Begin Performances of 'Silver Cord' Thursday

Southern students will have a chance to view what may be the start of a new tradition when the Little Theatre production of "The Silver Cord," begins a series of three performances Thursday night.

"The Silver Cord," a psychological drama concerning a mother's abnormal love for her son, will be presented in Shreveck auditorium on January 24, 25, and 26, at 8 p.m.

Due to the type of play presented, Dr. Archibald McLeod, director, has limited the cast from the faculty, graduates, students, and alumni. "This was necessary," Dr. McLeod explained, "since the play demands maturity and great skill and would have been extremely difficult for the Little Theatre to present.

CAST MEMBERS are Dr. Georgia Winn, associate professor of English; Mrs. William Harlan and Mrs. Archibald McLeod, faculty wives who are members of the University Women's club playing reading group; Mrs. Robert Davis, Little Theatre alumna; Robert Cagle, and Tom Sloan, graduate students in speech.

It is the hope of McLeod to present a play such as this every winter term, using it as made up of persons other than undergraduate students.

The play, first produced in 1926 by the Theatre Guild, was written by Sidney Howard, who is the author of "Lucky Sam McCarver," "They Knew What They Wanted," and "Red McCob's Daughter." Central staging will be employed in presenting the play, with improved seating arrangements for the audience over past years. Admission will be 50 cents.

Seats may be reserved at the speech office. However, tickets will also be sold the nights of the performances.

Duo Dancing Team
To Give Program
On Campus Jan. 30

Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder, a husband and wife duo among the alumni who have been sent a program containing humor, drama, and fantasy Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 3:30 p.m., in the auditorium. They will be sponsored by the Women's P. E. department and the Lectures and Entertainments committee. Student tickets will be 50 cents, and others $1.20 each. Tickets are now available at the Women's P. E. department.

Emily Frankel was formerly a member of the Charles Weisman Dance Theatre, and Mark Ryder was soloist in the Martha Graham Dance Company. After their marriage, they decided to go together, rather than in separate companies, and so started a program of their own called "THEIR PROGRAM," a humorous and horrible fantasy of dance. "We have been taking requests from people to do a program of their own," the couple said. This time the program will be done entirely to sound effects--of a train chugging, a telephone ringing, he clock ticking, hysterical laughter, and a cheering crowd.

They will also present "People and Things," a satire on people who become possessed by possessions. The dance shows a young married couple who have been living in a house (with actual props, furniture, lamps, photos, ashtrays, doilies, and what-have-you) and how the couple gradually become completely obsessed by bringing in bigger and better things for their home. A dance called "Cuck & Counterpoint" is a striking almost cartoon-like story of the "white-march-lady" and "anti-all-that's-jazzy doo," "a happy-in-the-face of the dance," and the "never-miss-the-dance lovers." The dance is a combination of dance and drama.

Experimental Theatre

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week, an experimental theatre group, sponsored by SIU’s Little Theatre, will present the play, “The Silver Cord,” by Sidney Howard. A form of central staging will be used for this production.

Last year Little Theatre began using an adaption of central staging for such plays as “Ladies in Retirement” and “Blithe Spirit,” with a great degree of success. Central staging, or theatre-in-the-round as it is sometimes called, requires that the audience be seated on all sides of the actors. Here at Southern, a modified form places the audience on the Shryock auditorium stage, on three sides of the actors, who play against the back wall of the auditorium.

ASIDE FROM THE USE OF central staging, another feature of the play is the fact that the actors consist entirely of SIU graduate students and faculty. “The Silver Cord” is being presented by them in addition to the regular winter play, which will have undergraduate actors as usual.

We think that this experiment with graduate student actors is well worth attempting for several reasons. It affords an opportunity for us to see a more professional presentation and mature interpretation than has been offered previously in dramas at Southern. It also allows graduate students in speech to obtain more experience in actual dramatic work.

Just A Reminder

Southern’s March of Dimes drive for 1952 began this morning. In 1938, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis began an endless drive for funds to combat infantile paralysis. We can help continue the commendable work being done by buying as many dimes on our line as we can afford. Don’t forget how badly polio victims need aid. You can be sure that they won’t forget what has been done for them by the March of Dimes.

In Alaska—

Student Traveled With Entertainers

by Teresa White

Flying over the rugged Alaskan Range and Chugach Mountains in a C-82, known as the flying boxcar, to entertain troops in Nome, Alaska is one of the many experiences of Shirley Colow, a freshman here at Southern.

Along with 50 other entertainers Shirley has braved the 60 below temperatures to bring some relaxation to troops not only in Nome, but Kodiac Island, Fort Richardson, and Fairbanks as well.

Shirley’s father, Major Owens Colow, is stationed in Alaska for two years, during which time they lived in Anchorage, where Shirley went to school. Anchorage, although not the capital, is the largest city in Alaska with a population of 120,000 people.

THE COLOWS went to Alaska in 1947 just after the end of World War II. Shirley can remember more than one night that she was awakened by the alert air raids in Anchorage. She said that one never knew when it was a practice raid or the real thing. This was during the Berlin Air Lift when unidentified planes were always being picked up on radar.

Among other things that Shirley experienced in Alaska were the frequent earthquakes. She also said that “The Russian influence in Anchorage was terrible.”

The most impressive sight she saw while in Alaska was the Canadian Mountains on parade in full dress.

SOMETHING THAT Shirley says she will never forget was the time she saw Siberia and the Russian coast from the air. This was during a flight to entertain troops in Nome. The plane was blown off course by a storm over the Bering Sea.

Shirley’s father is now stationed at Scott Field and Shirley is majoring in English here at Southern. After seeing two jet planes crash into each other in mid air and experiencing numerous exciting adventures college life seems somewhat tame to Shirley.

Above is another in a series of close-ups of familiar objects. Can you name it? Answer to this week’s shot appears on page 4.

SIU'S NEW POWER PLANT

Southern's New Power Plant Has Background of Little Known Facts

by Jim Fecher

There is one kind of draft one doesn’t need to worry about if he attends classes regularly here, because Southern’s new power plant is breathing night and day to keep the campus all warm.

The power plant, which is located in the corridor of the first floor of the Scott Alumni Center, pumps steam through underground tunnels to the heating system of the buildings.

The power plant, which was built in 1915, and is now being torn down.

Nine men are employed in the plant, and they are kept busy adjusting gauges, checking temperatures, taking readings, and doing the countless other tasks necessary to insure an uninterrupted flow of warm steam.

Four Springfield boilers are used in the plant, each with a capacity of 30,000 pounds of steam. They are operated by a man who contributes to the efficiency of the heating system.

The Wednesday Club's annual chili supper will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 7 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

University School Has Polio Drive

University School launched their "March of Dimes" campaign with a kickoff assembly at 9:30 a.m. today.

The feature of the program was the interview of Pat Whittington, former polio victim, by Richard Riecke, junior member of the student council.

There was also a discussion on "The need for funds to fight polio" and "Where the students contributions will go.

R. J. FLIGOR, faculty chairman of the drive, said that a goal of $500 has been set for the campaign which will include a "Line of Dimes" to be sold at a basketball game between the University School faculty and the student council.

Those who want to contribute the "Line of Dimes" will place their dimes in a line in the exhibit case located in the corridor of the first floor.

A 25 cents admission fee will be charged everyone, including the students who will be paid for playing the basketball game to be played tonight at 7 p.m.

Martha Morrison, president of the student council, is the student chairman of the drive.

Salukis Turn On Stall, Beat Chippewas 49-46

Southern's basketball squad put on a stall in the last quarter to protect a big lead, and came through with a 49-46 MAC victory over Central Michigan's Chippewas. The game, played Thursday night at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., gave the Salukis a conference record of four wins and one loss (not including Saturday night's Michigan-Michigan game). The Salukis held a mere one-point lead as the game went through the early stages, but the 21 points in a hot third period to take a 43-31 lead. The stall was put on in the last half of the final period. The twelve point Southern lead and scarcity of remaining playing time proved too much for the Chippewas, even though they outscored the Salukis in the last quarter, 15-6.

It was one of the better nights for the Holdermen on defense. Southern again held a deciding contest on the rebounds, and were tough to penetrate when the Chippewas tried to work through.

Only nineteen fouls were called in the game, 11 against the Salukis, and eight on the Chippewas. Both teams totaled only five lead and scarcely either point. Southern had enjoyed until that point lead at half-time, but scored 2-1 in the last half but three of the matches. Results:

122-Cutrell (S) decisioned Ginkisk (W), 7-2.
130-Halbert (S) decisioned Dason (W), 3:38.
137-Stout (S) decisioned Rounberr (W), 6-0.
147-Hargis (S) and Zwierczenwski (W) drew, 2-2.
157-Erickson (S) decisioned Bagley (W), 8-7.
167-Gross (W) decisioned Ve.

INTRAURALS

Four of the six rounds in the intramural league scheduled for 1951-'52 have now been completed, and the race for berths in the mid-February play-offs is what might be termed "going strong." The list of undefeated quintets has now been cut to 10 from the original field of 49, and with the defeats have emerged some close races in the seven leagues.

remis (S) 2-1.
177-Robinson (W) decisioned Williams (S), 4-3.
Hyvici-Gregory (W) decisioned Brown (S), 2-2.
Southern's squad will take to the road this week-end when they meet Arkansas State next Friday, and Memphis Naval Air Base Saturday.

Including all games except those played last Monday, the leaders in their respective divisions are: Theta Xi (3-0), Texas A&M; Chi Delta Chi (4-0), Stanford League; Gamma Delta (3-0), The Bears (3-0), Michigan League; Sig Tau (3-0), Ohio League; Sigma Pi (3-0), Texas League; Yanks (4-0), Illinois League; and TKE's B (4-0), Kentucky League.

Tonight's schedule features games in the Ohio and Stanford Leagues. Winning streak may continue when the Maroon Manor and Chi Delta Chi teams, both sporting unblemished records, battle for top position in the Stanford League. The three top teams in the Ohio League, the Men's Residence, Theta Xi, and the Mountaineers, and the Cornellers all take to the court this evening also. First games start at 6:30 p.m.

Cagers Meet Cape Here Tonight, Face Eastern Thursday

Cape Girardeau's Indians will be the guests of the Southern Salukis tonight in a basketball game at the Southern gym, starting time 8:35 p.m. This will be the 85th meeting between the interconference rivals.

The Salukis will be out to avenge a two-point loss at Cape Girardeau last Jan. 3. This defeat broke the five-game winning streak that Southern had enjoyed until that date. The Holdermen beat the Indians once in 1948, and twice in 1949 and 1950.

THIS WILL be the first starting appearance at home for former Salukis forward Bob Nickolaus. Nickolaus was moved up to the first five to fill the position left open by Tom Miller.

After tonight's game, the Salukis will take to the road again. Thursday night they go to Charleston, where they run into the mighty Eastern Panthers, only undefeated team in the MAC. Tom Katsampilis, big gun in the Eastern attack, has averaged better than 30 points per game to date. This crucial conference game is followed by an eight day lay-off before the Salukis' next game. They go into action again in a home game against the Illinois Normal Redbirds Feb. 2.
