SIU officials mum on president list

By Bill Layne and Bob Spranger

Members of the SIU Board of Trustees and of the Presidential Search Committee refused to verify the names of the alleged "four top contenders" for the SIU presidency as reported in Friday's Southern Illinoisan.

Willis E. Malone, committee chairman, would not confirm or deny the report that Warren W. Brandt, George C. Christensen, Charles A. Leone and Albert Somit are the four candidates recommended by the search committee.

Malone said he feels the responsibility for confirmation rests with the Board of Trustees.

Ivan A. Elliott, Jr., chairman of the board, said he would not verify "under any circumstances" the names that were reported.

"I believe the press has a right to know, but the press hasn't the right to embarrass individuals," Elliott said.

The Southern Illinoisan reported that the four candidates who "apparently" were recommended to the SIU Board of Trustees this week are:

- Warren W. Brandt, 51, president of Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond;
- George C. Christensen, 56, vice president for academic affairs at Iowa State University at Ames;
- Charles A. Leone, 56, vice provost for research and dean of the graduate school at Bowling Green University in Bowling Green, Ohio;
- Albert Somit, 54, executive vice president at State University of New York at Buffalo.

When contacted by phone Friday evening, three of the four named said they were, in fact, candidates seeking the position.

The three did not know, however, if they were on the list recommended by the search committee to the Board. Brandt declined to comment.

"Any comment should come from the selection committee. The selection committee should be the one to make that announcement," Brandt said.

Leone said he had visited the campus and talked to supporters of SIU, said he is definitely interested in the position.

"It is exciting of course. I would be interested," he said.

Grand Tower medical center will cut distance to doctor

By Dave Wieczorek
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

For years, the people in the Southern Illinois towns of Grand Tower, Sand Ridge, Gorham, Howardville, Neumert, Jacob, Grimsby and Wolf Lake have been traveling long distances for their medical needs.

However, through the combined effort of these eight communities, the people have provided for themselves the Dr. M.J. Hughes Medical Center, located in Grand Tower, and scheduled to open Monday.

Tom Hale, member of the Old Grand Tower Lodge, said the original idea for the center came from the Grand Tower citizens.

"It was Grand Tower's idea but the people from all of these towns gave their support. Everyone donated money for the center," Hale said.

Hughes Memorial Medical Center has received $17,000 in pledges toward it's $25,000 goal. It will open Monday in Grand Tower and serve eight communities. (Staff photo by Chuck Fishman)

Cedar Lake plans to get underway

By Dave Datta
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council will soon approve hiring designers to begin drawing plans for Cedar Lake recreation facilities, James Rayfield, city planning director, predicted Friday.

At its formal meeting 7 p.m. Monday in the University City cafeteria, the council will authorize the mayor to enter into contract with the engineering firm of Clark Dietz & Associates, Rayfield said. The Ill. Department of Conservation recently granted $94,000 to begin the design phase.

The first structure to be considered by the city will be a boat launch. Once the city approves design plans, bids for construction will be sought, Rayfield explained. Bids should be accepted by April, 1975, Rayfield added.

Construction should be completed by the end of 1975, Rayfield said. The boat launch will be located on the north-east shore of the lake at the end of Cedar Creek Road.

By awarding a design contract, the city will take the first step in a plan to develop recreational sites at Cedar Lake.

The plan drawn up by geography, geology and forestry students at SIU proposes a three-phase, 10-year development of recreation facilities in the city-owned part of the lake.

If the plan were to receive immediate go-ahead, public nature trails, picnic areas, beaches and boating facilities will dot the northern half of Cedar Lake by 1985.

"If we had time this summer, we could have done Phase I," Rayfield said. Work would then have included a boat launch, beach, toilets, a changing house and parking.

The city has given Cedar Lake development a priority second to the implementation of federal funds promised to Carbondale, according to Rayfield.

Cedar Lake is located several miles south-southwest of the city. By next year it is expected to replace Crab Orchard Lake as the major water source for Carbondale.

During up coming drought, the city drew emergency supplies from the recently-united reservoir.

The SIU advisory team's recommendations for the southern half of Cedar Lake will reach the city on September 30, according to David Arey, professor in charge of the team.

Even if the Carbondale City Council amends the bicycle registration ordinance, SIU students may still be able to duck city law and register their machines only once, according to Mayor Neil Eckert.

All this would be if the University refused to change its own bicycle regulations, Eckert said Friday. "We would have a mess," the mayor said.

Whether persons will have to register yearly will depend on where they registered in the first place — at the Carbondale Police Community Relations Center at 205 S. Illinois St., or at the SIU Security Office on campus, Eckert said.

City ordinance requires their machines annually; as amended, the ordinance states that decals would be issued in lieu of new license plates for bicycles each year, Eckert explained.

However, SIU rules have bike-riding students register only once. Plates are good indefinitely, and yearly registration is not necessary.

"By far, whatever we do, it would be better to be in concurrence with the University," Eckert said. Eckert agreed that the situation was like that between two neighboring states — as long as a vehicle is licensed by one government, it may be operated within the borders of the other.

"I would hope to speak to University officials before the Council meets Monday. SIU has not contacted the city to discuss bicycle ordinance yet," Eckert said.

The Council will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the University City cafeteria. The council will vote on an amendment calling for stick-on decals instead of renewed license plates.

An important aim of the city bicycle ordinance is safety, Eckert said. When speaking at a slate-decay ceremony, he would be required to have their machines inspected for safety features, according to the ordinance. These features include functional brakes, a horn or bell and reflectors and a light at night.

According to a study by the state, Carbondale's bicycle accidents are double the national average, Eckert said. National statistics show that out of every 100,000 bicyclists, 1972, 8.5 per cent were bicycle-related fatalities, while 7.7 per cent involved bicycles here in Carbondale.

Bicycle injuries between 1966 and 1971 averaged 10 a year, while injuries in 1972 numbered 21, said "I can't say in any cases in court.

Orescanin, Leffler request dismissal of indictments

By Gary Delosh
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A motion to dismiss criminal indictments against Danilo Orescanin, former executive vice president of SIU, and Thomas Leffler, suspended chief of SIU Police, will be heard Friday in circuit court in Murphysboro.

The officials were indicted July 25 on charges of tampering with public records. Orescanin was charged with "concealing the true nature of expenditures tabbed to the SIU president's official functions account," in connection with liquor vouchers processed for the Carbondale Holiday Inn. Leffler was charged with "aiding and abetting" Orescanin, according to States Attorney Howard Hood.

The motion, filed Sept. 5, claims the indictments "fail to state an offense" and contain "an allegation of falsification which could seriously mislead a jury and prejudice the defendants."

The motion also argues that the indictment "fail to state an offense" and contain "an allegation of falsification which could seriously mislead a jury and prejudice the defendants."

The motion further states the "indictments conserve substantial injustice to the defendants."

When asked about the nature of the potential injustice, David Watt Jr., attorney for Orescanin, said "I can't say in any cases in court.

Orescanin requested transfer from his administrative duties to a full-time teaching position after an audit revealed irregularities in restricted University accounts he handled.

He is now a professor of administrative sciences in the School of Business. Leffler was suspended with pay after the indictments were handed down.

Black orientation set

By Dan Thomas
Student Writer

The Black Affairs Council will present a black student orientation at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Center, Ballroom D.

This will be "designed to fit specific needs of SIU black students," said Harry J. Jane III, black affairs council treasurer.

Speakers at the event will include Dean Stanley H. Smith, College of Human Resources, and Clifford Harper, director of the Black American Studies program, according to Edgar Philpot, Jr., Black Affairs Council coordinator. The guest speaker will be Silas Purnell, director of Educational Services, who will speak on "the role of black students in the financial aid program," Philpot said.

Other topics to be covered include education of the black student, problems of blacks, the history of blacks in the United States and the role of campus organizations in helping the black student.

Also featured in the program will be the Black Fire Dancers, an SIU group which perform modern and African dance.

Sunday: Partly sunny and warm. Highs in the low or mid 80s.

Sullivan said he met with four of the five candidates who visited SIU, and two of the five interviewed the names of Brandt, Christensen, Lune and Somit as being among the five who will visit SIU.

"I would hope they (the board) go along with the search committee's recommendations," said Sullivan.

Hiram H. Lesar, 62, has been interim president since David R. Derge resigned under fire last March.

Women's Center has new home

By Pam Black
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer
The Women's Center is being relocated from 408 W. Walnut to 408 W. Veenin in a six-bedroom, three-story house. The move will begin Saturday.

"We feel we can handle more people in a larger house," explained Kay M. Allen, president of the Women's Center Board.

"It's no sudden decision," said Allen. "We knew we were going to move since last spring."

After 2 1/2 years, the house at the old location gained 9 and was not renewed.

Plan calls for shutdowns

Local railroads in jeopardy

By Gary Delosh
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A federal plan calling for abandonment of several key railroad lines in southern Illinois has been "objected to" by the Illinois Commission for Economic Development (ICED).

The U.S. Department of Transportation's DOT proposes 'neglecting the affects such a program would have on people living in this area," according to ICED Executive Director, Robert Mattson.

Mattson said the proposal calls for abandonment of all freight tracks in Illinois. The bulk of these are in central and southern Illinois, he explained.

The ICED held public hearings last spring in Marion, Mattoon, Decatur and Bloomington to "get the folks in the community a chance to express their opinions," Mattson said.

Persons representing power companies, small businesses and grain elevators were invited by Mattson to testify at the hearings. Mattson said he was asked at the DOT's failure to consider the affects of abandoning railroads.

He said the ICED conducted the hearings and sent the findings to people in Washington working on the plan.

Mattson said the abandonment plan came after the January 2 passage of the Rail Reorganization Act. The act called for the DOT to study U.S. railways for the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC).

The ICC then used the study as the basis of a reorganization plan to be presented before Congress. Mattson said his commission opposes to it because it affects people in the area that has been a need for a long time.

Grand Tower will get bicentennial flag

The official bicentennial flag will be presented to Grand Tower at 2 p.m. Saturday. Grand Tower was recently designated a bicentennial city by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, Washington D.C.

The flag will be presented through the office of Congressman Kenneth V. Gray.

The Mock Turtle Crafts Gallery which was organized by the center is operated by volunteers at 888 S. Illinois St. The gallery displays and sells hand crafted items made by Southern Illinois artists.

One-third of the Mock Turtle's revenue is to finance the non-profit organization center.

The center is partially funded by private funds, and receives some funds from the United Fund and the Jackson County Mental Health Board.

The center offers special interest programs to women, provided speakers for interested organizations and classes and in a meeting place for women's groups.

It is also an information and referral center for women.

Watergate, if forgotten, will happen again

To the Daily Egyptian:

Please avoid using the computer as a scapegoat when the results of a data processing system are not correct. The statement in the Daily Egyptian story of 8-29 "Computer bungles, scatters students" that the Journalism 341 students were scattered across campus "Thanks ... possibly to a computer bungle" is incorrect and creates a public prejudice against computers.

Likewise, the Southern Illinoisan 8-28 story "Computer puts Derge's class in storeroom" stating "A computer error by the registrar's office had the class scheduled in a storeroom in the Home Economics building" indicates how little the general public knows about computers. Information processing systems are made up of both people and machines, and are normally quite complex. But just to set the record straight, many errors in the output of such systems are human errors and not the fault of the hardware. Most computers are designed with self-checking circuits, but there is no way for a computer to correct incorrect output data or human errors any more than a typewriter can correct a typist's errors.

The computer is a powerful tool for mankind to use but it is not a "brain." It is the human being who can and must think. There is a saying among data processing people, "Garbage in, Garbage out!" This short letter can only begin to clarify this general misunderstanding about computers, but if you or any of your readers want to know more about them, we would be happy to have you in one of our courses. But, PLEASE DON'T BLAME THE COMPUTER FOR HUMAN ERRORS.

"Decent American" indecent

To the Daily Egyptian:

On occasion I chance upon an article, so written, that it violates the paper it is printed on. Such an article appeared in your September 3 issue, under the title of "The Decent Americans." I cannot exclaim enough astonishment as to how such an article could possibly involve good taste and issues rather than personalities as your paper prescribes.

First of all, and most importantly, I would like to enlighten your readers to what the previous article's author called a "glorious war which brought peace and democracy to Southeast Asia." The war in Indochina was a disastrous attempt at bringing the American prowess for peace-making, and even the decent Americans have realized this by now. There was nothing glorious about the war, in fact, it was like dragging the U.S. through dirt in the 1780s of the other nations.

This is peace? According to a U.S. News & World Report from October 29, 1973, since the cease-fire has been in effect, violations are occurring in Saigon, 26,000 Communist violations of the cease fire, which include 9,700 soldiers and 1,850 civilians killed. The Communists have claimed over 200,000 violations of the cease fire by Saigon, including the deaths of over 6,000 civilians. The war remains, regardless of U.S. intervention, a power struggle between North and South Vietnam.

Further on the author seems to contend that our moral values should be dictated to every citizen by the President. In this democratic country, people are free to decide their own moral values, as long as they are within the law. How can a 19 year old accept the fact that he may lose his life, when ordered to kill innocent Vietnamese or Cambodians, and accused the media of "demonizing" them, or "demonizing" the war.

A Consscientious Objector is not a coward, but a human being who could not bring himself to kill others. The numerous and trying aspects to achieve a C.O. status are so that it is almost understandable as to why he left our country.

In conclusion, I again urge you to screen your future editorials for factual information, and disregard articles such as the previous one that is so seriously undermined by the ignorance and obvious incompetence of the author concerning the event.

Thank you from the LongBranch

To the Daily Egyptian:

The Longbranch Foundation For The Arts And Sciences would like to take this opportunity to open an open letter of thanks to the greater Southern Illinois community for its participation in the Southern Illinois Arts Festival which was sponsored and co-ordinated by The Longbranch. Special thanks to Sen. Ken Bunnell, George Beuskens, and Jan Fouche from the Women's Center, all the local poets, The Essence of Jazz from G搖onida, Cockey's Cabaret, and the hundreds of people who stopped by during the week.

The Longbranch is a new and unique attempt to bring community involvement and participation to the Southern Illinois area. As a non-profit organization our advertising dollar is limited so thanks must go out to the area media channels who have offered us public service time as well.

The Longbranch is open to suggestions as to how it can participate in bringing about new cultural and community events for this rich areas development. You can contact us by mailing 500-650 or by stopping by 100 East Jackson Street In Carbondale

Again our warmest thanks and appreciation to the Carbondale and greater Southern Illinois community for its support.

Inflation forces schools to raise lunch prices

By The Associated Press

The American housewife is not alone in her battle against inflation in the kitchen. The nation's schools are facing higher prices, product shortages and hesitant suppliers as they attempt to feed more than 25 million schoolchildren.

The result: schoolchildren now have three fewer choices in their lunch than they did last fall. They have fewer chances to make their own choices in their pockets in order to pay for the school milk or apple pie with whipped topping.

An Associated Press survey of school officials of 21 cities finds that prices of preparing a meal has increased from 10 to 50 cents. Children now are paying between 30 and 60 cents, 5 to 10 cents more than they did last year.

Price fluctuations also have caused the schools problems in obtaining supplies under contracts. Bills are being accepted for shorter periods and many contracts in an escalator clause that allows the supplier to pass along cost increases.

"We buy on the open market now because it's easier," said Bob Woodson, a public schools cafeteria purchasing division.

Howard Briggs, director of food service for the Detroit public schools said: "We used to be able to get a ham and have a firm price for the year. That's no longer possible.

Higher costs and shortages have caused menu changes in some areas. Apple sauce has replaced peaches, eggnog is served on a plate and not in the costly sugar cone.

None of the suppliers surveyed reported a reduction in the number of meals served or a lowering of quality because of inflation.

Meat was a big problem last year for the schools, but the Agriculture Department makes its purchases of beef this year and almost all the schools in the current survey said they have encountered no problems in getting meat.

In New York City, where 1.7 million lunches are served daily, according to Julius Jacobs, director of the city's bureau of school lunches, there is said there is plenty of meat this year but there will be tan on the menu because of its cost and lack of acceptance by the children.

Most of the supervisors said they served meat for or five times a week with meatless days only in order to vary the menu.

Reports submitted by the supervisors include flour, canned vegetables—especially fruits—cereal products, and shortening.

Police Chase Starlings Out of Tatum Heights

Until a week ago, the southeast side of Carbondale was going to the birds—15,000 to 20,000 starlings migrating in from the countryside, to be exact.

In late July, Tatum Heights residents called in complaints about the flying messengers, according to a member of the city's Code Enforcement Department.

The starlings around Birch Lane gave the ground a rank-smelling blanket of feathers and droppings, John Yow said Friday.

On the evening of August 27, Yow and Officers Donald Johnson and Norman Horner of the Police Community Relations Center set out to chase off the birds. To the battle-ground they took three shotguns, 500 rounds of nonshooting shells and a recording of starling distress calls.

"It seems like sound is what scares them away," Yow explained. The "cracker shells" are designed to explode four seconds after leaving the barrel of a gun. Combined with the recorded screams of injured starlings, the shells chased off about 4,000 birds the first night, Yow said.

Every evening for the next few days, 4,000 starlings fled the sound effects. Friday morning Yow said Tatum Heights residents "believe the majority of starlings have left that area."

Yow called the $112 project "a pretty good success." The only problem encountered was a few cracked shells that exploded in the gun instead of 300 ft. in the air, Yow said.

No one was hurt, but the concussion "harm near knocked the gun out of your hand," Yow added.

City officials were uncertain whether the starlings would ever return.

Board meeting dates are given

A schedule of remaining Jackson County Board meetings was released by Jackson County Clerk and Recorder, Robert B. Harrell. The Board will meet on the following days: Sept. 10, Oct. 5, Nov. 13 and Dec. 11. Morning sessions begin at 10 a.m. and afternoon sessions begin at 1 p.m. The public is invited to attend.
Women's intramural team rosters for tennis tournament due Friday

Official women's intramural team roster sheets for flag football, bowling, tennis and volleyball must be turned in to Room 306, Women's Gym. The deadline for entering the tennis tournament is Friday and for the volleyball and bowling, Monday, Sept. 16. These forms must be turned in prior to the appropriate deadline, or the team will not be included in the schedule of games.

Jockey wins

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Exactly 25 years after riding his first winner, 43-year-old Willie Shoemaker rode Agilitie to victory in the rich California Derby at Golden Gate Fields. Shoemaker won his first of more than 6,000 races at the same track on April 20, 1949.

Flag football and bowling rosters were due Friday. Students may sign up individually after the deadlines and their names will be added to official teams. Anyone who does not have a team but wants to play should call 432-2031 or go to Room 306A, Women's Gym, and her name will be added to a team.

These people who have signed up to officiate flag football and/or volleyball are reminded that they must have an A.A.T. on file at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office. They must pick up a referral form from that office and bring it to Room 26A, Women's Gym, as soon as possible.

Officials will not be paid if they have not completed the appropriate forms.

Monday night's intramural activities include synchronized swimming at 5:45, advanced dance, and volleyball.

Tuesday's schedule has beginning dance at 1:30 and synchronized swimming at 5:45. Starting at 7 are bowling, intermediate dance, gymnastics, tennis and showing of dance workshop films.

Yukon river trips popular

River trips on the Yukon are becoming popular summer attractions.

The first interschool sports competition of the season took place at SIU Saturday at 3 p.m. when the Soccer Club tangled with the Vanderbilt Commodores.

The offense-minded Commodores, will be followed the next day by Vincennes College, a club loaded with foreign talent.

Both games will be held on the field southeast of the Arena, behind the baseball field.

Seven veterans anchor the SIU team, including goalies Bill Mottens, Bijan Yarjani, Richard Caballero and Alfsin Razani return as strikers, and Jacques Bonoffi. Bill Lang and Dan Habel are back to stabilize the defense.

"This weekend's competition could be a good indicator of what is in store for local fans as far as the upgraded quality of competition this season," said Habel, the club president. "If we fare well this weekend, this could be one of our most productive seasons ever."

Soccer practices are held Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. for all interested students.

The 1974 SIU schedule includes 10 matches, all starting at 2 p.m., except the opener, which begins at 3 p.m.

Lettermen lead CCHS golfers

By David Hamburg
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Two lettermen, senior Gary Goro and junior Kevin Klaine, are going to have to carry the load this fall when Carbondale High’s golfers take to the links.

CCHS golf coach, Tim Tarr, who returns to the helm after a three-year absence, emphasized he is depending “a whole lot” on the talents of Goro and Klaine to see the Terriers through this season.

The two led the team to a season-opening 126-170 win over Harrisburg Friday afternoon at Midland Hills Golf Course.

This is a rebuilding year for CCHS, and Tarr attested, “I don’t consider it anything but!”

“We’re young in our depth,” Tarr assessed. “Any depth we have is in our young kids, and they have to remember...”

Harriers set Sunday meet

The Saluki harriers will display their talents for the first time this year in an interschool and intraschool meet Sunday at 1 p.m.

Lincoln Land Junior College of Springfield, a perennial track power, will send five runners against a pair of Saluki squads—the freshmen and the veterans.

“This should be highly competitive,” said Saluki Track Coach Lew Hartung. “It’s always a lot of fun...”

The visiting quintet is sparked by national junior college six-mile champion Sonny Wilburn, who beat the Salukis’ best, Gerry Craig, handily last year. A week after that meet, he ran a close second to Illinois’ Craig Virgin.

Peter Richardson, Paul Craig, Bill Britten and Bruce Patterson will team with area resident Ken Naider, an Illinois-born distance star, to form the freshman squad.

John St. John, Tom Fulton, Jerry Grobe, Gary Mandehr and Howie Bryant constitute the ‘old men’s’ squad.

The run will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 5 p.m.

Terrier defense gets first test tonight

By David Hamburg

Carbondale’s high-powered offense and ‘untried’ defense prepared for battle on the gridiron Saturday night, as the Terriers host arch-rival Murphysboro at 8 p.m. at Bleyer Field.

Although the two teams are no longer in the same conference, the game is still featured as a grudge match. The annual affair dates back to 1921 when the Red Devils blew the Terriers off the field to the tune of 124-7. Carbondale, however, has come a ways since then, and the series record reads: Carbondale—24 wins, Murphysboro—28 wins.

There have been two ties.

Carbondale is young and inexperienced this year, and new head coach, Tom O’Boyle, is less than optimistic about his team’s chances.

“We don’t appear to be psyched up for Murphysboro...”

Carbondale senior Gary Goro practices this week at the Terriers’ home course, Midland Hills.

“We don’t consider it anything but!”

“We’ve lost to them only once in 11 years. I hope Herrin is still undefeated when they play us in our third game. I personally don’t think they know how to get high for a game,” O’Boyle said of his players.

“There’s a lack of leadership on the part of the seniors and I don’t know why. I’m their coach and preparer, but they’ve got to do it. Carbondale has a tradition of winning ball,” he emphasized.

O’Boyle said, “I feel we have about 30 potentially good football players. We’re putting all of our guns on offense. The defense is just unified. I don’t know how good they are.”

O’Boyle foresees many problems in the upcoming season. The Terriers are riding the crest of a six-game winning streak, finishing last year with a record of 7-4.

“We’re opening up with what I consider four tough teams for us,” said O’Boyle. The first four opponents are Murphysboro, Centralia, Herrin and Urbana. Centralia and Mt. Vernon are expected to vie for the South Seven crown. The Terriers host Mt. Vernon in the season opener.

“We will be extra fortunate to win six or seven games,” O’Boyle stated. “If we break even, I won’t be satisfied, but it will be a little more realistic.”

The kicking situation is “poor,” said O’Boyle, who warned, “our punters better get better.”

The punting will be handled by junior Doug Weaver Jr. and sophomore Mark Klaase. Accola and junior Bob Bleyer will combine on field goals and extra points.

Both prep and college football begins today, but the Salukis, under first-year coach Doug Weaver, have another week yet to prepare. Weaver is in Wichita, Kan., today to scout New Mexico State’s opener against Wichita State. The Salukis play New Mexico State in the opener next Saturday.
