Protesters march for right of abortion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tens of thousands of demonstrators from across the country ascended on the nation's capital Sunday to demand a continued right to legal abortion in what organizers heralded as the largest march ever for women's rights.

The massive protest began at 10 a.m. EDT under brisk, sunny skies with a rally at the Washington Monument before the demonstrators, most of them women and many wearing white with purple arm bands to honor the suffragettes before them, walked slowly up Constitution Avenue to the Supreme Court.

The marchers protested the Supreme Court's decision to hear a case that could effectively overturn many of the protections granted women under the court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade case that legalized abortion.

"The main reason I'm here is that I had an illegal abortion 22 years ago," said Joan Garity of Baltimore, who attended the rally with her 11-year-old son, "I feel I'm speaking out for the women who can't speak.

"I don't want anyone to have to go through what I went through," Garity said. "It's like we've got to force us to make that point again with our blood and our lives."

By April 26, the court will consider Webster vs. Reproductive Health Services, an appeal by the state of Missouri of a lower court decision striking down the state's restrictive abortion law as unconstitutional.

The National Organisation for Women, organizing the march, estimated 50,000 to 100,000 people would participate in the demonstration, which predicted the crowd would be as large as the unprecedented numbers.

At 10:45 a.m., the U.S. Park Police estimated 25,000 people had gathered at the National Mall. By 1:30 p.m., the police estimated the number had reached 55,000.

"The anti-abortion forces are determined. They're organized and they never give up," said Mertus. Oshousham, D-Osigo, told about 500 people at a march on Capitol Hill.

Former Republican state senator dies at 77 after battle with cancer

By Donel Wallenberg Staff Writer

Services will be held at 2 p.m. today for John Gilbert, a former Republican state senator, who died Friday at the age of 77 following a battle with cancer.

Gilbert died at 5:35 a.m. Friday in the Jackson County Nursing Home. Services will be held at the First United Methodist Church, 214 W. Main.

Gilbert represented the 8th senatorial district in Illinois, the office now held by Ralph Dunn, R-Du Quoin.

Dunn said Gilbert encouraged him to get into politics. "I'm really going to miss him. He was a really good friend of mine," Dunn said.

"I hope I could be known around the state as being as good a senator as he was," Dunn said.

University President John C. Guyon said and said the contributions Gilbert made to the university were "immeasurable."

Because of Gilbert's work in education, Guyon said the university was "deeply in his debt.

"His contributions will be remembered in perpetuity," Guyon said.

The University Board of Higher Education, according to the university, has made up his sleeve and give the gift of life. At 10 a.m. today, a blood drive will be held at the Illinois State University in Carbondale.

"That's a point we're trying to make with our sailboats. Tile club could result in a different election for the University Board of Higher Education," Guyon said.

"I'm going to bat for the American Red Cross today.

Large areas of oil spill await cleanup attempts

VALDEZ, Alaska (UPI) — Vast areas of the biggest oil spill in U.S. history remained untouched Sunday by any attempt to recover the oil, and an aerial inspection of the area revealed crude, sea, oil stains and oil washing up on beaches of the asphalted waters off southern Alaska without a cleanup boat in sight. The spill has touched more than 3,000 square miles in the Prince William Sound and the Gulf of Alaska.

Administration cautious on Soviet stance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration staked out a middle-of-the-road approach toward the Soviet Union, that it would be noted in conversation of the situation over the weekend behind the dramatic reforms of Mikhail Gorbachev. Commenting on a comprehensive policy review still under way, national security adviser Brent Scowcroft indicated President Bush plans to go “sharp, dramatic changes in policy” to either warm up to the Soviet leader or exploit his domestic problems.

Moscow claims 42 died in submarine accident

MOOSOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union indicated Sunday that 42 sailors died when a nuclear attack submarine sank in the Norwegian sea Friday and commended the crew for its efforts to keep the vessel afloat. The official Tass news agency, without giving the dead toll, said: “It is known that all the crew of the torpedo-carrying nuclear submarine comprised 66 men. Twenty-seven of them were saved.”

Agreement reached in withdrawal of Namibian

WINDHOEK, Namibia (UPI) — South Africa, Cuba and Angola agreed Sunday on procedures for the immediate withdrawal of guerrillas from Namibia to end eight days of fighting and put the territory’s independence plan back on track, the South African Broadcasting Corp. said. Cuba, at the end of an urgent two-day meeting by representatives of the three countries as well as U.S. and Soviet observers, the accord calls for U.N. peacekeeping troops to oversee withdrawal of SWAPO guerrillas.

Haitian loyalists bomb barracks killing many

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — About 60 soldiers have been killed and many more seriously wounded since late Friday when troops loyal to President Prosper Avril began shelling a key army barracks occupied by rebellious soldiers, medical sources said Sunday. Loyalist soldiers of the 1,000-member Presidential Guard appeared to control the Delmasline Battary at the barracks Sunday, a day after the government said it had retaken the downtown facility in Port-au-Prince and foiled the six-day revolt.

Moslems fire at port amid tension with France

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem forces Sunday fired rockets at a Christian port north of Beirut where a French ship was loading missiles for delivery to Egypt as late Wednesday, police said. The shelling followed a threat by the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad to bomb the French vessels when they arrive and came amid escalating tensions between Moslem leaders in Lebanon and France.

Syria-based group suspected in 103 bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI and European investigators believe those responsible for the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103, which killed 270 people, were associated with a Syria-based group led by Ahmed Jibril, the Washington Post said Sunday. But national security adviser Brent Scowcroft, interviewed on the NBC news program “Meet the Press,” indicated investigators were close but not yet to the point of naming those responsible.

Eastern’s unions reach internal agreement

MIAMI (UPI) — The major unions at Eastern Airlines representing machinists, pilots and flight attendants have reached an agreement among themselves on the size of the concessions they will grant Peter Dobber, who proposed to buy the airline, a newspaper reported Sunday. The Miami Herald said the unions also agreed on how to divvy up the 30 percent employee ownership stake in a revitalized Eastern envisioned by the former baseball commissioner and his investor group.

NeXT party office-seekers on quest for seats

USG chief of staff vying for position of president
By Miguel Alba

Running under a party ticket name inspired by a computer system, Brian Skinner is vying to be the NeXT person to hold the office of president in the Undergraduate Student Government.

Skinner, a presidential candidate, said he is streamlining the need for educating students about student government, as well as increasing the diversity of students involved in it.

"The basic student out there doesn't even know what USG is out here," Skinner said.

Skinner said he encourages all students to participate in the USG in order to obtain full student representation.

Skinner said he withdrew from school because of financial reasons. He said, "Hagerman has served as a pointed vice president in the spring of 1988 when the position was left vacant by a resignation."

USG candidate hoping to resolve groups' problems
By Miguel Alba

Entering the race with several years of experience, Chuck Hagerman is taking on the competition in his quest to be the NeXT vice president of the Undergraduate Student Government.

Hagerman, a vice presidential candidate, has served in the USG in various capacities since the 1984-1985 academic year, excluding the fall of 1988, when he withdrew from school because of financial reasons. He said, "Hagerman has served as a pointed vice president in the spring of 1988 when the position was left vacant by a resignation."

In last year's elections, Hagerman ran for student and came in last place.

Hagerman, a senior majoring in biology and microbiology, is currently the chairman of the committee for internal affairs and the senate pro tempore, holding two of the top four positions in student government.

During his time as CIA chairman, Hagerman said he has resolved problems between student organizations and the University. He said he also has helped student organizations resolve internal problems.

Hagerman has played a leading role in trying to restructure the Student Programming Council.

Hagerman initiated legislation that would put SPC on Registered Student Organization probation because it is in violation of some student organization guidelines. If SPC is placed on probation by the senate, its funding for the 1989-90 year could be frozen until it complies with the rules.

Hagerman said the SPC has to be restructured to better represent the students.

He said the legislation was tabled in the CIA in order for USG to work with the SPC in finding a solution.

Hagerman also helped submit a controversial legislation to the senate, such as a resolution supporting the removal of Satanic Verses from the Morris Library shelves.

Hagerman abstained when the resolution came up for a vote, but said he had an obligation to represent offended student groups at the University. The resolution failed.

One of the issues in this election will be the future of the Black American Studies program, Hagerman said.

Voting made easier, accuracy improved

THE STUDENTS who didn't vote in last year's Undergraduate Student Government and student trustee elections may have good excuses this year.

Polls will be set up in all three cafeterias, the Student Center, the Communications Building, the Tech Building and the School of Law.

Multiple polling places have been a controversial issue in the past, but the possibility that a student could vote more than once, but Election Commissioner Debbie Hughes has a foolproof plan.

HUGHES SAID she got the idea from elections in her native Australia. Students will be given ballot forms and two envelopes, one large and one small. They will fill out the large envelope with their names and seal the smaller one inside it.

The envelope with the names will be checked against a list of all students and the number is to be marked off, meaning that student has already voted, any other ballots with that name will be discounted.

The envelopes will be opened at a later time to ensure the voter's confidentiality.

HUGHES SAID the ballots will take longer to count, but the envelopes will ensure that students only vote once. Now why couldn't someone have come up with this idea sooner?

The multiple polls won't cost much more than a single polling place either, except for the cost of the envelopes. But the election commission has optimistically planned for 5,000 voters. Wouldn't it be great if the envelopes ran out.

President of ISC re-elected by wide margin in assembly

By Fernando Fellu-Mogli
Governor

M. Ali Firouzi will lead the International Student Council (ISC) into another year as president of its executive committee.

Firouzi was re-elected Thursday night by the general assembly of ISC, 34 votes over his opponent, Paul Adalikwu, president of the African Student Community.

The general assembly of ISC is composed of the presidents of all international student associations and the members of the ISC executive committee.

Before the election, the candidates to the executive committee were given time to present their agendas and answer the questions of the assembly.

Firouzi, who was an engineer majoring in civil engineering at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, said he is looking forward to another year as president of the ISC.

Adalikwu was first of two presidential candidates to present his agenda to the assembly.

Adalikwu, a graduate student in political science from Nigeria, said his priorities as president of ISC would be to further international student relations.

He said one of his objectives would be to bring some change to the presidential campaign process and to further strengthen the executive committee members' voices in the council's decisions and conflicts created by the organization.

Firouzi reminded the council of the requirement of a resignation before a presidential transition. He said this requirement occurred last November in ISC and assured them that a similar situation would not take place under his administration.

Firouzi proposed that the council work together to discuss and propose solutions to issues of international policy and regulations. He also suggested bringing money into ISC from sources different than the regular associations.

The contract included a $25 fee and a 2.5 acre tract of land for dockage. The club will use it for a 14-week period.

In 1982, the Crab Orchard Lake Sailing Club was 2.5 acre tract of land for dockage, a cost which hadn't been associated with the club before.

The club now pays $25 per boat per season for docking fees.

Bon Jovi rocks energetic crowd at packed Arena

Rockers please excited teenagers in weekend jam

By Kimberly Clarke

I went to a concert Saturday night, but I am still not sure who I saw. The music sounded like Bon Jovi, but the lead singer looked like Richard Simmons. I took her poetry at 4 p.m. on Saturday, when Bon Jovi moved, it looked like he took his stage show from a Richard Simmons aerobics tape and added black spandex pants, headband and tiger-spotted tennis shoes.

I must be getting old, though, because Jon Bon Jovi in spandex just doesn't do anything for me. However, it did do something for the majority of fans at the sold-out concert. Crowd participation was great, and Jon Bon Jovi, consisting of Jon on vocals, Richie Sambora as lead guitar, Tico Torres on drums, John Sacch on bass and David Bryan on keyboards, did do a good job of arousing the crowd with their music.

Poetry to be read in Faner museum

Carol Pierman, former teacher at the University of Missouri, will read her poetry at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the University Museum Auditorium, Faner. Pierman also is the former editor of River Styx, a leading literary magazine.

The reading is sponsored by the Department of English.

As soon as the lights dimmed, lighters were held high, waiting for the band to begin this leg of its New Jersey tour, named after its most recent album. "Livin' on a Prayer," the hit song from the album, was played as the performers made sure everyone got a good look at them while they paraded around on the catwalk.

During this, the crowd was once again intensely involved, which also was reflected when the band played "You Give Love a Bad Name" and "Livin' on a Prayer." Skid Row put on the opening show, featuring a rougher musical and performance style than the main attraction, but was quite popular among the crowd.

Birthright, composed of the Carbondale and Marion health clinics, raised $10,000 in its 10th annual Walk for Life.

About 400 people from Carbondale and 35 people from Marion participated in the walk on Saturday, April 8, said Davis, a member of the board of Birthright.

"Due to the cool weather, we had less people than expected," Davis said.

That the only time we ask for funds and we are very thankful for the support of the community," said Davis.

Birthright is funded by local donations.

"$2 per mile," she said. "Each walker collected between $50 and $75," Davis said.

The money raised stays in the area and goes toward services offered by Birthright, including free pregnancy tests, prenatal vitamins, baby clothes and supplies, and maternity clothes, Davis said.

"We also provide emotional support for pregnant women and women who have gone through abortions," Davis said.

"Last year we served 1,300 people for a seven-county area," she said.

Birthright is totally staffed by volunteers and is a non-political organization, Davis said.

"We are here to provide financial and emotional support for crisis pregnancies," she said.

OCAAL, Fla. (UPI) — A suspected arson fire destroyed an abortion clinic in central Florida last Sunday, the second blaze at the facility in 10 days, police said. No injuries were reported.

Police Sgt. Ken Hall said investigators believe an arson was involved because of the previous fire March 31, as well as the condition of the building. "Because of the previous fire on the 31st there was no electrical power in the building, and most articles had been removed from the facility," he said. "There was nothing inside that fire would have been able to start from, so it had to be an external cause."

Investigators are offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for either or both fires.

Hall said the previous fire, which was started with an accelerant, caused $60,000 in damage and forced the facility to close. The operators were in the process of rebuilding when the fire on the 31st forced them out shortly before dawn Sunday.

They did acquire a permit to rebuild and that is what they were doing. Of course, they would have been allowed to rebuild with this particular building," Hall said. "The building was still standing. Other than that, it is a total loss, and those walls were in the building engulfed in flames."

Hall said investigators are seeking the arrival of a national response team from the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.

By mid-afternoon, investigators had searched the grounds surrounding the building but had not reached the interior, Hall said. He said investigators had made no discoveries that substantiated their suspicions.

Hall said no one has been charged in the March 31 fire. "You could say that a possible suspect would be a anti-abortion group. You can also say that an angry person who hates abortion could be a possible suspect and so on and so forth. We just have to figure out why we haven't been able to narrow down the field and come up with a suspect with any substance," he said.

A reporter of the clinic reported the fire Sunday about 4 a.m. Hall said. Firefighters arrived at 4:07 a.m. and found the building engulfed in flames. The blaze was brought under control in about 10 minutes.

SIU-C runners capture honors in tough SEMOtion relay meet

By Paul Pabst
Staff Writer

In a field filled with tough competition, the men's and women's track teams each captured two victories at the annual SEMOtion Relays Friday and Saturday.

The men topped two relay victories against the 15-team field, while the women took two individual wins during the competition.

The Salukis men were led by the relay team of Erick Pegues, Guy Sikora, Donnell Williams, and Garrett Hines, which won the 4 x 100 and 4 x 200 relays. They won the 4 x 100 in 41.59 seconds and came back to win the 4 x 200 1:26.89.

Coach Bill Cornell said that he was pleased with the surprise finish of the sprint relays.

"Both of the victories were unexpected," Cornell said. "We're not really a sprint team. I hope this is the start of a trend with the sprinters."

The Salukis did well against the large field of teams in the decathlon competition. Jocelyn Langevin scored a personal best in the seven one-hundredths of a second off the NCAA qualifying standard.

Philippou had her best triple jump of the year, leaping 46 feet 4 inches to take the top honor in the event. Philippou also placed third in the long jump going 19-4/4.

Coach Don DeNooon said that both Raske and Philippou outdistanced the strong field of athletes.

"Kathy won by half a second, and that's not even close," DeNooon said. "And Christiana, five of her six jumps were over 16 feet. They both had good days against strong competition."

The women also had a number of relay teams place well. The distance medley and the sprint medley teams both took second-place honors, while the 4 x 100 hurdle shuttle relay squad took third.

Both coaches agreed that the cold weather conditions had an effect on their athletes.

Defense dominates in second spring scrimmage

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

It would seem the football team's defense is taking over from where it left off at the end of last season.

The defense, which had a hand in several Saluki wins during the first campaign, all but shut down the offense during SIU-C's second spring scrimmage Saturday.

The offense managed just one field goal, while the defense forced four turnovers and blocked another field goal attempt. Two of the turnovers, had they been playing an actual spring game, would have resulted in touchdowns.

"We forced a lot of turnovers today that we had not been doing," defensive coordinator Gerry Hart said. "We were running downhill in the team drill this week. We are not always in the right place at the right time, but we are finally running to get there."

Hart said the defensive structure is similar to that which the Salukis used all fall.

"The guys do not need a new system year after year," Hart said.

The Salukis were without the services of defensive lineman Rick Damico led four tackles on Saturday, and Hart said Damico would be sidelined for several weeks after shoulder surgery. Hart said stiff competition works at every position is keeping the team going.

"There is a lot of competition for positions, and that is always a motivating factor," Hart said.

Head coach Bob Smith said he was impressed with the defensive work.

"The defense had a much better day today (than last week's scrimmage," Smith said. "They did real well with the option and did more with breaking up long yardage plays."

Offensive coordinator Bill Callahan said the offense needed some stiff competition to get the feel of game pressure.

"This is just what the doctor ordered," Callahan said. "There was more from the secondary than the offense was trying to catch the eye of head coach Bob Smith before the conclusion of spring drills April 22.

eventual loser Chris Bend (3-2, finished off the side. Rick Damico led off the Salukis' ninth with a double that scattered chalk when it touched down on the fair foul line deep in left. However, Shawn Lewis grounded out to third and following a walk by Matt Giegling, Tim Davis bunted into a game ending double play.

In Saturday's games: Meyer (3-3) struck out nine for the victory and Shields got the save after a three-run eighth highlighted by a Shields double, a Dave Wrona RBI single, a Jeff Nelson sacrifice fly and Lewis' RBI single to right. Lewis was responsible for the Salukis' run in the ninth.

Tennis coach nets 400th career victory

By Paul Pabel
Staff Writer

Saluki men’s tennis coach Dick LeFevre’s 400th career victory came by way of a convincing win over the University of Louisville Cardinals.

"It’s just a number," LeFevre said. "Being up with some of the coaches who have won 400 or nice enough.

LeFevre, who has coached at SIU since 1986, is one of only six active coaches to achieve the 400-win plateau.

According to LeFevre, the number could have been much higher.

"I could have had 600 wins by now if I scheduled weak teams," LeFevre said. "I try to schedule as many tough schools I can. This competition makes the players better. I would rather have 400 wins against quality teams, than 600 against mediocre teams."

LeFevre’s players gave him the milestone with a 7-2 victory over the Cardnabas. A possibility for win No. 401 was taken away when a match with a higher ranked team, the Salukis were scheduled to play, was washed out.

The Salukis were paced by five doubles teams who all won their matches. LeFevre said that the play of his doubles was pleasing.

"The doubles put the match away," LeFevre said. "They wake up and played well. I hope it continues."

Mickey Maule, Jairo Abadn, Fabiano Ramos and Craig Hinchliffe each contributed wins versus Louisville. No. 1 doubles team Joe Demers and Joe Deserino lost his match.

"The kid Joe faced was ranked 9th in the nation," LeFevre said. "He fought hard, but just not good enough. Our singles played well, I’m happy with the winners and the ones who lost."

Salukis drop 2 to Redbirds

SIU-C at 2-2 in Valley after weekend openers

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The baseball team’s 5-game win streak and a 5-0 jump in the Missouri Valley standings both got short-circuited Sunday — victims of the Salukis’ 8-1 triumph over Illinois State.

The Salukis, who are averaging more than seven runs per game, will likely see another setback Monday with the Illinois State Redbirds, who walked away from Abe Martin Field with 3-3 and 1 victories.

"We were flat with our bats," said Saluki coach Itchy Jones. "Our offense has to score more than one or two runs per game."

For Jones, it was a bit of deja vu with a split that had started with promise.

Amid blustery winds that brought Saturday’s afternoon temperatures to a brisk 40 degrees, the Salukis captured a 5-4 come-from-behind victory behind right arm of pitcher Dave Meyer.

In the second game, a seven-run rally in the fifth inning provided plenty of cushion to the Salukis’ win over the Illinois State team that also doubled as Jones’ 700th career coaching victory.

However, all that offensive punch fizzled out Sunday in the face of Illinois State pitchers Cory Tascia, Ed Stryker and Paul Wagner, who collectively held the Salukis to only two extra-base hits in the twin-bill.

"I’m definitely disappointed that we didn’t come out with a desire to put them away," said Jones, who now has the No. 14 Salukis’ season record fall to just one game above the .500 mark.

As for Illinois State, which entered the Valley schedule as the conference coaches’ pick as most likely to finish last, coming through with a split would be a rebuilding year. But we’ll go with them next season they’ll be all that much better."

On this occasion, Jones pondered his future with Saluki baseball — the program founded by his father, Charlie, and tuned by Joe Lutz, and finally polished by Jones.

"I’ve thought about getting out of it completely in about 10 years," Jones said. "I’m always thinking about leaving, and it’s not an easy thing. The question is: Do I want to do something else that I haven’t tried?"

A return to professional baseball is an attractive option for Jones, who played in the Baltimore Orioles organization after his inning from SIU-C in 1960.

"Working in professional ball has a lot of good points," Jones said.

and a 12-14 mark was a good bargain for first-year coach Jeff Stewart.

"The whole idea was for Itch to get 700 and have his day, and then let us win two tournaments that has passed over," Stewart quipped.

"The first game Sunday, Illinois State catcher Don Maule, broke a 7-7 deadlock in the eighth with an inside-the-park home run. No. 14 Salukis second baseman Doug Sheidht, called in from centerfield to relieve C. David Taylor.

Coach happy with golfers’ comeback

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

The women’s golf team might have been in 11th place coming into the final day of the Indiana Invitational Sunday, but they sure didn’t play like it.

The Salukis used a 331 score to cruise past several Big Ten teams and Emeril Lampre with fiveners without Illinois. SIU-C, who were tied for third Saturday and tied for first Sunday, finished 7th, passed Gateway for Illinois State and Big Ten schools Purdue, Wisconsin and Michigan State in Sunday’s surge.

“We used to come back like a No. 100," said Diane Daugherty. "We had the right kind of effort. There was a lot of stuff competition, and I am happy for us and the Illinois State again.

This is a real feather in our cap. We had a little better weather today and we were down in the 70s.

Individually, freshman Anne Childress led the Salukis with a 78 and 81.
