A discussion about admission of Edwardsville students to Carbondale student prices is a possible item on the Carbondale Student Council agenda today. The meeting will be held at 9 p.m. in Ballroom A of the University Center.

Jack W. Graham, dean of students, outlined the proposal in a letter to E. Claude Coleman, professor of English and secretary of the Athletics Committee. The letter requested that Coleman place the matter on the agenda for the committee’s Oct. 14 meeting.

Donald N. Boyston, director of athletics, asked the Carbondale Student Council to discuss the proposal tonight. However, George Paluch, Carbondale student body president, said he wasn’t sure if the matter would be brought up.

Southern’s intercollegiate athletics program is financed by activity fees from the Carbondale students and from ticket sales. Edwardsville does not participate in the program or help finance it.

Other items on tonight’s agenda include:

A bill to allow sale of Playboyr magazine, which was referred to the Information Desk of the University Center.

A study of University Park residents’ petition of grievances.

A report of committee assigning a bill to increase the appropriation of the Student Association.

Fraternity Rush to Begin Sunday

The Interfraternity Council has announced that formal rush for the fall quarter will begin Sunday at 7 p.m. for the eight social fraternities. Rush will continue on Monday and Tuesday evenings, again starting at 7.

Rushers are to register at the houses they choose. No registration fee is required, and a rusher may visit any number of houses.

John Wilhelm, IFC vice president, asked rushers to visit as many houses as they can during the three nights, so they can be introduced to several groups, and not just one or two.

The participating fraternities, located at Small Group Housing, are Alpha Phi Alpha, Delta Chi, Kappa Alpha Psi, Phi Kappa Tau, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Theta Xi.

To be eligible, rushers must have completed at least 12 hours of work at Southern, and they must have at least a 3.0 grade average.

An open rush will be held from Oct. 15 to 24. The purpose of this later rush is to allow those who didn't attend formal rush to still be able to pledge.

The purpose of the Interfraternity Council is to establish rules and enforce policies for the social fraternities. IFC particularity guides rush registration, and to see that each house is fair in carrying out rush. For further information, rushers are asked to call IFC President Bob Drinan, 7-7776, or John Wilhelm, 7-5869.

Traditional Final Week Best

Last year, when the University announced that the final formal exam week was no more, the student body was elated. Now, the senior class, said, in effect, "It's our last chance, we don't have to take finals any more."

Despite what the Trib said, some students are still not too thrilled. They say the system was slighled by the University, and circulated petitions urging the administration to return to the old system of finals as soon as possible.

The experimental final exam system tried out last year was approved by the University, or 'The Administration,' as it is more properly termed.

No, it isn't a step to the past, but there's no rest for the wicked. The new system has only two exams each semester, and that's it. The new system is based on the old, but its effect is not the same.

Again, students will not be required to attend classes during the final exam week, giving them more time to study than under last year's plan.

The reduction in time under the new system is necessary because the old two-hour exams made it difficult to schedule exams for all the sections of a course to meet in. There simply wasn't room for many of the large classes.

"This year's system will allow the same sort to be taken in the sections of class, although in different buildings. This is educational-wise," said Prof. W. MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs.

Implementing an exam in half over two days, as was often done last year, usually meant that students had to study the same material twice and that they had to repeat extra exams for the second day's testing.

Having two-hour exams allows overcrowded classes, placing more importance on term papers, hourlies, quizzes, and outside assignments.

The new plan has the approval of the Faculty Council, which sent out a questionnaire to faculty and students last year to determine what sort of a system they thought best. Although their reaction was mixed, it was made in favor of a return to the regular examination week.

There seemed to be an unusual amount of interest in the workability of unstructured finals. The new system, as far as a committee of students, faculty and administration, will probably decide the day it is written.

It is commendable that the University's new system on finals is based on a poll of faculty and students, for they are the ones who have to live with it.

MacVicar said that the University student council will probably discuss the new system at its next meeting, and the final exam week will probably continue.

"Evaluation of the 1965-66 finals system will involve the determination of faculty and students as to the adequacy of the method, and changes in it will be made as necessary,"

Poet Finds People, Country 'Pleasant'

Thomas Kinsella is a man whose life is so filled with poetry that he is unable, he says, to find relation in sports or other pastimes. The poet from Dublin, Ireland, arrived here last month to begin a term as an artist-in-residence. Although he has only been on campus two weeks, he has praise for the people he has met.

"The people and the countryside are more pleasant than I had expected, and visually, the campus is marvelous," commented the bespectacled father of three.

Although he is always searching for a subject for his next poem, he seldom reads poetry, but reads instead history and philosophy. "I enjoyed very much reading 'The Legend and Lore of Southern Illinois,'" he said.

Kinsella explained that although Dance, Keats, and "Anon" are his favorite poets, he really has no favorite poets, but a favorite kind of poetry. That which uses both sides of the mind, the intellectual and the inspirational, is the kind he likes best. He writes poems with an expression that is passionate and intellectually profound, and yet have a meaning that matters," he explained.

As the man with the high hairline settled back in his big green easy chair, he pointed out that as an artist-in-residence he did not hold any formal classes, but will meet with students interested in writing poetry, and try to help them.

The 37-year-old poet was working as a civil servant in the Department of Finance in Ireland before he came to Carbondale. This department deals with the monetary aspects of Ireland, including banking legislation changes, accuracy of financial statistics, and cash movements. "It is hard for a person to earn a living as a poet in Ireland. So when this appointment was offered which would give me the use of my own way, the decision was not difficult to make," he said.

Chicago Editorial Praises Fuller

"Buckminster Fuller was once regarded as some kind of a nut... His achievements now occupy 97 lines of "Who's Who in America," 80 lines more than Lyndon B. Johnson and the longest entry in the book," comments an editorial in Wednesday's Chicago Daily News.

Fuller, whose geodesic domes are used all over the world, is a professor of design at SIU. As the man with the high hairline settled back in his green easy chair, he pointed out that as an artist-in-residence he did not hold any formal classes, but will meet with students interested in writing poetry, and try to help them.

The Daily News editorial singles out his dream of a mile-high translucent dome to control the environment of midtown Manhattan. "Wacky? Maybe so. Wacky like a little tube that brings Broadway musicals into the living room, or men walking around in outer space snapping pictures of Earth," says the editorial.

"The problems Fuller sets out to solve must be solved one day, in one way or another. He calls on man's most imaginative, technology and science to solve them."

Coffees Wednesday

About 45 women attended the first of a series of morning coffees Wednesday given by the University Women's Club to welcome new members and newcomers to the University community.

The coffee was the first event since the club's style has been changed. About 750 women attended the event.

Mrs. James W. Neckers was in charge of morning invitations. There will be 13 similar events during the month, but there will be no other meeting of the club in October. Mrs. Ralph D. Swick, president, was in charge of invitations.

Johnson Busies as Operation Nears

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, two days from what he once called preventive maintenance on the operating table, kept a business-as-usual schedule Wednesday—and threw in some public pronouncements.

He signed a $340-million health bill without a word about his own ailment, finally after ’60 Negroes applied for admittance. The school did not open and Negroes were left to their own segregated school.

Crawfordville Negroes Continue Bus Efforts

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Negroes made another run at boarding school buses with white children Wednesday after a night rally despite an appeal by Gov. Carl E. Sanders for a halt to demonstrations.

Sanders met with local and state officials in Atlanta and announced that all parties had agreed to abide by a federal court decision expected soon in a case involving the racial situation in Taliaferro County.

The suit, originally to have been heard Nov. 4, charged that Indian soldiers intruded into Chinese territory through Yak Pass on Saturday and “fired more than 200 rounds and wounded a Chinese frontier guard.”

India, China Swap Charges

NEW DELHI (AP)—India and Communist China accused each other Wednesday of new incursions on the Tibet-Sikkim border through the Yarkhand Pass.

An Indian note handed to the Chinese Embassy in New Delhi said Chinese troops in platoon strength Monday made an “unsurprising attempt to encircle Indian defense personnel well within Sikkim.”

Sikkim is an Indian protectorate and Tibet is controlled by Peking.

In a protest to the Indian Embassy in Peking, the Chinese charged that Indian troops have “repeatedly carried out armed provocations against Chinese personnel,” and said a group of Indian soldiers intruded into Chinese territory through Yak Pass on Saturday and “fired more than 200 rounds and wounded a Chinese frontier guard.”

Only 2 of 50 on Frosh Squad Major in Physical Education

By Joe Cook

This year's freshman football team has hit a new low—in the number of physical education majors.

Only two of the 50 players listed physical education as their intended major.

Business was the choice of 10 players, while four listed engineering.

Other majors listed were: history, geology, agriculture, chemistry, math, music, journalism, industrial education, biology, pre-law and pre-med.

Twelve were undecided.

From 7 to 9:30 p.m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, it should be hard to find a freshman football or basketball player roaming the campus.

During those times the athletes are required to attend study sessions, especially designed for them.

Tutors from most of the departments are available for individual help.

This is the second year for the study sessions.

Tom Massey, Southern's leading pass receiver last year, has returned to school.

Cars have certainly changed through the years—and so have the necessities to keep them running in top notch condition.

Oil is one of these necessities. With today's high compression engines, it takes a dependable motor-oil to keep your car in top shape. Your Martin man has just that dependable motor-oil to keep your car running its best. Stop in today.

You couldn't tell it by the score but Lincoln University, Southern's opponent last Saturday night, played a football game last week.

Lincoln defeated Central College of Iowa 6-4 last Saturday on a last period touchdown.

The Iowa school scored safeties in both the second and third periods.

The loss of Dan Shaughnessy from the "one-country team" has just wrecked Southern's chances for a successful season.

In addition to losing its top performer, the team will operate the rest of the season with just five runners, one under the requirement, "We just don't have anyone to replace him," said Bill Cornell, assistant coach.

The winter sports season may still be months away, but already the Arena is the scene of vigorous activity. The wrestlers and the gymnasts have already started practicing for the coming season and the basketball players are working out on their own before official practice begins Oct. 15.

Faculty-Student Roles Discussed

Instructor should attempt to explain things in class for the average student and offer extra help if it is sought, he concluded.

James G. Bentiger, professor of English and director of Plan A, said, "I'd like to arouse interest in the students so that they want to think for themselves. I'm an old-fashioned and think many of the students are the way I was; I used to automatically read an assignment with more interest. If there was a test in the offing, I wish I had more time to give the students more written work so that there was more time to read it carefully and discuss it with them."

Alexander offered food for thought when he commented that "the student is the most important part of the university," and that "if there were none, then there would be much need for professors."

Big, Colorful Lincoln Tigers Play Salukis Here Saturday

The pace should be fast and furious Saturday night when the Tigers of Lincoln University play the Salukis at McAllister Stadium.

Lincoln may not be the beat team in college football, but it is one of the most colorful. The Tigers come into Saturday's contest with a 3-1 record. They have a 6-0 victory over Peru State, and a 6-4 win over Central College of Iowa. Their only loss came at the hands of Arkansas AM&N 19-6.

So the Tigers haven't shown the offensive punch they are known for. Last year they averaged better than four touchdowns a game and twice scored more than 70 points.

The Tigers have 21 lettermen from last year's team which was the eight of 10 games including a 23-20 victory over the Salukis.

They are led by Alton Adams, a slightly-built quarterback. The 165-pound senior is the team's sparkplug and leader. He has passed for 700 yards last year including nine touchdowns.

The probable starters at fullback are Ezekiel Moore and Gerald Woodward. Woodward, a 200-pound, sophomore, will be James Robinson, a 235-pound senior.

Tennis Tournament

To Begin Today

A tennis tournament will be held at 3 p.m. today at the University tennis courts. It will be a single elimination event, and will continue on Friday and Saturday, beginning at the same time.

Contestants will be members of SIU's tennis team.

Several members of the varsity will be competing in an invitational tournament Oct. 24 and 25 at the University of Missouri.

Contact Steve Davey expects a strong team next best putter last season with a 141-yard average.

At tackles, Lincoln has 235-pound Henry Hallackson and McKinley Street. Butterball senior Melvin Clarkson, rounding out the offensive line will be Hall Jackson, a 205-pound sophomore, and 230-pound George Turner at the nose. Running back center Harold Adams, a 200-pound, sophomore, is the team's second leading rusher.

ADAMS IS BACK — Alton Adams (No. 14), Lincoln's quarterback, is shown during a pileup in last year's game with Southern. He'll be leading the attack again Saturday.

Scholarships Needed to Hike Level of Grid Team: Shroyer

By Roland Gill

"If the administration wishes SIU to play a major brand of football they will have to supply comparable scholarships, funds and materials as the teams that we are now playing," Donald G. Shroyer, football coach, said.

Shroyer explained that he thought the enrollment was large enough to support the team. He also said that there was enough interest in the surrounding area to warrant a larger stadium.

He made his claim in a speech to members of the Carbondale Kiwanis Club.

"When I came here, I was somewhat disappointed in the candidates for the team," Shroyer said, "but since then we have done some serious recruiting and we have some good players."

T.P. Selects Miss Ockerby

Janice Ockerby of Creve Coeur, Ill., was elected Homecoming candidate Wednesday night by the residence of Thompson Point. Miss Ockerby had been sponsored by five of the residents. She is a junior majoring in math.

Linda Sparks and Anna Mayreitz were chosen as candidates for Homecoming attendants. They were selected from 19 Thompson Point attendants.

Other candidates for queen were Lorrie Barlet, Judy Hicks, Linda Nelson, Cathy Paoli and Carol Sooter.

Shroyer and his coaching staff, which he described as loyal, hard-working and intelligent, have sorted out the football prospects and worked to build a good team. "We are concentrating on grade records in high school as well as playing ability," he said, "and if a student can perform for us on the field and pass the General Studies program, then we want him on the team."

He added that the prospects must have more than credentials before he is accepted at SIU. "Don't see at least two game films of the player," he said.

"I had a good position with the football Cardinals of St. Louis when I accepted the position at SIU," he said, "and accepted this position because of my desire to work with young people. My goal when I started here was to produce the best team Southern Illinois has ever had and that is still my goal."

The coach, who began his career at SIU last year, spoke in a deep, easy voice and expressed his feelings about the current season.

"I'm still confident we can give you a good season," he said, "all through the week I have one of the best teams I have ever coached. I wish I could just find out what happens to them on Saturday afternoon."

"The boys have begun to show some pride in their playing ability and a football player can go farther on pride than anything else," coach Shroyer said, "I think the next two games will show a difference."

He added that he was confident if he had been in the huddles to give some words of encouragement to his team during the last two games, they could have come out on top.

Twins Trounce Dodgers 8-2

In World Series' First Game

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Twins, sting by Dodger talk of a four-run sweep, knocked out Don Drysdale in a six-run third inning Wednesday and rode to an 8-2 opening World Series victory over Los Angeles on Jim Gentile’s steady pitching.

Zolli Versalles, a wiry 155-pound Cuban, stunned the favored Dodgers with a three-run homer off Drysdale, drove in a fourth run with a single in the sixth and stole second base on a pitchout.

A standing room crowd of 47,797, for a record for Metropolitan Stadium, watched quietly while Ron Fairly’s homer gave the Dodgers an early lead in the second and hummed when Don Mincher tied it in the same inning with a homer off Drysdale.

The big crowd went into a spin in the third when Drysdale, the towering 23-game winner, was driven to cover.

Frank Quilici, a 208 hitter brought up from the Denver farm in July to fill an aching second base void, won a double and a single in the big inning. The feat tied a Series record that had been shared by 12 others.

With room to breathe and enjoy the clear sunshine, Grant marched along steadily as he had done all year while piling up 21 victories.
