Troop withdrawal hoped

Secretary of State William P. Rogers voted hope Monday for mutual withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam. He ruled out a unilateral American withdrawal, however.

Rogers referred to an administration plan to end the war, but cautioned "there isn't any magic formula."

Class schedule to be printed as supplement

The complete class schedule for fall quarter, 1969, will be published as a section of the Daily Egyptian Wednesday.

Students are urged by the Registrar's office to save the special section, since the usual booklets containing the schedule will be printed only in a limited quantity at a later date.

A spokesman for the Registrar's Office said individual student reaction to this experimental plan of distribution is welcome.

Carbondale's need for airline service was the subject of testimony given Monday by Mayor David Keene before an Illinois Commerce Commission examiner in Springfield.

Mayor Keene said during the meeting recess he believes another hearing will have to be held before the examination is completed. Also testifying at the meeting were representatives of Ong Airlines, which ceased service to Carbondale three months ago.

The hearing was called to investigate why Ong Airlines was forced to discontinue its operation. In addition, a petition by Chicago and Southern Airlines Inc., which has agreed to begin service to Carbondale, was also heard.

Keene said James Riley, president of the newly formed Chicago and Southern Airlines, has promised, at a minimum, to match the same flight schedule as Ong Airlines.

According to the mayor, Riley told the ICC examiner that one plane will be certified this week, three more will be ready next week, and two other planes have been purchased by the company for eventual certification.

At the hearing the ICC examiner told the representatives testifying that a transfer of franchise from Ong to Chicago and Southern Airlines may be difficult. The examiner, according to testimony, said a revocation of Ong's franchise and issuance of a separate one to the new airline company would not be in order.

In his testimony, the mayor included poor highways and reduced train service as reasons the city needs airline service.

He said one of the things potential businesses and industrial concerns ask when considering Carbondale for a site is whether or not the city has airline service.

"We've got a good airport facility with a tower, but no service," Keene said. The mayor expressed optimism about the possibilities of getting the new airline, but cautioned that the ICC is "going to be careful about issuing another franchise."
Eight coeds take ROTC

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twice a week eight Temple University coeds shoulder an M1 rifle and march slically — but not briskly — under the Temple's bell tower. It's not put-on. They are in the university's Reserve Office Training Corps, a program for decades has been exclusively male.

Temple's Department of Military Science was startled last fall when the girls sought to enroll in ROTC, taking advantage of a new announcement that the corps could be substituted for gym courses. The girls don't qualify for Army commissary but they can get credit for the course instead.

Lt. Col. Edward Kapla, the ROTC unit's commanding officer, figures "a little drilling, marksmanship, military defense and history" couldn't hurt the coeds. So they joined 537 male cadets, giving them a 67-1 disadvantage — but in that an advantage?" I had no more reason for joining," admits Linda Comalli, a junior from Ambridge, Pa., "I guess I thought it would be fun being with a lot of men."

Alessandra Piasuza, 19, of Glenville, Pa., a freshman at Temple's suburban Ambler campus and the lone coed in the ROTC unit there, says, "I wasn't easy at first. I think my presence may have been distracting."

So why did she do it? "I like this country, and I want to learn more about it," she explained. "For a while the girls were the butt of campus jokes and called "dumb coeds" by some of their friends."

Ogilvie to answer tax critics Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Daley will answer critics of his proposed four per cent state income tax today, Friday, in a-Government Affairs Committee hearing at the Capitol. Critics of the tax have been attacking Daley for his heavy reliance on federal funds for state programs and for the failure of his administration to build a state budget on a sound fiscal basis.

Daley will talk to the committee about Daley's plan to increase state spending by $100 million to $150 million, which critics say is too much and will lead to higher taxes.

Daley will also discuss his proposal to increase state aid to local governments by $20 million, which critics say is too little and will not solve the problem of local government financing.

The hearing will be held at 2 p.m. in the State Capitol hearing room. The public is invited to attend.

Senate committee to hold hearings on King memorial

A Student Senate special ad hoc committee announced Monday night at a meeting of the student body that it would conduct hearings to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The committee was formed to consider ways to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The Student Senate announced its formation Monday night at a meeting of the student body.

Grip the problems

To the Daily Egyptian:

In reading editorials and other articles I continue to find, as my dismay, the inability of many people—including prominent persons—to come to grips with the problems of the American educational system. I do not pretend to be a learned educator, but it seems clear to me that a number of respectable professionals have spoken out on such things as they have discovered and often given a false picture of the situation.

Just recently Dr. Betteheim, a University of Chicago professor of psychology and psychiatry, told Congress that student discontent is commonly a problem of lack of self-discipline, emotional immaturity and students who have little interest or ability to do college work. He also claims that "There are no millinons among students of medicine, engineering and the natural sciences." I would certainly challenge this last statement.

Even though I agree with much of what Dr. Betteheim says, his statement is very biased and stop-sided. He makes very little mention of the impersonal atmosphere of universities and of the fact that students are not in confron with their own parents but hold close emotional and intellectual ties with them.

Jenkins L. Jones has clearly shown his disdain for disorderly student rebellion (Daily Egyptian, April 1, 1969). Yet, he has never been through the long and unnecessary procedure of getting administrative approval of some quite reasonable demand and found it not to be finally denied or that the administration is deliberately giving him the run-around in order to discourage him. Many student rebellions he has begun in precisely this manner. It should be observed that perhaps some students become emotionally and psychologically disturbed by their college experience rather than becoming more knowable, wiser and more mature. It seems quite possible that the atmosphere of insensitivity could promote such psychological effects rather than favorable ones.

I should hope that I'm trying to solve the problem of American educational professionals will give equal emphasis to all the major factors involved, especially when speaking to Congress.

Tells of his role as SIU trustee

"I can assure you, having been on both side of the fence and most recently as a member of the Board, that I will listen to no pressure. I don't speak for the Board, but in my own mind I know nothing about what's going on. I don't want to know what's going on. I think the request for the naming of buildings should go through the proper channels. I have not made up my mind, I have not discussed it with anyone.

"The naming of buildings is a long, drawn out, procedure, and there will be no pressures used on anybody about naming anything as long as I'm a member of the Board of Trustees. I don't speak for anyone else."

Van Atta - "Do you feel, then, that in light of an enormous support of students black and white in the direction of honoring a man such as Dr. Martin Luther King, the procedure, the red tape, the bureaucracy involved could in some way be eliminated?"

"Just because it's the tradition, just because this ex- ist, do you think it is reason enough to maintain the way things are going?"

Brown - "I don't care what goes on, there'll be no pressure used on the Board of Trustees. There'll be no demands made. We'll listen to requests, but when you get into demands you are getting into something else, I'll answer your questions, but I'm not going to make any commitment about how I feel about this because I don't know the facts."

Van Atta - "Is it them the nature of the response that concerns you?"

You talk about pressure. You as a Trustee, don't want to feel that you are being pressured into meeting someone's demands. But if these were presented to you in an orderly, well thought out fashion by the student element of the campus, in light of the fact that it might take an eternity for it to get there in the other way.

Brown - "I would listen to anyone with a reasonable request! I know nothing about this and I don't want to know anything about it until it is brought to the Board in its proper fashion, with a proper recommendation. I don't know what I'm going to say, or how I'll vote, but I'm sure that it will not be done precipitously. I would think you should devote your energies to something else."

Dr. Brown tells of role of SIU trustee

Each month Dan Vanatta, staff writer, conducts a conversation with Champaign County's Dr. John MacVicar. Previously, only MacVicar was interviewed. But for this interview, which was held Monday in MacVicar's office, Dr. Marga Van Brown, a member of MacVicar's family, was the main interviewer. Most of the questions were directed to Brown.

(Copyright 1969, Dan Vanatta. All rights reserved.)

Vanatta: "How do you, Dr. Brown, visualize your self with regard to the state of Illinois and Southern Illinois University as a member of the Board of Trustees?"

Brown: "I am an appointed official of the State of Illinois. We are appointed to the Board by the governor. But we take office as Trustees of Southern Illinois University. A Trustee is in the same position as we are. We represent the taxpayers of the State of Illinois. Our duties are governed by the State, which we celebrate this past week, that states our duties and our powers. They are very broad.

"We are a body of politicians. We can condemn property. We are responsible, believe it or not, for the instruction that goes on in the University. We are responsible for the examinations that are given. We are responsible for everything that has to do with this University.

"But it is obvious that seven lay people can't do this. So we employ professional, trained administrators. It's not our job, from a practical point of view, to run the University. This has been delegated to responsible, qualified people."

Vanatta: "With regard to issues, would you say, as a Trustee, be in favor of eliminating women's hours? And if not, why not?"

Brown: "That's a hard question to answer. Your language is broad, question and nothing specific. Just off the bat, in all candor, I would have to say that I think students' hours should be regulated.

Vanatta: "I'm speaking with regard to regulations which stipulate that female students, as opposed to male students, under 21 years of age generally, with the status of the undergraduates, are required to be in the residence halls at a certain hour. I believe it is 11:30 during the week and 2 a.m. on weekends."

Brown: "Until I'm convinced there's a better system, I'm for that 100 per cent."

Vanatta: "What would you consider a better system?"

Brown: "A demonstration of responsibility, like grades...particularly grades. If a student is an A student, and has parental permission, lives in a living center that has been approved by the University until I have been shown a better system, I'd have to say that this is what I'd be for, yes."

Vanatta: "Would it be far then to say: taking this idea to its logical conclusion that until female students get parental permission to be so free, or to the Board, they should be subjected to these kinds of regulations?"

Brown: "Yes sir, I'm not speaking for the Board, this is my view. I've heard two doctors who attended the University of Illinois and lived in approved living centers. I gave them permission to go away for weekends on each occasion when it was necessary. But there is no regard to living conditions. I feel the University has a responsibility for these people who are not of legal age."

Vanatta: "With reference to this, how do you regard the University's policy of "en loco parents"? Do you feel it is the University's responsibility to protect or regulate the lives of all students at the University?"

Brown: "That's a broad question of all persons. No, not all persons. In Illinois we have a legal age limit."

"I'm not speaking for the Board, but if the legislature has seen fit to permit underage drinking, to lower the voting age, to allow some of the things I refer to, as it were. Now, if you want to call this "en loco parents" you can call it that. But I like the words of consent, and by that I mean the age of the person involved. The trend is to make people responsible, but so far legislature hasn't changed it."

MacVicar: "Dr. Brown, in addition to the legal aspects with which you are now concerned, I would like to indicate that I feel there is also a moral and ethical issue involved, which Mr. Vanatta and I have discussed before.

"I think there is a matter of concern on the part of the University for the welfare of its family, students and faculty. In light of this feeling of concern, which has been interpreted by some people in the "en loco parents" doctrine, we cannot in good conscience ignore some of the things which do have an impact on individuals. Now, admittedly, some students may feel that my notions are not necessarily the ones that are appropriate. I hope they will feel that the basis for both your feelings and mine are deeply rooted in a basic concern for their welfare."

"Frankly, I believe this concern may extend to persons who, of more than legal age. It is not necessarily concerned with sex or age."

Vanatta: "This is a good point because some of the University regulations do go beyond the legal age with regard to residence, for instance."

"Dr. Brown, on another matter, you voted against the mandatory student activity fee at the February meeting of the Board. It is my understanding that one of the reasons you voted against this was your belief that the monies should be allocated directly by administrators, rather than students. There was some indication that activities board would be allocating these funds."

In the February issue of the U.S. News and World Report, Dr. Sidney Haysawaka, president of San Francisco State College, contended that an element of "gangsterism" has entered into student violence on many campuses. He says that, in fact, student appropriations on his campus and elsewhere have been used—under false titles—to set up political organizations, and fund work on working against what he considers the wishes of the institution.

Vanatta: "Is this idea at all a part of your fear?"

Brown: "Yes, it is."

"Before Dr. Hayasaki became president of San Francisco State a radical group got into student government and drew all funds from the support of intercollegiate athletics. They had to shut down their complete intercollegiate athletic program."

"I'm glad you brought the question up, because this is one of my favorite subjects, you know, Dr. Hayasaki.

"This money that is collected under the name of "student activity fee" is compulsory. If students have to pay to attend this school, this means that this is public money. It is subject to all kinds of regulations. The Board, under the purview of the Board of Trustees..."

"I want to say that that is clear. There is a difference between compulsory money and voluntary money, and this is compulsory money. It is the responsibility of the Board of Trustees to see that it is spent properly.

"MacVicar: "I think it should be recorded that this is historically the way in which all compulsory money must be spent. They have been collected by the University business, and dispersed in accordance with the rules and regulations laid down by the expenditure of public funds. This will also be true of fees collected to support programs of a cultural, educational, and social nature in University owned living units, effective next fall."

"What Dr. Brown is saying in a sound policy with regard to compulsory student activity fee funds, if, in fact, what has been done will be done."

Vanatta: "It was actually the reason of collection that was established as a voluntary basis."

Brown: "Yes, I'm familiar with that too. But I also am aware of there or four years ago students voted to send some money down to the poverty-stricken area of Mississippi. They also voted to send some money down there to investigate poverty-stricken areas of Mississippi. And I think they went!"

Brown: "I don't know, I think I had it as student government some years ago, it makes no difference, that was a valid use of public monies. Also, it's not a valid use of public monies, in my way of thinking, of sending students out to protest at the Washington Monument last year. This is an illegal use of public taxpayers funds. And this is taxpayers' money, you know, that's why I'm on the Board of Trustees."

Vanatta: "I just want to clarify here, when you say it in an illegal use. Do you mean it's illegal so much as you disagree on it?"

Brown: "No."

Vanatta: "You approved, would it be legal?"

Brown: "No, if I approved it still would be illegal."

Vanatta: "What's the legal technichality, because it was being used out of state?"

Brown: "No, we might be using semantics in the wrong way. A play on words is what is going on."

"I don't believe the taxpayers of the State of Illinois would approve of using some of these monies for activities in Mississippi to participate in such activities."

"Now, as to legality, I don't know if this has been raised upon this subject, but I should not express an opinion on that."

Vanatta: "In other words, you wouldn't say it was illegal, but you feel a majority of Illinois taxpayers would not be in favor of it.

Brown: "That's right."

Vanatta: "However, if some evidence were given that they were in favor this would change your opinion."

Brown: "Certainly."

Vanatta: "You're judging, then, on your own opinion of what the people of the State of Illinois feel?"

Brown: "Yes."

Vanatta: "Can you tell me what the policy of SIU is with regard to the naming of University buildings?"

Brown: "Having been on the Board for a period of eight years, I have gone through many sessions with the staff of the University and with the Board of Trustees in discussing the naming of buildings. There is a process evolved through a series of committees in naming buildings.

"Dar, I can imagine what you're leading me to. I would like to say that in the six years that I have been a member of a pressure group, before I came on the Board, in trying to build a building necessary for a department of the school—a certain political figure. I was president of the Alumni Association and had some good friends on the Board of Trustees. They came to me and they said, "Dar, we want you to withdraw your request for the naming of University buildings because this has been going on at this school since we've had a school since 1874. There's always pressure from many groups to name it something, both living and dead. This probably will continue.""

Easter egg hunt a success

The Office of Commuter, Married and Graduate Students, in cooperation with the "Spoken Book" theatre lecture series, planned to begin today.

A series of lectures on "The Spoken Book: Epic Theater and the World of Erwin Piscator" by Mme. Maria Piscator, wife of the late German Epic Theater director, will be given at SIU starting today.
Mme. Piscator, visiting professor in the Department of Theater for a short period, has just completed a lecture series at Lincoln Center, N.Y., on this subject, according to Archibald McCloud, SIU theater department chairman.

She will use some university and graduate students as readers in demonstrations of Epic Theater writing and acting, McCloud said.

Her lectures are scheduled as follows: April 8, general introduction and history of Epic Theater; April 10, Epic Theater playwriting; April 11, the director's approach to Epic Theater; April 15, the actor's approach to Epic Theater; April 17, technology as an artistic necessity; April 18, the theater of the future.

"The interplay of art and life," the lectures will be given at 5 p.m. in the Laboratory Theater in the Communications building.

Mme. Piscator will also be the key speaker in a symposium, "What Is Epic Theater?" to be held April 19 at 2 p.m., in the Laboratory Theater. Also participating will be William Kostelnik, critic, editor and playwright, currently a visiting professor in the theater department, and Moreyde Gorelik, SIU research professor of theater.

Girls to take air waves

There is an old saying among broadcasters that women have no place in front of a microphone. To prove this statement wrong, female broadcasting students at SIU will take over and run WSIU (FM) for the entire day on Friday, April 11th.

Cher Dombrowsky of Arlington Heights and Edna Conroy of Decatur, organized the female take-over to coincide with the visit to the SIU campus of cartoonist Al Capp. Capp is the creator of Sadie Hawkins Day, when the traditional roles of men and women are reversed.

This will not be the first time women have taken over WSIU (FM). On leap year day in 1968, the educational station was manned entirely by females. "They did an excellent job," said WSIU operations manager Charles T. Lynch, "so we're letting them do it again."

Programming on the station will not be changed during the all-girls day, but the station certainly will have a different sound.

Popularity of Eisenhower due to steadiness says Baker

"The popularity of Eisenhower stems from the fact that his years as president were potentially years of tremendous inventiveness," said Robert E. Hill, former dean of the SIU School of Business. "But rather were steady years."

"Basically Eisenhower was a simple man to whom the complexity of politics did not come naturally, yet he captured the admiration of the people through his lack of vigorous leadership -- the people, at that time, wanted that way."

On Eisenhower's foreign policy, Baker said, "Eisenhower's foreign policy was free of dangerous confrontation with Communist powers. He had a 'feeling' of how to avoid conflicts."

Baker concluded by saying, "Eisenhower was a president who reflected the times; he was a president who loved the people; he was a president the public never was ashamed of; and, he was a president we can fondly remember."

Glen L. Bower, Southern area chairman of the Illinois Young Republican College Federation, also spoke.

"Dwight D. Eisenhower should not be honored as a president, but rather as a great man in the history of the United States," Bower said.

Sunrise services draw 1100

Easter sunrise services, held Sunday on Bald Knob Mountain, were attended by over 1,000 persons, including some SIU students.

Guest speaker for the event was Dr. Frederick A. Roblee, Executive Secretary of the Illinois Council of Churches. Roblee represented eleven Illinois religious denominations.

The services, held annually since 1937, were performed beneath the Bald Knob Cross, near Alto Pass. The cross is located at the summit of the highest peak in southern Illinois, and was constructed through donations to the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, a private, nonprofit organization.

The Easter services have been attended by crowds of over 3,500 people in recent years. This year's small turnout may have been due to the cold early-morning weather.

Effect of diet on mental disorders explored

Tryptophan, she explained, is utilized by the body for manufacturing a large number of compounds. One of these is the vitamin niacin. "Pellagra, once prevalent in the South, is known as the niacin-deficiency disease and involves mental disorders," she said. Another is serotonin, a substance associated with brain function and "one which has been associated with LSD," she said. "Experimentally it has been shown that sometimes serotonin inhibited the effects of LSD, at others it magnified them," she added. Her study, she emphasized, does not involve the drug LSD directly, but may produce more information about the connection between serotonin and mental disorders, which in turn may have some bearing on the effects of LSD.

Laird says Soviets testing warhead for SS9 rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Monday the Soviet Union is testing medium-range warheads on intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Laird has cited Soviet deployment of the SS9 as justification for the controversial Safeguard antimissile system.

Currently the United States is estimated to have about 200 operational SS9s, and intelligence estimates are that there will be about 500 around 1973 at current deployment rates.

Triple warheads for the 500 would give the Soviets 1,500 nuclear bombs for possible targeting against the 1,000 U.S. land-based Minuteman missiles.

Each Minuteman missile now has only one warhead, but the United States plans to equip some of them with three warheads. The U.S. testing of what it calls the multiple independently targeted reentry vehicles, or MIRVs, began last year.

Laird has been quoted as describing SS9s as big enough and accurate enough to destroy hardened Minuteman silos.

"One has to look at this capability that is being developed, and certainly one would have to assume it is being developed in order to knock out our Minuteman missile system," Laird told a group of foreign journalists visiting the Pentagon.

At the same time, Secretary of State William P. Rogers was telling a news conference across town that he does not know why the Soviets are deploying the SS9.

Laird, who has been criticized for taking a hard-line view of Soviet developments, spoke of Soviet advances while explaining the administration's reasons for wanting to defend the U.S. missile force with the Safeguard antimissile system.

He said the Soviet Union in the last 24 to 27 months has been fielding the SS9 at a faster rate than U.S. intelligence experts estimated it would.

The weapon already carried a single warhead of up to 75 megatons, he said, and now "They have gone into the test stage for three smaller warheads for it."

Laird said this raises a question of whether the Soviets need a missile for such "tremendous amounts of material, like a retaliation, anti-city force or for potential use in a surprise first strike against concrete and steel missile silos."

"I've always made it clear that I do not believe the Soviet Union would be foolish enough... to go forward with a first-strike," Laird said.

But he said he could not assure that such American weapons systems as the Minuteman or the Navy's Polaris submarine missile force would be invulnerable forever.

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) - A human heart was transplanted Monday into the chest of Haskell Karp, 47, of Skokie, Ill., a retired Chicago businessman who had just completed a 19th heart transplant.

Cooley said Karp is the fourth patient to receive a transplanted heart in the United States. The surgery was performed by Dr. Denton Cooley, who has transplanted hearts on 14 other occasions.

Surgery was scheduled Friday to repair a severely damaged heart chamber and Cooley had explained to the patient that there was a 30 per cent chance of failure but that the world's first completely mechanical heart might be required.

The operation was only 45 minutes under way when Cooley decided the mechanical device had to be used on an emergency basis.

Karp was immediately flown to Cleveland Clinic where he was operated on by Dr. Donald H. Sarnoff.

"I'm happy with the results," Cooley said. "I think we can do it again."

Mrs. Ewan had died of a heart attack several years ago.

Mrs. Ewan was suffering from irreversible brain damage caused by a heart attack and had been prepared for a heart transplant.

Rogers hopes for mutual troop withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State William P. Rogers voiced hopes Monday for mutual U.S.-North Vietnamese troop withdrawals, saying this year but ruled out a one-sided American pullout now. Rogers said as the result of a "realistic, careful" process of "thinking about the reasons for the conflict," Rogers added. But, he avoided naming any specific date for a withdrawal. "There isn't any magic formula," Rogers said at his first foreign policy news conference. Because Peru has offered administrative processes for appeal by the affected U.S. oil firm, Washington is discontinuing economic sanctions against Peru until the appeal meets some degree of success. Rogers said he had been informed by the Lima regime idled workers to pay just compensation.

Gandhi centennial dinner

to feature typical Indian fare

By Richard McCann
Staff Writer

Quite a bit of fare at those affairs advertised as "international dinners" turns out to be Indian. At least that was true for lunch last week under a different name. The April 27 Indian dinner, a part of SIU's Gandhi centennial celebration, is the latest in a series of events to feature Indian cuisine.

All of the eight dishes on the menu are typical cuisine of India, according to Prafulla Desai, an advanced graduate student in higher education, who is in charge of the feast.

The surroundings will be as typically Indian as the Woody Hall cafeteria will allow.

Guests will dine, for example, on onion, pakoda, puri, and ragaswalla. These dishes are really a type of ground meat, sliced, vegetables bedded in chickpea flour and ghee, bread, and a dessert made from an elaborately prepared cream with nuts and flavoring.

Also on the menu are chicken curry, rice, palak, vegetable curry, and a salad.

Further orientation to life in modern India will be provided through a seminar discussion which will follow the meal. Five papers will be presented and critiqued by both Indian and American speakers. According to Kukkana Rana, research assistant in food and nutrition, who is in charge of the seminar.

The topic of discussion and the participants are as follows:

Each speaker will talk for about 10 minutes, "and we are trying to see if we can publish the papers in a booklet form," Desai said.

The dinner, which is sponsored jointly by the Indian Studies Association and the Gandhi Centennial Committee, is open to the public. Tickets are on sale for $2 each at the International Center.

Kinsella to lecture in Ireland

Thomas Kinsella, professor of English at SIU, will be a lecturer during the summer session of the School of Irish Studies in Dublin, Ireland, this summer.

Kinsella, an Irish poet, is involved with a course entitled "W. B. Yeats and his Contemporaries." A booklet from the School of Irish studies says that Kinsella is among poets whose work is used in tracing the course of Irish poetry. Main figures of the Irish literary revival are also discussed in the course.

Kinsella left for Ireland in June, 1968, and will be returning in September of 1969. He came to SIU in the fall of 1963 as an artist in residence and in the fall of '67 became a professor of English.

The booklet says that Modern Irish Literature and background is the general topic dealt with in the summer session. Three courses are offered, "one presenting the cultural and historical contexts from which the literature springs" and the other two courses examining works of many writers.

"The School of Irish Studies was established to enable overseas students to study in Ireland, Irish literature, Irish history and culture and gain experience in the environment which produced Irish writers. It provides Irish students with a material, the booklet said.

According to information from the School of Irish Studies, the school chooses a faculty that is distinguished in the various fields of Irish scholarly courses are run along American lines so that credits may be transferred when students return and Irish writers may be associated with schools as lecturers and writers in residence.

Staying with changing times goal of Center

Students have become more involved, have more work to do, and the University Center must be flexible," said Clarence C. Dougherty, Center director.

He cited the college's need for a flexible program in dealing with the desires of the University from day to day. "Rigidity is dangerous," said. "It must be flexible to meet the times."

Dougherty recently returned from a conference which was aimed at helping college administrators to develop a relationship with student activities and the community in which they operate.

The theme of the conference of the Association of College Unions International, held in Denver, was "Communiversity."

Dougherty said the University Center is quite involved with the University community, mostly in a supporting role.

He cited the adult education program, the extension services, recreation and food services and book stores as some services provided to the University and the community.

The conference provided an opportunity for administrators from over 15 nations to gather and exchange ideas.

Dougherty, a regional representative to the conference, spent four days in Denver before the conference, meeting with a delegation of administrators to discuss "Student Revitalization." He said this is one of the primary interests today among college union directors.

"Today, the student is not involved with playhouses throughout the year, but with how many are run and the role education plays in his life."

The more than 800 delegates to the conference half day conference tried to form an "awareness of what is happening at all schools and how it relates." Dougherty said they cope with things such as "Rigidity is dangerous," said. "It must be flexible to meet the times."

As spring football begins

Towser looks toward next season

During this season of the year, most sports fans are anxiously awaiting the opening of baseball season, and many have baseball on their minds. The Listening Station, a group of baseball fans, recently interviewed a few of the students who are football fans and are looking forward to the upcoming football season.

The first student, Mike Wilson, said, "I'm really excited about the upcoming football season. I've been looking forward to it since the end of last season." He went on to mention that he is especially looking forward to the game against the Southern Bulldogs, as they are one of his favorite teams.

The second student, Sarah Johnson, said, "I'm not really a fan of football, but I enjoy watching the game. I think the players are really skilled and it's a lot of fun to watch." She went on to say that she is looking forward to the game against the Northern Bears, as they are her favorite team.

The third student, John Smith, said, "I'm really excited about the upcoming football season. I've been looking forward to it since the end of last season." He went on to mention that he is especially looking forward to the game against the Eastern Eagles, as they are one of his favorite teams.

In addition to the freshmen already mentioned, Towser said he has hopes that fullback Joe Stash, defensive back Mike Corbo, linebacker Bill Beavers, tackles Bob Thompson and Mike Davis will be available to help the team.

NBA first round draft completed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Phoenix Suns, losers to Milwaukee in the best-of-seven coin flip for Lew Alcindor, selected 6-foot-10 Neil Walk of the University of Florida as the National Basketball Association's No. 2 pick at Monday's telephone draft session in the offices of Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy.

Following the selection of Walk, the Seattle SuperSonics tabbed 5-foot-11 Julius Allen, Alcindor's teammate at UCLA, for two seasons who left school before his senior year.

Then, in order, the Detroit Pistons picked 6-foot-7 Terry Draybill of Boston College, the Chicago Bulls chose 5-foot-5 Larry Cannon of Southern Illinois, and the San Diego Rockets selected 6-foot-5 Bobby Three-bag Miller of Tulsa.

Completing the first round picks were Bob Portman of Creighton, by San Francisco; Herman Gilliam of Purdue, by Cincinnati; Olympic star Jo White of Kansas, by Boston; Bunch Beard of Louisiana, by the last pick holder, the New York Knicks of St. John's, by New York; Willie McCarrer of Drake, by Philadelphia, and Mike Davis of Virginia Union by Baltimore.

SIU freshmen sweep doubleheader

Threatening clouds and a somewhat a spawling outfield couldn't scare off the Salukis, who beat the Missouri Southern baseball team yesterday. The Salukis had no trouble with the Missouri Southern, who were swept by the Salukis in both games of a doubleheader.

The first game was won by an 8-11 score for the Salukis, who scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second, and five in the third. The Missouri Southern scored one run in the first inning, two in the second, and one in the third. The game was stopped after the third inning due to weather conditions.

What's so special about Beechwood Ageing?

We must be bragging too much about Beechwood Ageing.

Because we're starting to get some talk about it. Like, "Beechwood Beechwood . . . big deal." And "If Beechwood Ageing is so hot, why don't you tell everyone what it is?"

So now, first, it's not just big wooden cases that we age Beechwood in.

It's also a layer of thin cardboard that comes from the beechnut tree (what else?) laid down in a dense lattice on the bottom of our glass-lined and stainless steel hoppers.

This is where we let Beechwood ferment a second time.

The brewers quit after one fermentation. We don't.

These Beechwood strips offer extra surface area for tiny yeast particles to cling to, helping clarify the beer. And since these strips are so porous, they help absorb beer's natural "edge," giving Beechwood its finished taste. Or in other words, "a taste, a smoothness and a drinkability that you will find in no other beer at any price."

Ah yes, drinkability. That's what's so special about Beechwood Ageing. But you know that.

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

(But you know that.)
Tennis team in four match swept for 5-0 season slate

The SIU tennis team won a four match sweep this past weekend against the University of Illinois, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin, and Missouri.

Traveling to Atlanta, Ga., Friday, the Saluki nets made a point victory over Illinois and a 3-2 win at Georgia Tech. Then Saturday, Southern returned home and beat Wisconsin 8-2. The victories boosted the Saluki's album to a perfect 5-0 for the season.

"Things are coming right along," Coach Dick LeFevre said. "Even though we didn't win any matches on the spring trip it did get us in shape, which is the main objective of the trip. That's why we're in so much better condition than the teams that we met last weekend."

Results Sunday's meet: Wisconsin match: Salukis beat Chris Burk, 6-3; Bill Flory (OG.) defeated Jeff Under, 7-5, 6-3. Missouri match: Salukis beat Steve Tuttle, 6-1, and Snook (OG.) beat Ron Cobb, 6-7, 6-1 and Briscoe (OG.) beat Briscoe 6-0 and 6-3.

Doubles: Lloyd-Snook (OG.) beat Flurie-Griffith 6-4, 6-2, Gildebrat-Dominguez (OG.) beat Cobb-Briscoe, 6-2, and 6-1. Briscoe-Greendale (OG.) defeat DeMossa-Tuttle 6-1 and 6-0. Six baseball clubs set to open today

Gymnasts take sixth in NCAA Championships

SIU's gymnastics team finished a disappointing sixth in the NCAA National Championships held over the week end in Seattle.

"This is the first time in 10 years that we haven't qualified anyone for the finals," Coach Bill Bilger said.

Bilger's overall performance was the worst effort we've had in the National since 1966. The Salukis placed second that year.

"I really don't know what went wrong, but I'm disappointed," Meade said. "I don't know whether we were too inexperienced, or if we tried too hard, or a combination of both. We were just flat.

Meade compared the championships to last year's NCAA meet, when the Salukis defeated the Salukis 188.55-183.25 to snap SIU's string of 68 consecutive win in regular season competition.

Iowa, which gave Southern its only two losses of the season, won the team title by scoring of 161.825. The Salukis placed fourth.

Next in line were Iowa State, which SIU defeated during the season, the University of California at Berkeley, Colorado State, Denver placed seventh.

In order to qualify for the team finals, a squad had to finish the top five teams in the preliminary, and individuals had to place in the top six in the preliminaries to qualify for individual events.

The best Saluki efforts were by Mark Davis on the high bar, Wayne Borkowski on the still rings and Homer Sadina on the long bar. Davis' 9.1 was good only for seventh place, .05 of a point short of qualification, and Sadina's 8.975 garnered him eighth place, also .05 of a point short of the meet's scoring limit. Borkowski scored 9.0.

Also helping fine efforts were Tom Limmer and Bert Schmitt on the high bar and Bernard and Ron Alden on the side horse.

The individual event winners, the preliminary and the final routines counted in the scoring. The individual winners were as follows:

Floors Exercise: Toby Townson, Michigan State (18.95)
Side Horse: Keith McCannell, Iowa (19.05)
Still Rings: Ward Mathall, Iowa State, and Paul Vecker, Penn State (18.60)
Long Horse: Jack McCarthy, Illinois, and Dan Bowles, California (18.10)
Parallel Bars: Ron Raper, Michigan (18.7)
High Bar: Bob Mannna, New Mexico (18.55)

Big Ten track champion Wisconsin put together powerful relay teams at the Kentucky Relays over the weekend and nearly swept SIU runners out in their opening events.

The distance medley team of Ken Nalder, Bobby Morrow, Gerry Hinton and Al Robinson set a new record in that event with a 3:23.25 time for SIU's only relay victory of the meet.

"We should have won the sprint, medley and mile relay events also," said Coach Law Hartzog. "We made some mistakes in running those events that cost us the races.

"In the mile relay, we were running very close with Wisconsin," said Hartzog, "Until the handoff between Barry Liebowitz and Willie Richardson. Someone stepped in front of Richardson, and we lost about 15 yards. Chuck Benoski started out 10 yards behind Wisconsin's Brad Hansen.

Hansen made up those 10 yards, however, and SIU finished second to Wisconsin with a 3:16.04.

Medley team sets record

Gerry Hinton had heard so much about Mark Winnefed's being endowed with the Olympic reserve and all that when Winnefed began, Gerry didn't go with him. The problem was that Gerry was going to beat him.

In the sprint medley, SIU again finished behind Wisconsin for second place. SIU's timing for the meet was 3:23.25, nine-tenths of a second behind Wisconsin.

"We chocked them (Wisconsin) in the distance medley," said Hartzog. "That's their pride and joy event. We both backed off very big runners in the event. Wisconsin went with Winnefed, Bill Babighian, Don Vanderve and Ray Arrington. We ran Nalder, Morrow, Hinton and Robinson.

"In this race, Gerry (Hinton), who hadn't run a real smart race in the sprint medley, ran an excellent race. He made up 30 yards with a great 2:56.3 timing and gave Al (Robinson) a 100-yard lead on Arrington. Robinson had Wisconsin beaten by the end of the first half mile.

"However," said Hartzog, "the win could have been ours only because Hinton injured a tendon in the race and right away we're not sure how seriously hurt.

In other events Dan Tindall got a third in the javelin with a throw of 220 feet 9 inches and the two mile relay teams of Rich Woszczyk, Glenn Ujije, Nalder and Robinson took fourth in the two Ivy Crockett, an SIU student running unattached in the 100-yard dash, ran times of 9.4 and 9.5 in qualifying heats and then had a bad start in the final to take fifth with another 9.3 run.
