Miss Southern Contest Entries Total Fourteen

Five additional Southern coeds have entered the Miss Southern contest, one of the main attractions of the Spring Festival. They are as follows: Jeanne Lloyd, Winnie Bollinger, Shirley Harg, Elaine Pinnock, and Wanda Lee Kuhnert. Other entrants as announced previously are Connie Miers, Audrey Mayer, Margarette Williams, Marge Rieley, June Dodge, Wanda Crabtree, Jean Nierman, Pat Taylor, and Rooney McCarthy. According to Jean Nierman, co-chairman of the Miss Southern contest, some of the contestants have as yet paid the two-dollar entry fee. Failure to pay this fee will disqualify a contestant. All entrants should meet at the flag pole at 9 a.m. tomorrow for the tour, said co-chairman Nierman.

Monday at 7:30 p.m., the Dean of Women’s Office will hold a coffee hour in honor of graduating senior girls. Any graduating senior girl may attend the coffee hour at any time before 3:30 p.m. It is to be the second in a series of such affairs sponsored by the Dean of Women’s office.

First concert of the season next year will be by Rudolph Serkin, world-famous pianist. Presenting the second concert will be the Columbia Boy Choir, a group of thirty boys under the direction of Herbert Hoffman.

The Lomegon Symphonette, probably the most widely known small symphonic group in the country, will give the season’s third concert. Michael Piatro will conduct the orchestra.

Final concert of the Community series will be by Frances Riple, a mezzo-soprano star of the New York City Opera company.

Our Opinions...

MacArthur vs. Truman

When a lieutenant disobeys his captain, he is subject to removal from his rank or court martial... Likewise when Gen. Douglas MacArthur disobeyed the orders of his superiors he was subject to dismissal.

It cannot be denied that MacArthur is a military man of great ability. This he has proven throughout the past years in Asia. But he was guilty of a grave military crime—that of insubordination. If others of the military took it upon themselves, as MacArthur did, to disobey their superiors, the whole structure of our well-established military organization would collapse.

MAC A R T H U R W A N T E D to carry the general war to Asia. In doing this he flouted the policy of Truman, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the United Nations, who believe that the general war (if there is to be one) should be fought in Europe. The UN set down the policy that Korea should be isolated but MacArthur disagreed. In doing so, he assumed a command which was not his—the making of foreign policy.

Doubling, the protests of Britain and France played a great part in the firing of MacArthur. Both countries protested mainly because of the fact that the general wanted the war to be fought in Asia. They knew well that if the war were fought in Asia, the countries of Europe would be left at the mercy of the Communist menace because there would not be enough men or materials to supply a full-scale war on both the European and Asiatic fronts. Truman was probably influenced greatly by the views of these two countries and for good reason. Without them, a war in Europe would be futile.

WE DO BELIEVE, however, that while Truman was right in his removal of MacArthur from command of the United Nations forces, he was wrong in removing the general from his command of the occupation forces in Japan. MacArthur has served in the Asiatic theater for his whole military career and is thoroughly indoctrinated in the ways of the Japanese. When he assumed command of the Occupation troops in Japan, he became to the Japanese people what Hirohito had been during the war years. By this dismissal of the Japanese occupation commander, Truman has let the people of Japan down. It will take a long time for Gen. Gen. Ridgway to command the respect that the Japanese have for Gen. MacArthur.

It may be shown later that Gen. MacArthur was right in his thinking, but he was wrong in his disobedience. If MacArthur was right, it will not be he who will have to suffer the ultimate consequences of the military program that has been established.

Southern Hospitality

Today and tomorrow, Southern is playing host at its annual Hospitality Week-end to approximately 125 high school seniors from the Southern Illinois area. This meeting is not just another convention SIU is sponsoring—like the Ladies Garment Workers or the Southern Illinois Firefighters—to be put aside by Southern students as unimportant.

These high school seniors, our guests, are a select group, chosen to attend Hospitality week-end by scholarship, leadership, and other high qualities. Most of them are planning to go to college next year, and some of them are trying to make up their minds whether to go to SIU or some other school. Their reception here may be the deciding factor.

OF COURSE, AS USUAL, APO and Girls Rally are doing their share of the welcoming, as are several student committees. They, too, are left to do the lion's share of the planning. An all-school dance, with music by Lawson, will be held at the Women's gym tonight, starting at 8. This does not mean all-high school dance—it is for university students as well. You don't have to stay and dance all night, but could just stop in for a little while to say "hi" to the seniors and make sure they are having a good time.

We won't even mention the phrase "Southern hospitality"—that has become by-word around here, to be taken for granted. We'll just ask you to stop and remember how you felt when you were a senior in high school. (Come now, we're not that old.) V. M.

Chucking Chuck Nails Down Third Base Job

Chucking Thomas came over to Valier and said, "Chuck, if we hadn't had that powerhouse in '48, you'd have played a lot of basketball here." Duster Thomas is the cage mentor in Pinckneyville, and he was referring to the State Champion team of 1948 when he said, "powerhouse."

When the ump yells, "Batter up," and the first opponent batsman steps into the batter's box, Valier is raring to go. He wants all the chances to come to him, because he likes to field ground balls, no matter where they hit. The alert combination of the Southern infield just wouldn't be the same if Chucking Chuck wasn't around.
