12-Week Summer Session Proposed

Chain Letter Hits Campus

SIU students who have been taken in by one of America's oldest sucker games -- the chain letter -- will be in for some trouble if they get caught.

Harold Hakes of the Thompson Point Residence Halls reported Thursday that a chain letter is being circulated by hand within the housing area.

"This is a violation of Illinois state law which prohibits the use of lotteries with uncertain prizes being offered," Hakes wrote in a memo. The state provides a penalty, upon the first offense, of a fine of not more than $500 or up to a year in prison or both, he said.

He said the Security Police and Thompson Point staff will report all violators.

I.W. Adams, assistant dean of men, confirmed that chain letters violate the state law. He quoted a court ruling in a letter to the Daily Egyptian. Adams sent along a copy of the letter.

Like all chain letters, this one claims to circumvent statutes which prohibit this sort of scheme. It doesn't. Adams said in this particular skin game works: The pigeon -- as the victim is called -- buys a copy of the list, eliminates one name, adds his own name, and returns the list. The pigeon then makes two copies of the list, eliminating the name of the person to the left and the bottom. He buys from a bank two $25 bonds and sends copies of each list with a check for $37.50. At this point, he is assured, he has made two copies of the $25 U.S. Savings Bond which is provided by the person who sold him the list.

In this experiment the students are treated as mature people. Although they have written rules and regulations, the byword of the dorms is "discretion." This word appears on several bulletin boards within the dorms. A judicial board for each dorm has been established, but so far, the boards have had no reason to meet.

Most of the students living in the cooperative apartments feel that the experiment has been successful, Mike Gereau, a sophomore majoring in foreign languages, says he enjoys living in Mecca Dorm.

"This dorm offers many advantages over Thompson Point where I lived last summer," he said. "I lost money at Thompson Point when I missed meals there. Here at Mecca, I can eat whatever and whenever I want."

12-Week Summer Session Proposed

Term Would Start June 15
If Trustees Give Approval

A proposal to change most of the SIU summer instruction to a 12-week session was featured during the regular board of trustees meeting Jan. 23.

The recommendation is that the general University instructional program in summer be changed to a 12-week session, and to continue three-quarters of the year.

If the board approves the change, it would be effective this year, according to Charles D. Tenney, vice-president for instruction.

The proposal calls for a Tourney Week Deadline Today

Today marks the deadline for turning in entry blanks for the 1964 Tournament Week. Blanks, available at the Olympic Room and Bowling Alley must be given to the Activities Office by 5 p.m. Tournament Week is sponsored in cooperation with the University's facilities, which offers members to send school champions to a regional tournament held at Purdue University in February.

Cooperative Dormitory Apartments Filled

Emergency Need for Off-Campus Housing

The dormitory - apartments were born out of necessity," says Mira, Anita Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing.

Last summer SIU's housing office was swamped with student residence applications which it couldn't fill.

To partially remedy this situation, the Housing Office solicited the help of Gal Williams who was in the process of building three apartment houses. With the help of Williams the apartment houses were turned into experimental, cooperative dorms.

At the beginning of the fall quarter, 76 students moved into the three cooperative dorms located at the intersection of East College and South Wall streets.

The Mecca Dorm, 306 E. College St., houses 14 men. This dorm is made up of 22 one - room, efficiency apartments.

The Mecca Apartments, 500 S. Wall St. and 300 E. Colfax St., both house 16 girls. There are four apartments in each structure. These individual apartments have a living room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and bathroom.

Each member of the cooperative dorm pays $100.00 a quarter plus his share of the electric utilities.

In this experiment the students are treated as mature people. Although they have written rules and regulations, the byword of the dorms is "discretion." This word appears on several bulletin boards within the dorms.

A judicial board for each dorm has been established, but so far, the boards have had no reason to meet.

Most of the students living in the cooperative apartments feel that the experiment has been successful, Mike Gereau, a sophomore majoring in foreign languages, says he enjoys living in Mecca Dorm.

"This dorm offers many advantages over Thompson Point where I lived last summer," he said. "I lost money at Thompson Point when I missed meals there. Here at Mecca, I can eat whatever and whenever I want."

Allan Furman, a junior majoring in psychology, says, "Here at Mecca most of the students have a feeling of responsibility to themselves and to their neighbors. It's almost like being on your own. At Mecca the students have more opportunity to display maturity than at Thompson Point." Furman also lived at Thompson Point last summer, "the best place I've been." The dorm was occupied by Edson Wilson who lives in the Missouri area.

"The furniture might be a little cheap, but this is the only fault I've found with this apartment." Furman said.

Tonight and the weekend the girls are allowed to entertain men in the livingroom of their apartments with the door open. The hours for this entertainment are 7 to 8:30 on Friday 131.

Dance Troupe Performs Tonight

Paul Taylor's internationally famous dance company will be here for a performance at 8 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Their program will be the same one they performed recently at the Berlin Festival, where they won America's only performing entry.

Taylor has had his own dance troup since 1954 and he has traveled throughout the world. His troupe of five members includes Don Wagner, Elizabeth Walton, Betty de Jong, Sharon Kinney and Renee Kimball.

The dance-choreography was given by the New York City Ballet Company for three seasons. In 1961 he received the Frederick Fellowship for Choreography, and in 1962 he was named a member of the International Circle of Critics Award in Paris in 1962.

The performance is being sponsored by the Physical Education Department. There will be no admission charge.

PSYCH FILMS SET FOR TV

An on-site look at current research in experimental psychology is provided in a series of programs to be televised by SIU, beginning Thursday,
Jan. 10, at 7 p.m.

Southern's television station,
WELTV (Channel 9), is among 70 National Educational Television stations across the nation scheduled to run the series.
The series, "Focus on Bevavior," consists of 10 films of 30 minutes each. Produced by National Educational Television, it covers significant concepts, methods and latest advances in behavioral study.

David Ehrenfreund, chairman of the SIU psychology department, said the programs are filmed visits to laboratories of distinguished psychologists. He said they provide the viewer with a deeper understanding of the nature of basic research.

"The series was designed to develop a greater public appreciation of psychology as the scientific study of behavior,"
Ehrenfreund said. "The films were made in leading US universities, two hospitals and a US Air Force base, showing how psychologists do their work as they happened."

Additional programs in the series include child growth and development, perception, memory, effects of psychoactive drugs, learning psychology, and others.

Goldwater Rapped On Missile Issue

WASHINGTON -- Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara accused Sen. Barry Goldwater today of damaging national security and being politically irresponsible in saying that U.S. long-range missiles are not reliable.

McNamara released a statement taking issue with assertions made by Goldwater while the Arizona senator, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was campaigning in New Hampshire.

Goldwater said yesterday that the nation's missile forces.

McNamara's statement of reply was read to reporters by Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester.

It said: "Sen. Goldwater's reported statement that the U.S. long-range missiles are not dependable is completely misleading, politically irresponsible, and damaging to the national security.

"There is no information, classified or otherwise, to support the idea that long-range missiles cannot be depended upon to accomplish their mission.

"The importance of the long-range missiles to the defense of this country and the evaluation of their effectiveness by our leading military authorities is indicated by the strong support given by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the missile program."

Scranton Asserts He's Not In Race

HARRISBURG, Pa. -- Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania says he is attempting to discourage any efforts to project him as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I have discouraged anybody that I know of who is attempting to create clubs or anything of that sort," Scranton said at his weekly news conference Thursday.

Since the death of President Kennedy, Scranton has been mentioned more frequently as a possible as a candidate for President.

Plane Crash Kills 28

BUENOS AIRES -- An Argentine passenger plane carrying 30 passengers crashed and burned Thursday about 36 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. Police said 28 bodies were recovered.

One major reform cited by McNamara's statement was support for a 10-part plan to stabilize and unify the armed forces.

Basil Rathbone to Star In Series Honoring Poet

Basil Rathbone, considered one of acting’s most versatile practitioners, says that poetry is "more closely related to music than to any other form of literature."

Rathbone will be at the SIU Carbondale campus Jan. 28 and at the Alton campus Jan. 29 for one-man shows. The program will include a dramatic presentation of the works of English-speaking authors, such as Shakespeare, Pushkin and Arthur Conan Doyle.

"With poetry, sound is the vital element. It is not meant for the ear, yet it is the drawn in."

Prints, Sculptures

Now on Exhibit

Drawings, prints and small sculptures by the 16th century artists known as "Manieristes" are exhibited in the Mitchell Gallery in the Home Economics Building and will be on display until Jan. 28, according to Ben Watkins, acting curator of University galleries.

Thirty-two prints from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and small sculptures from the Walters Art Gallery include work by such artists as Aspetti, Bloemaert, Floris, de Gelder, Goltzius, Riccio, Samson, Stradanus, Susnine, de Vos and others.

"This is a pliable and influential period," Watkins said. "The unresolved tensions and ambiguities in which the Mannerists delighted are echoed in much contemporary art, prompting an increasing interest in this period."

The Mitchell Gallery is open 10 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Special arrangements may be made with Watkins or with Mrs. Denise Zaslavski, assistant curator, for showings at other hours.

Council to Meet in Edwardsville

The All-University Student Council will meet January 11, 9:00 a.m., in the University Center on the Edwardsville campus.

Discussion subjects will be: "Frolics of Internationally Recognizing Students!" and "A-USC Award and Scholarship."

Included in the first discussion will be a comparison of the General Studies Courses and general core requirements at the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses.

Novelist Anais Nin Narrates Three Ian Hugo Art Films

The "drama, poetry and other exotic aspects" of New York City will be brought to life on the screen of Morris Library Auditorium Wednesday as novelist Anais Nin narrates three films of artist Ian Hugo.

One of the three, "Jazz of Lights," was filmed by Hugo in Times Square, then transformed by technical processes into what has been described as "multiple motion unlike any ever seen." The program, at 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Also to be narrated by Miss Nin are Hugo's "Bellas of Atlantis" and "Gondola Eyes." They are few places where such surrealism, experimental films.

Hugo's works have captured prizes in some of the top international film festivals.Copies have been bought by government agencies in the US and other nations, as well as public and university libraries and the New York Museum of Modern Art.

Miss Nin's showing of Hugo films last year in the New York Public Library Muscull Center drew the largest audience for a program devoted to the art of the film in the institution's history.

Harry T. Moore, research professor of English, said a similar program he attended in New York earlier was "aesthetic poetry, one of the most beautiful things I've ever seen."

Miss Nin, born in Paris, came to the US at the age of nine but still considers herself an international writer. Her work, described as "theater surrealism," has attracted increasing attention in recent years.

"I've known quickly on every job what was expected. Then it was pretty much up to me, with help as needed," says Noviidentive Bell's Tom Hamilton (1960). Tom is Manager of his company's Clinton, Iowa, Business Office, and has a staff of seven to help him service his 35,000 telephone customers.

Tom's promotion resulted much from his impressive record in two other companies. Tom had been an Assistant Marketing Promotion Supervisor helping develop sales promotion when he was selected by his company to attend the special business seminar at Northwestern University in Chicago.

Then, as Communications Supervisor in Ottumwa, Tom was both sales and supervisor. Tom worked under him. On this job he showed the versatility that paid off in his Clinton promotion.

Tom Hamilton, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There is a General Simplicity is more valued or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Saluki Ace in Final Year

SIU Gymnasts to Meet Navy Pier Saturday

Rusty Mitchell will be starting his last year of an illustrious career Saturday when he leads Southern's gymnastics team against Navy Pier at 1:30 p.m. in the opener of the 1964 dual meet season. Mitchell, who will cap his career this year, is expected to upstage anyone else for that matter - as SIU announced the Chicago team 86-25. Mitchell was back from last year's edition of Bill and Ray meeting, placed sixth in the annual event.

The West Covina, Calif., ace will be in the same spot tomorrow when the Illini is expected to pick up where he left off last year.

The Salukis had little trouble with the Pier last year - except with anyone else for that matter - as SIU cruised the Chicago team 86-25. Meade probably doesn't expect the score to be one-sided tomorrow, but nevertheless, the most he should prove is to be just warm-up for Southern.

Meade caught a glimpse of a possible gymnast from the Midwest Open when the Salukis won with 199 1/2 points. Sy Meyer placed in the top performers in the event.

IN ADDITION... to sight-seeing, Taylor visited museums and met with colleagues in the three countries. He was accompanied on the tour by his

At present such private lessons, if continued next quarter, will be the main attraction in the weekly competitions you want to call it. Probeck will also get the nod to back up Mitchell. Finaly, Mitchell of course will be the main attraction in the weekly competitions.

John F. H. Lonergan, SIU landscape architect, will assume the post of Carbondale Plan Commission chairman at the January meeting next month.

Also slated to take office in February are William Mc-Bride, vice-chairman; Mrs. Clara McClellan, secretary-treasurer; and John L. Wright, parliamentary. The four were elected Wednesday.

In other action, the Plan Commission approved requests to construct two dor-mities; adopted two ordinances annexing property located within the city limits; and heard a report by the Mobile Home Parks committee noting areas within a range of 1 1/2 miles of the city limits which would be suitable for organization of trailer courts. Dorms scheduled for construction by private owners will be located on Freeman street near Poplar and Rawlings street and at 3506 Rawlings St.

Among areas annexed to Carbondale is a section on the east side of South Wall Street where tentative vote call for the construction of a $6 million dormitory projject including 17 buildings. Archie Jonas of the Mobile Home Parks Committee told members of the commission that certain areas outside the present city limits but within a 1/2 mile radius are suitable for formation of trailer courts. The final recommendation of the committee was that trailer courts be limited to present agricultural and light industrial sites with the minimum trailer courts be 10-12 acres.

No action was taken on a request by the Rev. Charles Howe on the organization of separate streets and traffic committees. At present such problems are handled by the commission's capital improvements committee.
