Change In Sororities

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority Merges Into Sigma Kappa

A merger of the Pi Kappa Sigma and Sigma Kappa sororities on campus will bring changes for the national level as well as the local chapter in the fall. The national Pi Kappa Sigma chapter is merging into the Sigma Kappa sorority at the national level.

The new group, to be named Sigma Kappa, will have 120 members on campus, according to the national chapter, and the local chapter will be housed in the present Pi Kappa Sigma house as a Pi Kappa Sigma house, according to the national chapter.

Sororities plan to work on the national level as well as the local chapter, and the local chapter will be housed in the present Pi Kappa Sigma house as a Pi Kappa Sigma house, according to the national chapter.

Because of a constitutional change in the P1 Kappa Sigma national chapter, all members will be included in the national chapter, according to the national chapter.

Spencer Speaks About India

Dr. David Spencer, Department of Psychology, will address the issue of the Indian people in the present decade.

Spencer has recently returned from India, where he led a field-organized psychology program in the present decade.

Dr. Spencer came to Spencer in 1997, after previously teaching at the University of Wisconsin, North Carolina and the University of Virginia.

The discussion is scheduled for 12:00 p.m. in Johnston Hall.

Play Notre Dame Thursday

Continuing to win at a record-shattering pace, the Saluki tennis team pounded Wabash 6-1 Sunday afternoon to remain unbeaten this season.

The win moved the number one singles player, Dick Horwitz, past the magical 20-win mark in 1970 and gives the Salukis an overall record of 15-5.

The Salukis will go on the road tomorrow in a match against the University of Notre Dame at South Bend, Indiana. The Irish are ranked number five in the country.
