Senate to Begin Plan to Evaluate SIU Instructors

By Kevin Cole

Campus Senate's instructor evaluation committee next week will begin a program using the School of Communications as a guinea pig. The program, which goal is to improve the quality of instruction at SIU, will begin with distributing questionnaires for participation, according to Dr. Gross, chairman of the five-member Senate committee.

Aide Denies Kennedy Seeks 1968 Presidential Nomination

David Wilson, a spokesman for the group, said they are dissatisfied with the Johnson Administration because of its failure to carry through Great Society domestic programs and the "basic lack of imagination in foreign policy." Members of the group plan to seek signatures on a petition endorsing the Kennedy-Fulbright nomination in 1968, and raise money for advertising. They also hope to gain political support to aid a delegation to the Democratic National Convention, Wilson said.

"Most of these groups are focusing on other college campuses," the aide said.

In response to a question of whether Sen. Kennedy is considering such a bid for the 1972 candidacy, the source stated the senator's only plan at the moment is to run for the Senate again in 1970.

At SIU, a group calling itself the Citizens for Kennedy-Fulbright, is being formed to support the two senators for a presidential ticket in 1968, candidates at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the ballrooms of the University Center.

The event, open without admission charge, will be taped for later broadcast by radio station WSIU-FM.

Running for mayor are incumbent D. Blanev Miller, David Keene, Thomas North and Jesse Grove. All four have agreed to appear at the press conference.

Moderator for the program will be Charles C. Clayton, adviser to Sigma Delta Chi and former St. Louis newspapermen. Students who will question the candidates are Mike Nauer, John Goodrich, Wade Hoop, Jack Sampier and John Epperheimer.

Aid denies Kennedy seeks 1968 presidential nomination.

Carbondale residents and members of the University community will have an opportunity to hear candidates for mayor speak on campaign issues at a public press conference Thursday night.

Five student members of the SIU chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society will question the NEW SU ENSEMBLE — A new student French Horn ensemble will present its first public concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Muckley Auditorium. The conductor is George Nadaf (standing), instructor in music. Comedy Thursday Night

'Biberpelz' Boasts European Successes

A German-language play coming to SU has scored successes all over Europe, according to holm A. Hartwig, chairman of the German Section of the Department of Foreign Languages.

The play, "Der Biberpelz," will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday in Ferr Auditorium in University School.

It will be staged by the Remscheid Players of Remscheid, West Germany, and the production will be in German.

"Gerhart Hauptmann" (adaptation of the German's greatest poet-dramatist) molded this wonderful comedy into something akin to a musical composition which knows no language barrier," Hartwig said. "It is harder to read than to hear and see" Hartwig continued. Consequently this play will be a test to see if this big University has grown up to meet cultural appreciation.

Hartwig also said that "Der Biberpelz" is one of the rare comedies in world literature that contains universal comedy.

"The play should be of particular interest to Americans because the main character, an arrogant Prussian official, is quite similar to Sen. McCarthy. Both men looked under every bed for subversive unpatriotic activities which eventually defeated their own purposes," he continued.

Von Woepthahn, the Prussian official's name, means a busy rooster or one who makes a lot of noise. Other than this there is little symbolic meaning in the play. In fact, Hauptmann was asked in his later years if the play contained any hidden meanings. He answered, "Good Heaven! How do I know?"

The play's cast includes a 9-year-old boy whom the Remscheid Players "borrow" from the community in which it performs.

Carbondale's donation will be Richard Lange, son of Charles H. Lange, chairman of the Department of Anthropology.

Supporting the city manager's form of government, Mrs. Elwitt was quick to add that this did not mean that the group supported any particular city manager. "We deal with issues, not personalities," she said.

The organization is also careful to keep its voter information services and its partisan issue stands separate, Mrs. Elwitt added.

Besides providing information to candidates in the city election, the League also gathers information about township, county board of Health, school board and park board elections, all of which will be held in April. Although the League is not taking a stand on any issues in this election, its members are encouraged to work on an individual basis for candidates or issues of their choosing. Mrs. Elwitt said.

In keeping with this non-partisan policy, several board members and the former president of the League recently resigned in order to work for candidates.

"Policy makers are never connected with any issue where the League doesn't have a stand," Mrs. Elwitt explained.

Among the other services that the 180-member-plus organization offers to area voters is a speaker's bureau which will provide group speakers on request, booklets listing city and county elected and appointed officials, and other pamphlets based on statewide studies by the League on matters of current interest.

Information on water resources, welfare services, equal housing, juvenile courts, constitutional revisions, judicial reform, civil rights and revenue issues within Illinois are available for a small fee.

Writing Contest
Winner Gets $1,000

Mrs. Rosalie Philipp, a California housewife, was judged national winner in the National Travel Writing Contest for weekly newspapers conducted by SIU and the American Oil Co.

The contest, which was intended to give editors an incentive to publicize travel attractions in their localities, was directed by Howard R. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism.

The contest supported the objectives of President Johnson's Discover America program, and produced information on the lesser-known travel attractions of the U.S. The $1,000 first-prize entry told of the small beach towns of Lower California, which to Mrs. Philippili looked like "a small New England fishing village."

The Day the Overpass Was Completed

—American astronauts had already established a per­manently habitable station on the moon,
—Buckminster Fuller had already suggested a nation’s air pollution problem,
—President Morris and his wife were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The clock on the spire of U, School was striking 13. After a seemingly endless series of political scandals, warfare, strikes, union difficulties, bad weather, lack of funds, etc.—at last the Rt, Overpass was ready for its grand opening. One student called it the Feast of Pass­

Over half of the 35,000 student population was out for the gala occasion. This was the largest gala occasion since the cocktail lounges in Carbondale were granted 1 p.m. licenses.

At precisely about the time of day, quoting a high ad­ministration official who was indeed high, "the Passover commenced."

Eager students, spewing forth from Spew Hall, one of the new halls, in the University Park complex, climbed the stairs, and crossed over the bridge, to coin a phrase.

No more waiting for trains, (the IC was still in opera­tion). No more late classes, (the IC was still in opera­tion). No more waiting for trains, (the IC was still in opera­tion). No more waiting for trains, (the IC was still in opera­tion).

One student dropped his textbooks and tracks, walked in front of speeding freight, The books were sheared like wheat. He took the shredded wheat to the textbook service, and they had no sympathy. His suit against the IC was thrown out of court. His appeal to the higher courts was denied.

A comet, while walking across the overpass, had her stress hiked to her nose by a gust of wind—just as a train ran over her. Everyone assumed that she was speeding beneath. The letters of the IC were piled up like snow­drifts on the overpass.

Adding insult to injury, a free-lance architect studied the bridge and said if more than 150 students ever crossed it at a time, the structure would collapse.

No sooner were the words out of his mouth, than the University closed the overpass, and made arrangements to have it torn down.

At last week’s Board of Trustees meeting in St, Louis, which SU had recently acquired, (the IC was still in opera­tion). No more waiting for trains, (the IC was still in opera­tion). No more waiting for trains, (the IC was still in opera­tion).

No date was given for the completion of the overpass, but it will make it much harder to obtain the concept of student revolt is as far from the president’s mind as it is in student government. We can think they are so close, the view from the outside in a revolt; public opinion will side with the op­position of (the Old Man and the music). Student awareness and public opinion are only two major reasons for failure of campus revolt. There are others, some related to these, some unrelated. Among these are financial, revolutionary, and the temptation of the survival of the fittest. But until the first of the problems discussed is overcome—there is little to be done about the second—student revolts will end just as the last one, weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Some Thoughts on Revolution

In the coming weeks, a coordinated program will be initiated for instruction evaluation and Southern.

We at KA view this program as a vital addition to existing programs aimed at improving SUL. We are, however, apprehensive over the success of the pilot program.

A great deal of restraint and a great deal of patience will have to be employed by the students not involved in the program and also by the 10-20 new students from the school of communications who will participate in the program.

The faculty must be willing to work with and help the students. In this way the self-same individuals that could easily grow will not have the fertile soil needed. If cooperation can be effective between these groups, a positive program aimed at improving instruction methods will emerge.

We fully support this program and wish the students and faculty success. The re­turning university will be the beneficiary of a successful program of instruction evaluation.
The Professionals Are Coming

Dear Sir:

May I comment on the article by Charles Grogan, Jr. entitled "The Professionals Are Coming" (KA, Jan. 15)? I agree that "there are no skies to be written in," that the American Educational Theatre Association devoted a special edition of its magazine, recently, to a scholarly consideration of the problem. And there are all kinds of people at work in the field of the theatre. One of our guest artists at S.I.U., was Frederick O'Neil (now president of Actors Equity Association) who was both admired by our professors and our students. And, speaking for myself, I have managed to get on with the rest of our Theatre Department without signs of bloodshed.

Sincerely,
Mordecai Gorelik
Professor in Theatre

THE AUTHOR REPLIES: I regret having given Professor Grogan the impression that the general practice of hiring the "professionals" is detrimental to a university. It is true that such guest artists as Frederick O'Neil and Eric Christmas considerably enhanced the educational growth of many students at S.I.U., and Professor Grogan's distinguished career as an artist and teacher has had a profound influence on the American theatre. However, his source of inspiration to countless students of drama all over the world.

Ah, the Waring Drive-in has now been laid to rest. Its bawdy skin-flicks put away. The theatre could not stand the test. Now, in place of cheerful lust, The "family films" drive. Alas, alas, those family films just aren't worth the drive.

In Memoriam

Charles Grogan, Jr.

"The major portion of the article concerned Paul Mann and suggested--as Professor Gorelik so succinctly stated--the fact that some so-called professionals are on the make and are contemptuous of their faculty colleagues. This special edition of the Educational Theatre Journal (November, 1960), one finds the following statement on page 34: "Schools should not jump the bandwagon and hire any professional practical practioner just because he is one; the professional practitioner is not automatically a good teacher." To that one may add that just as in any given school not all teachers are good teachers, so it also is unfortunate that not all professional practitioners are professional.

"In terms of a standard of excellence both the professional theatre and the educational theatre have one and the same goal. But their fundamental purposes in not similar. While the university may certainly benefit from the experience and genius of certain theatrical practitioners just arriving on the scene, the inner dependence between the professional theatre and the educational theatre has developed in recent years primarily because more and more college graduates are filling the ranks of the professional theatre.

"Also, while university theatre is indeed a poor relation to Broadway, commercial theatre is a poor relation to professional theatre just leaving. (The source of 'green power' is shifting, baby.) However, the solution to this problem will not be found by joining the professional and educational theatres. The greatest danger which the American theatre faces today (and which is stunting its growth at this time) is its tendency to become a coterie which directs its appeal only to a certain type of college graduate; too many of our plays are beyond the understanding of the average American--even the average undergraduate!"

T was the Night Before Election

It was the night before election and all through the state everyone was campaigning for his own party slate. The ballots were marked in Chicago with care in hopes that enough voters would be there. The incumbents were nestled all snug in their beds while visions of victory danced in their heads. While at party headquarters, with all the phones tapped, I'd started a series of hourly night calls. When out at the polls there arose a clatter. I sprang from my desk to see what was the matter. The glimmer and glimmer of the moon's yellow beams gave a look of legality to our voting machines. And there in the midst giving orders so gaily was Mayor Richard J. Daley. He bellowed and bellowed and called them by name: On Shapiro, O.K. Kerner! We must show them how we have political priority--from Vienna, Paul Powell we'll tally our ballots, and then we'll just wait. "Till they've voted tomorrow in those precincts downstairs And I heard him exclaim as he stepped out of sight: To each his own and to all a good night."-LEJ.

And a Campus Cries Out...

KA-Say, lej, why haven't you written anything for KA this quarter?
LEJ-Come on you guys you know the paper doesn't come out during Christmas break.
KA-I...et, you see, The thing is, The Christmas break ended four weeks ago!
LEJ-Well, NUTS!!! As LEJ, stuggles off in the general direction of the text book service he stumbled a magazine in our hand and said: "Here I've been publishing nationally, along with Arnold H. Maremon." And so dear reader, as LEJ, grade point slowly sinks in the west we reprimand for the excerpt from the Fall issue of the INTERCOLLEGIAN-an issue dedicated entirely to Illinois politics--where here enough LEJ, was publised along with Arnold H. Maremon, who, by the way is a member of the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University.

KA-Billy, do you think that all our student rights, freedom, equality, justice and pleasure, freedom, equality, justice and fun are for nothing?
LEJ-Honorable! We had an interesting experience with University rules and regulations and wanted to drop the insane computer. It and fouled up computers. It seems that we have been seduced to try to cure insomnia via 18 hours of class load, and wanted to get out of our famous G. course, Chemistry. A very sympathetic counselor decided that this could not be done, but we would have to take extra hours of work. We grasped our drop sheet in our hands and skipped merrily through the office, over the mass of student humanity that is usually sitting its way through secretaries to make counseling appointments, to see the eyes of the webmaster, who wears the junior good size crown, called Dean. So our bespecked professor was sima-sampa-theatic, said with an "Uncle Sam Wants You" grin: "You can't drop that!" After meeting four counselors in a discussion about whether or not we could drop a class, the fractional Dean, in all his empathy remarked: "I'm sorry, because I'm Dean, snort!" Seeing his position we then discussed some of the minor rough edges of the Southern Illinois University, and we all agreed that the edges had to be removed, but Dean Vawn Williams said, "I'm not interested in our idea of removing, such edges of a service, a device that would level and still be over with the student." When this discussion was finished and the smog had been set aside, we had taken for an academic one way ride East. True we had dropped Chemistry and won the battle, but lost the war. As early as the morning of 3 hours of Sociology, a projected minor, and the ambiguity of the fractional Dean is his old friend, Physics.

"The problem" was more by the nice bureaucrats to guarantee that the well intentioned University grated out all struggling students and seed them to weed out rice paddies in the name of making him a well educated man.

The subject of the well educated man was debated and the question was raised of whether or not one needs such bits and pieces of the highly educated man. I think we could envision the poorly educated man succeeding in his chosen field of endeavor just as well as the well educated man had he a know ledge of F M, Ail H O, E mc , etc. Southern, however, not all have this advantage with the simple statement: "Become Educated or Go East Young Man."

Professors' Meeting Will Hear Panel Discuss SIU Research

"Research at Southern Illinois University" will be the topic of a panel discussion at the Feb. 13 meeting of the SIU Chapter, American Association of University Professors.

The meeting will begin with a dinner at 6:45 p.m., in the Student Christian Foundation. A question-answer session directed from the audience is planned, and the panel discussion is to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Panelists are Ronald Hansen, director of the Office of Research and Projects; David Kenney, associate professor of government; and William Simone, dean of the Graduate School.

Organization, administration and financing of research programs and the effect such programs have in curtailting academic freedom and faculty integrity will be included in the discussion.

No Students Sit On Faculty Council

Roosevelt University in Chicago recently decided to seat two students on a Faculty Senate as voting members. The decision to seat student members was unanimously passed by the Faculty Senate. The students are members of the Student Senate.

At SIU various groups have advocated such a move, but there is no student representation on the Faculty Council, University Council or the Board of Trustees.

An aide to President Delyte W. Morris explained that the structure at SIU is such that the Campus Senate is coequal in status to three other bodies -- Faculty Council, Graduate Council and General Studies Committee -- and they all have equal access to the University Council.

Green Giant Co., YMCA to Hold

A group from the YMCA, Southern District, will interview students interested in summer employment with the YMCA in Illinois in the Miscellaneous Room of the University Center. Jobs that are available with the YMCA include clerical work in the YMCA education instructors and assistants, recreation leaders, youth immersion supervisors, aqua-front directors, swimming instructors, camp directors and counselors, aquatic directors, and nature and crafts instructors.

Students interested in either interview should contact Bruno Bierman, Terry Luehr, or Ren Frazier at the Student Work Office.

Computer Lecture

Slated Thursday

John Goldsberry, consultant for International Business Machines, will lecture on the computer assisted instruction program at 3 p.m., Thursday and at 10 a.m. Friday in Morris Administration Building.

Goldsberry will direct the lecture towards faculty members and graduate students not familiar with computer assisted instruction.

The lecture will consist of an overview on the IBM 1500 system, CAl at other universities, CAl units and courses, and CAl in research.

Goldberg Says LBJ's Trip Won't Be 'Peace Mission'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg outlined plans Tuesday for an American "peace mission" to Vietnam and presented "a bill" to the Illinois House to replace the existing law requiring loyalty oaths. The bill, termed "an insult to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam - a key issue in the war," would provide an avenue, some believe, toward a longer truce, but this remained "to be seen.

As the sound of gunfire gave way to the popping of holiday firecrackers, a possibility arose that the allies would extend a cease-fire beyond the four days of Tet, as the lunar year's battle took place.

A query on whether hostilities might remain abated beyond the Tet truce, which began formally at 7 a.m. on Tuesday, was referred to the out-of-state truce of four Vietminh leaders, signaling a "possible positive program to get labor moving again,"

John Broyles, a congressional aide to Rep. Otto Kerner, last week ordered a draft of what the AFL-CIO, its four top officers were reported to say there may be three letters, instead of one.

There was unanimous agreement at Solidarity House, the AFL-CIO's headquarters, that a letter will be dispatched and made public this week.

Kosygin called for the union of Russian, European Might.

Nevertheless, Goldberg presumably will have his antenna out for any peace feelers during his European trip, Kennedy, who has opposed any escalation to the war, denied Monday the reports that he had brought some peace feelers from Hanoi relayed by French officials in Paris.

Dirksen, at his news conference, came up with some indirect criticisms of the speculation about peace talks that grew out of Kennedy's journey.

"I hope we don't develop 100 secretaries of state," he said, pointing to the 100 senators and Secretary Dean Rusk.

Dirksen said touring senators often appear to regard themselves as potential secretaries.

Auto Workers Union Expected To Initiate New Labor Plan

DETROIT (AP) - The United Auto Workers Union is discussing with key labor organizations and possibly the AFL-CIO itself to join the UAW in what it termed a "positive program to get labor moving again,"

"We are ready to commit $3 million toward an organizing crusade, social action and helping unions in difficulty with employers."

The UAW rank and file were promised a "clarifying" letter of the union's near-break with the AFL-CIO. Its four top officers were reported to say there may be three letters, instead of one.

LONDON (AP) - Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called Tuesday for a combina-tion of resources with the industrial might of Europe.

He met with the interest of Prime Minister Harold Wil-son, with whom the Soviet leader is holding talks in Lon-don. It brought immediate speculation that Kosygin may be signaling the beginning of a radical change in East-West alignments.

Kosygin followed his suggestion with a renewed proposal for a conference on European security. He had another talk with Wilson about Vietnam, and an authoritative British source said "all is not necessarily black" in the search for a peace formula.

Kosygin spoke later at a luncheon in his honor given by the Confederation of British Industry. He then headed to Brussels to control billions of dollars of British investment capital.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson洽谈 on the Senate Tuesday for swift approval of a treaty that seeks to guarantee that "the realities of space should forever re­main open to peaceful use."

The treaty was negotiated with the support of the United Nations and is based on the principle that the United States and the Soviet Union have already signed agreements to guarantee "the outer space environment is not militarized." It also guarantees that all nations have the right to benefit from the "possession of outer space and the activities that take place there, without discrimination of any kind, even the most subtle kind."
A Better Place to Live

Three Thompson Men Devise 'Improvement' Series

By Robert W. Brutcher

A plan to make Thompson Poiisu a better place to live has been worked out by three TP residence students. They are Terry Adams, resident fellow of Pierce Hall; John Wright, second-floor; and two other Pierce residence students, Joseph Kirkwood and James Stout.

The plan, which is a series of movies, lectures and demonstrations, is intended to widen residents' knowledge of the campus and interest about educational topics and campus clubs and organizations.

Some of the future events are a man and wife judo team, Hong Kong slides, a natural childbirth film, a lecture and movie, and Peace Corps volunteers' talks about their organizations. Each event is given by residents who are in the dorm during the evening. Details for each event have not yet been set.

Guest speakers for demonstrations by James Rodemaker and James Black described cave explorations. The two showed color slides and told of the experiences they had had in Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky and Texas.

All Student Newscasters

WSIU Radio Wants to Be Best Station in Area

By David Margulies

The scene could just as well be any radio station in southern Illinois. There is an important difference between WSIU and other area radio stations, however. The newscaster as well as the engineer are students.

Getting a "professional" sound from student newscasters, as well as providing thorough news coverage for its listening audience, are the goals of WSIU Radio news.

Last year, WSIU took a major step toward those goals by hiring Paul Dugas away from Kansas State-University, to become WSIU's news director.

Dugas, a professional broadcaster with 15 years experience, began to change WSIU from "rip and read" operation (meaning that stories are merely taken from the wire services and read verbatim) to a more professional news operation.

"It was obvious even at the very beginning," said Dugas, "that there were things we would start changing right away.

To improve the sound of the news reporters began covering local stories with the tape recorders. The "beeper phone" (a device by which phone calls can be recorded) began to get extensive use.

One of the most important things was to make maximum use of the talents of the station's news team. The best reporters were encouraged to work more hours.

The news team was given top quality equipment to work with. The station already subscribed to the United Press International broadcast wire. Later on, it was able to get the WSIU Audio service.

This provides voice reports from WPI correspondents around the world, plus the voices of others who make the news. Audio service, which sends out its recordings via telephone line to the station, also provides special programs by combining "live" UPI coverage with local news reports. WSIU was able to provide comprehensive election night coverage for the 1966 elections.

WSIU is attempting to become the best broadcast news facility in southern Illinois.

It has, according to Dugas, "made a great step" toward that goal.

"From here on," says Dugas, "the problem is to stay on the level we have reached in spite of the turnover of student personnel, and to make successive smaller steps upward as often as we can."

Southern Trackmen in Action Against Kansas University

THAT EXTRA HELP—Saluki track coach, Lew Hart­­zog, was trying to give his dinkleads a little extra push. Whatever encouragement Hartzog gave his charges didn’t affect the final outcome. Southern was beaten by a powerful Kansas team, 91-20.

Gymnasts Prepare for Two Dual Meets in Arizona

The Saluki men’s gymnastic team will go to Arizona for dual meets with the University of Arizona and Arizona State University Friday and Saturday nights.

The Salukis will leave Thursday morning for Tucson for the first meet with the Wildcats of Arizona University. The Wildcats just defeated the University of California and ended the Bears’ season. They include: Pete Hemmerling in the all-around, Steve Whitlock in the floor exercise, Hutch Dvorak in the trampoline, Larry Lindauer in the high bar and long horse and Joe Polizano in the rings. They will also expect the long horse, where the loss of Mike Boegler will hurt SIU, they are also expected to offer stiff competition in the floor exercise.

Saturday night the Salukis will travel to Tempe to face the San Diegos of Arizona State University. From the NCAA statistics it would appear the parallel bars and the still rings would be the strongest events of Arizona State.

The Salukis are picking up momentum fast in their quest for a second straight NCAA championship. They have five men in the top ten in the NCAA statistics list in different events.

Fred Dennis ranks fifth in the all-around in the nation with an average score of 53.20. Rick Tucker, the front line Saluki all-around performer, holds down the number 9 spot with an average of 51.90.

Tucker also ranks third nationally in the high bar with an average score of 9.4 and Dennis isn’t far behind with an average of 9.35 for fifth. Dennis is ranked third in the still rings with an average score of 9.45.

Dale Harst is the second leading trampoline artist with an average score of 9.35 which is only five tenths of a point behind the national leader, Paul Mayer. Mayer is in the number four position in the floor exercise. His average score is 9.35. Ron Harstad ranks fifth on the parallel bars with an average of 9,25 and Boegler finished his career with an average of 9.4 which was good for the number four spot in the side horse.

In the statistics for the Mid Western region, 11 Salukis are listed in the top ten. They include; Pete Hemmerling in the all-around, Steve Whitlock in the floor exercise, Hutch Dvorak in the trampoline, Larry Lindauer in the high bar and long horse and Joe Polizano in the rings. They join Tucker, Mayer, Harstad, Dennis, Boegler and Hardt in the top ten in the regional statistics.

Event by event the Salukis rank high in the nation in all events except the long horse. Southern ranks third in the floor exercise; second in the high bar, side horse and parallel bars and fourth in the trampoline and rings.

The Saluki trampoline team was cited for special honors following their 27,70 team score against Michigan State.

The nine member committee, according to chairman Voigt, "... was charged with making a study of the development and direction intercollegiate athletics will make in the future. It will make recommendations to President Morris, based primarily on the results of the questionnaire."

The Study Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics, created by President Morris in 1967, includes, in addition to Voigt, faculty representatives Kenneth A. Van Lente of the Carbondale campus and James A. Metcalfe, Edwardsville, non-academic officers and services representatives Roger Spear, '46, SIU Alumni Association president-elect, alumni representative, and Arthur Boeker, Edwardsville banker, representative of the public.

Pressure from Ratings

Has SIU Coach Worried

By Tom Wood

The Salukis are back from a three-day road trip, the last trip of the regular season and a half to prepare for their next contest against Washington University of St. Louis. This game will be the first of five home games which will close out SIU's regular season play.

Coach Jack Hartman indicated a great deal of satisfaction with the road trip and pleasure to be back home with two more victories under his belt. Hartman said, "It's a great way to win on the road and a very difficult thing to do."

Hartman pointed out that one of the reasons for this is that the Salukis have attracted a lot of publicity lately and everyone is up for them. The crowds at both Chattanooga and Centenary were by far the biggest either team has had this year according to Hartman who commented, "This helps the home team tremendously. It brings out the best in the players and the fans.

The fact that every team is up for the Salukis causes the fieldHANDs to be doubly difficult to Hartman. He said, "Each game is going to be a tough one, even against the teams with unimpressive records because of the attention we've gotten."

The eight day layoff comes at an opportune time for the Southerners. Sophomore center Chuck Benson, who has seen a great deal of action at the pivot and at forward this year, reinjured a chronic bad ankle and also injured his knee against Chattanooga Saturday night. Hartman played Benson for a few short moments Monday as a substitute, but replaced him when it became evident that the leg was bothering the 6-foot 4-inch Atlanta player.

Hartman said that the injuries are "nothing that won't respond to treatment, but they won't take a little time to heal."

Both weekend games provided an opportunity for some of the reserves to play prominent roles in the outcome. Hartman reiterated that there was not so much a matter of the particular games and their names. He made the fact that he felt several of the players who had seen little action thus far were ready in terms of progress.

He went on to say, "Some of the boys have given indications of being in the verge of being able to step in and do a good job, they proved that they were ready.

Hartman said that he was not surprised by the performance of Willie Griffin, a sophomore guard who played extensively in both games. Griffin contributed seven points against Chattanooga and eight against Centenary. Hartman also singled out Creton Whitaker, Jay Westcott for their performances.

Creton is a conscientious boy, who works real hard. In fact he may push too hard at times and not relax on the court as much as he should.

Jay Westcott, and always been one of the better shooters on the team and a good rebounder. He just lacks a little speed and quickness.

Westcott exhibited this shooting ability in the brief period he played Monday night by hitting two quick goals and grabbing a couple of rebounds on the side.

Included in the upcoming five games are Northern Michigan, who lost the game to Ohio State Monday and recently mauled nationally-ranked Pan American in the process of winning six straight games. Kentucky Wesleyan, the No. 2 college division team which has lost but one game -- to St. John's, one point, and South West Missouri, also a one point loser to the Salukis earlier this season.

Southern stands atop both service polls currently. The Salukis received the first place votes in the recent UPI poll and also received the top votes in the Associated Press survey.
