University Center.

Lincoln Speedsters Challenge Salukis

By Richard La Susa
SIU football fans, beware! Roaming around the tidy confines of McAndrew Stadium tonight will be a pack of toothy and revenge-filled Tigers, hungry for a football victory over Southern's proud salukis.

The Tigers, the property of Lincoln University, will be seeking their first win over Southern since the current series between the two schools started in 1962. Since then, Lincoln coach Dwight Reed has seen his Tigers drop 13-0 and 47-8 decisions to SIU.

Don't expect Lincoln to be the same group of docile tabby cats which floundered and toppled here last season. Those Tigers are for real, and have convinced their opponents of the fact this year by grinding them into the round with a lethal running attack and powerful scoring offense.

The Salukis are aware of Lincoln's prowess and have worked long and hard in practice this week to find a way to stop the razzle-dazzle Tiger offense. "We're going to have to slow down their running game, if we expect to win," said head coach Don Hryder.

Lincoln, averaging 58 points a game, plays a fancy, wide-open style of football which has produced six victories in even outings for the rest of their season.

The Tigers love to run with the football, and there are three excellent reasons why-Villie Dent, Zeke Moore and Herb Roberts. These runners have averaged less than 10 seconds per carry, and are about as easy to control as a raging California brush fire.

Mark Hinkle, more speed merchant, is the Tigers' leading scorer and groundgainer, he averaged 3.5 yards per carry, which specialized in use of short cuts through the line and soaringsprings around end.

Fullback Hunter is a hard-nosed, 185-pound sensor who provides the Tigers with an ample mode of power running and fine blocking, under doubles on defense, and a linebackup.

Ronald Moore, a sophomore speedster, has come into his own and will be guest speaker for the Supper Club at the Student Christian Foundation Sunday evening, Mrs. Doretha Bowser, secretary to the di-rector of SCF, has announced.

French, chaplain of Prisoners," will speak after dinner.

Top-ranked Notre Dame takes on Pittsburgh's slightly bedraggled Panthers today in what is considered by many to be the top college game of the week.

The Fighting Irish will be after their seventh straight win under their new coach, Ara Parseghian. And the Panthers, at best, can only hope for an upset.

Last year when the two teams met, Pitt won an easy 2-7 victory, but things are different this season. Pitt, for example, is mainly a running team and Notre Dame's defenses have allowed only 183 yards on the ground this season.

If the Panthers are to pull an upset they will need a top game from quarterback Fred Mazurek, their third-ranked career total offense leader, but Mazurek has had a rough time in Pitt's last four games.

But for the season he has completed 49 of 93 yards for four touchdowns and passed for 331 and two touchdowns.

Once again Notre Dame will be counting heavily on quarterback John Huarte, who has completed 72 passes in 128 attempts for 1,273 yards and seven touchdowns. Huarte will have the help of end Jack Snow, who has caught 11 passes for seven touchdowns and gained 741 yards this season.

But Notre Dame doesn't confine its game to the air. It can move on the ground too. Its leading rusher is halfback Bill Wolzak, who has picked up 408 yards and six touchdowns on 94 carries.

Braves' Court Battle Begins; County Fights Proposed Move

MILWAUKEE (AP)--Milwaukee Braves? Atlanta Braves? Maybe the Bank of America's summit meeting.

President and General Manager John McHale have admitted under cross-examination that the Braves used player contracts as collateral to obtain a $3-million long-term loan from the First Wisconsin National Bank of Milwaukee.

The loan was obtained when a Chicago area syndicate headed by Bill Bartholomay, now the club's board chairman, and Tom Reynolds, the executive vice president, bought the Milwaukee franchise two years ago.

Now Bartholomay, Reynolds, McIcile & Co. are engaged in a bitter legal fight over the decision to move to Atlanta.

Milwaukee County is insisting that the Braves fulfill a contract to play all home games at County Stadium through 1965 and has obtained a state court order temporarily restraining the Braves from moving.

The Braves claim "diver sity of citizenship" because the club is a Delaware corporation and its principal business has been conducted in Chicago since Oct. 5.

McIcile noted that Bartholomay, Reynolds and two other members of the Braves' "finance committee" live in the Chicago area. He said the committee voted Sept. 14 to move the headquarters.

Baseball Owners Seek Draft, Set Commissioner's Election

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)--The major league club owners have set machines in motion for adoption of a free-agent draft, a vote that could close the book on the retiring Ford Frick era.

Each club owner was asked to submit proposals on the new draft, and the National Baseball Players Association's executive council will meet Oct. 28-30 in New York to discuss the proposal.

The owners, upon Frick's urging, agreed to either erect or lease a building called "Baseball" either in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles to house the commissioner, the two league presidents and the head of the minor leagues.

"Baseball" and more it has become necessary for a closer liaison between the commissioner, the league presidents and the head of the minor leagues," said Frick.

"The present procedure is ugly and grossly out of time and in efficiency." A five-man committee consisting of Frick, league presidents Joe Cronin of the American and Warren Giles of the National and a club owner from each league was appointed to map out plans.

The free-agent draft, if approved at the joint session here Saturday, would be brought up for adoption at the annual winter meetings in Houston next month.

If adopted, it would replace the first-year player rule which has been in effect since 1946.

Australia's second Cup challenge, issued after U.S. defender Constellation de­feat ed Britain's Sovereign in September, was accepted Thursday by the 97-year-old Trustees of the N.Y. Yacht Club.
