Fraternity Collects $100 So Far Through Blanket Contributions at Games; Faculty Donations Are $25

The irrigated growth of the campus has been increased to a total number of $400,000, and the entire campus was planted with flowers and shrubs. The flowers were planted in the center of the lawn, and the shrubs were planted along the sidewalk. The entire campus was covered with a network of pipes, and the water was supplied by a system of pumps. The system was designed to water the entire campus, and it was expected to be completed by the end of the summer.
It's Tough!

It's tough to be a kid. Look at all the grown-ups around us—how do they ever do it? Where do they get their strength and determination from?

One way to look at it is that the grown-ups are just big kids themselves. They have to be, otherwise they can't do their jobs. So, the next time you feel like giving up, remember that you are just a big kid, too, and you can do anything you put your mind to.

It's The Little Things

During the past few years, Southern Illinois University has grown from a small college to a major university. This growth has been accompanied by a number of changes in the campus life and the academic programs. The most noticeable change is the increase in the number of students, which has led to a greater demand for campus services and facilities.

The increase in student numbers has also led to an increase in the number of activities and events on campus. In the past, students had fewer opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities, but now there are more clubs, sports teams, and social organizations to choose from.

Despite the challenges that come with being a student at a large university, there are also many advantages. For example, students have access to a wide variety of courses and programs, and they can take advantage of the many resources available on campus. Additionally, students have the opportunity to meet people from all over the world and to make lasting friendships.
