World Book in Braille
To Be Added To Library

A world of information will be at the fingertips of blind students at SIU when the last of the 245 volumes of the World Book encyclopedia in braille moves to the shelves at Morris Library.

The encyclopedia, published by the World Book Company of Chicago, is being translated into the raised-dot language of the blind, and volumes are presented to the SIU Library as they come off the press, according to Elizabeth O. Stone, assistant director of the library.

This reference work will provide a valuable source of background material for the blind or partially blind students attending SIU. There were 12 of these students enrolled during the last spring quarter.

While student readers are supplied for visually-handicapped students, the library has a number of textbooks and other materials required in University courses which have been recorded on tape, each coming from eight to 15 reels.

Two complete sets of Webster's Student Dictionary are available in braille. The regular edition, running about 1,200 pages, requires 36 volumes when translated into braille. Each of the braille books measures 11 3/4 x 12 inches with a thickness of 2 to 3 1/2 inches.

Mrs. Robert O'Shaughnessey of Carbondale is serving as a volunteer coordinator for the library's services to the blind. She has on her shelves and braille books, advising students of the ones available, and she arranges to have the library facilities to the needs of the visually-handicapped students.

Fairfield Community Theater
Directed By Two SIU Students

Two SIU students are directing a community theater in Fairfield this summer.

William Lawhead of Fairfield and Laura Lenten are the directors of a theater which will open July 15 with "Look Homeward, Angel," a play which was made famous by the novel by Erskine Caldwell, another student at SIU, and scenery construction is under the direction of Pat Cavney, a former SIU student who is presently the art teacher in Eldorado.

Boughan was a member of the cast of the SIU production of "Look Homeward, Angel" last spring. He and Lawhead have appeared in several productions on the SIU campus, and the regular edition, running about 1,200 pages, requires 36 volumes when translated into braille. Each of the braille books measures 11 3/4 x 12 inches with a thickness of 2 to 3 1/2 inches.

2,200 Rolls Consumed Daily:
SIU Chefs Yearly Serve
Over Two Million Meals

SIU chefs cook enough meals in a year to feed everyone in the state of Nevada dinner every day for a week.

Cafeteria in Lenz Hall and Lentz Hall cafeterias alone serve 3,300 meals a day. Their raw food costs, which do not include such things as labor, rentals, and supplies, total $396,000 a year. For bread alone they spend $19,000 a year.

The figures are large, but put them in terms of food quantities and they are even more astonishing.

When Lentz serves bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwiches, it takes 220 lbs. of bacon. During the normal school year, Lentz uses 210 lbs. a meal. When Lentz serves sandwiches on rolls, it takes 400 lbs. for one meal. A thousand pounds of potatoes are needed per meal when they are French fried; but when they are mashed, only 400 lbs. are needed.

Every day, 450 gallons of cream, 2,200 rolls, and 225 loaves of bread are consumed. One day, 200 lbs. of eggs will be needed.

When the university’s Auxiliary Enterprises, operates three main cafeterias: Lenz Hall, Lentz Hall and the Student’s Acorns. The largest is Lentz, followed by the University. The coffee in University Center is served by Slaters School and the Student’s Acorns.

The university managed cafeterias use 107,600 gallons of white milk yearly. The annual consumption figures for canned goods include 6,800 lbs.; vegetable, 10,740 lbs.;

hamburger buns, 32,000 pkgs.; ice cream bars, 170 dozen; flour, 99,700 lbs.; chocolate syrup, 1,400 gallons; and canning supplies, 15,200 pkgs.

The university buys its food wholesale. Items such as milk, ice cream, canned goods, coffee, sugar, and flour are bought through a bidding process on a contract basis. Contracts are let every three or six months.

George A. Toberman, university purchasing agent, said this: "I’ll say this in fairness to the university, we buy the best quality of food available."

Items such as fresh vegetables, produce, and meats are handled through the food supervisors at the various cafeterias.

Christina R. Richard, food supervisor at Lentz, said, "All our milk is produced in Illinois. They give me their prices, and I pick the best quality of food available.”

Syrup, tomatoes, and lettuce are purchased locally; and cattle are grown in Iowa.

The cafeteria lines in University Center use as many local produce items as possible.

Toothpicks are not served at the university. Only wooden spoons are used, Thompson Pointers can brush after every meal.

The Games Competition will feature a variety of events, including basketball, tennis, track and field, and swimming. Participants will be divided into categories based on age and gender. Prizes will be awarded to the top three finishers in each event.

On Saturdays, the Games Competition will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the Olympic Room. On Wednesdays, the competition will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the Olympic Room or the University Center.

WASHINGTON

A House Education and Labor Subcommittee was reported Tuesday to have reached general agreement on a bill for a mandatory cut-off of federal funds for school districts practicing racial segregation.

A final vote was set Monday for the bill.

The action came at a closed-door session after an open session in which James Farrell, an assistant attorney for the Congress for Racial Equality, urged the group to reject the federal cut-off, saying it would put the business out of business of "subsidizing segregation." The Education Committee, said.

Chicago's school board is using four cents for the answer charges of 20 Negro families that schools are racially segregated because of a system that requires children to attend schools closest to their homes.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of the U.S. District Court tentatively set Sept. 5 for trial of the injunction suit seeking to overturn the neighborhood system. Opponents of the system call it de facto segregation.

The judge gave the Chicago board until July 30 to answer the charges and gave assurance the suit would be one of the first tried in the fall.

Ku Klux Klan leaders said Tuesday the rebuffed order is launching a new campaign of white resistance to racial integration throughout the South and in other parts of the nation.

The rebuff of the new Klan move will be one of non-violence but self-protection, Klan leaders said their methods will include marching demonstrations, mass rallies, economic reprisals and white voter registration drives.

Playing Into The Communists' Hands

Oberlin (Ohio) News-Tribune

A friend has been providing us recently with copies of the daily Ohio State Lantern, the student newspaper, which has covered extensively the ring-a-ding-dong this week there over the so-called speakers rule which prohibits organizations or individuals who may speak on the campus. The copies of the Lantern have made fascinating reading. It is apparent that deep differences divide many members of the faculty and the administration over the question of academic freedom; and the administration views the University as dependent upon external pressures of influence creating an atmosphere of intellectual safety in a university with broader concerns, a more important than freedom.

One instructor reported that he had not sought the position offered him by another university; the offer had come from outside via long distance phone call, "People have been tipped off that OSU is ripe for raiding," he said.

All Ohioans should be concerned with what is transpiring at Ohio State. It is Ohio's largest university, the one by which non-Ohioans will tend to judge higher education in this state, if OSU should ever be cited as the lowest stock of the academic world, it reflects upon all Ohio.

The OSU situation is bad enough, but the problem is even worse. It threatens to engulf all six state universities and many of the municipal universities as well because the Ohio Legislature has gotten...
23 On Squad:

Sophomores Hold Key To '63 Football Season

Sophomores may play an important role and may be of great value in SIU's 1963 Football season. If Carmen Piccone's squad is to improve on last year's 4-6 record, the sophomores must be ready for fulltime duty and mature as the season progresses.

Piccone figures to have 23 second year men available when full practice begins September 1. He already has tagged Vic Pantaleo, a Chicago prep product, as potentially one of the best all-around linemen ever to perform at SIU. Pantaleo, 6-3 and 225 pounds, is exceptionally aggressive and was brilliant in early season drills last year before a broken wrist sidelined him for the entire campaign.

Another standout second year lineman is Mitchell Krawczyk, an ex-service man who played varsity last fall and is already considered one of the finest offensive guards on the squad. Krawczyk, 5-10 and 210, also is a hard-nosed tough athlete who thrives on body contact. Jim Hart and Percy Manning, two other sophomores, could wind up starring in backfield positions.

Hart, a 6-1, 195-pounder from Morton Grove, was one of the bright spots of spring drills and could develop as one of Southern's offensive kingpins next fall. He has all the characteristics of becoming a great quarterback as he possesses excellent size and desire. Only the lack of experience may prevent him from taking over completely in the fall.

Manning also was a spring standout. The junior college transfer has fine body balance and great for a 5-11, 200-pound fullback.

He will be competing against a couple of veterans, Irr Viro and Jerry Fretirice, but may refuse to accept the second team role now assigned him once he masters SIU's offense.

Another sophomore who figures to see plenty of action next fall is Paul Della Vecchia, a 5-11 and 225 pound tackle from Philadelphia. Della Vecchia was tagged by Piccone as the best freshman lineman to perform last fall. Other sophomores listed on SIU's football roster after spring drills are Mel Aukamp, Chicago; Yale Corcoran, Chicago; Bob Dodd, Virden; Dan Gallagger, Chicago; Don Glad- den, Murphysboro; Bob Hall, Murphysboro; Jim Hansen, St. Charles.

Ben Hill, Owencso; Norm Meyers, St. Louis; Gene Miller, Benton; Doug Mouhey, Rittman, Ohio; Mike McGin- nis, Pittsfield; John McKib- ben, Harvey Thomson; Greg Olson, Fox Lake; Bob Rak- ston, Fort Lauderdale; Bila, Jerry Staley, Clarion, Pa.; Green Stathilb, Edwardsville.

Northern Michigan will be SIU's homecoming opponent and North Dakota State will be the first between the two schools. The Parent's Day encounter is scheduled for Nov. 9 in McAn- drew Stadium.
